What lacrosse players will be seen at the Coast and in the big league in the East during the coming season is far from being definitely settled and will probably remain so until the period of the annual migration takes place. One fact remains, however, and that is that there will be some healthy rivalry between the Eastern and Coast clubs, and the league which flourishes the largest wallet will be the one to win out. Following the announcement that the Eastern clubs had decided on a salary limit came an awakener that this clause had been perpetrated more for a joke than for any other purpose and that the Eastern magnates would be as keen figures in the market as Con Jones or any of the other clubs at the Coast. All of which looks pretty soft for the player. However, the fact that there is to be a merry war is not to be disguised. With the Minto Cup in the possession of Con Jones, who spent thousands of dollars to bring it to this city, it is not to be expected that now that he has the cup in his possession he will let it slip away from him without a struggle. On the other hand, the East has been so long separated from this famous piece of jewelry that the clubs in that part of the country would go to almost any length to have it brought back again. All of which indicates that there will be a scramble for another fight for the pennant, champion team, and a fight in which the size of the bank-roll will be the deciding factor.—Saturday Sunset.

FLIGHT BETWEEN SPIRES

According to a telegram from Pau the aviator Vedrines, who has made many flights recently over Pau and the neighborhood, has just accomplished a daring feat in flying. He flew between the two spires of the church of St. Jacques which are only a distance of 42 ft. apart.

THE FIRST CARPET-MAKING

Carpet-making, as a modern industry, was first developed in France. That country had large factories and a monopoly in Europe of the art of carpet weaving when a rush-strewn floor was the rule even in the Royal palaces of Britain. But the edict of Nantes, that great disperser of French artisans and artitry, caused many of the carpet craftsmen to cross the Channel. They settled at Bristol, Axminster, and other places in the southwest of England. From there the secrets of the industry spread to Glasgow, Kidderminster, and the towns of Yorkshire. These places are still the great carpet-weaving centres of Great Britain.

THE ROAD TO HAPPINESS

Spread out your nature until it grows bigger and bigger—until it becomes a generous giver. Never mind about any returns for your acts of kindness; never mind how your own reward will come. By some wonderful law "happiness is its own reward." In just that proportion of generosity by which we give to others do we ourselves benefit. If we are unwilling to be kind we hamper ourselves and grow selfish. If we become eye-servants to our business we shrivel into the commonplace of a narrow horizon. If, because our work is harder than another's, and compensations are unequally distributed, we grow discontented and slovenly workers, we but lay the foundations for future failure, and discontent takes hold where happiness should reign. No one wants a grumbler. Get that load off your mind if you want to be happy, and if you want others to be happy.

"Many in this world run after happiness like an absent-minded person hunting for her hat, while all the time it is on her head."

Happiness is not a forbidden fruit. On the contrary, it is a birthright [illegible] a [illegible] that we must earn for ourselves, and in the earning [illegible] pleasure. Every day we let slip precious opportunities for happiness [illegible] we pass by the chance of a kind word, a generous act, a helping hand to someone who so needed us, if we would but have helped.

Always keep a dish of crackers in your warming oven and you'll never have soft, tasteless crackers.

When polishing the stove add a little sugar or syrup to the polish, and it will not burn off so quickly.

A spoonful of flour added to the grease in which eggs are to be fried will prevent them from sticking or breaking.

In sprinkling table linen use a large salt shaker, and in the water put a little cold starch—about a tablespoonful to a quart of water. The linen will iron with about the same stiffness as when new.

CHILDREN'S CONVERSATION

The conversation of children is very important, and should be encouraged. That old-fashioned maxim, "Children should be seen and not heard," should long ere this have passed into limbo. Talking trains a child's powers of observation and memory, and evokes its confidence. Accuracy of description is never the strong point in a child's conversation, large drafts always being made upon the imagination.

WHITE POTATOES

When cooking potatoes, put a tablespoonful of sweet milk into the water in which they are boiled, and they will keep beautifully white.

DRY MUSTARD

Next time you make mustard try mixing it with milk instead of water, and you will find it will not become dry, but will keep nice and fresh until it is used up.

Lemon Marmalade

To six lemons—or seven if small—and two sweet oranges, add four pints of water, and boil them for one hour, or until quite tender; then pare the rind very thinly, and cut it into slices. Strain the pulp through a muslin bag, and return the juice to the preserving-pan, making good the loss through boiling by adding water to make up four pints. Stir in four pints of loaf sugar, boil for fifteen minutes, then add the rind and boil for another fifteen minutes.

RELAXATION OF CHILDREN

Mental Activity Must Not Be Stimulated at the Expense of the Body

Mothers should remember that relaxation is quite as important to the health of the brain as food to the health of the body, and that to condemn children to sit down to toys or books immediately after their return from school, instead of sending them out into the open air to exercise their muscles and lungs, is both foolish and short-sighted. Mental activity should never be stimulated in a child att he expense of physical growth, and the body cannot grow properly if the brain is over-taxed.

If you value the health of your children see that the vegetables, fruit and meat are the best and soundest that come into the house. Unsound fruit, stale vegetables, remnants of half-soured puddings too often find their way to the children.

LAUNDRY HINTS

One of the difficulties of the home laundress is the extreme hardness of the water. A little borax or ammonia will prove good softeners. It is a mistake to use soda in the water in which white articles are washed.

To remove iron-mould or rust, the best way is to stretch the spots over a bowl, and moisten with salts of lemon until they disappear. Thoroughly rinse in warm water to remove [illegible]

To tint white lace a deep cream or brown, dip it, after being washed and rinsed, in weak tea or coffee. Squeeze gently, taking care that the tint is even. Hang to dry.

To remove rust from irons, make the iron fairly hot, rub it over with a little beeswax tied in a piece of rag. When the rust has been removed, wipe with a clean cloth.

A FOUNDATION COLOR

To the girl with a small allowance, dress is always a most difficult problem, and one that exacts the deepest care and consideration. The very best thing such a girl can do is to have a settled color scheme, and carry itt hrough her entire outfit. And provided it suits you, there is no better foundation color than blue.

THE CARE OF OIL LAMPS

When an oil lamp burns dull, and will not burn long without smoking, it is a sign that the burner requires cleaning. Remove the burner, and place it in a disused basin or a deep tin with about a tablespoonful of ordinary soda. Fill the vessel with boiling water and leave till cool. If the burner still appears dirty, repeat the process. Lamps should never be filled too full.

Black soutache is used for the braiding.

Will Improve Baseball Grounds.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Baseball Club, Limited, arrangements were made for the use of Riverside Park for the season. The club has also been given the option of using the park in 1913 and 1914 on the same terms as this year. While the details have not been definitely decided upon, it is altogether likely that a stand will be erected at the northwest corner of the grounds, where the present club house is situated.

THE OLDEST FLAG

The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For 200 years both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag. In the year 1219 King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livonians, saw, or thought he saw, a bright light in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of Divine aid, and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country, and called it the Dannebork—that is, strength of Denmark.

CANADIAN DEMAND FOR BINDER TWINE

United States Gets Advantage of Canada's Big Market—Unequal Competition has Hurt Home Industry

Last year there were over 537 million bushels of grain tied up in sheaf form in Canada. That is, binder twine was used for the harvesting of more than 537 million bushels of grain. This year the use of twine in this way was still greater, and as Canada's unbroken area of arable land becomes smaller and the growth of grain more extensive with the passing years, one can only guess at the volume of binder twine to be consumed in this country. Yet, with this most notable future stretching out before the binder twine industry, comparatively little of the product is made in Canada. Our market is really supplied by the United States.

Such a condition exists chiefly because of an unequal competition in the binder twine trade between Canada and the United States. The advantages are with the latter country, whose larger and older and more powerful industries have not only absolutely free access to the Canadian market, but also practically monopolize the valuable supplies of raw materials in the Philipine islands. Time was when the great part of the binder twine business of Canada was carried on by Canadian manufacturers. To-day, an overwhelmingly large share of this business is in the hands of the so-called Harvester Trust, which does not make a pound of twine in Canada, but sends it from mills located across the line.

Prior to April, 1897, the rate of duty payable on binder twine imported into Canada from the United States was 12½ per cent. At that time the industry was operated under Canadian auspices. From 1897 to 1898 the duty was only 10 per cent, but after January the first, 1898, the rate was removed altogether, and ever since free trade has existed in binder twine between the United States and Canada. The clearest and most forceful story of the effect of that particular reduction in the tariff is contained in the following statement of imports of twine into Canada from the United States since 1896:

1911—26,969,258 lbs. 2,088,488

The marked increase in the imports of binder twine after the removal of the duty, there being more than eight times the influx to-day that there was in the last fiscal year before our market was opened has been responsible for the closing down of many large mills in Canada, and is one big reason why Canadian business men do not invest their money in this industry at the present time.

HARDWOODS SCARCE FURNITURE HIGH

Increase in Cost of Furniture Due to Small Supplies of Raw Materials.

While furniture has increased in cost in Canada more noticeably than almost any other manufactured product during the past twenty years, it is worth while observing that furniture in Canada to-day is not as expensive as in the United States, nor has it increased in cost during recent years as rapidly as in the latter country.

The average index price for furniture in 1890 as set by the Department of Labor was 97.4 and in 1909 had increased to 127.6, a gain of 30.2. The average price of bedroom sets in the United States in the same period changed from an index number of 118 to 143; bedroom chairs from 109.8 to 143.8, and kitchen tables from 108.9 to 138.6. This latter item showed in the United States a decided increase last years from 124.7 in January to 148.6 in December. Taking house furnishing goods as a whole in the United States, there was a decrease of only 0.1 per cent. in price, six of the fourteen articles noted by the department having decreased and five increased. In Canada last year on the other hand, no change whatever occurred in the prices as represented in household furniture.

The chief reasons for the higher cost of furniture are increases in wages and in the prices of hard woods. It is sometimes contended that the manufacturer who is helped and whose country's upbuilding is assisted by a properly regulated tariff, takes advantage of these circumstances by retaining old type of machinery and plant. The inference is that such a manufacturer competing with an up-to-date foreign plant uses the tariff to counterbalance the inferior results of his own plant. In Canada, this is not so. Notwithstanding the fact that there has been a marked improvement in the machinery for manufacturing furniture in this country during the past twenty years, which has enabled a finer finish to be placed on goods and more elaborate designs to be turned out with the same or less expenditure, the two factors noted—wages and hardwoods—have counterbalanced the effect of the superior machinery. Mr. H. R. MacMillan, of the Forestry Branch of the Department of the Interior, says that whatever can be done to encourage the production of hardwood in suitable localities in Canada should be done at once. Despite these adverse factors, the Government figures show that the average monthly price last year in Canada for kitchen chairs, common spindle, as an example, were $3.36 per dozen compared to an average monthly price in the United States of $5.60. Taking a longer period, the average price for the same article between 1890 and 1899 in the Dominion was $3.50 per dozen and in the United States $3.33.

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

NEW LIGHT ON COST OF LIVING

Food Products, Not Manufactures, Are the Articles High in Price

Mr. F. W. Field, Editor of "The Monetary Times," Toronto, in a recent article says:

"A significant fact in connection with the volume of talk and discussion that has originated from that hackneyed topic, the cost of living, is that in Canada the chief complaint is made against the high prices of food products, and not so much against manufactured articles. This circumstance is made plain when one begins to seek data regarding the comparative cost to the consumer in the United States and Canada of household furniture, crockery, stoves and other articles of domestic use. While every Government report gives plenty of information about grains and fodder, animals and meats, dairy produce, fish and other foods, there is a remarkable paucity of material showing the cost of certain staple manufactured products. Those reports, which happen to be more elaborate in their record of the output and consumption of manufacturer, give but few examples in each class of goods. For instance, the report on wholesale prices for 1910, published by the United States Government gives figures relating to furniture under the following heads only—bed room suites, bedroom chairs, kitchen chairs and kitchen tables. The natural deduction from all this is simply that there has been little or no demand for such information, due largely to the fact that no one seems to be greatly dissatisfied with the prices of the common ordinary household article made in the factory. The increasing cost of eating to live, appears to be the backbone of the great economic problem, which is agitating the consumer of the American Continent.

It is sometimes contended that the housewife in Canada, because of our tariff, cannot obtain furniture and other domestic necessities as cheaply as can be purchased in the United States. Those official facts and figures, available, show that in this direction there is little, if any, cause for complaint. Canada has been more fortunate than some countries, for the tendency in the past decade has been one of decline in the prices of bedsteads, crockery, glassware, table cutlery and silver plated ware. [illegible] interesting to analyze this situation more closely. Mr. R. H. Coats, [illegible] special report on wholesale [illegible] in Canada, obtained quotations [illegible] representative lines of furniture [illegible] kitchen tables and chairs, [illegible] room tables and sideboards, [illegible] suites and iron bedsteads. [illegible] lines of wooden furniture, a [illegible] and pronounced rise [illegible] prices during the past twenty years.

In iron and brass bedsteads [illegible] other hand, there was a pronounced decline in the past ten years [illegible] line quoted was a continuous [illegible] bed of shipping weight [illegible] ty five pounds. It [illegible] from $4.54 in 1894 to $[illegible] The explanation offered by [illegible] manufacturers is that the manufacture of this article in Canada has reduced the cost both of brass and iron bedsteads.

The general tendency in crockery and glassware, table cutlery and silver plated ware was downward.

There was an advance of from 12 to 15 per cent. in pails and tubs compared with 1890, and of approximately 80 per cent. compared with the low years, 1896-1897. The most extraordinary advance, however is shown under the heading of brooms, which, in the closing days of 1909 had considerably more than doubled as compared with the prices ruling in 1890. This, however, was largely accounted for by the scarcity of broom corn last year following a failure of the yield in the United States, the cost of broom corn to the manufacturer having advanced from $8-$10 to $20-$24 per ton. Apart from this advance, the price of brooms was fairly stationary during the decade from 1900 to 1910.

The question of raw materials to manufacturers has been a prominent one in many countries, but Canada probably has felt this phase of the question less than a good many nations. Commenting on this, the London Times said two years ago: "The steady advance in the cost of raw materials, which is becoming a very serious matter, is due to a number of causes, chief among which may be mentioned the comparative smallness of the production, the greater use in the consumption, the high cost of labor in the producing districts, and the effect upon production and wholesale distribution of artificial restrictions." This fact has affected the cost to the consumer of a large number of articles. Too often the apparently high price of a manufactured article is due to the desire of the manufacturer to create or maintain large profits. Aside from the question of wages, freight rates, the increased cost of factory sites, and many other important considerations the factor of raw material is vital and has a tendency to fluctuate more widely than manufactured articles. On summing up the averages of wholesale prices noted by the Dominion Department of Labor, it is seen that in 1890, raw materials were 18.6 points above the average for the base period, 1890-99, while manufactured articles were only 9.6 points above that average. In the recession which followed until 1897 raw materials fell 23.3, while manufactured articles advanced only 20.4 points. Between 1909 and 1910, there was a gain of 4.8 points in raw materials and 2.3 points in manufactured articles. The statistics for 1910 show prices of raw materials at 42.6 per cent. above those of the base decade, and the prices of manufactured articles 17.1 per cent. above those of the base decade."

No wonder they have champion oarsmen in Australia. The professionals are sufficiently numerous there to justify the formation of a professional scullers' league. BEARDS AND KINGS

George V. is the First of His Name Not Clean Shaven

It was often remarked at the accession of Edward VII. that he was the first bearded King for nearly three hundred years. The ill-fated King Charles I. was his immediate predecessor in this respect, and he came to the throne in 1625, whereas the late King succeeded his mother in 1901. Charles was the last of the Kings for a very long time to represent the Elizabethan or Shakespearean fashion of the pointed beard and to wear his own hair on his head.

Cromwell, the uncrowned King of England, certainly wore no wig like the long [illegible] of his successors; but, though he [illegible] his own hair, he wore it pretty [illegible]. Charles II. wore a tremendous [illegible] curled in a [illegible] ringlets [illegible] only hair on his face was a slight moustache. None of his successors [illegible] Edward VII. bore even the [illegible] beards and moustaches were [illegible] out of fashion, and James II., William III., all the Georges and William IV. were just as clean shaven as [illegible] the rest of their masculine subjects. There was a time when a beard had not been seen in England within living memory!

In wearing a beard Charles I. followed the example of his father James, and as he was a Scottish before he was an English King, he probably followed the fashion of his predecessors in the northern kingdom, for he was preceded by two Queens and a boy King, and had no precedent in this respect to follow, even if he had desired one. Henry VIII., nearly a hundred years before James I., had been as much an innovator in respect to whiskers as Edward VII. was, for, like our late King, this much-married monarch could look back upon several bare-faced predecessors without a break, for none of the Kings from Henry V to Henry VII. wore the least hair upon their faces.

Prior to Henry V.'s time, however beards might be said to be almost the rule; and, indeed, from William I., in 1066, to the death of Henry IV., in 1413, no King sat on the English throne who was clean-shaven. The Conqueror and his two sons and successors were content with a moustache only, as were Henry II. and Richard II., but Richard the Lion-Hearted would seem to have made the beard fashionable, for his brother John, Henry III., and the first three Edwards entirely gave the razor the go-by.

Thus, though George V. is the first of his name to wear a beard, Edward VII. was only following the example of his most famous predecessors.

Thus out of the thirty-three kings who have reigned in England, the beard wearers and the clean-shaven almost provide a tie, for there are

THE MORNING TIMES

MONDAY, APRIL 1st, 1912.

OVERCROWDING PUBLIC PLACES

In this city we have recently had a case in the police court where three of [illegible] fined for overcrowding, and heavily fined at that. Without having the least animus against the picture houses, every sane man or woman must understand the danger of fire that always, in more or less degree, threatens the patrons of all theaters, picture or otherwise. The terrible fire when the Iroquois theater in Chicago was burned and hundreds of lives sacrificed. [illegible] Whilst, it is all very well to say, "Oh, we'll never have a fire here!" Still, with the theater conditions which have existed in Peterborough, should a panic from fire, or any of the unreasonable causes that start panics, take place in any public place, with aisles and lobby crowded, the Iroquois disaster would be simulated. Since the recent police court investigation here, the theaters are not allowing the exits or passages, inside these places to be crowded. Still, we understand that the outside lobbies are allowed to be filled by people waiting their turn for seats. A crowd in a panic is immediately beyond control. A panic starts as quickly as does the smoke and flame from ignited gunpowder. Even supposing all inside passage ways were clear, and, with the outside lobby between the glass front and the inside swing doors crammed with people. Those inside would rise from their seats and rush for the front doors. As a matter of judgment, comparatively few would go down the aisles to the rear exits. Now if such a rush took place the crowd on the outside, not realizing the panic behind the swing doors, would take several minutes to size up the conditions. In those few minutes, what would be going on in the theater? Just what has occurred in other theaters when a panic has frenzied the people. Men, rushing to safety, blocked on their way, would trample over women and children.

In Toronto, the police authorities have decided to stop overcrowding of the churches. Last Sunday night the Queen street church was overcrowded, and the caretaker was fined. One does not want to throw a strone in the way of the church movement. People's lives in a church are just as valuable to them as though in a picture or other theater. The overcrowding of churches should be stopped, and stopped at once.

CANADA, BRITAIN AND GERMANY.

First Lord of the Admiralty, Mr. Winston Churchill offered to make 1913 an international holiday in the building of warships if Germany would agree to the proposal. A few days later came Germany's reply in the shape of the new army and navy bills providing for the expenditure of increased sums upon the German armanents on land and sea. The bills were drawn up before Mr. Churchill's pacific proposal, and the point is that his overtures have not caused the war lords at Berlin to alter their plans.

They are going right ahead increasing their navy and adding to their immense armies regardless of the opening which Great has afforded them of curtailing their outlay for naval purposes. This is the third time within two or three years that the Westminster Government has offered to co-operate with Berlin in a mutual scaling down of war preparations, and each time the answer has been a quiet but firm rebuff. The News asks: Can we [illegible] conclusion as to what Germany's purpose must be?

As United States newspapers are saying, Germany being a continental country has not the same need of a [illegible] scattered all over the globe. Britain's food supply comes from abroad, and therefore British warships must keep all sea routes open. Germany's fleet must be intended for offensive purposes and it is backed by the greatest military land force in the world.

If the German fleet vanquished the British fleet in the North Sea millions of armed Germans could be poured into the British Isles, and occupy the British lands beyond the sea. Proof that Britain's navy is not intended for aggressive expeditions is found in the fact that she maintains no great army to follow it up. The Mother Country maintains no grand combination of sea and land forces to beat down Germany's navy and then occupy Germany itself.

Thus it will be seen that a mighty navy is the British Empire's life insurance policy, and the trouble to-day is that the little country in the heart of the Empire pays practically all the premiums. But this is not to continue for long. Mr. Borden and Mr. Hazen have informed Parliament of their intention, with the approval of the Admiralty and of the Canadian people, to do something real for Empire defence. Mr. Pelletier, on behalf of the Quebec wing of the Government, has seconded the proposal of his colleagues Moreover they stand not for several independent local fleets in different parts of the Empire, but for one united Imperial navy under such joint control as to make it invincible when faced by any probable combination of foreign powers. The Government may be expected to consult the British authorities during the recess and to forward its plans without unreasonable delay. Should an emergency arise before these are completed and carried out we must place all the men and money necessary at the disposal of the Imperial Government.

Editorial Notes

Lovers of maple syrup will be glad to learn that this should be a good year for that product. The great quantity of snow in the woods must of necessity take some time in disappearing and while it is in the process of melting the sugar maple will be pouring forth its liquid sweetness from which such delicious syrup is made. Comparatively few sugar bushes remain and very little sugar is made, most of the sap being converted into the most delicious syrup that has ever been made.

CHANGING THE WORLD

Look Around You and Examine Your Environment Occasionally

"You cannot change the world; only yourself."

The above saying is apt to be a little misleading. For though the world is so vast, huge, and complex that to change the whole of it in any way would require powers far greater than most of us possess, yet, on the other hand, by changing ourselves we do much towards changing the world. "He who reforms himself has done more to reform the community than a crowd of noisy, impotent talkers." Few of us properly realize the greatness of the influences which we exert, very often unconsciously, on all with whom we are constantly in contact.

When you change yourself, you cannot help but change your influence, and your influence changes others to some extent, and thus changes their influence, too—and so on, like the ripples caused by a stone flung into a pond. So if you reform yourself, you are taking a hand in the great task of reforming the world.

"Your world" is your mission-ground. "Your world" is the place where your best work is needed Your friends, your workmates, above all, your family, are the people who are the most affected by you. To reform yourself is hard, but it is not a hopeless task.

You can alter your whole outlook on life. If you are inclined to be sad and gloomy, you can, by persistently forcing yourself to think cheerfully, in time develop the habit of cheerfulness to such an extent that it becomes second nature to you.

Look around you, and examine your world occasionally. See where a change for the better is most needed, and set to work at once to make that change. Here is one, perhaps, who needs cheering up; go and cheer him. Here is one who seems to want advice; give it to him. Here is one who requires help; let him have any such help as lies in your power to give.

STORIES OF A BISHOP

A hundred and one stories are told concerning Dr. Glyn, the Bishop of Peterborough, who was recently presented with a magnificent cope by the clergy and laity of his diocese. A rich and benevolent millionaire was once boasting to Dr. Glyn of the amount he gave annually in charity, as though he was certain it would secure him one of the best seats in Paradise. "Well," remarked the Bishop, on hearing the amount, "that is the largest insurance against fire I have ever heard of."

A SPORTING PRINCE

Polo and hockey player, cyclist motorist, yachtsman, and steeplechase rider, the German Crown Prince is steadily acquiring a reputation as an all-round sportsman. An enthusiastic admirer, indeed, has predicted that he [illegible] the first sporting people in the world. The Prince has had many adventures and curious experiences, and only a few months ago, during his visit to India, while on a motoring tour from Lucknow, lost his way completely. Eventually his car broke down in the wilds, and he had to return to civilisation by means of a devious cross-country journey by boat, carrier, and rail, having meanwhile missed an important official fête which had been organized in his honor.

About Actresses

Ellen Terry was one day talking about the many women who asked her to help them get on the stage, when she said: "Every woman under thirty imagines that she is an actress. And every actress believes that she is under thirty."

A RAW RECRUIT.

He was a raw recruit, just enrolled in a crack cavalry regiment, and paying his first visit to the riding-school.

"'Ere's yer horse," said the instructor.

"What's it got this strap round it for?" he asked, pointing to the girth.

"Well," explained the instructor, solemnly, "you see, all our horses 'ave a keen sense of humor, an' as they sometimes 'ave sudden fits of laughter when they see the recruits, we put bands around 'em to keep 'em from burstin' their sides!"

WHAT $10 WILL DO

Somewhere—"sometime"—when you've saved enough for a "start" your dream is to cut loose from the business grind and own something, some property, a something that people MUST have and which you can sell for far more than you paid for it, and thus start on the road to independence.

Now speaking man to man, at your present rate of progress will you ever do it? Not if you let present opportunity slip, and later try to catch up with rising prices. We want to help you, want to show you that you can do all you dreamed of doing, and you'll do it NOW.

It's hard to save, as we all find out, when you haven't a bulls-eye big and black, right in front of you, where you can record each added splash on the target. We have the target for you, the best investment target that is to-day before the public; we refer to the controlling commercial centre of the Peace River Country—namely GROUARD.

Behind it there are millions of acres of Peace River farm lands. RAILROADS ARE BUILDING TO GROUARD. The Canadian Northern Railway, and the Edmonton Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, both with BONDS OF CONSTRUCTION GUARANTEED BY THE ALBERTA GOVERNMENT. Would the railway companies build, would the Government guarantee, if Grouard and the country surrounding it were not important, were not going to make good?

Another Railway Company—The Pacific and Hudson Bay, have taken part of our subdivision for their TERMINALS AT GROUARD, and are under agreement to erect same ON THIS PROPERTY, and no other, in GROUARD.

Think of it: THREE railroads heading for Grouard.

Banks have established at Grouard. Would they be there if no business was to be done? FOLLOW THEIR LEAD IN YOUR INVESTMENTS, AND YOU WILL BENEFIT.

Ten dollars paid down starts you on the road to prosperity. It is all that is required as a first payment on either a business or a residential lot.

Read our easy terms of payment for the balance. Acquire a valuable property and start on the road to independence. If you don't someone else will, and take the profit and benefit.

We cannot say more than that we recommend this property to our friends, and we stand by our recommendation.

Send that $10 attached to the coupon below, signing your name and address, and MAKE YOUR DREAM COME TRUE.

The Most Promising Traffic Centre of Western Canada

You Cannot Lose--Our Guarantee Protects You

WAINWRIGHT, the main central divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific, will be one of the big cities of Canada, for the following reasons:

It is almost exactly midway between the terminals on the Great Lakes at Fort William and Port Arthur, and the terminals on the Pacific Coast at Prince Rupert---the pivot where all train crews will operate from, where the big pay roll will be the divisional point from which most of the mid-western branch lines will radiate.

At present there are 422 miles of branch lines under construction and 350 miles chartered.

WAINWRIGHT will be to the Grand Trunk Pacific what Moose Jaw is to the Canadian Pacific Railway, and it will be more, because it is the centre of one of the finest agricultural districts in the world.

Wainwright Is Already Famous

There would be no hesitation about investments in Western towns if you could not lose. Well, you cannot lose in Wainwright. "Our guaranteed protection," clause appears in every contract: We guarantee to deliver a clear deed under Torrens system upon completion of payments, and we further agree to buy back, on demand, after two years, any lots purchased from us in South Wainwright, paying for them the full purchase price, plus six per cent. interest.

Our Wainwright Lots

We hold a large quantity of inside business property at South Wainwright, immediately south of the Grand Trunk Pacific yards, station and shops, and all of it within the half-mile circle that embraces the present town. These lots are picked locations and will become the most desirable and business residence property in Wainwright when this town begins to get its growth. These lots for business purposes, and with track frontage, from $125 to $175 each; residential lots priced from $75 to $100 each.

Prices of Lots

Prices of lots, $75, $100, $125, $150, $175. Cash payment one-quarter, balance $7.50 monthly. No Interest. No Taxes.

Wire us to-day at our expense, and we will reserve lots for you to the amount of your expected purchase, and will immediately send you plans and all data concerning these or our other properties in South Wainwright. Remember, you are taking no chances. Your money back with interest at six per cent., if, after two years, you are not satisfied with your investment.

WAINWRIGHT

Alberta, is one of the famous young cities of the West, that have been created by the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. Wainwright is almost exactly midway between Fort William and Prince Rupert, [illegible] most important [illegible] that whole stretch of 2,200 miles of railway.

WAINWRIGHT

is not only a divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific, but it is also an important railway junction. A line of the Canadian Northern Railway has been surveyed and is on the programme of immediate construction, crossing the Grand Trunk at Wainwright, and branch lines of both these roads will radiate from this point.

WAINWRIGHT

is now the second largest shipping point for cattle in the Province of Alberta. The town is the centre of one of the largest grazing, stock-raising and farming districts of the whole West. Wainwright grain yield for 1907 increased 400 per cent. over 1910. Wainwright, then, in the near future, will not only be to the Grand Trunk Pacific what Moose Jaw is to the Canadian Pacific, but it will also be, on its own account, the centre of larger and better producing district.

WAINWRIGHT

is already famous. It has the National Buffalo Park, an institution which alone will make the town the mecca of thousands of visitors each year, and make its name known in every home and hamlet of the whole Dominion in years to come, because in this park will be found the only remaining herd of wild buffalo in existence. Wainwright is less than three years old. It's a thriving, bustling little city now, with good improvements and unexcelled natural resources, including valuable coal deposits.

PENSIONS AND POLICEMEN.

"And now," he said, "we come to the important question. Have you ever been in receipt of parish relief?"

"Never!" answered the old lady emphatically.

Foiled, he turned to the last question on the list. "Tell me," he snarled, "have you ever been in the hands of the police?"

She hung her head.

"Come on, come on," he growled, "speak the truth."

"Well then," she said, "I don't see as its any business of the Governmen, but in my young days I was cook, and, you know, girls will be girls, but still (proudly), he was a sergeant!"

DO YOU KNOW HOW TO BREATHE?

Not One in Ten Adults Know the Correct Way.

A gentleman gave good advice to a young lady who complained of sleeplessness. He said: "Learn to breathe, and darken your room completely, and you won't need any doctoring!"

"Learn how to breathe! I thought that was one thing we learned before coming into the world," the insomnic said, ruefuly.

On the contrary, not one in ten adults know how to breathe. To breathe perfectly is to draw the breath in long, deep inhalations, slowly and regularly, so as to relieve the lower lungs of a noxious accumulation.

I have overcome nausea, headache, sleeplessness, seasickness, and even more serious threatenings, by simply going through a breathing exercise pumping from my lower lungs, as it were, all the malarial inhalations of the day by long, slow, ample breaths. Try it before going to bed, making sure of standing where you can inhale pure air, and then darken the room completely. We live too much in an electric glare by night. If you still suffer from sleeplessness after this experiment is fairly tried, I shall be surprised.

"COULDN'T DO IT."

Little Jackie was receiving a lecture from his dad on the wickedness of stealing, Jackie being guilty of paying a sly visit to the pantry, and his mother catching him in the act advised his doting father to admonish him.

"What is the person called, Jack, who steals?" he asked Jack.

But Jack was quiet, and no answer came.

"Now, Jack," continued his father, "now suppose I were to put my hand your pocket and take a cent from it, what would you call me?"

PEACE OFFERINGS.

"Bow-wow!" growled the dog.

"Ow-ow!" howled the butcher's boy.

There was a scramble and a scuffle. But human wit was not equal to canine grit, and in a trice the butcher's boy was pinned up against the wall.

"Help!" he cried.

Help came. It came in the bulky shape of the dog's owner, who hurried out of the house to the scene of battle.

"Naughty little Towser! Down! down!" she exclaimed. "I do hope he hasn't bitten you?"

"No; I've kept him off giving him your suet," replied the lad, tearfuly, "but you're just in time to save the beef."

INDULGING IN PERSONALITIES.

Two chorus girls were given complimentary tickets to a concert.

"Well, I wouldn't exactly say that," replied her friend; "but he is getting pretty fat."

NARROWLY MISSED BEING MONARCHS

Whenever Royal blood is recognized it is treated with universal respect. Nevertheless, it is an indisputable fact that there are in Great Britain to-day literally thousands of persons with Royal blood in their veins who occupy humble and, in many cases, menial positions. And it is quite reasonable to assume that there are in our slums and workhouses many men and women who might be leading persons at Court.

It has actually been ascertained that there are no fewer than 11,723 persons living who can be proved to be direct descendants of Henry VII., our monarch in 1485.

Using these figures as the basis for a simple mathematical calculation, we arrive at the astounding conclusion that, from the death of Henry VII. to the present day, there must have been living at least 36,735 persons directly descended from the King.

It is quite easy to follow the means by which the "family" has become so numerous, and there is no need to wrestle with complex genealogical tables. Henry VII. had two daughters, the elder of whom married James IV. of Scotland, becoming thereby the grandmother of Mary Queen of Scots. The younger daughter, Mary Tudor, married, in the first instance, Louis XII. of France.

The marriage had been entered upon against her will, and, immediately on regaining her freedom, she contracted a second marriage with Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk.

The descendents of Mary Tudor number, at the present day, some 10,000 persons in a direct line, and by an extraordinary string of circumstances have kept almost entirely distinct from those of her elder sister, Margaret.

From the latter sprang the Stuarts, who later occupied the throne, and to her all the crowned heads of Europe, except those of a few small semi-civilized states, can trace their descent. From this it will be seen that all European monarchs are related.

When Queen Elizabeth successfully revoked the will of Henry VIII. there two daughters of Mary Tudor living, who each married a nobleman. Their children also married into other noble families, and that is how the wide diffuson of Royal blood was started.

Although many of the descendants of Mary Tudor occupy, as has been stated, more or less fitting positions, there are a great number who are scatered amongst the very humblest positions in life. The record of how some of these have come down in the world remains.

A similar, though perhaps slightly more congenial fate, was that of Lord Kingsland, who earned his living as a waiter. On his death he left no heir, and his family then came to an end.

The claim of a certain small shopkeeper in Mile End to be regarded as a descendant of Mary Tudor is quite valid; and at different times it has been ascertained that a Customs officer, a toll-gate keeper, and a butcher were indisputably direct descendants.

HANDS IN POCKETS.

A lad was recently brought by his father to a recruiting sergeant for enlistment. The son was a gawky, overgrown slouch of a lad, but the father, proud like, said to the sergeant:—

"Well, what do you think of my boy?"

The boy in question, his eyes half closed, was leaning against the wall, a straw in his mouth and his hands in his pockets.

The sergeant looked at him shrewdly, and replied:

"Well, sir, I think if your boy had another hand he'd want another pocket."

Chronic Throat Trouble Permanently Cured

SEVEN DAYS' USE OF CATARRHOZONE PERFORMED REGULAR MIRACLE.

Miss Counter's Case Proves the Wonderful Efficacy of Catarrhozone In All Throat and Nose Troubles.

Windsor, Ont., Jan. 17.—Miss Counter's case will prove of great interest to everyone troubled with sore throat, bronchitis or weak lungs.

When asked for a statement, Miss Counter said: "About seven years ago I contracted a heavy cold that settled on my lungs and resisted all treatment. After I had tried several doctors here and specialists in Detroit without benefit, I went to my druggist and asked him for the best remedy he had for cold on the lungs. He recommended Catarrhozone, which cured my cold in one week. It brought back my voice, and I have been ever since free from my old trouble. For coughs, colds and lung trouble I am sure that Catarrhozone is the best remedy. It goes right to the sore spot, gives quick relief, and makes a lasting cure."

Catarrhozone cures because its healing vapor is inhaled to the very places that are sore and inflamed.

To permanently cure your winter ills, your coughs, sneezing and Catarrh, by all means use a tried and proven remedy like Catarrhozone. But beware of the substituter and imitator. Look for Catarrhozone only, 50c. and $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Suggestions from Paris

In reading some of the latest Paris fashion books I see that the skirt is to be just a bit wider, not enough, however, to make your last season's suit look out of date. The skirts will be cut straight; that is to say, will not be narrower around the ankles than at the knees, as was the case last season.

The position of the waist line has not changed, nor is it likely to, as the slightly raised waist line gives too good a line to nearly all figures for it to become obsolete. In other cases the natural waist line is better. One must, of course, study one's own figure and adopt what style is best suited to show one's figure to advantage.

In regard to the sleeves for the spring one well-known French house shows the separate sleeve in simple tailored dresses and the kimono sleeve in the more dressy gowns and evening blouses. Another Paris house says that the separate sleeve is certainly newer, but that the unbroken line of a pretty shoulder is more graceful. One style is just as good as another this year and so have what style suits you best.

For the spring dresses the sleeves are to be short for day and afternoon gowns, but the most popular length is just over the elbow.

The French or Dutch neck will be as popular as in the past few seasons and worn by those who have pretty and plump necks it is a most becoming style, but for the woman whose neck is long and thin it is a style to be avoided as it makes her look older and thinner.

Silks of all kinds are to be used in the gowns for all times of the day from tennis and golf dresses to evening gowns. There can be nothing prettier than a soft white silk dress made in simple lines in which to play tennis in, and so comfortable.

The very beautiful new silk called broche is a brocade in weave, but not in color, and is made in some very rich and beautiful tones. Jane Dare.

FEATHER GARMENTS

Make Their Reappearance in Quite an Original Way.

An interesting novelty is to be the substitution of feather garments in the place of furs. This does not mean a mere revival of the long-discarded feather boa and muff. Feathers are to make their reappearance in quite an original way. "Long feather stoles will be worn," a West End Modiste says, "and they will be composed of such myriads as tiny, uncurled feathers that in the case of black or white stoles they could easily be mistaken for the most exquisite skins.

"There will be large pillow-shaped muffs to match and in Paris some coats and jackets of similarly 'materialised' feathers will be seen.

"Another striking innovation is that the spring feathers will be obtainable in every conceivable shade, so that a pink, blue, or green muff will be no unusual sight.

"Furs, of course, do not afford a very large choice of colour, and this is an advantage which the feathers will offer.

"Soft, downy trimming is to be used a good deal on evening dresses and, to some extent, also on costumes.

"The new fashion will doubtless be appreciated by most women as forming a transition between the heavy furs required for mid-winter and the lighter garments of the early summer."

Rubbers on the Carpet

Many housekeepers will welcome the suggestions given below by "an extensive traveller. Suppose, however, a woman returning her visits enters ten houses in an afternoon. It would mean that she must put on or take off her rubbers twenty-two times during the afternoon, and her gloves would be ruined in the process. On a reception day a boy or maid would be required for the "rubber office" alone, or else a notice might be put outside: "Kindly use the door-mat before entering." I cite this merely as an example of what might occur. Perhaps some women readers will give their opinion on the subject, for there is a real grievance. The letter is as follows:—

"Some Americans, and especially Canadians, have a habit which, if practiced in Europe, would be considered an insult. I have noticed several times that people who ought to know better will come right from the dirty street into my drawing-room without taking off their rubbers.

"Rubbers and overshoes had better be left in the hall; they were never intended for and are certainly not needed on the parlor rug.

"An Extensive Traveller."

When oilcloth has been down for a few months and is losing the shiny surface, it can be renewed easily and made to last twice as long if treated in the following way. Melt a little ordinary glue in a pint of water, letting it stand on the top of the oven till dissolved. Wash the oilcloth thoroughly and let it dry. Then at night, when the traffic of the day ceases, go over the whole carefully with a flannel dipped in the glue water. Choose a fine day for it, and by morning the glue will be hard and will have put a fine gloss as good as new on your floor.

Save your lemon rinds, dry them in the oven, and store them in an airtight tin. A little of this added to an apple pie gives it a delicious flavoring.

Art muslin curtains should never be washed in warm water. Make a lather with hot water, and when it is nearly cold wash the curtains. If these are green, add a little vinegar; if lilac or pink, a little ammonia.

There is a prevalent opinion that a Free Mason has never been executed. In New York, on March 26th, Judge Buckhill, a Free Mason, had the hard task of sentencing a brother Free Mason, Fred H. Seddon to death for murdering an elderly spinster. Seddon's wife was charged with the same offence, but was acquitted. In passing sentence, as the prisoner had given a Masonic sign, and declared his innocence, the judge remarked: "I see that we both belong to the same brotherhood which makes my duty all the more painful, but freemasonry con[illegible]

THE SPOKEN WORD.

Pat had but a limited knowledge of the bird kingdom. One day, walking down the street, he noticed a green bird in a cage, talking and singing. Thinking to pet it he stroked its head. The bird turned to Pat quickly, screaming

"Hallo! What do you want?"

"Ex-cuse me, s-sir, I thought you was a bird!"

When Bonar Law became leader of the Opposition in the British House of Commons it was stated in his newspaper biographies that he was a Canadian and educated at Hamilton. The mushy Hamilton press immediately proceeded to make great capital out of this and dilated on the fame achieved by Hamilton's favorite son, keeping it up bravely until it transpired that, although a Canadian, Bonar Law had been educated at Hamilton, a small town near Glasgow, Scotland. One

THE GROWTH OF CANADA

Industrial Awakening in the East Brings Expansion to Many Industries

Canada, with its seven millions odd of population, already has a home market for her agriculture and manufactures of one-fifth of that of the United Kingdom. When we come to think that the United Kingdom imports her food supplies from all over the world, and that the foodstuffs that Canada sends her is but a drop in the bucket, it will be realized that Canadian agriculturists have already, in their own home market, by far their greatest source of wealth.

The purely consuming class—the urban and industrial class—is far greater in Canada than is generally supposed. For instance, the recent census, which places our total population at just over seven millions, shows that two and a half millions of this population, or considerably more than one-third, are residents of towns and cities of over 4000 population. An absolutely protected market of two and a half millions of towns people which, after all is only a portion of the consuming class of Canada is an asset of no mean importance to the agriculturists of the Dominion.

Another noteworthy fact shown by the census is that although the agricultural population of Western Canada has been increasing at a reasonable rate, the agricultural population in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—taking these as a unit—has remained stationary. Yet, despite the fact that the agricultural classes of this Eastern part of Canada have not increased the census shows that of the increase of 1,710,584 in the population of Canada during the past ten years, over one-fifth, namely 375,766, has to be accredited to Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Practically all this increase in the East has been in the urban or consuming population comprised in 32 large towns, which between them shown an increase in population of 316,092.

Now this remarkable increase in the industrial population of Eastern Canada, which has afforded a proportionate increase in the market for the agriculturalists of the Dominion, as well as magnificent opportunities for such of their sons as are fitted by natural endowments for industrial careers has largely taken place during the last five years, as is indicated by the fact that according to the Government census of manufacturers in 1905, the number of industrial employes in Quebec had only increased by 6000 since 1900, in New Brunswick by 3,000 and in Nova Scotia by 500. Most of the 375,766 increase in population which these three Eastern provinces show, therefore, must have taken place within the last five years.

As a matter of fact a great industrial awakening is taking place in the East. The secret of this awakening is that capitalists have suddenly discovered the industrial resources of these provinces. Money is pouring in, in a flood from Great Britain, from the United States and from Germany and France for the industrial development of Eastern Canada. Great steel and coal industries are being built up on the very shores of the Atlantic Ocean, and during the past five years these industries have begun to compete in the markets of the world.

Great pulp and paper manufactories are springing up in New Brunswick and Quebec, and already are exporting their products to all parts of the world. Great mining industries are being established all over the East, and Quebec, whose mining resources have remained almost untouched while those of Ontario have been developing, has now entered into the van of progress, a result of a complete revision of her mining laws. These are only a few of the great basic industries. Hundreds of others are following in their wake. The East, in fact, is taking the place that Nature has fitted her to take—that of a great manufacturing country.

The phenomenal progress of some of the larger cities of the East, and notably of Montreal, is well known. But without instancing any of the larger cities, a few examples of lesser known places will illustrate the general progress. Victoriaville, Que., with electrical power from Shawinigan Falls, increased her manufactured products from $374,000 in 1901 to $500,000 in 1909. Three Rivers, Que., with power from natural gas, has increased from 9,000 to 14,000 in population. Fraserville, on the shores of the St. Lawrence, with unlimited timber at its back, increased its manufactured products from $376,876 in 1906 to $600,000 in 1909. Joliette, Que., with power from Shawinigan Falls, increased its manufactured products from $719,882 in 1906 to over $1,000,000 in 1909. Buckingham, Que., with natural resources of lumber, phosphate, plumbago, and mica, increased its manufactured products from $265,960 to $800,000 in 1909.

As far back as 1905—really before the great industrial awakening had begun—over $70,000,000 per annum was being paid out in wages in the factories of Quebec, Nova Scotia, and the Maritime Provinces. Since then amount has more than doubled. In other words the amount paid out in wages in these provinces, during the past year, must equal an amount sufficient to pay for a wheat crop of 150 million bushels at $1 per bushel.

Considering that factory employes only form a portion of the urban population, it will be seen that this consuming population of the East is a big factor in the well-being of the Dominion as a whole, and presents as it were, a view of the future for such provinces as Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia whose vast resources, now dormant, must inevitably attract and concentrate the industrial classes of the world.

Calgary Eyeopener: If a married man fails to meet a pecuniary obligation, all he has to do is to explain that his wife has just come through a severe illness, and what with doctor's bills, drug store bills, and the trained nurse, he has had a severe strain on his pocket-book, but everything is all right now and all he needs is a little more time to build up again, etc., etc. And when your married man goes in for assimilating a horde of creditors, the creditors finally discover that his property is all in his wife's name. This marriage stunt certainly has its

QUEBEC'S WONDERFUL INDUSTRIAL RESOURCES

This Province Has the Greatest Water Power on the Continent of North America

The Eastern portion of Canada is equipped as no other portion of the Dominion, or the continent, is for the industrial race. It is not generally known, for instance, that Quebec has at its back a single waterfall of far vaster power than Niagara. The minimum at Niagara Falls is 3,812,000 horse power. At the Grand Falls on the Hamilton River, the minimum available is 9,000,000 horse power. These falls have been visited by Mr. A. P. Low, in his capacity of Director of the Geological Survey of the Dominion, and he has officially confirmed the estimate of the almost inconceivable force of nine million horse power, declaring that there can be little doubt that these Falls will some day supply the greater part of the Province of Quebec with power. The Falls have a sheer drop of 312 feet, and a total drop of over 790 feet, compared to a drop of 186 feet at Nigara.

The position that Quebec is bound to take, as the premier manufacturing region, of the whole continent is best illustrated by the following comparison of her water powers with those of the other parts of the Dominion, taken from a report by Mr. J. B. Challies, C. E., of the Department of the Interior, on water powers in Canada:

Location	Min. Flow Dev.	Present Dev.
Yukon	470,000	......
British Columbia	2,065,500	73,000
Alberta	1,144,000	1,380
Saskatchewan	500,000	1,300
Manitoba	504,005	18,000
North-West Territ's	600,000	......
Ontario	3,129,168	331,157
Quebec	17,075,939	80,000
New Brunswick	150,000	......
Nova Scotia	54,200	13,300
Total	25,692,907	486,887

Is it any wonder that capital is pouring into Quebec for the establishment of every conceivable kind of manufactory? Is it any wonder that since Mr. Challies made the above computation a year or two ago, the development of water power in Quebec has more than quadrupled?

To-day along one single piece of car track on the island of Montreal, the track running from Montreal to the Lachine Rapids—there are no fewer than $80,000,000 of American money invested in industrial establishments. This is only an example of what is going on all over the East. Besides water powers the Province of Quebec has more forest wealth than any other region on the continent, and already employs in the lumber industry no fewer than 40,000 men, all of whom, like those in the factories, must be numbered among the industrial and therefore consuming classes. Many huge pulp and paper mills are now either under construction or in operation, besides water power in the [illegible] of the Province, this industrial activity is attracting people from all over the English speaking world, the consequence being that the population of Quebec is not made up, as many suppose, of French-Canadian farmers, but of a bi-lingual, cosmopolitan people who are rapidly building up huge industries.

WHAT WILL THE CENSUS SHOW

There are Indications of Great Development in the Maritime Provinces

It will probably take the best part of the next twelve months to classify the census taken this year of manufactories, but it may be taken for granted that a huge total shown in the census for the year 1905 will be far exceeded, in view of the tremendous strides which have been made during the past five years in industrial development. In the Maritime Provinces alone, one sees New Brunswick becoming more and more industrial, while Nova Scotia is affording remarkable illustration of the industrial awakening of the East. From the great basic enterprises such as the iron and steel works at Sydney, through all the ramifications of industrial enterprise, its towns and cities are rapidly forging to the front. It is true that the water powers of Nova Scotia are trifling compared with those of Quebec, but look at its coal fields. These comprise no fewer than 735 square miles, and the Dominion Coal Company alone, have to its certain knowledge enough coal in its holdings at Glace Bay to provide for an output of three and a half million tons per year for 1,000 years.

At the census of manufactories in 1905 it was shown that Quebec had $351,780,182 invested in industrial enterprises, with 116,748 employes, producing products for the year to the value of $216,478,496. Nova Scotia had $74,599,588 invested, with an output of the value of $31,987,449. New Brunswick had $36,798,698 invested, with an output value of $22,133,951.

These are big figures. They show a total production as far back as 1905 of $270,599,896, enough to buy up the whole of the 1911 wheat crop in Western Canada, and still leave one millions of dollars on hand.

WORLD'S BANK ACCOUNTS

The following table shows the amount on deposit in the savings banks of Great Britain and other countries:

Country	Year	Total Deps.	Ave. to Each Dep.
U. King.	1907	$1,048,268,260	$84
Belgium	1905	156,729,160	66
France	1905-7	974,372,860	79
Italy	1906	616,183,030	93
Neth'l'ds	1905	92,551,665	58
Canada	1911	698,936,083	97.75

An Act under consideration by the Toronto house, is based upon sound and common sense argument, viz:—That the House is of the opinion that a thorough system of good roads in this Province would increase the value of farm lands, lessen the cost of transportation, improve marketing facilities increase the comfort and convenience of farm life, and greatly promote the general progress and prosperity of the

APSLEY

There are not many changes taking place in our district but once in a while an old resident decides to leave for new pastures. Geo. A. Bullied who has been a very successful farmer of Chandos for over thirty years has sold his farm stock, implements, &c., and removed to Coe Hill to take charge of that large and commodious hotel near the station, which he has leased for a term of years, and as soon as he makes the necessary repairs the travelling public will be assured of first class accommodation. George and his family will be missed by every one and all join in wishing him success in his new enterprise. Mr. Peter Johnston has leased Mr. Bullied's farm and will move there in a few days.

Thomas and John Coones have gone to the North-West, intending to spend the summer there, and if the country suits will buy or pre-empt homesteads. Their sister, Miss Annie Coones, accompanied them as far as Lakefield where she will visit her aunt for a few weeks.

Reeve Tucker gave the young people a dance last Monday evening. All report a good time, but that is what they always have when William gives a dance. They must certainly have enjoyed themselves as it was daylight when those from the village got home.

We were pleased to see Ernie again with his commercial travellers, J. G. Hardill representing T. Kennear & Co. and S. G. Taylor representing Kingan Hardware Co. They came one day in advance of their usual date as the weather began at last to show signs of spring. Ernie thought it advisable to do so as if it should rain the roads would become very bad. Mr. Hardill has been making regular trips to Apsley for the past six years, and in that time has never missed one, and was only one-half a day late on one of those trips, and that time we never expected he would make through on account of the drifts, but he did. In those six years he has worked up a splendid business here for his firm and has made many friends in this locality.

THE FORMATION OF ICEBERGS

They Originate from Glaciers in Western Greenland and Assume Every Shape

Icebergs usually originate in western Greenland. Everywhere, according to a bulletin of the Hydrographic Office, Greenland's mountainous belt "is penetrated by deep fiords, which reach to the inland ice and are terminated by the perpendicular fronts of huge glaciers, while in some places the ice comes down in broad projections close to the margin of the sea. All of these glaciers are making their way toward the sea, and, as their ends are forced out into the water, they are broken off and set adrift as bergs. This process is called calving. The size of the pieces set adrift varies greatly, but a berg from 60 to 100 feet to the top of its walls, whose spires or pinnacles may reach from 200 to 250 feet in height and whose length may be from 300 to 500 yards, is considered to be or ordinary size in the Arctic.

"These measurements apply to the part above water, which is about one-eighth or one-ninth of the whole mass. Many authors give the depth under water as being from eight to nine times the height above. This is incorrect, as measurements above and below water should be referred to mass and not to height. It is even possible to have a berg as high out of the water as it is deep below the surface, for, if we imagine a large, solid lump of any regular shape which has a very small sharp high pinnacle in the centre, the height above water can easily be equal to the depth below. An authentic case on record is that of a berg grounded in the Strait of Belle Isle in sixteen fathoms of water, that had a thin spire about 100 feet in height.

"Bergs are made all the year round, but in greater numbers during the summer season; and thousands are set adrift each year. Once adrift in the Arctic, they find their way into the Labrador current and begin their journey to the southward. It is not an unobstructed drift, but one attended with many stoppages and mishaps. Many ground in the Arctic basin and break up there; others reach the shores of Labrador, where from one end to the other they continually ground and float; some break up and disappear entirely, while others get safely past and reach the Grand Bank. The whole coast of Labrador is cut up by numerous islands, bays, and headlands, shoals and reefs, which makes the journey of all drift a long one, and adds greatly to the destruction of the bergs by stoppages and by causing them to break up.

"It is the greatly increased surface which the fragments expose to the [illegible] that accounts for the rapid disappearance of the ice after it has reached the northern edge of the warm circulatory drift currents of the North Atlantic Ocean. If these processes of disintegration did not go on and large bergs should remain intact, several years might elapse before they would melt, and they would ever be present in the transoceanic routes. In fact, instances are on record in which masses of ice, escaping the influences of swift destruction or possessing a capability for resisting them, have, by phenomenal drifts, passed into European waters and been encountered from time to time throughout that portion of the ocean which stretches from the British Isles to the Azores.

"They assume the greatest variety of shapes, from those approximating to some regular geometric figure to others crowned with spires, domes, minarets, and peaks, while others still are pierced by deep indentations or caves. Small cataracts precipitate themselves from the large bergs, while many icicles hang in clusters from every projecting ledge. They frequently have outlying spurs under water, which are as dangerous as any other sunken reefs. For this reason it is advisable for vessels to give them a wide berth, for there are a number of cases on record where vessels were seriously damaged by striking when apparently clear of the berg. It is generally best for vessels to go to windward of them, because the disintegrated fragments will have a tendency to drift to leeward, while open water will be found to windward. Serious injury has occurred to vessels through the breaking up or capsizing of icebergs."

Preventing Sunstroke

GOOD AND BAD TAXES

"It is peculiar," said the Reeve of Middlemass to his Western nephew, as they sat before the fire and listened to the winter storm howling without, "how few people realize what an abundant and growing revenue is provided for the Dominion of Canada by the customs and excise tariff."

The Modern Farmer

The two men were admirable examples of Eastern and Western farmers. The Reeve reminded the observer of one of the great oaks in the Reeve's own woods, a tree assailed by the winds but sturdy in its old age. A silent man was the Reeve, and given to speech only when he had brooded long over his subject. The nephew was a long, lithe nonchalant person, skeptical about the statement of others but enthusiastic in regard to his own, a steel spring of a man, and watchful of his interests. Neither bore any resemblance to that strange hybrid which vaudeville artists delight in presenting to urban audiences as the agricultural type. They never said "By heck" in their lives. Nor had any of their relatives, friends or ancestors. The familiar characteristics of the stock creation of the actor's brain were absent. They could not resemble something which does not exist except on the variety stage.

"How abundant?" drawled the nephew, "and how growing?"

The Direct Tax

The Reeve paused before replying, and allowed his eyes to take in the group picture of his farm buildings, together with photographs of bird's eye views of certain choice fields, which hung on the wall. He had the finest farm in the county, and prized it next to his wife and children.

"I'd hate to see a direct tax put upon this land and these buildings to help replace the revenue raised by customs and excise if some of your wild Western free traders realised your ideal, and abolished customs and excise," he remarked.

"What are your figures?" asked the nephew.

Indirect Taxes

"In 1911," he said, "The Dominion Government's total revenue was $117,780,409. That is the amount they had to run Canada's business with. How much of it came from the customs. Just $73,312,367. About 62 per cent. How much from excise duties? $16,869,837. About 14 per cent. That is, 76 per cent. of the revenue of the Dominion came from customs and excise."

"Customs duties paid by Ontario amounted to $23,139,882," continued the Reeve. "Ontario is my Province. I am not objecting to duties if they are properly levied. What about your Province, Alberta? It paid $1,985,656 in customs last year. That is not a very heavy imposition. Saskatchewan only paid [illegible], while British Columbia and Manitoba, where one hears very little agitation for tariff reduction paid $8,154,841 and $7,032,670 respectively."

The Results of a Revenue

"How does the Government spend the money?" inquired the nephew. "Does much of it find its way to the prairie provinces?"

"It would take up too much time to state in detail how the total revenue of $177,780,409 was spent," replied the Reeve, "but I can give the most important items; interest on the national debt, $12,535,850; administration of justice, $1,282,401; militia, $6,868,651; public works, $8,621,431; subsidies to the provinces, $9,092,471; post office, $7,954,222; railways, canals and the collection of revenue, $11,123,250; light houses and coast service, $1,979,838. These are the chief items, of which 76 per cent. are paid by the customs and excise duties. Don't the prairie provinces get their proportionate share of the good derived from the expenditure in administration of justice, militia, subsidies to Provinces, etc.?"

"I suppose we do," answered the nehpew, "but how can you prove that the revenue is abundant?"

A Growing Income

"By stating that the Government had a surplus of about $30,000,000 last year," returned the Reeve, after consulting the blue book.

"And is it growing?" inquired the nephew.

"In 1811," replied his uncle, "the customs amounted to $18,500,785; in 1891, to $23,481,069; in 1901, to $29,106,978, and in 1911 to $73,312,367. That's growth, isn't it?"

"You have proved your original contention, without doubt," admitted the nephew. "I cannot deny that the revenue produced by customs and excise seems to provide very nicely for the various little bills which Canada is called upon to settle annually. But it looks almost too easy and pleasant for us farmers to believe. Isn't it only direct taxation after all, and do not the customs and excise duties really come out of our pockets.

Who Pays the Excise?

"Take the matter of excise," said the Reeve, by way of reply, "which is a tax paid directly by the manufacturers of intoxicating liquor and indirectly by the customers thereof. How much liquor do you drink in a year?"

"That's a leading question," replied the Westerner. "Let me calculate. I take a little drink usually when I go to town, which is once a week on the average. Estimating on the basis of two drinks a visit, twice three fingers straight, six fingers. Fifty two times six equals three hundred and twelve fingers annually. About two gallons I should judge."

"Rum," said his uncle, looking at the lightning calculator over his glasses. "You pay more excise than I thought. The excise tariff on spirits when made from raw grain is $1.90 per proof gallon, so you pay your share—$3.80. Liquor never enters this house except at Christmas. I would say that my annual contribution to the country's excise would be fifty cents."

Where the Weight Lies

"Shameful," remarked the nephew, "You are shirking your national responsibilities."

"Never mind," said the Reeve grimly. "I pay enough direct taxes without having to pay much in the way of indirect taxes, and any one can see by this blue book that the burden of the customs duties are paid by the urban population. Would you like to have the weight shifted by laying an additional direct tax on farm property?"

"I would not," replied the nephew promptly.

"Nor I," said the Reeve.

And having agreed upon the weather, they went cheerfully to bed.

BIG RETURNS FROM TWENTY-FIVE ACRES

Brant County Farmer realizes Over $4,000 Per Year From His Little Farm

To those who hold to the belief that rural Ontario is in a state of decay the following testimony of a farmer in Brant County, Mr. J. W. Clarke by name, should prove illuminating. Mr. Clarke has secured the following results from a farm of only 25 acres. He said in a recent speech at the Guelph Agricultural College:

"I keep poultry, grow fruit and produce some honey. My poultry consists of a flock of Orpingtons and the product is sold for breeding purposes. My farm year does not end until March and my sales to date are:

Eggs for hatching	$ 600
Other eggs	100
Breeding Stock	1,500
[illegible]	[illegible]
525 bbls. apples net	1,400
Apples sold locally	120
Pears and Strawberries	100
Tomatoes	100
Raspberries	80
Honey	440

"My orchard consists of 5 acres of apples, mostly Kings, Spies and Greenings 30 years old. I keep 150 laying hens and these have the run of the orchard, being kept in summer in colony houses 6x7, with 50 hens to a house. My wage bill aside from board, runs about $450 a year."

FEWER CATTLE IN WESTERN CANADA

Decline of Live Stock Industry Bears on High Cost of Living

Butchers' cattle are now selling as high in Winnipeg, Edmonton, and Calagary as in Toronto and Montreal, ad this is an unusual condition. Receipts at Winnipeg for 1911 showed a falling off from the record of the previous year of over eighty thousand head of cattle. The reason for this is not hard to find. The ranches of the west have been rapidly broken up and converted into farms to be devoted largely to wheat-raising. Hence the increases of over two million acres in the amount of land under cultivation in the three western Provinces last year, and hence also the great losses which have been sustained through the deterioration of millions of bushels of grain which could not be marketed in time to escape the rigorous western winter. Were the farmers of westen Canada able to feed all the grain now spoiling in the fields for want of some agency to move or utilise it they would have a substantial profit, which under the present conditions they must lose. Incidentally, the beef famine and high food prices would be minimised.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU SLEEP.

Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers and gardeners make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent. per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $900 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let me show you a very easy way to do the same.

Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was this not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and orchards suitable for gardens, and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. OBITUARY.

John Robertson Benson.

Mr. John Robertson Benson, who left Peterborough, some forty years ago, and has since resided in Winnipeg, Man., died yesterday morning at 470 Weller street. The deceased, who had only returned to Peterborough about two weeks ago, was the guest of his brother-in-law, Mr. Brock, the local watchmaker, at whose home he passed away. Mr. Benson was seventy years of age. The body was shipped yesterday afternoon to Winnipeg for interment.

A Correction.

In our report of the last meeting of the Board of Education we erroneously stated that Mr. Corkery had expressed through the chairman of the Board his hearty concurrence in the action of the School Board re the Armour Estate site selected by them on which to erect the new school for East City. The article should have read that "Mr. Edward Courtney" concurred in the Board's action. We regret the unintentional mistake, but cannot see that it materially affects the situation, pro or con. We also take this opportunity to announce that many other influential East City ratepayers besides Mr. Courtney have expressed their approval of the new site.

Mr. George Lundy's Wedding.

The residence of Mr. Richard Hall, on Saturday afternoon, was the scene of a quietly solemnized wedding. Miss Marlie Thompson Hall became the bride of Mr. George W. Lundy, second son of Mr. D. J. Lundy, all of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. The bride was given away by her father, and as the bridal party entered the drawing room, Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mr. Cohn Crane. The bride was charmingly attired in ivory satin, with square train and Duchess lace on the bodice and skirt. Her veil was of tulle, prettily fastened with a garland of orange blossoms and the bridal bouquet was of white roses. Miss Effie Munro acted as bridesmaid, Mr. Gerald K. Rackham was best man. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held. Only immediate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Further Particulars of Lindsay Fire.

Further particulars of the Lindsay fire, of which we gave brief particulars in Saturday's issue, have arrived. It seems that the destructive fire by which Hood & Sons' Knitting Factory was entirely destroyed, started in the front part of the building near the office and swept with lightning rapidity throughout the factory. The inflammable nature of the goods and oils used around the machinery fed the rapidly devouring flames, which burned their way through the partitions and gained a strong hold in an attic over the rear portion of the building. A ventilator in the ceiling of this department caused a draught, which drew the flames with a greater sweep through the works.

The metallic sheeting handicapped the firemen. The fire was subdued after about two hours fighting, the firemen confining the flames to the factory alone. The loss to the firm will be in the neighborhood of $5,000. The entire stock of goods ready for sale was also destroyed.

DRIVERS AT BRIDGENORTH.

A few evenings ago two bus loads of pleasure seekers drove out to Bridgenorth to enjoy a dance at the village hall. As the roads were very heavy, the merry makers did not arrive there until about 10.30. After most of them comfortably settled themselves at the hall, the drivers of the busses looked for a place to put up their horses. The hotel was closed. Several of the villagers were approached, but none had accommodation. At last they drove to the house of one of the most influential of the residents there. The daughter of the house, not realizing conditions, stuck her head out of an upstairs window, she being in night apparel. The drivers, for some reason could not make it known that they only wanted a place to tie their horses. The young lady, becoming alarmed, fired three shots from a revolver, through the open window. The drivers of the two Peterborough busses, naturally became more frightened than the girl. "Get up there Nell!" "Haw you, Tom!" was yelled at the steeds. Those busses turned in record time and quickly melted into the stilly night. The drivers had to tie their horses up to a post, in a villager's yard, until the dance was over, and the people left in the wee small hours.

Possibilities for Industrial Expansion in Western Canada

A special article in the annual financial number of the Globe, Toronto on the possibility of manufacturing in the West showed that the Dominion census for 1911 will likely reveal a considerable development along industrial lines throughout the prairie provinces, particularly in Manitoba.

Industries in the West

The writer in the Globe said: "At least seven hundred separate industrial establishments will be shown to be under operation in the three prairie provinces, and nearly two-thirds of these seven hundred factories and shops, it will be seen, are located in Manitoba. Winnipeg, alone, has now between two hundred and fifty and three hundred successful operating plants. Saskatchewan, however, will hardly have a hundred industries altogether, while Alberta's roll will contain the names of nearly one hundred and seventy-five manufacturing institutions.

This means, that manufacturing at any rate is gaining slowly in the West; it means too that, at least there are possibilities for the further development of certain industries in that new country."

Abundance of Water Power

Continuing, the writer said: "First you ask, are the possibilities for vary[illegible] the agricultural life of the West [illegible] manufacturers [illegible] Manitoba there is a possible water power development of 495,000 horse power, and so far, there has been only 18,000 horse power turned to use, that having been neglected by the Winnipeg electric railway. The City of Winnipeg will have developed very shortly an additional 60,000 horse power. Saskatchewan is still richer in natural power than Manitoba having stored up in her rivers 500,000 horse power, none of which has been developed, but a portion of which is now under way for the City of Saskatoon. Alberta is richest of all in "white coal," as well as in black coal, having at her disposal 1,144,000 horse power, of which only 1,330 horse power has been supplied to any commercial end.

Rich in Raw Materials

In addition to these natural water powers, all three provinces have coal deposits of various grades, Alberta, of course, having the greatest wealth in this respect. Then there are materials which are native to each particular province, such as gypsum, iron, clay and lumber in Manitoba; clay, lumber and flax fibre in Saskatchewan, and minerals in Alberta. Manufacturing as it exists now in the West is not based so much on the raw materials at hand as on those materials that have to be shipped in—or in other words, on transportation.

"There are certain obstacles, however, to a natural and healthy industrial expansion in the West. Chief among which is the inadequate food supply and the consequent high cost of living. Other obstacles are high freight charges on manufactured goods, and the obstructive legislation against the so-called "extra-provincial corporations."

High Cost of Living

Dealing with the question of inadequate food supplies, the Globe's contributor says: "A third great disadvantage, that must be overcome before capital and labor will be directed in any great volume towards manufacturing in the West, is the inadequate food supply. Expensive food is really at the bottom of the big Western revolt against the cost of living which has of late assumed the form of an attack against the country's fiscal system. It seems strange that a fertile country like Western Canada does not supply itself with sufficient food to supply its own needs—that is if food is to have a greater variety than the one staple product, wheat. The economics of the whole situation in the West is that such articles as meats, poultry, eggs, butter, milk and cheese, all of which can be raised most plentifully and profitably, are so scarce and expensive in many sections of the prairie that a high standard is set, which has found its way into Eastern Canada and the increased cost of things has extended gradually into every department of our commercial life. Why should not the West, which is receiving the greatest number of the tillers of the soil these days produce the bulk of Canada's provisions? It is that section of the country, not the industrial East, that should be supplying the people with food, and because it is not doing this the standard of values is being set by the West and being set high. Factories and factory workers will always be backward about locating in these districts, where wages will hardly suffice to pay rent and food."

A MARVEL AT DANCING

Princess Radziwill Was in Forty-Four Dances in Five Hours.

Princess Albert Radziwill, who was Miss Dorothy Deacon, and who, since her reconciliation with her mother-in-law, has become a society star of the first magnitude, is in evidence at nearly every important function. The young princess has astonished people by her grace and endurance in dancing. Her friends have nick-named her "Betka," and the society journals chronicle the beauty of "Donna Betka" Radziwill and her grace in dancing.

At Princess George Radziwill's ball this week "Donna Betka" went through forty-four dances, round and square, between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m., after which she appeared at an afternoon function without the least trace of fatigue, and announced that she would be quite ready to repeat the performance that evening.

Through Trains to the West Via Chicago and St. Paul.

Personally conducted Grand Trunk special train will leave Toronto 10.30 P.M. Tuesday, April 2nd, for Camrose, Edmonton, and points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, stopping at all points on Grand Trunk Pacific west of Winnipeg. Pullman Tourist sleepers will be carried fully equipped with bedding and porter in charge. Berths may be secured in these cars at a low rate. This is an exceptional opportunity for those wishing to take advantage of the remarkably low one-way settlers rates or round trip Home-seekers' excursions, through the American cities. IN WINNIPEG

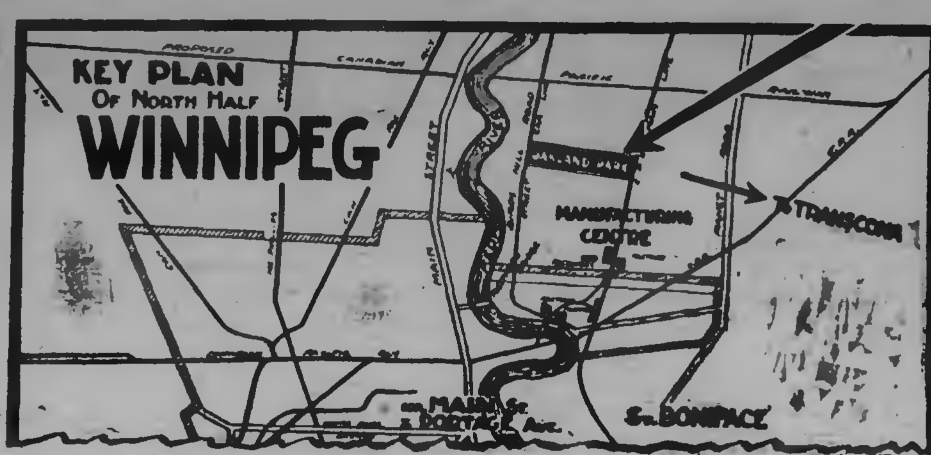
OAKLAND PARK

has the Right Location for Future VALUE



INDUSTRIAL WINNIPEG is in the beginning of its first big forward step. The city's 60,000 horse power hydro-electric plant, located forty miles north east of Winnipeg, is now in operation, and the year 1912 will see hundreds of new Industries located in Winnipeg.

NORTHEAST of the city is the best and favorite location of present industrial sites. It is in this direction that the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific Railways are spending millions this year in new terminals, five miles beyond the city.

OAKLAND PARK is an ideal residence district for the better class of citizens who will make up the increased industrial army of Winnipeg. East Kildonan in which Oakland Park is located, is the prettiest and most desirable residence section contiguous to the city, and it is close to the industrial center while at the same time removed from its immediate proximity.

GET IN LINE with the growth of a great city—Canada's commercial metropolis of to-morrow. A few dollars invested now in Oakland Park will combine the best kind of profit with absolute safety in investment. Send for Oakland Park literature, or better still, a deposit will secure the reservation of one or two of the best remaining lots in this division.

THE EYE LIKE A CAMERA.
The eye is constructed so wonderfully and ingeniously that the handicraft of man has not as yet been able to construct as delicate an instrument. It is like a camera—the lens to focus, the lid as a shutter, the iris or color as the diaphragm, the thick coatings of the eye-ball as the dark room, the nerve as the sensitive plate, and strange as it may seem, the images are bottom side up exactly as the image in the camera. Now so delicate and sensitive an instrument as the eye should have good care. Let us explain more fully to you how to care for the eyes.

400,000 MINERS OUT IN STATES—RAILWAYS PLAN TO REDUCE SERVICE—NO SETTLEMENT FOR WEEKS

JOHN MEHARRY'S APPOINTMENT AS SANITARY INSPECTOR NOT CONFIRMED BY CITY COUNCIL

MR. C. A. SPENCE GETS THE OFFICE AT $700 A YEAR.

The Garbage By-Law Passes Council and Will Be Enforced Within the District Named—Prices for Collection Remain as Before Published Excepting in the Case of Hotels, Which Will be Assessed 75c per Month.—Fees to be Charged Against Property and to Go on Tax Bills.

Contrary to its usual procedure the City Council last night refused to ratify the appointment of a city official recommended by one of its committees. This was the case in the selection of a Sanitary Inspector, when the Property Committee recommended that Constable John Meharry receive the appointment in accordance with a majority vote of the Committee on Friday evening.

Ald. Gillespie set a match to the smouldering torch of opposition to the appointment recommended when he took incidental exception to the fees for collection of garbage, etc., being collected by the Sanitary Inspector, which duty, he offered, would weaken his official influence. The worthy Alderman next most emphatically opposed the appointment of Constable Meharry as Inspector on the grounds of inexperience and lack of practical and theoretical qualifications for the office.

Ald. Gordon followed in concurrence with his Ward representative. "If Meharry is a good constable," he contended, "he is needed where he is, and if he is not a good constable, we don't want him as Sanitary Inspector." He has no qualifications for this important office, and although he had attended to the sanitary duties the past few years that work had not been properly done. Ald. Gordon here took strong exception to Constable Meharry's being permitted to engage in a business apart from his duties as Constable [illegible] in contradistinction to the act governing police constables. "He operates a nuisance (skating rink) on Brock street," he continued, "for which contingent residents can apparently get no redress, notwithstanding their earnest protest against the institution. And," concluded Ald. Gordon, "I am afraid that Constable Meharry's observance of his duties in the past has not been such as would warrant the assumption that his sense of the importance of this new office would be in keeping with the requirements from a Sanitary Inspector." Ald. Gordon here advanced that the Chairman of the Property Committee had admitted that another applicant had presented the desired qualifications, and moved, seconded by Ald. Gillespie,—That the name of Mr. C. A. Spence be substituted in the Property Committee's report in place of Mr. John Meharry as Sanitary Inspector. And that Mr. Spence's appointment be for the balance of this year, after which the Council may be in a position to consider the amalgamation of the offices of Plumbing and Sanitary Inspector.

Ald. Johnston concurred in the suggestion of combining the offices of Sanitary and Plumbing Inspector. Not however, to expect one man to do the whole work, but to have one responsible head to see that the duties are properly executed. As head of such a department he offered that Mr. Turner would prove an ideal man; he is a competent practical plumber, a ratepayer of this city and plumbing and sanitation go hand in hand, to no inconsiderable degree.

Ald. Gillespie opposed the suggestion for combination of offices, in which event the "cream" of sanitary demands would not be understood and catered to.

For the benefit of all concerned Mr. C. A. Spence's qualifications for the office were here read. They included a thorough theoretical knowledge of the work as outlined in the English health act, he having studied for a government examination in the same. He has also had some technical experience under his father's sanitary inspection of a municipality of 80,000 people.

Ald. Morgan strongly supported Mr. Meharry's appointment. "He had lived here all his life and was more entitled to consideration than an imported man of recent date coming here with his uncle's or father's experience as recommendation." Constable Meharry, Ald. Morgan contended to be fully qualified for the position, he understood cattle from the hoof up, and knew all about milk. Then he had attended to the duties for four or five years and had given satisfaction to the Medical Health Officer. The Chief of Police was also highly satisfied with him as a constable.

The vote on Ald. Gordon's motion was here taken, and resulted in a tie. The Mayor then voted for the motion, which consequently carried.

Mr. C. A. Spence is therefore Sanitary Inspector at a salary of $700 a year, duties to commence April 15th.

In Committee on Friday night, it might be well here to explain, Ald. Morgan and Graham moved Mr. Meharry's appointment, Ald. Brown that of a Mr. Hope, with no seconder, and the Mayor and Ald. Duncan Mr. Spence's appointment.

Garbage By-Law Passed.

The Garbage By-law passed its several readings with a few changes.

Ald. Anderson was not satisfied with the area to be served. He thought it might be reduced in the centre of the city, leaving it optional with the city [illegible] outlying districts to take advantage of the system of collection. [illegible] prived of advantages in this respect heretofore engaged. The contractor might contract for the whole work and charge against those without the given district desiring his services. He thought this matter might be referred back to committee of the whole.

Ald. Buller took exception to Ald. Anderson's contention. The majority of people in outlying districts did not want to come within the by-laws provisions.

The Mayor and Ald. Duncan explained that the committee had gone thoroughly into the question and recommended the only workable plan at present—to try the collecting system out for a year in one district, and if satisfactory then to ask the ratepayers to endorse the by-law empowering the purchase of garbage grounds and incinerator and serve the whole city. Under the present by-law the contractor assumes all responsibility as to where he dumps his garbage refuse, etc.

On motion of the Mayor, seconded by Ald. Johnston, the fee for collecting garbage from hotels was raised from 45c to 75c a month.

Moved by Ald. Gillespie, seconded by Ald. Gordon,— that the garbage fees go on the tax bills and not collected by the Sanitary Inspector.—Carried.

This means that these fees be charged against the properties affected and embodied in the tax bills.

On motion of Ald. Gordon the maximum penalty for violating the by-law was fixed at $10.

The by-law appointing Mr. C. A. Spence Sanitary Inspector passed its several readings.

HUNDREDS OF COAL MINES IDLE TO-DAY IN THE UNITED STATES

Philadelphia, April 1.—"Eight-hour day" was observed by the anthracite mine workers to-day and there was a complete shutdown throughout the hard coal regions. About 175,000 men are idle. Some years ago the union bituminous miners in the West won an eight-hour day and ever since it has been the custom to observe that victory on April 1, the day the eight-hour agreement went into effect. The anthracite mine workers have been contending for a similar work day for ten years, but the best they have secured thus far is a reduction from ten to nine hours a day.

Reports from different parts of the anthracite fields show all engineers, pumpmen, stable men, and others necessary for the preservation of mine property reported for duty. Many of the companies are taking advantage of the idleness to make much-needed repairs.

Approximately 400,000 men are directly affected to-day, and some 300,000 more, scattered throughout the coal districts of the country, are watching the outcome of the "suspension," for its possible effect on their own wages and working conditions. It probably will be at least thirty days before all mines will have resumed, if the referendum votes and conferences result favorably, and the last ten days of that period may present a problem as to fuel supply to industries of all characters.

Expect a Settlement.

New York, April 1.—Anthracite coal operators believe that the suspension of work in the hard coal region, which went into effect to-day, will not continue long, and that the coming meeting of the operators' committee and representatives of the miners on April 10 in Philadelphia will result in a basis of settlement. This belief is strengthened, the operators say, by the fact that there have been no traces of bitterness shown on either side, and that this makes a satisfactory adjustment of differences much easier.

Soft Coal Miners Vote.

Cleveland, Ohio, April 1.—Action in the bituminous coal miners' wage controversy shifted to-day from the seat of long conferences with the operators here to the district headquarters and mining colonies, where more than 400,000 soft coal miners refused to work to-day.

MILLIONS IN COAL LOSSES

New York, April 1. The order to stop work in the anthracite mines means that neither union nor non-union workmen (by mutual agreement) may take out a pound of coal until a new agreement replaces one expiring at midnight Sunday.

Number of workers affected	170,000
Women and children affected	200,000
Collieries to close	268
Mines to be idle	751
Monthly loss in wages	$6,500,000
Operators' loss in net profits (Monthly)	$6,100,000
Loss to middlemen and agents (Monthly)	[illegible]
Loss to railroads (Monthly)	$9,500,000
[illegible]	[illegible]
Annual production of coal in tons	83,600,000
Tons annually consumed in New York	11,000,000
Supply on hand	Four Weeks.

DEMANDS REFUSED THE MINERS.

A 20 per cent. raise in wages.
Abolition of the Conciliation Board.
Recognition of the Union.
Collection of union dues by the operators.
A minimum wage of $[illegible] per day for miners and $2.75 for laborers.
That the rights of [illegible] weighmen and check weighing bosses be not interfered with.
That coal mined be paid for by the ton: not carload.
That contract miners be allowed two laborers only.
An eight hour day.

PUBLIC OPINION

INSPECTION OF RESTAURANTS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In these days of sanitation and germ-hunting the subject of health is paramount. The food of the public is the foundation or damnation of the public health. In this city are a number of restaurants. To the average man they seem well conducted, clean, and furnishing as good and well-cooked meals as their respective prices allow. Still, I think the city should have an official to inspect them all at irregular intervals. Cleanliness is, beyond dispute, essential, not only for comfort and appearance, but for health. There is at least one restaurant in the city where a narrow line is drawn between filth and the clean wholesome conditions, required by common sense and twentieth century demands. Where is the food kept in such places? How often are the tea and coffee urns cleaned? Is the milk kept under proper conditions? A large number of people live in rooming-houses and are compelled to eat all their meals at such restaurants. They, as well as the clerk who takes lunch down town, should be protected against the dangers of places which hover between cleanliness and obvious dirt.

Sanitation.

Oratorio in All Saints' Church.

A combined choir of 70 voices from St. John's and All Saints' Anglican churches gave a fine rendering of Stainer's "Crucifixion" in All Saints' church last night, before a congregation of about 300, under the leadership of Mr. R. J. Devey of St. John's. The leading choruses were splendidly sung, reflecting great praise for Mr. Chandler, the choirmaster of All Saints' and Mr. Devey of St. John's. The soloists were Messrs. Chandler, Brown, Barling, Spence. Apart from the feature of the combination choir, the phrasing of the whole work was remarkable, and a very special note may be made of the accompanied quartette, "God So Loved the World," and of the fact that the young sixteen year old boy, Cyril Devey presided at the organ. The rector, Rev. Mr. Grobb, conducted the devotions. The work will be given in St. John's on Good Friday at 8 p.m., by the combined choirs.

THE WEATHER.

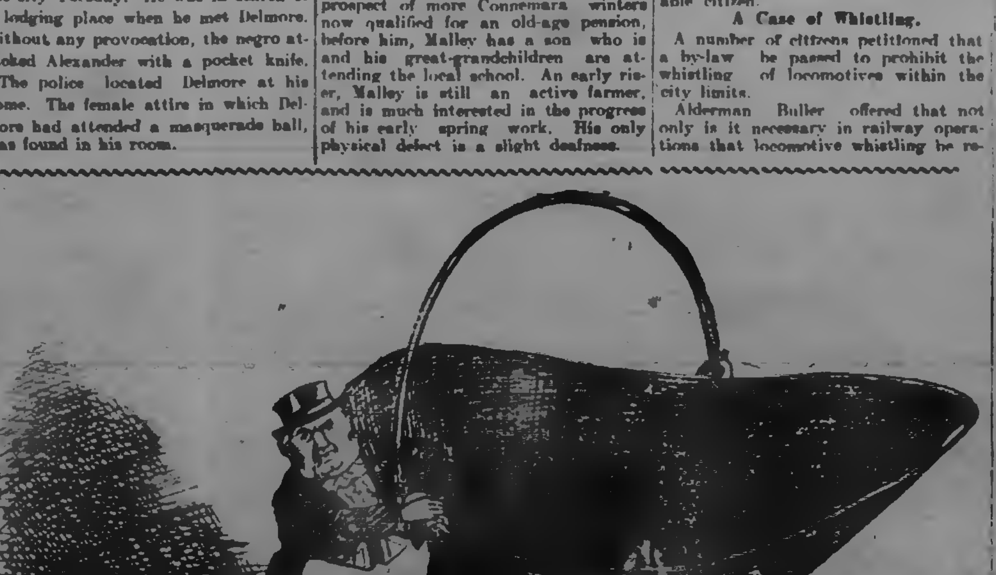
NEGRO, IN WOMANS GARB USES KNIFE

New Orleans, La., April 1.—John Alexander of Cambridge, Mass., is at the Charity Hospital in a serious condition from a knife wound in the left side under the arm, inflicted by a negro named Charles Delmore, Wednesday morning at the corner of Saratoga and Poydras streets.

Investigation conducted by Sergeant Peterson, showed that Delmore did the stabbing and at the time was dressed in female attire. Alexander arrived in the city Tuesday. He was in search of a lodging place when he met Delmore. Without any provocation, the negro attacked Alexander with a pocket knife.

The police located Delmore at his home. The female attire in which Delmore had attended a masquerade ball, was found in his room.



A GROWING EMPTINESS.—From The Toronto News.

FINAL CAMPAIGN FOR HOME RULE

Nationalist Party of Ireland Gathering a Large Fund

Dublin, April 1. THE Nationalists of Ireland, are responding to the appeal of the parliamentary party for funds to make the final campaign for home rule, and there is every reason to believe that the party war chest will be well supplied for the battle which is yet to come before the parliament in Dublin is an accomplished fact. Not only in Ireland itself, but in the Irelands over the seas the response for funds has been met with promptness and liberality.

Big Contribution Assured.

According to latest estimates, the contributions from Australia and New Zealand to the Irish National exchequer will total about $150,000. Dr. N. M. O'Donnell, in proposing a vote of thanks to the Irish ambassadors, stated that the sixty meetings held in Victoria would return a total of $30,000, which sum had been, in the main, contributed by the working classes. Up to the present, he added, $110,000 had been received from all sources, and after the other states — New South Wales, Tasmania and Western Australia—had been visited the total would not be less than $1,500,000. Prelates, priests and federal and state leaders have joined in the welcome to the Irish envoys. W. A. Redmond, M.P., recalled at one meeting that he and his colleagues had been saluted by the archbishop of Melbourne as the heralds of victory in the home rule cause.

The Ulster men are said to have raised nearly $1,000,000 to fight home rule.

Comical Scenes.

[illegible] witnessed at Ballinlassy, near Athlone, in connection [illegible] cupied by Peter Gavin, and now in the hands of the land commission. The newly-appointed caretaker, Kelly, observed that a number of donkeys and goats had been turned upon the farm, and he had them removed with the aid of the police. There was witnessed in the town this interesting procession, which excited no little amusement:

Four goats, four asses, five policemen, two workingmen and Kelly, the caretaker.

Each policeman was armed with a loaded rifle, and as they marched behind the obstinate "jinneys" there was a great deal of banter to the accompaniment of "The Bansha Peeler," and many laughable allusions to the "Peeler and the Goat" until the pound was finally reached.

Big Dublin Hotel.

It is rumored that a well-known Irish-American has identified himself with a project for building in Dublin a new hotel which will be the largest and best equipped in the British Isles. The money involved in the undertaking is said to be $1,250,000, and it is also stated that the scheme has been initiated in anticipation of a home rule government sitting in the Irish capital.

His 106th Birthday.

A remarkable example of longevity is to be found in the west of Ireland in the case of Thomas Malley, a farmer who lives within view of the Atlantic waves, at the village of Ailebrack, about eight miles from Clifden, and who has just celebrated his 106th birth day. Still hale and hearty, with the prospect of more Connemara winters now qualified for an old-age pension, before him, Malley has a son who is and his great-grandchildren are attending the local school. An early riser, Malley is still an active farmer, and is much interested in the progress of his early spring work. His only physical defect is a slight deafness.

CITY COUNCIL ENDORSES THE MADE-IN PETERBOROUGH FAIR

COMMITTEE OF LADIES WAITED UPON CITY FATHERS LAST NIGHT.

Manufacturers' Committee to Co-operate with the Ladies' Auxillary And Assist in Booming the Event Which is Conceded Will Prove a Brilliant Gala Week—A Splendid Advertisement for Peterborough—Manufacturers and Others Will Consult Their Own Interests by Arranging for Exhibition Space in the Armouries.

The City Fathers met in regular monthly session last night, Mayor W. H. Bradburn presiding. There were also present Aldermen Morgan, Anderson, Graham, Johnston, Brown Duffus, Gordon, Gillespie, Duncan and Buller.

Mrs. W. H. Bradburn, Mrs. Jas. Kendry and Mrs. Travers, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough Health Association, waited upon the Council with a view to securing the city's active co-operation in arousing keener interest in the coming "Made-in-Peterborough" Exhibition, to be held in the Armouries from May 27th to June 1st.

Mrs. Kendry explained that the Ladies' Auxiliary are arranging for a Made-in-Peterborough exhibition this summer as a means of raising funds to be applied toward the establishment of a district nurse in this city. Such a nurse, apart from the duties of waiting upon poor patients, would educate families as to the means of combatting the white plague, otherwise known as tuberculosis.

Mrs. Travers explained that the Made-in-Peterborough Exhibition was to be a carnival week, during which goods manufactured in Peterborough will be exhibited in the Armouries. But unless keener enthusiasm is aroused outside exhibits will have to be accepted. The Association has not met with altogether gratifying success, there being at present but 30 members [illegible] unless [illegible] erally grow more responsive to the advertising [illegible] event will have to be run under the cognomen of "Made-in-Canada," and thrown open to other goods but those manufactured here. Such a recourse is undesirable. The ladies have as yet sold but 14 booths out of a possible 42, but hope for the city's cooperation in disposing of the whole available space in which case some $500 would be netted from that source alone. Considerable other revenue will it is expected be raised from admission fees. In conclusion, Mrs. Travers thought the Council might help in providing for attractions, excursions, etc.

Mrs. W. H. Bradburn heartily endorsed Mrs. Kendry's and Mrs. Travers' remarks.

Moved by Ald. Gillespie, seconded by Ald. Gordon,—That this Council is of the opinion that the "Made-in-Peterborough Exhibition," which is being arranged by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough Health Association, will be a good advertisement for the city and for those who exhibit at it; and that, in view of the benevolent object to which the proceeds will be applied, and for the credit of the city, it should be supported, and that this Council commend the exhibition to the support of the Manufacturers' and Citizens generally.—Carried.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Duncan, That the Manufacturers' Committee act in conjunction with the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Peterborough Health Association in regard to the proposed "Made-in-Peterborough" exhibition.—Carried.

The ladies were also assured of the co-operation of the city in securing the formal opening of the fair by Sir James P. Whitney, or some other notable citizen.

A Case of Whistling.

A number of citizens petitioned that a by-law be passed to prohibit the whistling of locomotives within the city limits.

Alderman Buller offered that not only is it necessary in railway operations that locomotive whistling be resorted to, but it oftimes happens that the whistling of a locomotive saves lives.

Ald. Gordon contended that much unnecessary whistling prevails; in fact, he questioned if some of the whistling was not the result of sportiveness on the part of engine crews.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Duffus,—That the City Solicitor be instructed to draft a by-law prohibiting the whistling by locomotives within the city limits.—Carried.

To Remove Poles.

Ald Buller moved,—That the offer of the G.N.W. Telegraph Co, to remove their poles from George street, between Charlotte and Brock streets, providing the city defray the cost of such removal—$350, be accepted. Carried.

The foregoing provides for the removal of 14 poles in all, carrying dead wires.

Those Hog Pens.

In regard to the Property Committee's report that the hog pens in the market be removed, Ald. Brown urged the retention of one pen in the interests of farmers bringing cattle into market to be weighed. He thought that were this pen kept for cattle only and properly cared for no nuisance would result.

Ald. Johnston contended that all the hog pens should be removed and established elsewhere if needed.

Ald. Morgan offered that the market clerk in tendering for the tolls had reduced the amount of his tender on the assumption that these pens were going to be removed. The privilege of these pens had been abused in the past and would, were even one retained, be abused in the future.

The Mayor did not think the pens had been established for the farmer's benefit, but for the convenience of drovers.

Ald. Duncan interjected that the city has been paying [illegible] a year for cleaning these pens, and yet they have not been kept in a sanitary condition.

No action was taken in the matter [illegible]

FIRES AT CAR TIRES NEARLY HITS WOMAN

Paris, March 31.—The recent order issued to the Paris police not to hesitate to puncture the tires of any automobile the driver of whom refuses to stop when ordered, almost resulted in a serious accident this week. An automobile belonging to Mons. Chauvet was noticed by two cyclist policemen in the rue Eugene-Flachat without any light behind. The policemen ordered the chauffeur to stop, but instead of doing so he drove off at top speed. The policemen pursued the car, and just as one of them overtook it the automobile swerved and knocked him off his bicycle, which was smashed.

The other policeman drew his revolver, and fired twice at the tires of the automobile. He missed the tires, but one of the bullets passed through the dress of a woman who was passing by, fortunately, without injuring her.

GAS VICTIM WIDOW IS SUEING FOR $35,000

New Orleans, La., March 24.—The explosion, caused by Pintsch gas, which occurred in the refrigerating or cooling room of the National Packing Company, July 5, 1911, causing the death of John Corvin, an engineer in the employ of the Armour Packing Company, has resulted in the filing in the Civil District Court Wednesday by Bridget S. Feeley, widow of the deceased Corvin, of a petition praying for a judgment against the National Packing Company, Ltd., the New Orleans Gas Light Company and the New Orleans Railway and Light Company for $35,000 damages.

It is alleged that investigation by the Fire Marshal and others developed the fact that the explosion was due to Pintsch or other gas with which the cooling chamber had been filled, through a leak from a gas pipe in front of the premises of the packing company under the sidewalk.

BOY MUSICIANS BEFORE KINGS

This can certainly be termed the age of baby prodigies, for the number of boys and girls of tender years who perform on the stage at the present time runs well over a score. A few Sarasates and Paderewski's in sashes and pinafores gain Royal recognition almost before the public has heard of them, and during the last week or two the inhabitants of a street in Maida Vale have been surprised, if not exactly pleased, by brilliant five-o'clock-in-the-morning performances on a grand piano of rhapsodies by Liszt and Chopin waltzes.

At first it was imagined that an old professor had taken up his abode in the neighborhood, but it has just come to light that the pianist is Master Erwin Nyiregyhazi, of Budapest, who is only five years of age. Erwin has apparently been practising for a Royal performance, for soon he will play before King George and Queen Mary.

Although the boy will not become a public artiste before he reaches the age of fifteen, it is understood that he will give a series of drawing-room concerts. He appeared at the Duchess of Rutland's house in Arlington Street, Piccadilly, and gave a wonderful exhibition of technique and memory. He played with perfect fluency works by Bach, Handel, Chopin, Rachmaninoff, Mozart, Greig, and Liszt

After the unveiling of Queen Victoria's Memorial the German Emperor and Empress drove to St. Dunstan's, Regent Park, where they were present at a garden-party given by Lord and Lady Londesborough. The Kaiser took a great deal of interest in David Paget, the "boy fiddler," who played a couple of selections, appearing before the Royal party in the clothes which he wore during the latter days of his street peregrinations, for some time ago he was found playing to a theatre queue in a London thoroughfare. Paget, who is ten years old, was awarded first prize in a recent competition held for street-players. He performed the Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" before the German monarch with remarkable skill.

His Majesty of Potsdam quite recently instructed Hans von Garnier, a boy musician, to write him an opera. It was six years ago when the Kaiser first became interested in the boy, who is now sixteen years of age. Garnier had composed a Grenadier March, which his Majesty thought so well of that he ordered its inclusion in the list of the so-called German Army marches for infantry and cavalry. A little while ago Garnier composed a [illegible] the "Present," when the Emperor passes down the front of his troops, and this was played, by Royal orders, at a banquet of the Territorial battalions.

Morits Lutzen, who commenced to play the piano when three years of age, has acquired considerable distinction as a composer of music. He has conducted an orchestra of 180 players in some of his own compositions before the German Emperor, and conducted the Garde Républicaine, the famous Parisian band, in a concert consisting exclusively of his own pieces. He also won prominence in this country by giving a concert of his compositions to his own conducting with Mr. Dan Godfrey's band at Bournemouth, on the outskirts of which city, by the way, he was born.

Mischa Elman, is another wonderful boy musician. He was thought good enough to play a concerto at the Birmingham Triennial Festival in 1906. Young Mischa was a pupil of Professor Auer, of St. Petersburg, who described him as the future Joseph Joachim.—Tit-Bits.

AND STILL SOME VACANCIES

George W. Perkins Recalls a Humorous Western Advertisement

George W. Perkins, who has withdrawn from the banking-house of J. P. Morgan & Co. to devote himself to the great public questions of the day, said at a recent dinner in New York:

"Ours is a country of phenomenal prosperity. There is no such prosperity anywhere else on earth. Here we have work for all."

Mr. Perkins smiled.

"In fact," he said, "we have such a scarcity of labor here that the Western farmer was hardly joking when he inserted in the newspapers this 'want ad.':

"'Wanted—Harvest hands. Hired girl blonde and pleasant. Phonograph music during meals. Pie three times a day. Six lumps of sugar to each cup of coffee. Hammocks, leather divans, easy corners, feather-beds. Rising-hour, 10 a.m. Organ concert every evening. Free chewing and smoking. Come one, come all."

OPPOSED TO POLYGAMY

In connection with the application of a Mohammedan woman, Sir J. Wessels at Johannesburg recently decided that no person could bring into the Transvaal more than one wife. A protest has now been made by the Indian community to the Minister of the Interior, in which it is pointed out that polygamy is a recognised institution in India.

Prefers Indian Dress

A growing number of Indians are adopting European dress. For our own part we think this is very much to be regretted in itself. We wish Indians would retain their own easy and dignified dress, and spare their money for something more worth having than cheap and ugly imitations of European clothes.—Madras Weekly Mail.

WHERE PROS. ARE NUMEROUS

No wonder they have champion oarsmen in Australia. The professionals are sufficiently numerous there to justify the formation of a professional scullers' league. The organization meeting was attended by three ex-champions of the world—William Beach George Towns and Peter Kemp—besides many other lesser lights. It does not always work out that way, though. England has a hundred entries in a professional handicap, but only one man approaching the first class.

HON. WALTER SCOTT

Like other prominent Canadian politicians, the Hon. Walter Scott entered politics by way of journalism. Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself gained much of his facile power of expression during the year in which he edited Le Defricheur. Alexander Mackenzie, the only other Liberal Prime Minister that Canada ever had, was also an editor, while the Hon. W. S. Fielding grew politically wise while wielding the editorial pen of the Halifax Chronicle.

A very humble position introduced Mr. Scott to journalistic life, for it was none other than that of printer's devil. The young "devil" rose quickly. He was soon at the "case," and a year or two later saw him mechanical foreman. With mechanical foremanship he combined leader writing, for in those days there were no nice distinctions between the different departments of Western newspapers. Ten years after "hitting" the West, Mr. Scott was editor and proprietor of two newspapers. There is cause for gratification in the fact that men like Mr. Scott are constantly rising from the ranks to give States and Provinces and nations just laws and good government. Upon this fact the world depends for its guides and leaders. The old idea that a single class, an hereditary, or patrician class of the community could supply a succession of competent law-givers has hopelessly broken down.

HON. WALTER SCOTT

Mr. Scott grew up as the son of pioneer farmers in Old Ontario. His father died when he was a baby, and for that reason Mr. Scott had to work perhaps a little harder than other boys. He milked and ploughed and did every common task incidental to the raising of stock and the growing of grain. In the summer time he went, like other children, barefooted [illegible] autumn, when the mornings were chilly, he learned the trick of warming his feet on the patches where the cows had been laying.

The spring of 1885 saw him, a gaunt lad of seventeen, pack up his traps and set out for the Canadian West. He felt in his bones that he was not destined to spend his life upon the farm. He got off the train at Portage La Prairie, one of the small towns west of Winnipeg, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, which was then pushing through the Rockies to the Pacific Coast. For five months he drove a tradesman's cart, and then, following a true instinct, he entered the office of the Manitoba Liberal, and became a printer's devil. The proprietor evidently thought him a bright lad, for about a year afterwards the two went together farther west, and started a new paper in Regina, then the capital of the North-West Praries. The next fifteen years were spent by Mr. Scott in Regina, and intermittently in the neighboring town of Moose Jaw, in active newspaper work. He did everything there was to do about a newspaper. He often wrote a leading article and set it up in type himself. It is one of his boasts that he is still a union printer. The years brought their return. In 1894 Mr. Scott bought the Moose Jaw Times, and the following year the Regina Leader, both of which are to-day prominent among the daily newspapers of Western Canada.

RULES OF GREAT WORTH

Before going to bed that night the discouraged girl had committed to memory these rules for being a good clerk which the older woman had prepared in the form of an acrostic, daintily colored and framed:—

Make light of hardships, forget annoyances, and keep cheerful.

Avoid quarrels, close intimacies and gossip.

Keep alert, interested, attentive and progressive.

Induce customers to buy by being pleasant, obliging and helpful.

Neglect nothing that will make you valuable to your employers.

Gain the good-will of your fellow-workers, and—keep it.

Give honest work and loyalty to your firm, it will not go unrewarded.

Obey orders, stick to rules, and don't be a firebrand.

Determine to succeed and live up to that determination.

So well did the clerk live up to her rules that not only the end of the month found her in her place, but she had conquered the unfriendliness of her mates and had won notice from her superiors by her courteous, obliging manner and her growing favor with customers.

WOMAN'S DRESS CENTURIES AGO

Modern Garb Not as Absurd as It Was in the Elizabethan Century

A[illegible] some of our modern fashions [illegible] cannot equal in absurdity [illegible] a century ago.

For instance, in 1794, the heavy tax then imposed upon hair-powder banished the Georgian wigs into disuse, and women being forced to wear their own hair adopted a hundred extravagant modes of dressing it. One of the most ridiculous was that of wearing very enormous feathers. These feathers were so high that it was impossible to wear them in carriages with tops, and The Times, commenting caustically upon an accident, said that "a young lady, only ten feet high, was overset yesterday in a gale of wind, and the upper mast of her feather blown upon Hamstead Heath."

At this period, the distinguishing characteristic of the dress for nearly twenty years was the high waist—so high that dresses were made all in one. They had no sleeves, merely shoulder straps, which were embroidered, while a [illegible] was donned when the wearer went out of doors. In 1801 the scanty skirts became a little fuller, but the next year they were scantier than before and very short. The "Titus" or Roman style of hair dressing had come in and many women had their hair cut close to the head. With arms and neck bare, skirts reaching only half way below the knee, and short hair, the fashionable dames must have cut a sorry figure.

Immediately upon the heels of this Roman craze came a reaction in favor of Stuart ruffs and caps, and sleeves suddenly reappeared, so long as to completely hide the hands. The famous Spencer made its debut, and the Capote or greatcoat, Queen Charlotte's favorite dress, became very popular. It was like a man's coat, having a velvet collar. A passion for imitating man's dress then burst forth. A portrait of a lady of this period in driving dress is eloquent of the follies committed in the name of fashion. She is wearing a greatcoat and cape, a round white beaver hat, a white cravat, and Hessian boots. The coat is open, showing the costume beneath—a cambric dress cut as low at the neck as our evening dress and fitting close to the body without any fullness in such a manner as to disclose the lines of the figure. At this time the thin gowns were even damped in order that they should cling more closely to their wearers as they dried, and the lighter the clothing the more it was admired.

In 1809 the turban came into prominence. It was a curiously shaped cap, fitting closely over the forehead, over which was wound many yards of silk of eastern manufacture. A jewelled [illegible] feather was negligently [illegible]

About this time brocades, silks, and satins came into daily use, and dresses [illegible] 1828 the famous gigot sleeves made their appearance. Some of them weer so large as to require almost as much material as the dress itself.

The first bonnets came into style about 1820. They completely enshrouded the face, being tied with broad ribbons under the chin. Then they became enormously large, covered with tufts of marabout feathers, and well meriting the name "majestic monuments of millinery." The hair, too, was massively arranged, interwoven with ribbons, and of a fantastic height. After this phase came the hideous mode of straining the hair away from the face so tightly that it was impossible to close one's eyes, whilst a long ringlet fell down the sides of the face, corresponding in size to the pendant earrings then worn.

In the matter of colors our grandmothers were totally ignorant of the "art shades." Primary colors in all their crudity were the delight of their hearts, and greens and yellows of aggressive density were worn together, read feathers sometimes being added to these. The more inharmonious the whole effect, the greater the success of the costume. Naturally, a vulgar display of jewellery accompanied the lack of taste in color. For nearly fifty years the topaz was the favorite precious stone.

"Oblivion is not to be hired"; yet from the annals of our ancestresses women may learn much—among other things, the real proportion of dress in everyday life, and the ludicrous folly of excess therein.—Amelia Sedley.

PIVOT OF THE HOUSEHOLD

Make Home Attractive for the Boys and Girls

It is a most common complaint amongst parents that their children, as soon as they arrive at years of independence, drift away from their homes, or that the boys and girls never seem to be happy at home, but always want to be out. They usually blame the children for lack of parental affection instead of turning their thoughts inward to solve the problem. It never seems to occur to some parents that they have not made such a pleasant place that their children find their greatest happiness within it. Young people of both sexes have a great natural craving for happiness and recreation, but they are too often sacrificed at the altar of parental comfort.

The idea that the comfort of the parents is the pivot on which the household should revolve has been the cause of more discontented and restless sons and daughters than anything else, and has led to many hasty, ill-considered youthful marriages.—Mrs. Bull.

CLEANING FURNITURE

How to Keep in Order the Upholstered Variety

The cleansing of upholstered furniture has ever been a source of work and worry to the housewife, and anything that comes as a help in this phase of her daily grind is welcomed with a sigh of relief and with a spirit of thankfulness.

The expedient of a dampened cloth and a carpet beater is one of the more recent ideas, and while it acts as a vacuum cleaner, it has none of its expenses.

This is a proceeding that can be attended to without fearing damage to the upholstery, and at the same time it keeps all dust from arising and covering other articles of furniture in the room, as well as spreading on the draperies.

Take a cloth which has been made from a piece of old sheeting, which will be lintless, and moisten it very slightly—too much water is as bad as none for it will soil tapestry. Lay this on the article that you are going to clean, and beat with a carpet beater or a thin switch.

As the dust arises it will adhere to the cloth, therefore it should be changed quite often.

Do not beat too violently, as a slow, steady tapping will not spring the buttons or tacks, or loosen any of the cords of the upholstering, while too strong beating will disorganize the whole structure, thus causing destruction instead of accomplishing a cleaning.

The woodwork on upholstered furniture is generally of the varnished variety. To keep this spotless, rub it once a week with furniture oil, which is composed of one part of benzine and two parts of crude oil.

DAINTY EMBROIDERED COSTUME

A panel back effect with the modish sailor collar is illustrated in the sketch shown to-day, and presents the rather unusual feature of a dainty design in embroidery, outlining the panel and collar. The effect is exceedingly attractive on cream batiste, with the dainty design in blue and pink flowers and pale green leaves. The embroidery is also carried about the cuffs and the deep side border of the skirt.

HOW TO WALK

An artist has lately been complaining that his chief objection to fashionable dress is that it reveals so completely the inability of the average Englishwoman to walk well. He says that most of us either slouch or strut, and he gives the following instructions on "how to walk":—

"The head should not be held erect as if by effort—a woman should not look like a soldier on parade. The steps should not be jerky—however quick, they should be 'smooth.' The movement should be from the hips, and the knees bent as little as possible. A slight—a very slight—bend forward is graceful, if the walker be tall and slim. The arms should not swing noticeably, but should hang freely—elbow should be unobservable The feet should turn out slightly, and walking should appear to be done chiefly on the toes—the heel down first style is unpardonable. But the chief feature and charms of a good carriage are its seemingly leisureliness, the absence of 'strut' and 'slouch,' and a certain air of unconscious grace."

The same critic recommends daily practice in front of a full-length mirror—exercises to be taken preferably in cycling knickers, as the movements of the limbs can then be better studied.

TO REMOVE STAINS

Coffee or cream stains may be removed from delicate silk or woollen fabrics by first of all brushing the stains with glycerine, and then well rinsing them in lukewarm water. But the stain should not be allowed to dry in. Later, press the material on the wrong side with a warm iron.

TO POLISH LINOLEUM

The following mixture is excellent for polishing linoleum: Mix together one gill of methylated spirit and one ounce of shellac. Let the shellac thoroughly dissolve, and then apply with a soft flannel. The polish will remain on the linoleum even after it has been washed.

GERMAN'S DEADLY NEW SIEGE GUN

Fires Huge Bomb Which Does Not Enter Bore---A Destructive Weapon

A destructive new type of siege gun has just yielded satisfactory results to experiments conducted by the German military authorities.

The new gun was constructed by the firm of Krupp. It is an improvement on an idea much used by the Japanese in the siege of Port Arthur, and is designed to aid the advance of infantry storming an entrenched position. At the same time, experiments have been carried out with a new form of hand grenade, which effects much the same purpose.

For long military experts in Germany have been puzzling over the problem of how the long range artillery of an army could render efficient support to its own advancing infantry right up to the trenches of a fortified position. According to present "siege technique" the artillery of an attacking army has to cease bombarding the enemy's entrenchments as soon as the storming infantry gets to close quarters, otherwise the stormers are likely to be shot down by their own guns from the rear.

This cessation of the attackers' bombardment enables the besieged to emerge from their entrenchments and pour a devastating fire at close quarters into the ranks of the attacking force, which is thus deprived of the support of its own artillery just at the moment when it most stands in need of it. The new gun has been devised to overcome this difficulty.

It has an extremely narrow, unrifled bore, and is of very light construction, easily capable of being carried by two men, and is intended to be carried in the front lines of the advancing infantry. Its most remarkable feature is its projectile, which consists of a round bomb of great diameter loaded with a very powerful explosive mixture. The bomb is of far greater diameter than the bore of the gun which throws it, and is provided with a long stick-like tail which is loaded into the barrel of the gun, its lower end, which is enlarged to a wad or piston-like form, resting on the guncharge att he bottom of the barrel. The bamb itself merely lies on the gun muzzle, quite outside the bore.

On being fired, the trailing stick-like tail serves to keep the bomb in its proper direction of flight, and only detaches itself and falls to earth after a certain distance has been covered, leaving the bomb to pursue its course alone.

The experiments have shown that a reasonable precision can be obtained with the new missile up to a distance [illegible] and the bomb itself, which, owing to the large capacity [illegible] serves not only to prevent the defends emerging from their cover, but also to make great breaches in their entrenchments or fortifications.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

A small block of the stock is offered for public subscription at 10c per share.

DRIVERS AT BRIDGENORTH.

A few evenings ago two bus loads of pleasure seekers drove out to Bridgenorth to enjoy a dance at the village hall. As the roads were very heavy, the merry makers did not arrive there until about 10.30. After most of them comfortably settled themselves at the hall, the drivers of the busses looked for a place to put up their horses. The hotel was closed. Several of the villagers were approached, but none had accommodation. At last they drove to the house of one of the most influential of the residents there. The daughter of the house, not realizing conditions, stuck her head out of an upstairs window, she being in night apparel. The drivers, for some reason could not make it known that they only wanted a place to tie their horses The young lady, becoming alarmed, fired three shots from a revolver, through the open window. The drivers of the two Peterborough busses, naturally became more frightened than the girl. "Get up there Nell!" "Haw you, Tom!" was yelled at the steeds. Those busses turned in record time and quickly melted into the stilly night. The drivers had to tie their horses up to a post, in a villager's yard, until the dance was over, and the people left in the wee small hours.

Montreal, Mar. 30.—"No such term should ever have been given," said Mr. Justice Lavergne in quashing the three year sentence imposed on Louis Rosenberger, a young boy, for stealing three newspapers valued at six cents.

CAULIFLOWER SEED

A Woman on Puget Sound Island Grows a Huge Quantity of It

Nine-tenths of the world's supply of Cauliflower seed is grown by a woman on a Pudget Sound island. Startling as this statement may seem, the fact remains that it is not due altogether to any supremacy of knowledge or skill that has enabled Mrs. Anne Archibault to achieve what thousands of first rank gardeners hopelessly abandoned. It is due to the peculiar climatic conditions of Whidby island. Outside of Holland no other section affords the climatic requisites for maturing the seed pods of cauliflower plants.

It was an accident, this discovery of Mrs. Archibault, that has made it possible for her to own 1,000 acres of fertile land and to enjoy a business of $100,000 annually. Cauliflower seed will not mature except under certain favorable conditions. One is dampness, humidity, which gives the tiny seeds the plumpness so essential to development. Another is water—not irrigation, rain, nor the wet, boggy much of a marsh, but a continuous moist soil beneath which a hardpan subsoil acts as a floor to a reservoir. The land of Whidby island is ideal for this culture.

Cauliflower plants are transplanted like cabbage in rows. The usual cultivation is continued until the seed pods form. Then even the wind should be kept from the fields, for even the flutter of a tiny bird over a cluster of the seed pods will mar the perfect development of the seed. Harvest consists in gathering the dry pods, artificial drying in the sun, a clover-seed separator and a fanning mill.

Mrs. Archibault's first crop amounted to a handful of seed. About this time she read in a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture that the supply of this seed was short and limited to a few hundred pounds. This was five years ago. Like a flash Mrs. Archibault saw her longed for independence. She grew 400 pounds of seed in 1907. Communication with some well-known seedmen brought orders for her supply at $3 a pound. Every year since she has increased the yield of seed until the present world's supply of 30,000 pounds is practically all grown by her.

Farmers all over Whidby island grow this seed and sell their product to Mrs. Archibault, who markets it through her eastern sales agencies.

The cauliflower fields are beautiful at flowering time, the immaculate snow-white blossoms being alive with white butterflies. The mistress does not interfere with these cabbage moths, believing they aid in scattering the pollen from flower to flower.—Gail M. Fickle.

TAKING NO CHANCES

"Johnny," said the teacher, "this is the third time I have had to punish you this week. Why are you so naughty?"

Poultry Pointers

George Hansmann, a poulterer of Hillsboro, N.D., gives the following good advice:—

A cornsheller is not essential. The hens will do their own shelling if you throw out the ears in short, broken pieces.

Let the fowls have as wide range as possible, but if they must be confined, give them plenty of shade and dig up the ground frequently.

Young geese do not lay as many fertile eggs or produce as many goslings in the first breeding season as they do in the second.

Fresh air and sunshine are the best disinfectants that the poultry-raiser has at his disposal, and ought to be more often used in his work.

A plat of ground 50 feet square divided into two lots will be ample accommodation for 25 fowls. Confine them in one lot for a week at a time, meanwhile spading up the other.

The well-hatched chicks in the carefully-cared-for brooder will amount to little unless the food is supplied in proper amounts and at right intervals.

More harm results to flocks during the summer months than at any other time owing to the neglect of their owners, not keeping the house and bodies of the birds clean.

Prices of grain feeds are high, and the poultryman must watch his feeding closely. Feeding has become a science, and costs are now figured to fractions of a cent.

Always handle ducks and geese by their necks, and never by the legs, as fowls are handled, for their limbs are not strong enough to serve as handles.

A poulterer can well afford to pay one cent per quart for skim-milk. Feed quantities of whole milk and you will find it pays.

ELECTRICITY ON FARMS

Labor Will Be Trifling—Nothing to Do But Turn on Current

In these days when the metropolitan city may be described as a great electrical laboratory and consuming station, it should not be overlooked that the farm itself is coming in for its share of this universal source of power.

There are many ways through which the farm that can afford the use of the electric current may have it for the trouble of installation. Some nearby inter-urban electric line may have its surplus current for sale; some stream close at hand may have a gravity waterfall to develop electricity sufficient for half a dozen farmers; or the gasoline engine in connection with a dynamo is within comparatively easy reach of the prosperous farmer who discovers that to keep his boys on the farm—or even to make certain that his hired help will stay with him through the season—it is up to him to lighten those old drudgeries of [illegible] years ago.

In the home of the [illegible] adaptation of the [illegible] would be [illegible] lamp. A m[illegible] a pump and [illegible] effect a system of water-works for the house. In the dairy the cream separator, churn and the washing machinery for dairy necessities can be operated. Laundry work—that bugbear of the farmer's wife—is simplified and lightened to the last degree. Even the long-sought "milking machine" is to receive an impetus at the hands of Yankee ingenuity, and if it shall be perfected, the electric current must drive it.

In the cow barns and horse stables the electric bulb attached to wires in gaspipe housings not only will give the safest light for winter mornings and evenings, but already the vacuum cleaner has made its appearance adapted to the easiest and most thorough currying and cleaning of the coats of cows and horses.

Instead of the long and laborious process of ice cutting from ponds, the electric current will operate the refrigerating room's ammonia fluids with automatic stoppage of the motor when the required degree of cold is reached. The power may be directed to the farm workshops, where lathes and grindstones and emery [illegible] may be run for the farm's "jack-of-all-trades," saving not only the [illegible] of the village blacksmith in hundreds of troubles but saving the time of driving to and from the town.

In some of the northern fruit growing sections the electric warning signal is set for arousing the whole farm population any time in the night when the "danger" temperature is reached out of doors. This means at the present time that every available worker turns out and kindles fires in the smudge pots that are set in the orchards, prepared for the torches that shall wipe out the dangers of frost. But as electricity is light, power and heat, all in one, may not the present smudge pots become electrical heaters, automatically turned on?

To-day there is not a practical electrical engineer who does not look up on the present state of electrical service as in its infancy. We have the electrical city. How long before the electrical farm?

THE FIRST CARPET-MAKING

Carpet-making, as a modern industry, was first developed in France. That country had large factories and a monopoly in Europe of the art of carpet weaving when a rush-strewn floor was the rule even in the Royal palaces of Britain. But the edict of Nantes, that great disperser of French artisans and artistry, caused many of the carpet craftsmen to cross the Channel. They settled at Bristol, Axminster, and other places in the southwest of England. From there the secrets of the industry spread to Glasgow, Kidderminster, and the towns of Yorkshire. These places are still the great carpet-weaving centres of Great Britain.

CONCLUSIVE PROOF

Pat was patriotic to a degree, and refused to believe that the ancient Egyptians were wiser than the ancient Irish.

"But the Egyptians used electricity," he was told. "Wires corresponding to modern telegraph wires have been found in Egypt."

"I don't dispute it at all," answered Pat calmly, "but that fact that no telegraph wires were found in Ireland is proof positive that the ancient Irish

Whenever Royal blood is recognized it is treated with universal respect. Nevertheless, it is an indisputable fact that there are in Great Britain to-day literally thousands of persons with Royal blood in their veins who occupy humble and, in many cases, menial positions. And it is quite reasonable to assume that there are in our slums and workhouses many men and women who might be leading persons at Court.

It has actually been ascertained that there are no fewer than 11,723 persons living who can be proved to be direct descendants of Henry VII., our monarch in 1485.

Using these figures as the basis for a simple mathematical calculation, we arrive at the astounding conclusion that, from the death of Henry VII. to the present day, there must have been living at least 36,785 persons directly descended from the King.

It is quite easy to follow the means by which the "family" has become so numerous, and there is no need to wrestle with complex genealogical tables. Henry VII. had two daughters, the elder of whom married James IV. of Scotland, becoming thereby the grandmother of Mary Queen of Scots. The younger daughter, Mary Tudor, married, in the first instance, Louis XII. of France.

The marriage had been entered upon against her will, and, immediately on regaining her freedom, she contracted a second marriage with Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk.

The descendants of Mary Tudor number, at the present day, some 10,500 persons in a direct line, and by an extraordinary string of circumstances have been kept almost entirely distinct from those of her elder sister, Margaret.

From the latter sprang the Stuarts, who later occupied the throne, and to her all the crowned heads of Europe, except those of a few small semi-civilised states, can trace their descent. From this it will be seen that all European monarchs are related.

When Queen Elizabeth successfully revoked the will of Henry VIII. there two daughters of Mary Tudor living, of whom each married a nobleman. Their children also married into other noble families, and that is how the wide diffusion of Royal blood was started.

Although many of the descendants of Mary Tudor occupy, as has been stated, more or less fitting positions, there are a great number who are scattered amongst the very humblest positions in life. The record of how some of these have come down in the world remains.

A similar, though perhaps slightly more congenial fate, was that of [illegible] Kingsland, who earned his living as a waiter. On his death he left no heir, and his family then came to an end.

The claim of a certain small shopkeeper in Mile End to be regarded as a descendant of Mary Tudor is quite valid; and at different times it has been ascertained that a Customs officer, a toll-gate keeper, and a butcher were indisputably direct descendants.

THIN, FRAIL WOMEN WITH PALE CHEEKS

Thousands of half-dead, emaciated, worn-out women are dragging out their weary lives simply because they don't know what ails them. Nine times in ten it's indigestion, which directly leads to anaemia, poor circulation, and eventually invalidism.

The first step towards relief is to flush out all wastes and unhealthy matter. Loosen the bowels—stir up the liver—stimulate the kidneys. Once this is done, Dr. Hamilton's Pills will quickly manifest their health-restoring qualities.

"The best way to correct impaired digestion, to cure constipation, headache, liver trouble, and other ailments of the stomach and bowels," writes Mrs. Uriah A. Dempsey, from Woodstock, "is by the frequent use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I didn't know what it was to enjoy a good meal for months. My stomach was sour, I belched gas, was thin, tired, pale, and nervous. I simply housecleaned my system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and have been robust and vigorous ever since."

To keep the machinery of the body in active working order, no remedy is so efficient, so mild, so curative as Dr. Hamilton's Pills—good for men, women and children, 25c. per box, at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

The Ontario Government will give the Hon. Adam Beck a salary of $6,000 a year. He deserves every cent of it and more for the work he has done and will do. The salary was not what he was working for.

There has been a socialistic municipal government in Milwaukee for the past two years but it has fallen into disfavor as a result of appointing too many office-holders. That is the weakness of socialism. It is founded on the idea that every one is an employee of the State and the difficulty is to provide jobs for all.

It may be that one of the effects of the coal strike in England will be to cause the use of oil as fuel in merchant ships and in the navy. Oil has the advantage of taking up much less room than coal so that vessels can make a much longer trip without having to replenish their supply. As England has no oil it would have to be imported.

Ex-President Roosevelt, unless all signs fail, has been relegated into political obscurity for the remainder of his life. In the New York primaries Taft had a sweeping victory while in Indiana his friends carried the State convention by over 100 majority, chose the four delegates at large and adopted a platform against both the referendum and the recall.

Some moralists claim that no business man nowadays can make money, and be absolutely honest. This is probably "bunk." Still, the average business man has two things in his mind, success or failure. If he succeeds, the criticisms of others do not worry him, because he has the dough. The man with the dough can tell them all to go — West. And there you are!

The democratic members of the House of Representatives demand that the Phillipines shall have self-government. Now whilst every self-respecting Canadian demands self-government, there is no use considering the gift of such powers to a lot of half-wild savages, many of them head-hunters, as form the majority of the population of these Islands. Even Cuba, civilized for centuries, had hard work to get along with self-government. The huge unwieldy country of China so long under monarchical government, will take years to get along under self, or democratic rule.

A Peterborough professional man spent the evening with some friends recently. He won. When scolded by his wife for being out late, the p. m. tried to soothe her by saying: "Well, dear, there's $10 to get an Easter hat." She replied: "No, I don't think I want one this spring." "Say!" he fairly yelled. "For Heaven's sake go to Dr. —— to-morrow, you must be sick. Is your head bothering you?" "No", Madam answered. "I bought such a lovely set of books this morning, and I only paid $5 down, with $3 a month until they are paid for." Her husband in despair, asked, "What were they, Les Miserables in sixty volumes, Kipling in gold and Morrocco binding? I suppose you have stuck me for $3 a month for the rest of our married life!"

CHANGING THE WORLD

Look Around You and Examine Your Environment Occasionally

"You cannot change the world; only yourself."

The above saying is apt to be a little misleading. For though the world is so vast, huge, and complex that to change the whole ~~of it~~ in any way would require powers far greater than most of us possess, yet, on the other hand, by changing ourselves we do much towards changing the world. "He who reforms himself has done more to reform the community than a crowd of noisy, impotent talkers." Few of us properly realize the greatness of the influences which we exert very often unconsciously, on all with whom we are constantly in contact.

When you change yourself, you cannot help but change your influence, and your influence changes others to some extent, and thus changes their influence, too—and so on, like the ripples caused by a stone flung into a pond. So if you reform yourself, you are taking a hand in the great task of reforming the world.

"Your world" is your mission-ground. "Your world" is the place where your best work is needed. Your friends, your workmates, above all, your family, are the people who are the most affected by you. To reform yourself is hard, but it is not a hopeless task.

You can alter your whole outlook on life. If you are inclined to be sad and gloomy, you can, by persistently forcing yourself to think cheerfully, in time develop the habit of cheerfulness to such an extent that it becomes second nature to you.

Look around you, and examine your world occasionally. See where a change for the better is most needed, and set to work at once to make that change. Here is one, perhaps, who needs cheering up; go and cheer him. Here is one who seems to want advice; give it to him. Here is one who requires help; let him have any such help as lies in your power to give.

COLD CAUSED SERIOUS TROUBLE

BUT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS BROUGHT THE CURE.

Mr. Hugh Martin, Suffering From Kidney Disease for Two Years, Tells How He Got Back His Health.

St. Hippolyte de Kilkenny, Lake L'Achigan, Terrebonne Co., Que., April 1.—(Special)—Again the people of this neighborhood are talking of a complete cure of kidney disease. Mr. Hugh Martin, Jr., a well-known young farmer, is the person cured, and he gives all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My trouble was caused by a cold," Mr. Martin says, in an interview, "and I suffered for two years. My head would ache and I had pains in the back as well. I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. I was often dizzy, my memory was failing and I found it difficult to collect my thoughts. I was also nervous, while heart flutterings added to my anxiety.

"I was a sick man indeed when I started to use Dodd's Kidney Pills, but by the time I had taken two boxes I was a changed man. Are you surprised that I think Dodd's Kidney Pills a wonderful remedy?"

If you have two or more of Mr. Martin's symptoms your kidneys are diseased. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the sure cure.

A MARVEL AT DANCING

Princess Radziwill Was in Forty-Four Dances in Five Hours.

Princess Albert Radziwill, who was Miss Dorothy Deacon, and who, since her reconciliation with her mother-in-law, has become a society star of the first magnitude, is in evidence at nearly every important function. The young princess has astonished people by her grace and endurance in dancing. Her friends have nick-named her "Betka," and the society journals chronicle the beauty of "Donna Betka" Radziwill and her grace in dancing.

At Princess George Radziwill's ball this week "Donna Betka" went through forty-four dances, round and square, between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m., after which she appeared at an afternoon function without the least trace of fatigue, and announced that she would be quite ready to repeat the performance that evening.

The Man at Fault

While angling the other day a full-size man was pulled overboard by a 12-lb. flounder, and narrowly escaped drowning. In fixing the blame a newspaper gravely points out that it should be clearly seen the man was at fault rather than the fish, for he could have let go, but the fish couldn't.

STOPPING A RUN.

Many years ago, in consequence of a commercial panic, there was a severe run on a bank in South Wales, and the small farmers jostled each other in crowds to draw their money. Things were rapidly going from bad to worse, when the bank manager, in a fit of desperation, suddenly bethought him of an expedient. By his direction a clerk, having heated some sovereigns in a frying-pan, paid them over the counter to an anxious applicant.

"Why, they're quite hot?" said the latter, as he took them up.

"Of course," was the reply; "what else could you expect? They are only just out of the bank's own mint. We are coining them by hundreds as fast as we can."

"Coining them!" thought the simple agriculturist; "then there is no fear of the money running short." With this their confidence revived, the panic abated, and the bank was enabled to weather the storm.

HIS BUSY DAY.

"Hard work!" Jobson snorted, after a particularly heavy day at the office. "Don't talk to me! What do you know about it?"

"Well, I guess I know something," he answered gently. "Since I got up this morning, for instance, I've put down a linoleum, laid three carpets, papered two rooms, fixed a fire-grate, swept the hall——"

"Good Scott!" Jobson began to grow compassionate—sympathetic.

"Mended a chair," Smith went on, "made two beds, set the table, washed the dishes, moved a piano and a sideboard, and hung nine pictures!"

"Poor old chap!" gasped Jobson. "Was it—your wife—made you?"

"No; my little girl did," said Smith sorrowfully. "You see, I bought her a new doll's-house last night!"

THE OLDEST FLAG

The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For 300 years both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag. In the year 1219 King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livonians, saw, or thought he saw, a bright light in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of Divine aid, and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country, and called it the Dannebrog—that is, strength of Denmark.

AN ARCTIC NIGHT

A Dark Curtain That Shuts Out Warmth and Light, and Depresses

We were at the foot of Humboldt Glacier when the sun bade us a final adieu for the long winter night, not to appear again for many months to come. As though to leave us with pleasant memory of his visit, his going was in an effulgence of glory, and, reluctant to go, he lingered for a little while below the horison, lighting the sky with a mass of marvellous coloring—red, purple and orange, reaching upward from the white earth into the deep blue of the high heavens. For a time a prolonged twilight remained, but that, too, was presently lost behind the dark curtain that shut from our world all warmth and light.

No words can adequately describe the awful pall of the Arctic night. It is unreal and terrible. Even the moonlight is unnatural, casting on the snow and ice, the wind-swept rocks, and the people themselves, a shade of ghastly, indefinable greenish yellow. Shifting shadows flit among moving ice masses like wraiths of departed spirits. A death-like silence prevails, to be broken only by the startling and unexpected crackling of a glacier with a sound of mighty thunder clap, or the smashing together of great ice floes with a report like heavy cannon.

In spite of one, depression takes possession of the soul—a hopeless kind of unreasoning depression. Intense and severe as the cold may be, any active man can stand it without serious suffering, when a little experience teaches how, for that acts only on the physical being, and can be guarded against; but the prolonged sunless night has a direct effect on the human mind which only exercise and diversion can counteract.—From "Hunting From the Eskimos," by Harry Whitney.

Light Water Craft

A Parisian inventor has devised a craft for getting over the water, which is so light and compact that it can be folded up and packed into a box no bigger than an ordinary suit-case. The case part unfolds and joins together to form the main framework or hull of the boat, which is of the catamaran order. The two cigar-shaped floats are made of waterproof canvas. When packed up they occupy little space, and when in use they are blown up with a bicycle pump. The framework is fastened between them by means of ribs and straps, and when you have fixed a three-jointed, double-bladed paddle together and put a folding seat in place you are all ready to set out on your marine travels.

It's Easy to Peel Off All Your Freckles

(From American Home)

The contrast between the freckles and the clear skin usually is so great that no bleach can [illegible] really successful in obliterating the disfigurements. Ordinary mercolized wax is far better; it literally peels off the freckles. Get an ounce of it at the nearest drug store and to-night spread on enough to completely cover your face: remove in the morning with warm water. Repeat daily until every freckle has disappeared.

Rough, blotchy, pimpled skin, also common at this season, may be entirely gotten rid of by this same method, without discomfort or inconvenience. The effort is decidedly worth while, the new complexion obtained being so clear, smooth and youthful. If bothered with wrinkles, after washing off the mercolized wax bathe the face in a lotion made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint of witch hazel.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender fot Wharf and Dredging at Sarnia, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 p.m., on Thursday, April 18, 1912, for the construction of a wharf and Dredging Basin at Sarnia, Lambton County, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of H. J. Lamb, Esq., District Engineer, Windsor, Ont., J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Sarnia, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified tha tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of toe Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

WHAT $10 WILL DO

Somewhere—"sometime"—when you've saved enough for a "start" your dream is to cut loose from the business grind and own something, some property, a something that people MUST have and which you can sell for far more than you paid for it, and thus start on the road to independence.

Now speaking man to man, at your present rate of progress will you ever do it? Not if you let present opportunity slip, and later try to catch up with rising prices. We want to help you, want to show you that you can do all you dreamed of doing, and you'll do it NOW.

It's hard to save, as we all find out, when you haven't a bulls-eye big and black, right in front of you, where you can record each added splash on the target. We have the target for you, the best investment target that is to-day before the public; we refer to the controlling commercial centre of the Peace River Country—namely GROUARD.

Behind it there are millions of acres of Peace River farm lands. RAILROADS ARE BUILDING TO GROUARD. The Canadian Northern Railway, and the Edmonton Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, both with BONDS OF CONSTRUCTION GUARANTEED BY THE ALBERTA GOVERNMENT. Would the railway companies build, would the Government guarantee, if Grouard and the country surrounding it were not important, were not going to make good?

Another Railway Company—The Pacific and Hudson Bay, have taken part of our subdivision for their TERMINALS AT GROUARD, and are under agreement to erect same ON THIS PROPERTY, and no other, in GROUARD.

Think of it: THREE railroads heading for Grouard.

Banks have established at Grouard. Would they be there if no business was to be done? FOLLOW THEIR LEAD IN YOUR INVESTMENTS, AND YOU WILL BENEFIT.

Ten dollars paid down starts you on the road to prosperity. It is all that is required as a first payment on either a business or a residential lot.

PRECOCIOUS BABY.

A university professor, who has greatly endeared himself to his students on account of his kind-heartedness, has one particular failing—that of absent-mindedness.

He visited his married nephew a few days ago and had listened to the young wife's praise of her firstborn.

The gentleman felt that he must say something to give the impression that he was interested.

"Can the dear little fellow walk?" he inquired quietly.

"Walk!" shouted the mother. "Why he has been walking for five months!"

"Dear me!" exclaimed the professor lapsing again into abstraction "What a long way he must have got!"

AN EYE TO BUSINESS.

A commercial traveller tells of reeing in a certain cemetery the epitaph "Sacred to the memory of James Perkins, for thirty years senior partner of the firm of Perkins and Parker, now Parker and Co., who hope to merit a continuance of your patronage."

Rubbers on the Carpet

Many housekeepers will welcome the suggestions given below by "an extensive traveller. Suppose, however, a woman returning her visits enters ten houses in an afternoon. It would mean that she must put on or take off her rubbers twenty-two times during the afternoon, and her gloves would be ruined in the process. On a reception day a boy or maid would be required for the "rubber office" alone, or else a notice might be put outside: "Kindly use the door-mat before entering." I cite this merely as an example of what might occur. Perhaps some women readers will give their opinion on the subject, for there is a real grievance. The letter is as follows:—

"Some Americans, and especially Canadians, have a habit which, if practiced in Europe, would be considered an insult. I have noticed several times that people who ought to know better will come right from the dirty street into my drawing-room without taking off their rubbers.

"Rubbers and overshoes had better be left in the hall; they were never intended for and are certainly not needed on the parlor rug.

"An Extensive Traveller."

When oilcloth has been down for a few months and is losing the shiny surface, it can be renewed easily and made to last twice as long if treated in the following way. Melt a little ordinary glue in a pint of water, letting it stand on the top of the oven till dissolved. Wash the oilcloth thoroughly and let it dry. Then at night, when the traffic of the day ceases, go over the whole carefully with a flannel dipped in the glue water. Choose a fine day for it, and by morning the glue will be hard and will have put a fine gloss as good as new on your floor.

Save your lemon rinds, dry them in the oven, and store them in an airtight tin. A little of this added to an apple pie gives it a delicious flavoring.

Art muslin curtains should never be washed in warm water. Make a lather with hot water, and when it is nearly cold wash the curtains. If these are green, add a little vinegar; if lilac or pink, a little ammonia.

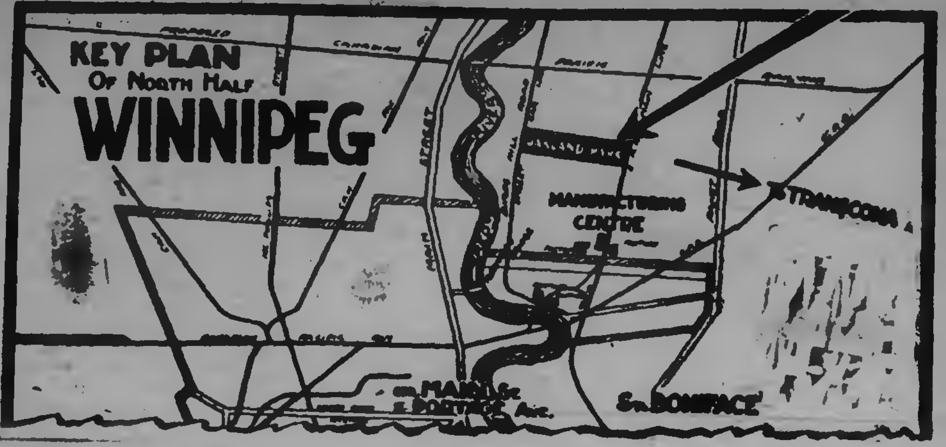
IN WINNIPEG

OAKLAND PARK

has the Right Location for Future VALUE



INDUSTRIAL WINNIPEG is in the beginning of its first big forward step. The city's 60,000 horse power hydro-electric plant, located forty miles north east of Winnipeg, is now in operation, and the year 1912 will see hundreds of new Industries located in Winnipeg.

NORTHEAST of the city is the best and favorite location of present industrial sites. It is in this direction that the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific Railways are spending millions this year in new terminals, five miles beyond the city.

OAKLAND PARK is an ideal residence district for the better class of citizens who will make up the increased industrial army of Winnipeg. East Kildonan in which Oakland Park is located, is the prettiest and most desirable residence section contiguous to the city, and it is close to the industrial center while at the same time removed from its immediate proximity.

GET IN LINE with the growth of a great city—Canada's commercial metropolis of to-morrow. A few dollars invested now in Oakland Park will combine the best kind of profit with absolute safety in investment. Send for Oakland Park literature, or better still, a deposit will secure the reservation of one or two of the best remaining lots in this division.

CANADA'S APPETITE FOR DAIRY PRODUCE

The value of the home market to the dairy farmer in Canada is emphasized by Mr. J. A. Ruddick, the Dominion Dairy Commissioner, in the following statement contained in one of his reviews of the dairy industry for 1911:—

"Canada's home consumption of dairy produce, it is needless to say, continues to increase, but few people seem to realize the extent of this increase. The increase cannot be less than $2,000,000 every year including milk and all its products. This means that our home market absorbs of the dairy production, $20,000,000 more than it did 10 years ago. The total home trade cannot be far from $80,000,000 a year, which means that our home market is by far the most important one for the dairy farmer."

HARD LUCK.

The little fellow was crying bitterly by the roadside, and the good, kind lady stopped and patted him gently on the head.

"Why, my little man, and what's the matter?"

RURAL ONTARIO IS NOT DECAYING

Statistics Show That Farmers Are Producing More Than Ten Years Ago

Since the results of the Dominion Census have been published, many people have received the erroneous impression that rural Ontario is in a very decadent condition. An examination of a few facts taken from provincial reports prove, that the banner province of the Dominion is far from being in a state of decay.

Fewer Farmers but Greater Wealth.

Though smaller in numbers than in the year 1900, the farmers of Ontario are producing a more valuable output than ever before in the history of the province, and the assessed value of their lands was never as great as at the present time. The popular estimate places the number of farms in Ontario at 175,000, and the annual output from the fields of those farms is generally valued at $250,000,000. These figures hardly account for the entire agricultural worth of the province. In the first place, it is questionable if there are any more than 150,000 farms in Ontario. The past ten years have been a period of mergers in the farming world as well as in that of other industries, and the form of one hundred acres has rapidly passed out of sight. Fewer people hold more land than at the beginning of the century, and the farm of two hundred and three hundred acres has become the unit. Such is the condition at the present census taking, but there are signs even now that point to the resumption of the smaller areas before the next decade has passed. At the present moment, however, the number of real farms in this province would be more nearly 150,000 than 175,000, but their value is considerably greater than when the number did amount to 175,000.

The Farmer's Increased Income.

Two hundred and fifty million dollars has been given as the annual value of Ontario's field production, but there is every reason to believe that this amount falls short of the mark. Even Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who first quoted those figures, admits that the estimate is too low. The field crops when turned into beef, butter, cheese and eggs are greatly enchanced in value, and would be worth in a normal year at least half a million dollars. But, for the sake of comparison Mr. James' conservative estimate of $250,000,000 shall stand, and thus, we have every [illegible] come of $1,666. Five years ago, the value of Ontario's agricultural output was placed at 45 millions, and ten years ago it was not more than a hundred millions. The number of farms to share in that one hundred millions was larger than now, so that the average income to each farm was considerably less than $1,666. In fact, the average income in 1901 was about $666, according to calculations made from statistics published by the Department of Agriculture. This means that the Ontario farm of to-day is giving to its owner, returns that are at least 150 per cent. greater than they were in 1901.

Land Values Higher.

The growing value of the output of the farms has only resulted in one thing, and that is the increased value of the land. Thus, the latest records of the assessment of the rural areas show that the farm lands of Ontario are worth over $108,000,000 more than in the first years of the last decade. To make the comparison still more striking, the assessed rural land of Ontario is worth $10 an acre more than in 1901, and another significant fact is that the area of these lands has extended in the last ten years fully 1,500,000 acres, showing that farming is actually becoming a more widely followed pursuit in Ontario. This seems almost impossible when the Dominion census shows such a great decrease between the years 1901 and 1911, but it only proves that even with less labor certain kinds of farming can be developed in Ontario and found exceedingly profitable.

An Exploded Fallacy.

Just one more proof of the fallacy contained in the charge that rural Ontario is in a state of decay. The land, buildings, implements and livestock owned by the Ontario farmers at the present time are worth in round numbers about $1,225,000,000, as compared with $950,000,000 ten years ago. In other words, the average value of the Ontario farm to-day is $8,000 as against $5,000 in 1901. It is true that prices of farm products have advanced nearly 60 per cent. in the past ten years, but the marked increases in the total values of the annual outputs and of actual property during that time can only be due to the fact the productivity of the farms has also increased. This greater yield of produce, is merely the result of improved methods and a gradual increase, during the last five years, of workers in the country.

The Stimulus to Production.

And the stimulus to all this improved agriculture with its increasing values, is the growing demand for food in Canada, as much in the Western Provinces as in the Ontario towns and cities. With the farmers in the great Western half of the Dominion producing to supply an export trade, it behooves the farmers of the other half to produce with a view to supplying the home market, and the statistics of the country's trade show that this is precisely what is being done.

"COULON'T DO IT."

Little Jackie was receiving a lecture from his dad on the wickedness of stealing, Jackie being guilty of paying a sly visit to the pantry, and his mother catching him in the act advised his doting father to admonish him.

"What is the person called, Jack, who steals?" he asked Jack.

But Jack was quiet, and he answered nothing.

"Now, Jack," continued his father, "now suppose I were to put my hand in your pocket and take a cent from it, what would you call me?"

NELLIE'S DEATH.

Scene: The bar of a public-house. Enter poor woman, weeping bitterly.

"My poor little Nellie has just been run over and killed," she moaned.

They were only hard-working men and their hearts were touched, and soon a hat was being passed round the bar for the afflicted woman's benefit.

"Five years," she answered; and then paralyzed them all with "And I've had her ever since she was a kitten."

SIMPLY FADED AWAY

"How did it happen that your engagement with Miss Spensive was broken?"

"Well, she told me what her clothes cost and I told her what my income was; and then our engagement sagged in the middle and gently dissolved."

NEWSBOY TO OPERA SINGER

Plenty of romance has been crowded into the twenty-seven years of the life of Mr. B. Nevada Landino, who ten years ago was a New York newsboy, and is now a grand opera tenor singer. Mr. Landino has said that at Cleveland he filled up his spare time by shoe-blacking, while later on he worked side by side at cigarette-making with Rose Pastor, of Whitechapel, who afterwards married a millionaire. To be slapped on the back by Mascagni, who said "Bravo!" is another incident that the tenor recalls with pride. Landino speaks four languages—German, French and Italian, in addition to English; he has a repertoire of two hundred songs, and knows twenty operas, twelve of which he can sing without rehearsing.

"DERBYSHIRE'S GRAND OLD MAN"

Known by many as "Derbyshire's Grand Old Man," Mr. Edward Mason Wrench, of Baslow, celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday recently. Not only in medicine and surgery has Mr. Wrench made a name for himself, but he also had a distinguished career as a soldier during the stirring times of the Crimean War and Indian Mutiny. In the former he did duty in the trenches, and was present at the three assaults—one on the Quarries and the others at the Redan—and on the last occasion that the assault party went down to the trenches only half returned to the camp uninjured.

SAYS ALL SPORT IS DANGEROUS

A London Weekly Comments on the Injuries Associated With Athletics

A popular London Weekly has raised the question as to which of the various forms of sport is most injurious to the player. Apparently, it finds all of them dangerous, as witness the following:

"The fact that nowadays one hears much about deformities that were quite unknown to former generations makes one wonder whether the modern craze for athletics is so beneficial to the nation as is generally assumed.

"Although probably few white athletes would care voluntarily to deform themselves to the extent that Jack Johnson has done—the colored boxer has had all his natural teeth taken out and gold ones substituted, in order to obviate the risk of swallowing teeth during a fight—there seems to be a formidable list of deformities inseparable from the pursuit of certain branches of athletics by the strain.

"Very few branches of athletics develop the body equally. Nearly all of them develop certain muscles or sets of muscles only, with the result the athlete is disproportioned. And although the various systems of "physical culture" in existence claim to give symmetrical development, even these at their best only give a man a huge mass of over-developed and slow-moving muscles, which in nine cases out of ten are of no earthly use to him in the life that he leads.

"Nowadays we have such deformities as the 'bicycle face,' the 'tennis elbow,' the 'chauffeur's stare,' 'pedestrian's foot,' 'bowler's wrist,' and so on.

"In lawn tennis, for example, the right side, and especially the forearm, get nearly all the exercise, and in the case of people who are constantly playing tennis their deformed, one-sided development is noticeable even away from the tennis lawn. Bowling is a winter sport to which exactly the same objections apply as to tennis.

"Then there is cycling. We see photographs of cyclists and motorcyclists careering round racecourses at terrific speeds, with their bodies bent over the handle-bars of their machines. Their faces are distorted, their lungs cramped, and their backs hideously humped. If this sport is long persisted in, the muscles of the face settle permanently in the contorted grooves, the hump-back, becomes chronic, and the cramped lungs surely make the individual liable to consumption. Hump-back, consumption, and the distorted face which comes through keeping a strained look ahead at a terrific speed and at an angle which nature never intended, are not [illegible] of the legs which the ordinary cycling gave, which, considering how little people walk nowadays, was a considerable advantage, has been lost with the advent of the motor-bicycle.

"Then, again, think of the numerous instances where the dread shadow of heart disease has fallen on a man's life through his pursuit of the sport of rowing. And another injurious deformity is 'pedestrian's' or the 'boardwalk' foot. Nor are the thin and wiry legs of runners desirable traits to hand down to our children. Even golf, which is much more nearly an ideal sport than the sports mentioned already, is productive of the objectionable 'golf swing' and 'golf walk.'

"The trouble lies in the fact that athletes specialise, and develop only certain sets of muscles which fit them for one particular sport. This development takes place at the expense of other muscles of the body, and the 'game deformity' is produced. Moreover, there is to be considered the argument that excessive physical development takes place at the expense of the mental powers.

Altogether it seems to be clear that specializing in a particular sport is injurious. It is far wiser to be a duffer at all sports than to be expert at one, as is generally the case."

BEN HOUSER'S PLACE

Will Be on the First Corner for Boston Nationals.

Ben Houser is likely to be a fixture at first for the Boston Nationals. He is with the club at the training ground in Columbia, S.C. Houser played classy baseball at Indianapolis after the Athletics let him out, but when he was annexed by the Boston Pilgrims to hold down Fred Tenney's old place he was away out of condition. Houser is six feet two and weighed 165 pounds. He looked like he could crawl thru a hole in the fence. At the camp he pushed the beam up to 210 and looked like a baseball player. Johnny King looks to Houser as his first choice at the first corner. He went from Toronto to Philadelphia.

CURIOUS MASCOTS

Singers Who Have Real Faith in Such Company

Madame Patti, who has enraptured all music-lovers, places great belief in an old doll, called "Henriette," which she has treasured as her special talisman since she was seven years of age.

Another great singer with a real faith in mascots is Madame Alice Esty, and she never sings in public without wearing a small green heart attached to a delicate necklace of gold.

The Shah of Persia and a small table, upon which are five splendid portraits, are quite inseparable. This mascot accompanies him everywhere, and is placed close to his pillow while he sleeps. The portrait consists of himself, the late King Edward and his Consort, and the Tsar and Tsaritsa of Russia. The late Baroness Burdett-Coutts was almost convinced that good luck would desert her if she parted with a lucky guinea. This coin was given to her grandfather, who dressed rather carelessly, by a benevolent old gentleman who had mistaken the former for one seeking charity!

Among ladies in French society there is a great desire to possess for "luck" bits of the hangman's rope and applications are frequently made—but without success—to influential Britons connected with the Home Office to obtain such unpleasant relics from the hangman.

A Novel Catarrh Remedy Cures Without Drugs

The real danger of Catarrh lies in putting off treatment. You may have Catarrh yourself, but you may not know it. Before the disease spreads from your nose to the stomach, lungs or bronchial tubes, root it out—cure it with "Catarrhozone." Look over the following symptoms—then examine yourself:

Bad Breath	Stuffy Nostrils
Frequent Sneezing	Ears Buzzing
Watery Eyes	Hacking Cough
Bad Taste	Droppings
Raising Phlegm	Difficult Breathing

Don't continue to burden your system for another day when the germs of such a filthy, loathsome disease as Catarrh. Get Catarrhozone to-day—inhale its soothing vapor, fill your breathing organs with its balsamic essences, and all trace of Catarrh will forever depart. Read what Elwood S. Lee, of Sydenham, Ont., says of his cure with Catarrhozone:

"I was a chronic sufferer from continuous colds in the throat and nose, and for many years have constantly had Catarrh. I was recommended to try Catarrhozone, and find that by using the Inhaler on the first touch of a cold or la grippe I am able to stay it in a few hours. I have been able to breathe through my nose freely since using Catarrhozone; in fact, I am completely cured.

"(Signed) ELWOOD S. LEE."

Once you try Catarrhozone you'll realize how indispensable it is—the large dollar size contains an indestructible hard rubber inhaler and sufficient medication to last two months. Beware of the substitutor and imitators of Catarrhozone—use the genuine and you'll get cured. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

LION AND BULL FIGHT

Not many people, outside Spain or Spanish American countries, have witnessed a bull-fight—a matter which they need not deplore—and perhaps still fewer have seen the rather unusual spectacle of a lion and bull fight. Two magnificent lions, male and female, finer than any I ever saw in any menagerie or zoo (says one who was present) had been purchased by the Peruvian Government for the Botanical Gardens at Lima, and by order of the authorities the male lion was pitted against a bull on a fixed day in the bull-ring.

A large iron structure was erected in the centre of the bull-ring, and into this the male lion had been introduced. As he lay crouched on the ground at full length, looking up with half-shut [illegible] one could not help admiring his noble proportions. From the door of this iron structure a long boarded alley-way led to the pen where the bull was housed.

A great hush falls on the multitude as the doors of the pen are rolled back and out rushes a bull of large proportions, heading down the alley-way (there was no other road for him), straight into the lion's den. With a sharp roar the lion sprang to his feet, and, nimbly as a cat, vaulted in his first spring right over the back of the bull, missing him. The latter, instantly taking in the situation, backed and lowered his head to charge, but ere he could move the lion was upon him, seized his muzzle between his own enormous jaws, and encircled the bull's neck with his fore paws.

Thus locked in mortal embrace did the bull make frantic efforts to free himself, and at times almost lifted the lion bodily off the ground, such was his strength; but it was all in vain, for the lion held him as in a vice. The struggle lasted about three minutes, and so great was the tension among the spectators that one could have heard the proverbial pin drop. Then there was a perceptible tottering of the bull's hind legs, a swaying of both bodies from side to side that nearly overturned the structure, and finally a great lurch, in which both rolled over together. The bull lay stone dead.

Slowly relaxing his death grip, the lion rose, sniffed all around his prey, and, placing one of his fore paws on the bull's haunch, glared proudly round on the crowd, as if demanding approval.

Miss J. Horsfield, in Charge. MRS. W. B. ARMSTRONG.

Further Particulars of Lindsay Fire. Further particulars of the Lindsay fire, of which we gave brief particulars in Saturday's issue, have arrived. It seems that the destructive fire by which Hood & Sons' Knitting Factory was entirely destroyed, started in the front part of the building near the office and swept with lightning rapidity throughout the factory. The inflammable nature of the goods and oils used around the machinery fed the rapidly devouring flames, which burned their way through the partitions and gained a strong hold in an attic over the rear portion of the building. A ventilator in the ceiling of this department caused a draught, which drew the flames with a greater sweep through the works.

The metallic sheeting handicapped the firemen. The fire was subdued after about two hours fighting, the firemen confining the flames to the factory alone. The loss to the firm will be in the neighborhood of $5,000. The entire stock of goods ready for sale was also destroyed.

Mr. George Lundy's Wedding.

The residence of Mr. Richard Hall, on Saturday afternoon, was the scene of a quietly solemnized wedding. Miss Marlie Thompson Hall became the bride of Mr. George W. Lundy, second son of Mr. D. J. Lundy, all of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian church. The bride was given away by her father, and as the bridal party entered the drawing room, Lohengrin's wedding march was played by Mr. Cohn Crane. The bride was charmingly attired in ivory satin, with square train and Duchess lace on the bodice and skirt. Her veil was of tulle, prettily fastened with a garland of orange blossoms and the bridal bouquet was of white roses. Miss Effie Munro acted as bridesmaid Mr. Gerald K. Rackham was best man. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held. Only immediate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Lovers of maple syrup will be glad to learn that this should be a good year for that product. The great quantity of snow in the woods must of necessity take some time in disappearing and while it is in the process of melting the sugar maple will be pouring forth its liquid sweetness from which such delicious syrup is made. Comparatively few sugar bushes remain and very little sugar is made, most of the sap being converted into the most delicious syrup that has ever been made.

A FAMOUS AIRMAN

Much That Was Pathetic in Gilmour's Death and Funeral

Graham Gilmour, the famous London airman who was killed by falling from a height of 175 feet left a letter dated several months previously. This he had entrusted to a friend requesting that should he be killed at any time that at his funeral there should be no bell tolled, no mourning, and no moaning. If any flowers, they were to be colored, and his body was to be taken away on a four-wheeled farmer's cart or on a motor lorry. He desired to be buried with his mother and father at Mickleham Church. The letter concluded :"I want everyone to be merry and bright, for I don't believe in moaning." The body was therefore conveyed on a motor lorry. It is doubtful, however, whether the last sad ceremony could be described as "merry and bright," as he desired it to be.

Mr. J. Radley, the aviator, fitted up the chassis of his own car as a hearse, draping it in purple, and upon this the coffin, covered with a purple pall, was conveyed from the mortuary at Richmond by way of Kingston to the quiet little village of Mickleham, near Dorking, twelve miles away.

Mr. Radley himself drove the vehicle, and six motor-cars followed, conveying friends of Mr. Gilmour. Numerous wreaths were sent, all consisting of colored flowers, including daffodils, red roses, lilacs, tulips, hyacinths, and mimosa. One wreath bore the inscription, "His last long flight."

There was a touching incident just before the service, an old lady placing beside the grave a wreath bearing the inscription, "In sorrowful memory of one whose youthful spirit and kindly word cheered a day in an old woman's lonely life."

The body was buried in the grave containing the remains of Mr. Gilmour's mother and father.

BALL PLAYERS WITH AUTOS

The Chicago Cubs Have More Motors Than Other Teams

The Chicago Cubs own more automobiles than any other aggregation of ball players in the American or National Leagues. Chance's men have been joining the ranks of the auto enthusiasts one at a time until about half the team are classed as gasoline bugs.

Chance was one of the very first men playing baseball to own an automobile. Then one at a time his players followed in his footsteps, and the other day Joe Tinker purchased a new car at the Kansas City Auto Show.

Ty Cobb is another enthusiast, although he manages to win some sort of a machine every year by leading the world in batting.

The New York Club stands next to the Chicago team as auto owners, and now that the Athletics have won a [illegible] and two world's championships, which meant a lot of extra dough for every member of the team, watch Mack's aggregation of stars develop the gasoline bug.

It is estimated that over two hundred ball players own automobiles at the present time, and every year from twenty-five to fifty more converts are made.

MANLY SPORTS

Prof. Morson Says That They Should be Encouraged

Prof. Morson, Toronto, in dismissing the appeal against Magistrate Denison's decision imposing a fine on the National Sporting Club for promoting a prize fight said:

"I express no opinion upon the merits of the case as it is now unnecessary. I desire to say, however, that while I may be opposed to what are prize fights, in fact, I am much in sympathy with and desire to encourage all manly sports which, include sparring matches, according to well-known rules and which are nothing more than exhibitions of skill and endurance.

"I do not think any honest, manly sport, because it is a little rough, should, on that account be stopped, nor do I think a sparring match, because it happens also to be a little rough, should on that acount be characterized as a prize fight.

"The late Lord Justice Bramwell in Rex. vs. Bradshaw, 14 Criminal Cases 83, says: 'I have no doubt that the game was in any circumstances a rough one, but am unwilling to decry the manly sports of this country all of which are no doubt attended with more or less danger.'"

SHORTSTOPS WEAK HITTERS

Shortstops seem to be the weak sisters in the matter of hitting in the American League. Of the thirty-five players who got into the .300 per cent. class last season in the Ban Johnson organization only one was a shortstop. Even the .280 class was too high for the men who play between second and third. Yerkes of the Boston club was the leading hitter among the short fielders, with a percentage of .270. Knight of the Highlanders ranked second with .268 and Barry of the Athletics was third with .265

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

HELPFUL HINTS

Household Information Which May Come in Handy

Get a nice thick piece of lean steak, cover it with good olive oil, and let it remain in the oil for an hour before cooking. This will make it tender, and the oil forms a coating, thus keeping in all the juice. The same method applies to cutlets.

Removing Inkstains

To remove ink from colored materials, dip the stained part in warm milk that has been boiled, and rub it lightly with the finger. As the milk becomes inked, change it, and continue the process till the stain fades away, then rinse the fabric, dry it quickly, and smooth it with a warm iron.

When Boiling Greens

If some hot water is poured over the greens before putting into the saucepan they will boil much quicker and look much greener. A little bicarbonate of soda used instead of washing soda will keep the greens a better color and make them much more tender.

A Time-Saving Hint

Where the family washing is large, much time, labor and fuel can be saved if this method is followed: First shake out all bath towels, and spread evenly on the table; then hand and roller towels, next the pillow covers. Fold the bed sheets, place them over all, and then cover with the ironing sheet. Commence ironing all the underwear, tablecloths, and handkerchiefs—all except the starched clothes. Then remove ironing sheets and all the linen underneath will be as smooth as if put through the mangle. Fold same, and place on clothes-horse to air.

Blanket Washing

Take half a cupful of pure ammonia, half a cupful of turpentine, and pour into a vessel that will hold two quarts of water; then cut up a small piece of soap about the size of a walnut—not more—or else the solution will be too stiff when cold. Then pour on two quarts of boiling water. When the liquid is cool, bottle off, and keep the bottle tightly corked. Be careful when pouring on the water, as the fumes are very strong. When washing the blankets add half a cupful of this mixture to each tub of water, and you will be more than pleased at the result. The blankets will come up quite soft and fluffy, and if this is carefully carried out they will never shrink.

Hints on Renovating

Light colored velvets may be cleaned by rubbing with benzoin or paraffin oil.

Chiffon can be washed in tepid water in which has been dissolved a small piece of Castile soap.

White silk should be washed in lukewarm water, rolled in a cloth, and ironed quite damp.

Where money is an object, it is a wise plan for everyone to know as much as possible about the art of renovating.

Cloth hats should be first well brushed, then cleaned by rubbing with equal quantities of oil and ink.

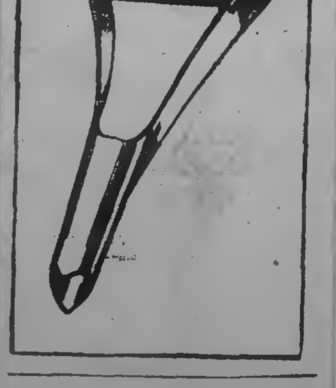
White felt hats, if white, may be cleaned by rubbing with oatmeal.

For instance, velvet may be made as good as new by the following process: Place a damp cloth over a hot iron, and draw the back of the velvet over the cloth. When the creases are all out, remove the cloth, and dry by rubbing the back of the velvet over the iron.

HANDY FRUIT CORER

Extracts Centre of Apple or Pear at One Quick Stroke

A simple and effective device for extracting stones and cores from fruit has been designed by a Virginian man and will probably become a popular kitchen utensil. At first glance it resembles the top of a spade handle broken off. A single sheet of metal is rolled into a tube, tapering towards the bottom and with a pair of arms extending above, joined at their tops to a wooden handle between. The lower end of the tube has two sharp lips projecting opposite each other. To core an apple or pear the fruit is placed on the table, stem up, and the cutter thrust down through the centre. It is tuen pulled out again, bringing with it the centre of the fruit with the seeds and the hard substances that are so unpleasant to encounter in baked or stewed fruit. The same operation will remove stones from fruits that are not easily split in two, as are peaches, and cleaned in that way.



MACHINE OIL

Should any machine oil get on the material you are sewing, tack a piece of cotton-wool over the spot at once, and leave it for a short time. The cotton-wool absorbs the oil, and no trace of the stain will be left.

A RAW RECRUIT.

He was a raw recruit, just enrolled in a crack cavalry regiment, and paying his first visit to the riding-school.

"'Ere's yer horse," said the instructor.

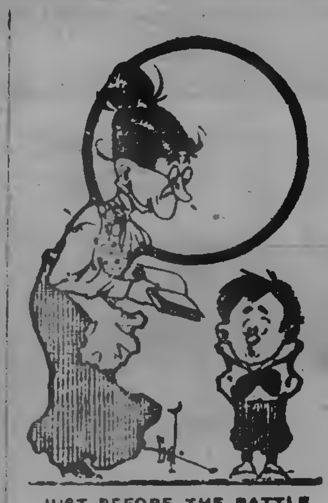
"What's it got this strap round it for?" he asked, pointing to the girth.

"Well," explained the instructor, solemnly, "you see, all our horses 'ave a keen sense of humor, an' as they sometimes 'ave sudden fits of laughter when they see the recruits, we put bands around 'em to keep 'em from burstin' their sides!"



JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE

Johnny:—"Tisn't any."

Teacher:—"Ah, but it must be."

Johnny:—"Maybe yours is, because you talk through it, but the only part o' speech I've got is my mouth."

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION.

William had just returned from college, resplendent in loud-checked trousers, silk hosiery, a fancy waistcoat, a necktie that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. The old gentleman looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked the more disgusted he became.

"Son," he finally blurted out, "you look like a silly fool!"

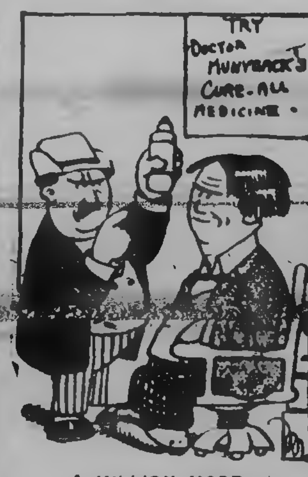
Later the old major who lived next door came in and greeted the boy heartily. "William," he said, with undisguised admiration, "you look exactly like your father did twenty-five years ago, when he came back from school."

"Yes," replied William, with a smile. "So father was just telling me."

HE KNEW.

"The Malays have a queer marriage custom," remarked the traveller. "The groom holds his nose against a small cylindrical object. I couldn't quite make out what it was——"

"A grindstone, probably," interposed Mr. Grough.



A MILLION MORE

Patient:—"You're a fraud! You guaranteed your medicine to cure after everything else failed ,and—

ACCORDING TO HIS CUSTOM.

At a restaurant one night a young American—a barber—fell in with an Englishman. The latter was berating the Yankees for doing all manner of business in their shops and not following the better English plan of sticking to one branch. The next day he swaggered into the barber's shop to be shaved. The barber gave his face an extra good soaping and left him, at the same time seating himself to read. The Englishman kept quiet for a few minutes, when, seeing his attendant reading, he blurted out: "Why don't you shave me, sir?"

"You will have to go up the street for your shave," quietly replied the barber; "we only lather here."

A CORPORAL'S ORDER.

The Boy's Brigade were on parade, and the corporal, thinking they had been out long enough, gave the order to return on arriving at the corner from where they started.

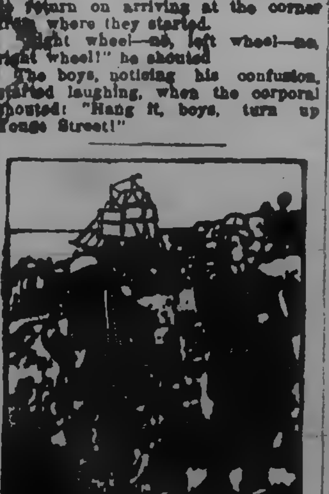
The boys, noticing his confusion, started laughing, when the corporal shouted: "Hang it, boys, turn up Yonge Street!"



BARGAIN DAY

"Why are you in such a hurry?"

"Promised to meet my wife at three o'clock down at the corner."

"Well, there's no hurry. It's only quarter to four now."

Mr. Chandler, of Chicago, will speak this week in Bethany Tabernacle.

Mrs. S. A. Shook, has followed Horace Greely's advice. and gone West.

Mrs. W. R. Morris has returned from a trip to the Southern States and Panama.

WILD DUCK PLENTIFUL

Large Quantities in England and the North of Ireland

Wild duck, which have entirely avoided many inland spots where a few are usually seen at this season, have appeared in very great quantities along some of their seaside haunts, especially on the east coasts of England and the north of Ireland.

The pursuers of the strange sport of punt gunning have had remarkable experiences. Slipping along in their punts at dawn they have come upon flocks so great that a single shot from the great swivel gun, which is almost a cannon, has bagged more than the 'longshore sportsman could get in a week. Fifty and sixty have been killed at a shot, though the manoeuvres of the shot may have taken a week or so.

Numbers of duck again have been killed in the more formal, artificial shoots of Lincolnshire, Bedfordshire, and other places where the birds are now bred almost as scientifically as pheasant.

A sportsman's bird that seems to increase in numbers and to widen its range is the golden plover, of which numbers are now to be seen in the poulterers' shops of the West End. These plover, which are held by some to be the best bird that comes to table, are seen frequently all over the country. They have been observed in swarms over grass fields in the home counties, as well as in their more normal haunts among the wild places of the coast.

Another bird that appeared at one moment in great quantity was the black duck, of which large numbers were shot over the coast of Norfolk from boats. But he is a brave or very hungry man who would dare to face the bird at table.—London Daily Mail.

FREAK SURGERY

The Vital Organs of Animals Transplanted by Americans.

Some remarkable experiments on the grafting of limbs on animals to which they did not originally belong, and the transference of vital organs, such as the kidney, from one animal to another, are reported, says the "Standard," from Harvard University. Most of them have been carried out by Dr. Carrel, under the direction of Dr. E. E. Tyzzer.

His first successful grafting—or, at any rate, the first that he placed on record—was for the benefit of a fox terrier. This he described before the American Philosophical Society. The terrier, owing to an accident, had to have its leg amputated A small dog that had just died was pressed into service. Its leg was removed, and grafted on to the stump of the leg of the living dog. Arteries, veins, and nerves were connected by suitable means, and the bones were placed in juxtaposition. As the bones knit the other tissues grew together, and the dog remained perfectly healthy.

But this is only a minor triumph [illegible] which, have come later. From the grafting of limbs Dr. Carrel has moved onward step by step until it would appear that he can transplant and replace almost every organ in the body. He says himself:—

"A dog whose abdominal aorta was replaced by a human femoral artery is still alive in a normal state. The thoracic aorta of another animal was replaced about the same time by a large artery that had been kept several months in cold storage, and the operation was a complete sucess."

In the transplanting of kidneys Dr. Carrel has been attended with the greatest success in the case of cats, and he has said that possibly the results would have been much better in experimenting with dogs if he had used dogs of the same breed. While he has taken organs from one animal and replaced them in another, he has been uniformly fortunate in reversing the kidneys. In this work he has taken a cat, and, removing the kidneys, has replaced the left kidney in the cavity of the right side and the right kidney in the left cavity.

When one thinks of the complex structure of the kidney, with its nerve supply, its three great connecting vessels—vein, artery, and ureter—and its intimate relations with other organs of the body, such operations as these are truly amazing. Their value in the saving and preservation of human life, if such a thing as the renewal of a kidney should be found possible, will be enormous. The removal of a single kidney is a fairly common operation. After it has been performed the patient usually recovers his health, but sometimes in after life the increased demand made on the single remaining kidney may lead to serious trouble.

It is only a month since a wealthy widow, Mrs. Reginald Waldorf, of Philadelphia, offered a small fortune to anyone who would sell her an index finger to be grafted on to the stump whence hers has been removed. It would be curious if such advertisements as this went further, and public requests were made for the supply of kidneys, spleen, or even for a new liver. But it is difficult to see where the organs of which persons only possess one each are to come from.

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES.

Interesting facts about the inside working of the Bank of England were explained by Mr. Frederick Huth rights of issuing notes, he said, is one of the most important functions of the Bank of England. One rarely sees a dirty Bank of England note. That is because the Bank never reissues a banknote. Even if anyone went into the Bank and demanded a five-pound note in exchange for five sovereigns, and then crossed to another counter and changed the same note back into gold, that note would be destroyed. The system is expensive, but by its means the Bank avoids many of the risks of forgery.

THE OLDEST FLAG

The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For 300 years both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag. In the year 1219 King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livenians, saw, or thought he saw, a bright light in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of Divine aid, and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country, and called it the Dannebork—that is, strength of Denmark.

OVERCROWDING PUBLIC PLACES

In this city we have recently had a case in the police court where three of the local moving picture houses were fined for overcrowding, and heavily fined at that. Without having the least animus against the picture houses, every sane man or woman must understand the danger of fire that always, in more or less degree, threatens the patrons of all theaters, picture or otherwise. The terrible fire when the Iroquois theater in Chicago was burned and hundreds of lives sacrificed. Whilst, it is all very well to say, "Oh, we'll never have a fire here!" Still, with the theater conditions which have existed in Peterborough, should a panic from fire, or any of the unreasonable causes that start panics, take place in any public place, with aisles and lobby crowded, the Iroquois disaster would be simulated. Since the recent police court investigation here, the theaters are not allowing the exits or passages, inside these places to be crowded. Still, we understand that the outside lobbies are allowed to be filled by people waiting their turn for seats. A crowd in a panic is immediately beyond control. A panic starts as quickly as does the smoke and flame from ignited gunpowder. Even supposing all inside passage ways were clear, and, with the outside lobby between the glass front and the inside swing doors crammed with people. Those inside would rise from their seats and rush for the front doors. As a matter of judgment, comparatively few would go down the aisles to the rear exits. Now if such a rush took place the crowd on the outside, not realizing the panic behind the swing doors, would take several minutes to size up the conditions. In those few minutes, what would be going on in the theater? Just what has occurred in other theaters when a panic has frenzied the people. Men, rushing to safety, blocked on their way, would trample over women and children.

In Toronto, the police authorities have decided to stop overcrowding of the churches. Last Sunday night the Queen street church was overcrowded, and the caretaker was fined. One does not want to throw a stone in the people's lives in a church are just as valuable to them as though in a picture or other theater. The overcrowding of churches should be stopped, and stopped at once.

A recent society wedding sensation, where the bride failed to appear at the altar at the eleventh hour, is not without parallel. Only a short time ago a lady on arriving near the church to be married ordered her coachman to drive her home again. Although astonished at this extraordinary request for the bridegroom was actually waiting in the church, he complied with his mistress's orders. It transpired afterwards that she had merely turned back because the crowd which had gathered to cheer her frightened her away.

In Bristol, some years ago, a marriage failed to take place at the last moment, in the most dramatic circumstances. The bride had been previously engaged. For some reason or other the engagement was broken off, and her fiance sailed for Canada. After some time she became engaged to a local insurance agent. All arrangements were made, and the happy couple were to be married on an Easter Sunday. A large number of people were assembled to witness the ceremony which was just about to begin when the first lover appeared on the scene. The bride fainted, and on regaining her senses she refused to be married to the insurance agent. Since then she has become the wife of her former lover, who has taken her to his homestead in Canada.

On the morning that another happy pair were to be married the bridegroom, who had a moustache and beard, determined to be clean shaven for the ceremony. Why he made up his mind to do such a curious thing on his wedding morn is not known. However, when he was shaved his friends all congratulated him upon his improved appearance. The ceremony was timed for eleven o'clock, and punctually to the moment he appeared at the church. When the bride saw him, however, she had a fit of hysterics, and it was not till some hours too late that she recovered her composure. She then announced that she would not marry her lover in any circumstances, declaring that he was betrayed by his mouth, previously hidden by his moustache and beard, and that he looked to her to be cruel!

Many will remember the sensation caused twelve years ago by the stopping of a fashionable wedding at the very last moment. The bridegroom was an exceedingly well-known figure in the world of sport, and the bride was the widow of a wealthy man. The curious part about it was that the lady was the only one who believed in her lover. Everyone else [illegible] Everything was ready for the ceremony. The church had been profusely decorated with flowers, and many well-known and prominent people had taken their places.

The dramatic moment came when the couple met at the altar. The bride noticed that her intended husband was wearing a particularly valuable diamond tie-pin. Suddenly she cried out: "Take me home! Take me home! I cannot say anything more now!" To the consternation of all was stopped. So overcome was the bride that she fainted and had to be carried to her carriage. Later it transpired that this identical pin had been stolen some months before from the widow's rooms.—TIT BITS.

HORSES

Crushed oats are easier digested, and therefore more profitable than whole oats.

The driver's aim should be to manipulate the reins with a light but firm and steady hand.

The value of salting the work horse regularly is often underestimated by horsemen. It is a good practice to keep the material before them at all times.

Remember that sudden changes of food may cause colic. New hay, new oats, green corn, etc., are often used. Make the change gradually, and no harm will result.

A horse that is extremely tired should not be given a heavy feed until he has had a little rest. Some feeders act on the supposition that a large amount of feed is what is needed to replace the lost energy. It must be remembered, however, that a horse so exhausted cannot digest food as well as one that is fresh, and, therefore, should be fed accordingly.

TIGHT COLLARS

A well-known doctor considers it remarkable that no one seems to have laid stress on the fact that such slight obstacles to the free circulation of the blood through the vessels of the brain may adversely influence the health of those who are in the habit of wearing tightly-fitting neck clothes.

The fact appears to be well known to veterinary surgeons, who tell us that neck constriction through badly fitting harness is a causative factor in "staggers" in horses. It seems to be equally well known that dogs suffer a great deal through having to wear tightly fitting collars. Is it too much, then, he asks, to argue that those of us who wear our own collars too tightly buttoned may find that practice some explanation of symptoms ascribed to other causes?

A Good Card for Local Team.

Secretary Davidson has received the signed contract of Pitcher Ned Bartlett of the Kodak Park Club, of Rochester. This is the youngster with whom Manager Templin announced a week ago that he had accepted terms. The Peterborough Manager is delighted. He regards Bartlett, who is only twenty years of age as a coming star.

This is the time of year that the average Peterborough man begins to watch his wife's actions with apprehension to see if rags and brooms are being got ready for spring house cleaning.

HIGHER RENTS BUT HIGHER WAGES TOO

Conditions in America Much More Favorable to Wage Earner Than in England

In proposing to make changes in Canada's fiscal system, it will always be necessary for the advocates of free trade or a reduced tariff to convince the people absolutely that the change will not interfere detrimentally with existing conditions. For one thing, the workingman must be assured that tariff reduction will not deprive him of any of the comforts or advantages he now enjoys. The present well-being of the working classes is certain. Their continued prosperity under a condition of free trade is a matter of doubt. To propose then, that Canada should experiment and find out what would result from cutting down the tariff, is a line of action that she cannot afford to take. She must be sure of her ground before taking steps in that direction.

Free Trade England vs. America

It can be proved conclusively that in countries under a system of free trade, the industrial classes are worse off than they are in countries where protection is acorded to industry. Thanks to the careful investigations of the British Board of Trade, it is possible to demonstrate that the artisans of the United Kingdoms, taken in the aggregate, are not in the enjoyment of such comforts and advantages as are the artisans of America. England is a typically free trade country and the United States, as typically protectionist one and because the habits, customs and standard of living of the people of both are akin to those of Canada, it follows that a comparison of the conditions prevalent in the two countries will have a direct bearing on the situation in the Dominion.

An Exhaustive Enquiry

The British Board of Trade last year conducted an enquiry into the question of wages and cost of living among the industrial classes of America and included in the report is a valuable comparison of the figures for the United States with those for the United Kingdom and Wales as secured in 1905 and revised to date.

In order to make the enquiry as complete and accurate as possible, statistics were secured from twenty-eight cities scattered throughout the industrial states of the East. Further, to make comparisons possible, three classes of industry were selected for investigation the building trades, the engineering trades and the printing trades [illegible] others are common to practically all countries.

Smaller Wages in England

Without entering into the details of [illegible] the United Kingdom by a ratio of [illegible] to 100; in the engineering trades by 213 to 100, and in the printing trades by 246 to 100, or combining all three, the American workman is shown to receive more than 2¼ times the money for his work that his British competitor receives. The investigators found further that the proportion of unskilled or semi-skilled labor is greater in America, while what is termed unemployable labor is greater in England.

Rents Higher in America

Passing on to the important question of rents, the basis of comparison was found in houses containing the same number of rooms. Four-roomed dwellings were the only ones found in every city investigated both in England and America. Five-roomed houses were general; three-roomed houses predominated in England; six-roomed houses in America. The investigators found that the American houses, while less permanent in construction as a rule, much roomier and more convenient and they noted that the standard was improving markedly. For three-roomed dwellings, the rent paid in America exceeded that paid in England by 93 per cent.; for four-roomed houses by 107 per cent.; for five-roomed houses by 120 per cent. and for six-roomed houses by 118 per cent., a mean of 109 per cent. Taken on a basis of rooms, the weekly rent per room in America averages 65 cents as compared with 30 cents in England.

Comparative Costs of Food

In order to institute a comparison that would be instructive it was figured out just what a week's food supply of an average British workingman's family would cost in the United States. To compare the purchases of average families in both countries on any other basis would be impossible, because of the different kinds and quantities of food consumed. On this basis is was found that the cost of the average British workingman's at the predominant prices of the two countries would be as 100 to 138, one hundred being the British standard. That is to say, he would have to pay 38% more for identically the same food in America. Conversely were average United States workman to purchase his usual supplies in England, he would get them for twenty per cent. less.

Summing up all these results it may be said that while the cost of food and rent in America is 52% greater than in England, yet wages, being 130% higher, more than off-set the higher cost of living. Further, the margin of income over and above food and rent is so great as to make possible a command of the necessaries and conveniences and more luxuries of life that is both ominally and really greater than that enjoyed by the corresponding class in England.

Tablets in Public Library.

Two brass tablets have been placed at the entrance to the Public Library. They are in memory of donations made by the late Charlotte Jane Nicholls and Andrew Carnegie. The tablets were purchased in Ottawa by the Library Board.

A Little Saturday Runaway.

A runaway took place at 5.30 on George street, when the team attached to the delivery waggon of a local expressman, dashed up George street, from in front of Turnbull's store. They turned east and were captured at Queen street. No damage was done.

BALL IN CANADA IN THE LONG AGO

The Development of the Game Since 1867 When It Had a Very Crude Beginning

"If my memory serves me correctly, 1867 saw the crude efforts of the exponents illustrating the game as propounded by National League rules, which had been in vogue across the border for some years.

From its inception the game found many devotees and soon became popular among all classes. By steady practice the members soon became crystalised into able exponents of this sport, which has held its own through all the succeeding years. The rules at the beginning were so crude that it made it difficult for umpires to give correct and satisfying decisions. For instance, there was what was called a fair foul rule, by hitting the ball on the foul line or inside and rolling anywhere back of first or third bases was a fair ball; if a base runner got hit by a batted ball, or if he interfered with a fielder infielding the ball, it was left to the direction of the umpire as to whether the base runner did it intentionally or not. The bound on the field, either fair or foul, was out, and it was amusing to see the fielders instead of making the catch playing the bound and when the ball hit some obstacle on the uneven ground it more often than not bounded to one side or over their heads, a home run resulting. Those days you could call for high or low ball—the latter between the knee and the waist, and the former between the waist and shoulder. Filling the position of catcher, I had the opportunity of pulling off plays that are foreign to the game to-day.

Catching without gloves, masks, or protectors, the foul bound and trapping balls was a prolific source of plays. Behind the plate fouls hitting your body could be picked up on the short bound, retiring the batter, and triple and double plays were possible by trapping the third strike and playing the ball around the bases.

Fielder's gloves were unthought of in those days, and the balls were much livelier, with double the rubber, and the seams were much coarser, making it much harder on the hands.

Scores naturally were larger, underhand pitching, rough grounds and the lively ball chiefly contributing to this result. The latter end of the sixties I can remember several games where over 100 runs made by the winning team. It was not many years before the throw was introduced, the arm not to be raised above the level of the shoulder. By that rule a most terrific speed could be attained. Some of our most effective pitchers to-day adopt the underhand delivery. The distance then was 45 feet from the [illegible] to pitcher's [illegible]. The first tournament we [illegible] was held in London about 1879, between first and second class clubs. Many clubs were entered from all parts of Canada in both classes. The first club we played was Ingersoll, defeating them 76 to 34. We then played Woodstock, which was much closer and a better contested game, finally resulting in our favor by the score of 13 to 8. A notable instance of uncertainty of the game happened in Kingston on one of our annual visits. The game was a close and exciting one, replete with fine pitching and magnificent fielding right up to the closing inning, when the score stood 2 to 0 in our favor. With two down and a man on fist in the ninth, the next batter up hit a slow grounder to Jones, our short stop. Allowing the ball to pass him, Smith, the left fielder, ran in and got the ball making a wild throw to the plate, and before I could recover both runs had scored, making two all. Playing on till the twelfth, our opponents succeeded in scoring, defeating us by 3 to 2. On another occasion we were defeated by the St. Lawrence Club of Kingston, the only instance in my recollection. We were ahead by a good margin on the sixth, when a thunderstorm came up, making the ball difficult to throw. Our opponents' scored six runs, ultimately winning the game.

On leaving the grounds to reach our conveyances, we were usually chased by the hoodlums, throwing mud and stones, which we naturally resented, and a comical remark made by our first base man, Nat Cross, I have never forgotten. A whole-souled big Irishman, a blacksmith, hailing from the Royal City, and afterwards a member of the Toronto police force for about two years. It was commonly reported that he was let go because he never made an arrest, which was sufficient cause for dismissal. Suffer under defeat and the highly improper ovation tendered us, he rose to the occasion by offering to make a novel wager by exclaiming, "Be jabers, boys, I have no money on me, but I will bet yez a year in the penitentiary we can beat ye to-morrow.

NEW SIGHTING DEVICE

A new sighting device has been invented which promises to make every soldier a dead shot—if he doesn't forget the essential principle in the heat of the battle. By an ingenious application of a well-known law of mathematics the soldier has simply to estimate the apparent height of the object he desires to hit, and to fire at an imaginary point below the ground. The theory of the device is geometrically sound and scientifically infallible, since the sight is so arranged that when the shot leaves the barrel and reaches its vortex it attains a height just double that of the target, and, in scientific language, "the negative aim creates an angle below the ground line which automatically subtracts from the angle of elevation."

New Home of Local Museum.

For some time past, City Engineer T. A. S. Hay, has been laying plans quietly for a better museum for Peterborough, and has now succeeded. The entire collection of curios that for many years have been stored at Inverlea, have been transferred to their new quarters, in the Public Library, where they have been systematically arranged in attractive cases. The larger exhibits, which are too cumbersome to store in glass cases, have been conveniently arranged around the walls.

The annual examination of candidates and probationers for the ministry in the Bay of Quinte Conference, will take place in George-street Methodist Church, Peterborough, commencing to-day, at 9.30 a.m., and continuing through the two following days.

April Fool Day.

Yesterday was the one day of the year when the small child at breakfast says to her mother, "Mother there's a terrible fire on George-street." The mater-familias, remembering the date, professes ignorance, and asks was it the Bank of Ottawa, or Richard Hall's store?" The kid then gleefully replies "April Fool," and the mother assumes a startled appearance.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU SLEEP.

Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers and gardeners make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent. per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $800 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same.

Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $800 cash. Was this not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and orchards suitable for gardens, and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for full particulars.

Funeral of Mrs. Thos. Hickey.

Mrs. Tom Hickey, one of Emily township's best known residents, passed away last Saturday. The deceased is survived by her husband, two daughters and one son, namely, Sheila, Lily, and Frank, all living at home. The funeral took place yesterday morning at St. Martin's Cemetery, Ennismore.

Italian Fruit Vendor Dismissed.

The well-known Italian fruit firm of Messrs. J. Longo & Co., were charged at yesterday's police court with obstructing the sidewalk. He pleaded guilty, but explained that he had no rear entrance and had a heavy shipment of fruit arriving for Saturday's trade. The case was dismissed.

The Important Columns of a Paper.

Some of the most important information in a newspaper is to be found in the advertising columns. The information contained in The Times' ad. columns is, as far as we can ascertain, not only important, but authentic, which makes them worthy of perusal.

A Blacklister Up This Morning.

Last night two drunks occupied the planks at Thompson Castle. One of them was Con Ryan, a blacklisted man, who will have to explain this morning to the Cadi where, and from whom he procured the means of his jag.

Local Man Thought of Elsewhere.

Lindsay Post: The many friends of Mr. J. M. Greene, manager of the Greene Music Co., will regret to learn that he was taken to the Peterborough hospital Friday suffering from an attack of appendicitis. The operation was performed and Mr. Greene is doing nicely.

Lindsay May Lose Much Traffic.

Survey work on the C.N.R. is proceeding in Dalton and Laxton townships. This road will tap the Haliburton County. It will branch off through Victoria County to Kinmount and tap the I. B. & O. Ry. This will probably divert a lot of traffic from the North Country and take it via Orillia.

Date of Fair Changed.

The date of the "Made in Peterborough" Fair which was to have been held in the Armouries from June 3rd, has been changed to May 27th, one week earlier, on account of the 57th Regimental Band having to go into camp on June 6th. This Exhibition promises to be one of the biggest events of the season.

Peterborough Astronomers Meet.

Last night those interested in the wonderful history of the stars, in this city, under auspices of the Peterboro' Center of the Royal Astronomical Society, gathered at the Collegiate Institute. Mr. J. R. Collins, the well-known Toronto Astronomer, gave a most interesting address. Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, attended the meeting. Mr. H. O. Fisk is president of the Peterborough branch.

McManus Case Settled.

It will be remembered that Thomas McManus brought suit against the Cavendish Lumber Co. for an accident he sustained while working for them at Lakefield. This case has been settled out of court by mutual agreement. The case was settled on consideration of the plaintiff receiving $785. Mr. G. N. Gordon acted on behalf of Mr. McManus.

A Bad Conflagration at Bensfort.

Mr. James Lackey, of Bensfort, was a loser by fire last Saturday, to the extent of $800 worth of furniture. The house occupied by Mr. Lackey caught fire Saturday evening. The house was an old-fashioned log structure and burned so quickly the occupants had quick work to escape. The building was burned to the ground. It was valued at about $1000 and insured. Mr. Harry Wood was the owner.

Natural Increase in this Country.

The Ontario Legislature has just issued a blue book on the births, deaths and marriages for 1911. By a comparison of births and deaths in the County of Peterborough for the ten years, 1901 to 1911, one can see a fair natural increase in the County. In 1901, there were 723 births and 460 deaths, in 1910 there were 930 births, and 569 deaths.

Oratorio at All Saints.

Last night a good-sized audience gathered at All Saints' Church to hear the splendid oratorio Crucifixion by seventy voices. The solos and choruses were splendidly rendered. Mr. R. J. Devey certainly demonstrated by the magnificent work done last night, that he is an admirable trainer. Rev. Mr. Grobbe, rector of All Saints' Church, presided. The oratorio will be repeated in St. John's Church on Good Friday.

Golf Club Officers.

The Peterborough Golf Club has elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Directors—T. D. Mulholland, A. H. Stratton, Peter Campbell, Hazen Ritchie, W. H. Denham. Mr. Mulholland was elected President, and Mr. D. D. Brown, accountant of the Bank of Toronto, secretary-treasurer. The following gentlemen were elected chairmen of the various committees. Greens committee—Mr. A. H. Stratton. House committee—Mr. P. Campbell. Tennis and Boating—Mr. H. Ritchie.

Boys Should be Debarred.

The Police Magistrate of Belleville, has fined four owners of billiard and pool rooms $10 each for allowing boys to frequent and play in their respective places. A good move that might well be followed here. There are, we understand, boys playing pool in some, if not all of Peterborough's pool rooms. Boys, or at least very few of them, cannot afford to pay forty cents an hour for the privilege of playing pool and lingering in an atmosphere of cheap cigarette smoke and continual profanity. Such luxury (?) comes too high for the average boy.

Old Resident of Smith Gone.

Mr. W. J. Tully, at the venerable age of 75 years, passed away, on Sunday at lot 4, con. 2, Smith. Mr. Tully was one of the oldest and best known residents of the township. He had been in poor health for some time. He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and three children, Mrs. B. L. Tully, Smith; Mr. Fred Tully, New York, and Miss Edith at home. The deceased was a member of the George street Methodist church. He was a Liberal in politics, as was his father before him, the late Mr. Thomas Tully. The funeral will take place from the family residence Wednesday at two o'clock, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment. The Rev. Mr. Cragg of Mark street Methodist Church, who is a relative of some members of the family, will perform the funeral service.

HISTORY OF MODERN TRANSPORTATION.

A valuable addition to the railroad literature of this continent has just been made with the publication of a "Synoptical History of the Grand Trunk System of Railways," a neat brochure which gives in pithy and accessible form the most salient facts in connection with the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways, as well as their various branches and subsidiary companies. The work has been compiled by a prominent official whose wide experience has amply qualified him for the task. Specially interesting to those who are concerned with transportation matters, the publication will afford interesting reading to the student of Canadian history which is so intimately associated with it's railroad development.

Boy's Fall From Farmer's Rig.

Yesterday morning a farmer's rig drove slowly up to the entrance of a local hotel. Five boys at once saw a chance to steal a ride. The driver warned them away. The boys left, until the farmer went into the place where snake-bite cure is sold. The boys, in his absence, climbed in the rear end of the farmer's rig. The driver, having finished his business in the hotel, returned to his rig, and, not noticing the boys, jumped aboard the rig and mounted the quarter deck. The captain of this conveyance gave his steeds a crack with his whip and yelled "get-up." Those animated scarecrows, not realizing the difference between a driver leaving the farm or grocery, and leaving a resort where wet goods are dispensed, never anticipated such a crack. They gave a sudden plunge, and five boys dropped into the semi-liquid mess, half fertiliser. Their clothing would have suggested a comic valentine. The horses ran for about two blocks, when the driver managed to control them.

BUYING EGGS IN LARGE QUANTITIES LAW KEPT

At yesterday's police court Joseph Leachin was charged with buying eggs on the Saturday market in large quantities before 10 a.m., contrary to the by-law.

Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of the defendant and pleaded not guilty to the charge.

P. C. Kidd gave evidence to the effect that at 9.45 a.m. Saturday, he observed a large clothes basket full of eggs on one of the stands. He approached the defendant, and asked him what he intended to do with them. The defendant replied, "I am going to eat them." Witness then took him to the police station, where he was questioned by Chief of Police Thompson, as to what he proposed doing with so many eggs. Defendant replied that he intended to send a couple of cases away, and keep the rest for home consumption. Witness estimated the number of eggs purchased before ten o'clock to be between seventy and ninety dozen.

The defendant claimed he had bought the hen fruit partly for shipment and partly for home use. Lexchin explained that the Jewish Easter began Monday night, and orthodox Jews must eat nothing but eggs, unleavened bread and potatoes for a week.

When Mr. Gordon made a plea that the eggs, in the eye of the law, had been purchased for family use, the case was dismissed.

THE EYE LIKE A CAMERA.

The eye is constructed so wonderfully and ingeniously that the handicraft of man has not as yet been able to construct as delicate an instrument. It is like a camera—the lens to focus, the lid as a shutter, the iris or color as the diaphragm, the thick coatings of the eye-ball as the dark room, the nerve as the sensitive plate, and strange as it may seem, the images are bottom side up exactly as the image in the camera. Now so delicate and sensitive an instrument as the eye should have good care. Let us explain more fully to you how to care for the eyes.

BOARD OF EDUCATION IN BRIEF REGULAR SESSION

A COMMITTEE TO SUPERVISE COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT TO BE APPOINTED.

$50 Granted to the Collegiate Institute Library—Committee Will Visit Toronto and Investigate the Workings of Penny Banks in Schools. May Adopt the Scheme in Peterborough—Deputation from Board Will Attend Teachers' Convention on April 9th—May Burn Hard Coal in Schools.

The Board of Education met last night in regular session. There were present, Chairman Mr. John Crane, and Dr. Burnham, Dr. Morrison, Messrs. Adams, W. H. Hill, R. Fair, V. Eastwood and B. F. Ackerman.

Communications.

From W. J. Neill, resigning from public school teaching staff.—Accepted.

The Trades and Labor Council wrote enquiring if the Board would insert a "fair wage" clause in all agreements for work done on school property. Referred to Building Committee.

Miss Jean Kennedy of Pontypool, applied for position on the public school teaching staff, should a vacancy occur.—Referred to Committee on Appointments.

A resolution opposed to the Armour site on which to erect the new East City school was to hand. This was passed at last weeks' meeting of East City ratepayers.—Received, and secretary instructed to acknowledge receipt of resolution and state the Board's position.

Grant to Library.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner wrote, asking for the annual grant to the Collegiate Institute of $50.—Granted.

Coal Wanted.

Mr. Eastwood moved that the Board advertise for coal for the ensuing year. This matter was referred to the Property Committee to report as to the difference in cost between hard and soft coal, with a view to [illegible] burning the former.

Will Attend C[illegible].

A deputation of the Board will attend the teachers' convention in Toronto on April 9th.

Advisory Committee.

The matter of appointing an Advisory Commercial Committee was referred to the Committee on Appointments. This advisory Committee will have supervision over the commercial department of the Collegiate Institute, and is a provision of 1911's School Act. It is to be composed of six members and six non-members of the Board of Education.

Penny Banks.

Dr. Morrison moved, seconded by Mr. Ackerman, That the Chairman, Mr. Eastwood and the Inspector, be a committee to visit Toronto and look into the working of the Penny Bank scheme in the Queen City's schools, with a view to the adoption of the same in Peterborough's public schools in the immediate future.—Carried.

Earlier Admission.

Children will be admitted into the schools at 8.30 and a quarter after one in bad weather.

Close Thursday Noon.

Mr. W. H. Hill moved, seconded by Mr. T. H. Adams,—That the schools close on Thursday noon and reopen a week from Easter Monday.—Carried.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The report was adopted.

POWDER MILL NEAR PATTERSON BLOWS UP KILLING 2, WORKMEN

Patterson, N.J., April 2.—An explosion in the finishing room of the powder mills at Wayne, about five miles west of this city to-day, killed two workmen and maimed three others. The explosion was felt over a radious of 50 miles and started reports all through the metropolitan district of a great disaster.

The dead are Charles Stultz, superintendent of the mill and Charles Rysdeck, a workman. William Spernow, another powder worker, had both his arms blown off and may die.

The mills formerly belonged to the Laflin and Rand Powder Co, and were now being operated by the E. I. Dupont De Nemours Company.

There were three explosions in rapid succession. The small building where the powder was finished and where the original explosion occurred, was wiped off the landscape. The two "corning" mills near by went up immediately after. The rest of a group of a dozen buildings scattered over several acres and widely separated to guard against just such a disaster, escaped.

SAILOR CONFESSES TO THE MURDER OF WOMAN

Portsmouth, N.H., April 2.—A photograph of Seth Nichols, the sailor, who, according to the police, has confessed that he murdered Dr. Helen Knabe in Indianapolis last October for $1,500 and a copy of the alleged confession, were mailed to the authorities of that city early to-day. Until the Indianapolis police have made a careful examination of the matter mailed them no steps toward extradition are expected

Nichols, who is said to be a deserter from the U.S.S. Dixie came here last week and was arrested in a saloon on Saturday, charged with carrying a loaded revolver. The police say that yesterday he confessed to the murder, telling them that he would go insane if he did not get it off his mind.

POLICE ARE SCEPTICAL.

Indianapolis, April 2.—While the police to-day awaited with lively interest a copy of the alleged confession of Seth Nichols, at Portsmouth N.H., that he murdered Dr. Helen Knabe in this city on the night of October 23 last, they said information as to the man's statements so far received did not warrant much credence in his story.

"In our investigation we never have heard mention of a man named Nichols or Knight, who, Nichols says employed him to kill Dr. Knabe," said Captain of Detectives Holtz. "We understand Nichols says he killed the woman while she slept. When the body was found, though it was clothed in a nightdress, it was on top of the bed covers, and we have believed if Dr. Knabe did not commit suicide, but was murdered, she was attacked while she was preparing for bed and not while she slept."

The dead physician was found lying on her bed in her apartments in the city with her throat cut from ear to ear on the morning of October 24, 1911. She was dressed to retire, and apparently had been dead for several hours when her body was discovered by her secretary, Miss Katherine McPherson, when she appeared for work. The latter summoned Dr. Knabe's cousin, Miss Augusta Knabe and three physicians from the city, but did not call the police for more than an hour. No knife or other weapon was found.

THE WEATHER.

SHACKLETON THINKS SCOTT GOT TO POLE ABOUT JANUARY 18TH

London, April 2.—Sir Ernest Shackleton, in an article contributed to the Chronicle, says that the dogged determination and incessant toil against disaster and difficulties which members of the Scott party displayed must forever place this expedition amongst the great efforts of mankind

"Of this I am convinced," writes Sir Ernest, "the first man to acknowledge and appreciate the success of Capt. Amundsen in arriving at the coveted spot will be Capt. Scott, who has by now reached the pole, and is preparing at this moment for another long Antarctic winter night amid the ribbed ice, in order finally to finish and carry out the program he laid down when he first initiated the expedition.

"That, it must be remembered, was not only to achieve the geographical South Pole, but to make a scientific geographical survey of the quarter of the Antarctic region within his sphere of action."

Plenty of Food.

Referring to the Eastern party, who were landed in Victoria Land and who have not been picked up, Sir Ernest says:

"There are seals and penguins in plenty at Grygalska glacier, so there is no fear that this party will not have ample food."

Regarding Capt. Scott's statement that fossils have been found for the first time in the Antarctic, Sir Ernest writes:

"This is hardly correct. Fossils may have been discovered for the first time 'in Situ,' but during our own expedition we detected fossils among erratic boulders."

In concluding Sir Ernest says:

"Now comes the advance on the Pole. On November 2, a day earlier than our expedition left Hut Point for the south, Scott started. Sixty miles south he found the motors obtained by the advance party. This shows that though great hopes were entertained for the motors, the day has not yet come when one can count with certainty on their continuous performance in polar regions.

Thaw Worst of All.

"Then, on December 4, another blizzard overtakes the little struggling party, and, worse than low temperature, high temperature occurs. The whole equipment is soaked with water, and one must have had that experience personally to realize what this discomfort means."

FIRST WOMAN TO CROSS CHANNEL IN AEROPLANE

Boulogne, April 2.—Aviator Gustav Hamel, carrying Miss Mary Davis as a passenger successfully crossed the English Channel in his aeroplane today, starting from London and flying by way of Dover to Cape Gris-nez.

Hamel flew at a height of 2,000 feet, and failed to report his landing for some time, with the result that there were grave fears that he had met with an accident.

NOT A WHEEL TURNED IN COAL MINES OF THE U. S. YESTERDAY

Philadelphia, Pa., April 2.—Colliery whistles blew in all parts of the anthracite regions at starting time today, summoning men to work, but with the exception of company hands not affected by the suspension order of the mine workers, none of the miners responded.

The suspension is complete and the leaders of the union say they are gratified over the unanimity displayed by the organized and unorganized men in obeying the suspension order to day.

It is not expected that efforts to mine coal will be made until after April 10, when the miners' committee and the operators will again meet in conference in Philadelphia.

The entire region was reported quiet. Foreigners in considerable numbers continue to leave the anthracite field for their home in Europe, where they will remain for several months.

Reading Mines Quiet.

Not a colliery wheel in the Schuylkill region was turning to-day, the operations, corporation and individuals, being closed down just as tightly as they were yesterday. At the collieries of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company, the largest producing company in the entire hard coal fields, steam was up, the shafts were prepared to lower men, and the breakers were ready to start, but no men reported.

NEARLY HALF MILLION OF BOTH HARD AND SOFT COAL MINERS OUT

New York, April 2.—Scores of thousands of coal miners quit work to-day in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania and in the "central competitive field" of the bituminous portion of the industry. Officially the movement is a "suspension" of work and whether it is to develop into a widespread strike depends on the outcome of voting in the union ranks and of conferences between the men and employers within the next ten days.

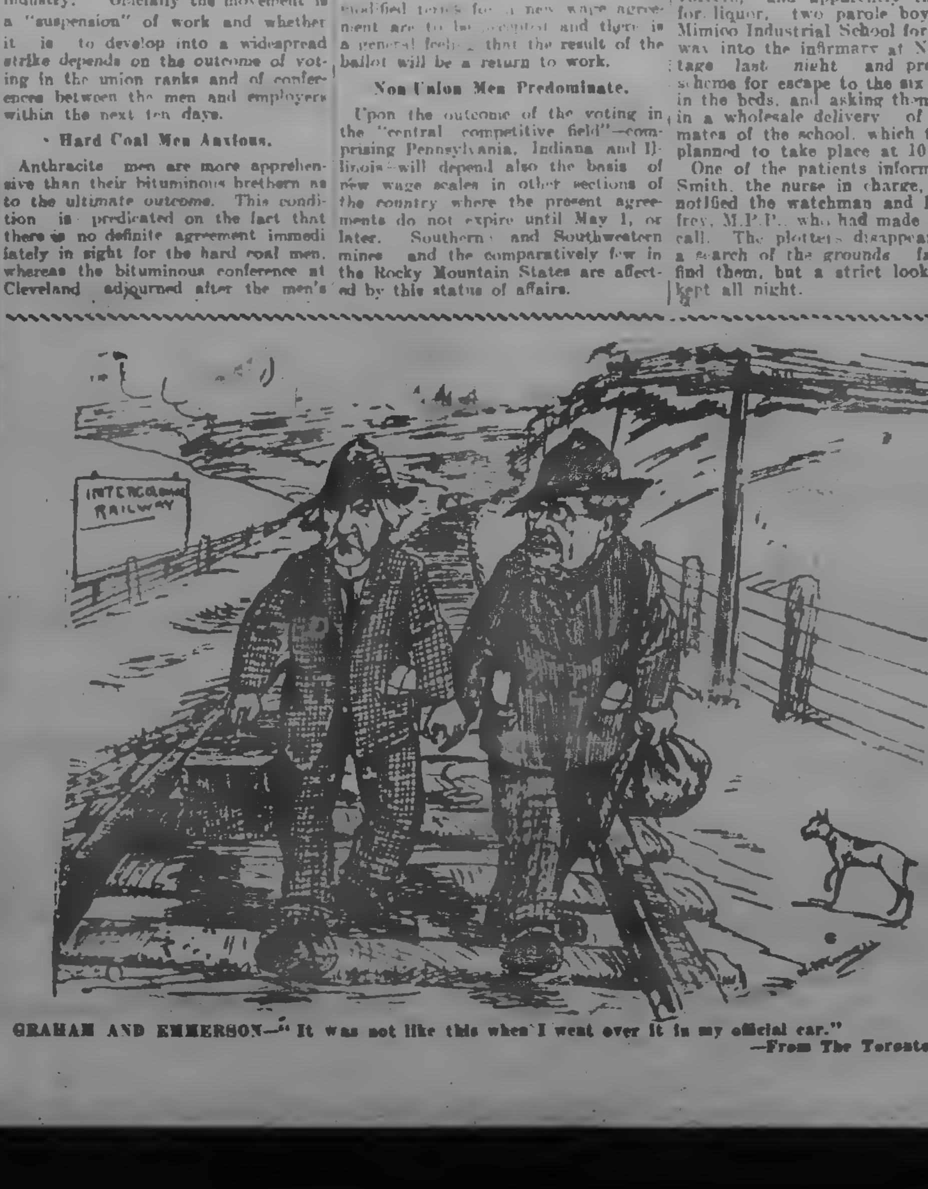
Hard Coal Men Anxious.

Anthracite men are more apprehensive than their bituminous brethern as to the ultimate outcome. This condition is predicated on the fact that there is no definite agreement immediately in sight for the hard coal men, whereas the bituminous conference at Cleveland adjourned after the men's representatives had abandoned practically all their demands except for increased wages and on this point modified their terms considerably.

The union men are to take a referendum ballot at once as to whether the modified terms for a new wage agreement are to be accepted and there is a general feeling that the result of the ballot will be a return to work.

Non Union Men Predominate.

Upon the outcome of the voting in the "central competitive field"—comprising Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois—will depend also the basis of new wage scales in other sections of the country where the present agreements do not expire until May 1, or later. Southern and Southwestern mines and the comparatively few in the Rocky Mountain States are affected by this status of affairs.



GRAHAM AND EMMERSON—"It was not like this when I went over it in my official car."

PETERBORO'S BILL IS TO BE HELD OVER

The amended Peterborough bill providing for taking over the power within the municipality, was yesterday laid over by the Private Bills Committee. Mr. J. W. Johns, of Belleville, described the measure as confiscation. Hon. Mr. Fry asked, under the circumstances, that the bill be held over for one week.

BURGLAR'S HAT LED TO ARREST

Estabutchie, Miss., March 31—J. J. Frederick was arrested for an attempt to rob the store of the Eureka Lumber Company on Sunday morning. Entrance was effected by cutting the screen door. The discovery was made by the night watchman.

There was no one to be found in the store, but the man had been scared away by the night watchman and had left his hat and shoes on the inside. The hat was recognized as belonging to a young man who was boarding at the hotel and had been here since Thursday working at the mill, and he confessed when confronted. He was taken to Ellisville.

ANNIE CRAWFORD HELD FOR SISTERS MURDER

New Orleans, La., March 31.—Immediately following the rendering of the verdict of the jury, which was unable to agree, Annie Crawford, charged with the murder of her sister Elise Crawford, was escorted by two deputy sheriffs out of the Criminal District Court and over to the parish prison, where she will remain until the court decides otherwise.

All efforts to obtain an interview with Annie Crawford were futile. When told Wednesday morning that a reporter would like to have a few moments conversation with her, she told Mrs. Connors, matron of the parish prison, that she was tired and did not feel like talking.

It is understood that an effort will be made to have the unfortunate prisoner released on bail.

LOCAL CITIZEN BOTHERED BY CATS

A local citizen living on Brock street, yesterday remembered to a Times representative "I see by your paper that in Munich, Germany, any cat without a tag is killed, just the same as dogs without tags are not killed here. You may think it a small thing to kick about; but, right under my bedroom window is a shed. Every night, and particularly on moonlight nights about seventeen Tom Cats hold a political meeting at one end whilst the tabbies hold everything from a suffragette discussion to a dispute on the latest shade in fur. The consequence is that my wife and I are kept awake all night. I have used up the family bootjack, two coal scuttles, several vases, and other things I can throw. The city will not allow me to fire off a gun or revolver: What can I do?" Our reporter was unable to offer any better solution than to advise the cat-ridden citizen to cut out pickles and cheese before bedtime and sleep through.

ARMED WITH REVOLVERS

Toronto, April 2.—Armed with revolvers, and apparently the worse for liquor, two parole boys of the Mimico Industrial School forced their way into the infirmary at No. 3 cottage last night and proposed a scheme for escape to the six patients in the beds, and asking them to join in a wholesale delivery of the inmates of the school, which they had planned to take place at 10 o'clock. One of the patients informed Miss Smith, the nurse in charge, and she notified the watchman and Dr. Godfrey, M.P.P., who had made a timely call. The plotters disappeared and a search of the grounds failed to find them, but a strict lookout was kept all night.

GREAT BRITAIN HAS A NEST EGG. OF OVER THIRTY MILLION DOLLARS

London, April 2.—The British Budget for the financial year 1912-13, was introduced by David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons to-day before the thinnest attendance on such an occasion for fifteen years.

The Chancellor was in the comfortable position of having a nest egg of $32,725,000 remaining from the year just closed. This he said was the largest realized surplus on record.

The estimated expenditure for the financial year 1912-13 amounts to $934,625,000, an increase of $28,095,000.

Scheme of Taxation a Success.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer argued that his scheme of taxation had met the increased expenditure of the nation and provided a surplus without taxing the necessities of life or interfering with trade. Under his scheme trade had improved and unemployment had diminished until the latter before the outbreak of the coal strike had reached the lowest point ever touched in the United Kingdom.

WE CAN NEVER BECOME ONE RACE SAYS ARCHBISHOP BRUCHESI

Montreal, April 2.—It is the opinion of Archbishop Bruchesi that a halt must be called to the religious and race difficulties which beset at least two great Provinces of the Confederation. When seen to-day he said he had concluded that the saying, "a house divided against itself cannot stand" is applicable to-day in the case of Canada as it was in another sense two thousand years ago.

"Why," he asked, "cannot this Dominion be administered just as harmoniously as one of the great banks, industrial or commercial institutions, where we see men of all nationalities and creeds sitting side by side and governing the corporation in question to the advantage of the shareholders?"

Mgr. Bruchesi believes, in fact, that the time is at hand for a greater display of mutual goodwill between the different groups making up the population of the Dominion.

"My race cannot dream of absorbing yours, neither can my good English friends wipe out French-Canadian mothers or motherhood. Hence the absolute necessity to unite upon questions of national interest and strive as one family to make Canada what the fathers of Confederation intended it to be, a rich and powerful adjunct to that Empire of which I am just as proud as any Anglo-Saxon.

"We can never become one race," said the Archbishop.

ON CLOSE VOTE ENGLISH MINERS DECIDE THAT THEY STAY OUT

London, April 2.—The English miners, who in the first instance were less willing to strike for the principle of a minimum wage than their Welsh and Scotch comrades, are now [illegible] work. The Welshmen, who were the backbone of the original strike, are now voting strongly in favor of returning to the pits.

This change of opinion among the miners themselves has upset all calculations, and, although the public and the leaders of the miners are still hopeful that the final result of the voting will be in favor of calling off the strike, the majority either way promises to be only a narrow one.

The Estimates Differ.

Various estimates of the votes thus far polled have been published, and from these it appears that about 200,000 returns have come in. The [illegible] against is not known, and estimates of the number of men who have voted for or against resumption vary greatly. In some cases it is declared that majority in favor of resumption is nearly 10,000 while in others a majority of 2,500 against returning to the pits is given. The official count will be made by the executive committee of the Miners' Federation tomorrow.

GIRL AND MOTHER ACCUSED DAUGHTER TOOK BLAME

Toronto, April 2.—Mother and daughter, Elizabeth and Caroline Young, stood side by side in the prisoners' dock at the police court today charged with theft of personal effects from two lodgers in their boarding house at 64½ Hayter street. The girl, young and well dressed, was calm, and admitted her guilt, while the mother broke into tears and denied all knowledge of the theft.

"Mrs. Young was wearing some of the rings when I made the arrest," offered Detective Strohm.

"Then I gave them to her," the girl interrupted, "Mother knew nothing of the stealing."

One ring is valued at $100, the others are of lesser value. The case was remanded until the 10th, the elder woman being allowed bail at $400.

TWELTH PARLIAMENT ENDED SMALL ATTENDANCE PRESENT

Ottawa, April 2.—With a trace of new snow on the ground, fast melting into water, and with a characteristic tang of the March wind in the air, although it was April 1, Parliament Hill was the mecca of hundreds of citizens of Ottawa this afternoon, when the first session of the twelfth Parliament of Canada was prorogued by His Royal Highness, the Governor-General with the usual State ceremonies.

The attendance of members and Senators was very slim, many of them having gone home on Saturday and last night, but their absence was compensated for by the attendance of a large number of ladies, who came to see not only the Duchess of Connaught, but also the Princess Patricia who was not present at the opening. The women were in walking dress and the spectacle was therefore not as brilliant as the opening on November 16, but still even the outdoor costumes added a dash of color to the proceedings in the Senate, which was quite attractive.

His Royal Highness the Governor-General came up in the usual style, and proceeded to the Senate Chamber, where, the Commons having been summoned, H.R.H. was pleased to close the session with a speech, in which he referred in happy terms to the boundary bills and other measures.

Two Bills Dropped.

Ottawa, April 1.—The Cabinet in council this afternoon decided not to accept the Senate Amendments to the Tariff Board bill, and the Highways bill, which means that neither of these measures go through this session, but the Grain bill goes through.

The Senate's amendment to the Tariff Board bill provides that where an increase in the tariff is recommended there shall be a special report on all the industries affected. On the Highways bill it asks that distribution be specifically on the basis of population.

GREAT BRITAIN'S UNCROWNED KINGS

It was only last autumn that Mr. William L. Cary disposed of his island kingdom, the Calf of Man, to a Huddersfield manufacturer for $100,000. Under a grant of the island from the Crown in the days of Queen Elizabeth, the Calf of Man was declared to be forever free from taxation. No one can land, and, above all, live, on the island without the consent of the owner. It is in every sense of the word a strictly private estate, and laid out as such. The only objection to this little kingdom in the Irish Sea is that but a small part of it is cultivated, and the whole of it is overrun with rabbits and rats, which, strange to relate, like Manx cats, are tailless. Mr. Cary's father lived there for many years, leading a very retired life. He was a man of most scholarly attainments, immersed in study, devoted to his books, and allowed years to go by without so much as visiting the neighboring kingdom, the Isle of Man. His son and successor emigrated as a boy to the United States, and, after serving behind the counter in some of the big stores, started a business of his own in California, which proved so successful that in a few years he amassed quite a fortune. He developed, however, a taste for American life which totally unfitted him for the quiet, secluded existence which his father had lived on the island, and it was for this reason that, after holding it for ten years, he sold it.

Bardsey Island

Out in the waters of Cardigan Bay, off the coast of Carnarvon, is Bardsey Island, a small slip of land two miles long, covering an area of 444 acres. Here reigns the Hon. Frederick G. Wynn, who is acknowledged chief by the inhabitants, numbering less than 200 all told. The island figured largely in the early religious history of the country. Tradition has it that no less than 20,000 "saints" were buried there. That the story has at least some substance of truth is proved by the immense number of human bones and antique remains which have been unearthed in every part of the isle. The name "Bardsey" was bestowed upon the island by the Saxons, probably on account of its having formed a refuge to the Bards. Thither fled a great number of these monks, who escaped the general massacre by the Saxons under the Northumbrian Prince Ethelfrith, the Bernician conqueror. Of the monastery built here, as early as the sixth century, only the shell of a ruined tower remains.

Island of Lambay

Just north of Howth, in Dublin Bay, lies the Island of Lambay. Formerly it was the property of the Archbishops of Dublin, [illegible] brother, Lord Revelstoke. The island is a small one, barely three miles in circumference, and, although scarcely four miles from the coast, is curiously isolated when one considers its proximity to the capital of the Green Isle. It is only occasionally that any of the frequent excursion steamers from Dublin touch at Lambay. The cliffs which go to make up the greater part of the coastline are exceptionally fine, and rise to a considerable height.

Lambay Castle, the residence of the owner, is an interesting old building of some historic note, from the fact that Archbishop Usher, a staunch adherent to Charles I., took refuge in the house on one occasion when his life was endangered. Some declare that it was on Lambay that St. Patrick first landed in Ireland, and that he built his first church there; while others aver that the old church ruins on the island are those of a sacred edifice founded by St. Columba.

Inishmurray

Another island kingdom in Irish waters is Inishmurray, in Sligo Bay. It has been owned for two hundred years by a family of the name of Waters. The late Michael Waters, the father of the present proprietor, was a great character, and known throughout Ireland. Although his kingdom was small and his subjects few, he ruled without difficulty over a community which knew no law but his will, and who devoted themselves to farming, fishing, and to the manufacture of illicit but excellent whiskey. The island boasts of the most interesting remains of early monastic architecture to be found in Ireland. St. Mulacuis, a disciple of St. Patrick having established a monastery there, his wooden representation being still preserved in the oratory. Among the oddities of the island is the fact that there is one graveyard for the women, and another, some distance off, for the men. The islanders firmly believe that no male could rest content in the female burying-ground, and that any attempt to inter him there would result in the unrest of his spirit and in ghostly wanderings.

ONE TO THE PRIME MINISTER

Mr. Asquith, the Prime Minister, is in these days regarded as such a particularly solemn gentleman that the following anecdote is interesting:

Long years ago he attended a small preparatory school for boys, the principal of which was a learned clergyman, and a strict grammarian.

One night, after ten o'clock, when all the boys should have been in bed he was passing silently along the corridor when he heard sounds of revelry from a darkened dormitory.

He rapped on the door. Silence within. Then:

"Who's there?" called out the future Premier.

"It's me—the principal. Open the door!"

"Ha, ha, ha-a-a!" answered young Asquith. "If it were the principal he would say, 'It is I.'"

Seeing the force of this argument the schoolmaster passed on.

NELLIE'S DEATH.

Scene: The bar of a public-house. Enter poor woman, weeping bitterly.

"My poor little Nellie has just been run over and killed," she moaned.

They were only hard-working men and their hearts were touched, and soon a hat was being passed round the bar for the afflicted woman's benefit.

"Five years," she answered; and then paralysed them all with: "And I've had her ever since she was a kitten."

VALUE OF ATHLETICS

Dr. Barton, University Physical Director Defends Good Sport

Writing of the value of athletics in the last issue of Varsity, Dr. J. W. Barton, physical director of the University of Toronto, says:—

It may be news to many of the staff and students to learn that at the University of Toronto we have more students engaged in interfaculty contests than any other university on the continent. One has only to think of the Jennings Cup series, track, soccer and tennis competitions to at once realize that while we are still far from our ideal—that is, that every student shall be engaged in some form of athletics—yet we are far away from allowing a few men to do our athletics for us.

But the main point I wish to emphasize is, that many might gather that athletics are simply recreation, and should be treated as such. If this were all they might still be worth while, but your humble servant would be engaged in some other occupation. But to those who really know their value, this "recreation" pales into insignificance beside those other things of tremendous import to the life of the man engaged in athletics.

I know this from an experience of eighteen years as a teacher of athletics, and as a physician who secures his knowledge, subjective and objective, in the examining-room as the students stand stripped before me. It is this knowledge that makes one realise what an integral part of a university course are the athletics. And this knowledge is shared by men of affairs.

At the risk of repeating myself, I have only to quote William Michaels, in Moody's Magazine. In describing the different classes of men accepted as risk by bonding and surety companies, he makes this statement:—

"You are a college man? Or you are not? Well it makes little difference, speaking broadly, with the surety people, so far as your honesty is concerned. But you were an athlete at college? A point in your favor."

Now, think of that a moment. A college man, with a surety company is not considered a better risk than a man who never attended college. But the college man who has engaged in athletics has proven to be a better risk.

If I were a professor I believe I would ponder over this late statement and give athletics a place in the curriculum as an integral part of a student's training.

IMAGINES HE IS AT GAME COACHES AND ROOTS

Edward Ashenbach, last year manager of the Syracuse baseball team of the New York State League, and at one time manager of the St. Paul, Minn. Association team, was committed to a detention hospital by Probate Judge Luxers of Cincinnati. Ashenbach returned to Cincinnati at the end of last [illegible] the Cincinnati Club of the National League. He suffers the hallucination that he is constantly at a ball game, and continually cheers for the home team and coaches the players.

A WONDERFUL LEAP

Remarkable Performance of Lars Haughen on Skis

Lars Haughen of the North Star Ski Club of Chippewa Falls, Wis., and brother of Anders Haughen, formerly champion professional ski runner of America, won the professional championship of the National Ski Tournament at the closing day of the meet at Gary, Ill. He made two jumps of 121 and 123 feet and scored .262 on form.

Haughen's leaps were negotiated beautifully. Sailing high he cleared all of the rough portion of the hill on both jumps and finished with pretty slides on the flat ground at the foot of the slope.

THE BLACKS BY THEMSELVES

All men are equal on the turf, except in South Carolina, if they are black men. The colored brother is not allowed to speculate in company with whites at the Charleston meeting, and the bookmaking arrangements provide a separate enclosure for him.

WHERE PROS. ARE NUMEROUS

No wonder they have champion oarsmen in Australia. The professionals are sufficiently numerous there to justify the formation of a professional scullers' league. The organization meeting was attended by three ex-champions of the world—William Beach George Towns and Peter Kemp—besides many other lesser lights. It does not always work out that way, though. England has a hundred entries in a professional handicap, but only one man approaching the first class.

WOMAN'S DRESS CENTURIES AGO

Modern Garb Not as Absurd as It Was in the Elizabethan Century

[illegible] of our modern fashions [illegible] cannot equal in absurdity [illegible] century ago.

[illegible] 1794, the heavy tax [illegible] upon hair-powder [illegible] wigs into disuse [illegible] being forced to wear [illegible] hair adopted a hundred [illegible] modes of dressing [illegible] most ridiculous was [illegible] very enormous feathers [illegible] feathers were so high [illegible] possible to wear them [illegible] tops, and The [illegible] caustically upon an accident [illegible] that "a young lady, only [illegible], was overset yesterday in a [illegible] of wind, and the upper mast of her feather blown upon Hampstead."

At [illegible], the distinguishing characteristic of the dress for nearly twenty years was the high waist—so high [illegible] were made all in one. The [illegible] ves, merely shoulder [illegible] embroidered, while a [illegible] was donned when [illegible] out of doors. In 1801 the scanty skirts became a little fuller, but the next year they were scantier than before and very short. The [illegible] or Roman style of hair dressing had come in and many women had their hair cut close to the head. With arms and neck bare, skirts reaching only half way below the knee, and short hair, the fashionable dames must have cut a sorry figure.

Immediately upon the heels of this Roman mania came a reaction in favor of Stuart [illegible] and caps, and sleeves suddenly [illegible] so long as to completely [illegible] the hands. The famous Spencer made its debut, and the Capote [illegible], Queen Charlotte's favorite [illegible] became very popular. It was like a man's coat, having a velvet collar. [illegible] passion for imitating man's dress then burst forth. A portrait of a [illegible] of this period in driving dress is [illegible] of the follies committed in the name of fashion. She is wearing a [illegible] coat and cape, a round white [illegible], a white cravat, and Hessian [illegible] coat is open, showing the [illegible] beneath—a cambric dress [illegible] at the neck as our evening [illegible] and fitting close to the body [illegible] fullness in such a manner as to [illegible] the lines of the figure. At [illegible] time the thin gowns were even [illegible] in order that they should cling more closely to their wearers as they dried, and the lighter the clothing the more it was admired.

In 18[illegible] the turban came into prominence. It was a curiously shaped cap, fitting closely over the forehead, over which was wound many yards of silk of eastern manufacture. A jewelled [illegible] feather was negligently placed amongst the folds.

About [illegible] brocades, silks, and satins [illegible] daily use, and dresses [illegible] In [illegible] gigot sleeves made [illegible] so large as to require almost as much material as the dress itself.

The first bonnets came into style about 18[illegible]. They completely enshrouded the face, being tied with broad ribbons under the chin. Then they became enormously large, covered with tufts of marabout feathers, and well meriting the name "majestic monuments of millinery." The hair, too, was massively arranged, interwoven with ribbons, and of a fantastic height. After this phase came the hideous mode of straining the hair away from the face so tightly that it was impossible to close one's eyes, whilst a long ringlet fell down the sides of the face, corresponding in size to the pendant earrings then worn.

In the matter of colors our grandmothers were totally ignorant of the "art shades." Primary colors in all their crudity were the delight of their hearts, and greens and yellows of aggressive density were worn together, read feathers sometimes being added to these. The more inharmonious the whole effect, the greater the success of the costume. Naturally, a vulgar display of jewellery accompanied the lack of taste in color. For nearly fifty years the topaz was the favorite precious stone.

"Oblivion is not to be hired"; yet from the annals of our ancestresses women may learn much—among other things, the real proportion of dress in everyday life, and the ludicrous folly of excess therein.—Amelia Sedley.

PIVOT OF THE HOUSEHOLD

Make Home Attractive for the Boys and Girls

It is a most common complaint amongst parents that their children, as soon as they arrive at years of independence, drift away from their homes, or that the boys and girls never seem to be happy at home, but always want to be out. They usually blame the children for lack of parental affection instead of turning their thoughts inward to solve the problem. It never seems to occur to some parents that they have not made such a pleasant place that their children find their greatest happiness within it. Young people of both sexes have a great natural craving for happiness and recreation, but they are too often sacrificed at the altar of parental comfort.

The idea that the comfort of the parents is the pivot on which the household should revolve has been the cause of more discontented and restless sons and daughters than anything else, and has led to many hasty, ill-considered youthful marriages.—Mrs. Bull.

A USEFUL HINT

When beating eggs, if a whisk is not handy, try using three forks instead of one. They are just as easy to hold as one, and the eggs can be beaten in about a third of the time.

A Bad Conflagration at Bensfort. Mr. James Lackey, of Bensfort, was a loser by fire last Saturday, to the extent of $800 worth of furniture. The house occupied by Mr. Lackey caught fire Saturday evening. The house was an old-fashioned log structure and burned so quickly the occupants had quick work to escape. The building was burned to the ground. It was valued at about $1000 and insured. Mr. Harry Wood was the owner.

CLEANING FURNITURE

How to Keep in Order the Upholstered Variety

The cleansing of upholstered furniture has ever been a source of work and worry to the housewife, and anything that comes as a help in this phase of her daily grind is welcomed with a sigh of relief and with a spirit of thankfulness.

The expedient of a dampened cloth and a carpet beater is one of the more recent ideas, and while it acts as a vacuum cleaner, it has none of its expenses.

This is a proceeding that can be attended to without fearing damage to the upholstery, and at the same time it keeps all dust from arising and covering other articles of furniture in the room, as well as spreading on the draperies.

Take a cloth which has been made from a piece of old sheeting, which will be lintless, and moisten it very slightly—too much water is as bad as none for it will soil tapestry. Lay this on the article that you are going to clean, and beat with a carpet beater or a thin switch.

As the dust arises it will adhere to the cloth, therefore it should be changed quite often.

Do not beat too violently, as a slow, steady tapping will not spring the buttons or tacks, or loosen any of the cords of the upholstering, while too strong beating will disorganize the whole structure, thus causing destruction instead of accomplishing a cleaning.

The woodwork on upholstered furniture is generally of the varnished variety. To keep this spotless, rub it once a week with furniture oil, which is composed of one part of bensine and two parts of crude oil.

DAINTY EMBROIDERED COSTUME

A panel back effect with the modish sailor collar is illustrated in the sketch shown to-day, and presents the rather unusual feature of a dainty design in embroidery, outlining the panel and collar. The effect is exceedingly attractive on cream batiste, with the dainty design in blue and pink flowers and pale green leaves. The embroidery is also carried about the cuffs and the deep side border of the skirt.

HOW TO WALK

An artist has lately been complaining that his chief objection to fashionable dress is that it reveals so completely the inability of the average Englishwoman to walk well. He says that most of us either slouch or strut, and he gives the following instructions on "how to walk":—

"The head should not be held erect as if by effort—a woman should not look like a soldier on parade. The steps should not be jerky—however quick, they should be 'smooth.' The movement should be from the hips and the knees bent as little as possible. A slight—a very slight—bend forward is graceful, if the walker be tall and slim. The arms should not swing noticeably, but should hang freely—elbow should be unobservable. The feet should turn out slightly, and walking should appear to be done chiefly on the toes—the heel down first, style is unpardonable. But the chief feature and charms of a good carriage are its seemingly leisureliness, the absence of 'strut' and 'slouch,' and a certain air of unconscious grace."

The same critic recommends daily practice in front of a full-length mirror—exercises to be taken preferably in cycling knickers, as the movements of the limbs can then be better studied.

TO REMOVE STAINS

Coffee or cream stains may be removed from delicate silk or woollen fabrics by first of all brushing the stains with glycerine, and then well rinsing them in luke-warm water. But the stain should not be allowed to dry in. Later, press the material on the wrong side with a warm iron.

TO POLISH LINOLEUM

The following mixture is excellent for polishing linoleum: Mix together one gill of methylated spirit and one ounce of shellac. Let the shellac thoroughly dissolve, and then apply with a soft flannel. The polish will remain on the linoleum even after it has been washed.

Natural Increase in this Country.

The Ontario Legislature has just issued a blue book on the births, deaths and marriages for 1911. By a comparison of births and deaths in the County of Peterborough for the ten years, 1901 to 1911, one can see a fair natural increase in the County. In 1901, there were 728 births and 460 deaths, in 1910 there were 980 births, and 569 deaths.

FEATHER GARMENTS

Make Their Reappearance in Quite an Original Way.

An interesting novelty is to be the substitution of feather garments in the place of furs. This does not mean a mere revival of the long-discarded feather boa and muff. Feathers are to make their reappearance in quite an original way. "Long feather stoles will be worn," a West End Modiste says, "and they will be composed of such myriads as tiny, uncurled feathers that in the case of black or white stoles they could easily be mistaken for the most exquisite skins.

"There will be large pillow-shaped muffs to match, and in Paris some coats and jackets of similarly 'materialised' feathers will be seen.

"Another striking innovation is that the spring feathers will be obtainable in every conceivable shade, so that a pink, blue, or green muff will be no unusual sight.

"Furs, of course, do not afford a very large choice of colour, and this is an advantage which the feathers will offer.

"Soft, downy trimming is to be used a good deal on evening dresses and, to some extent, also on costumes.

"The new fashion will doubtless be appreciated by most women as forming a transition between the heavy furs required for mid-winter and the lighter garments of the early summer."

THE GROWTH OF CANADA

Industrial Awakening in the East Brings Expansion to Many Industries

Canada, with its seven millions odd of population, already has a home market for her agriculture and manufactures of one-fifth of that of the United Kingdom. When we come to think that the United Kingdom imports her food supplies from all over the world, and that the foodstuffs that Canada sends her is but a drop in the busket, it will be realised that Canadian agriculturists have already, in their own home market, by far their greatest source of wealth.

The purely consuming class—the urban and industrial class—is far greater in Canada than is generally supposed. For instance, the recent census, which places our total population at just over seven millions, shows that two and a half millions of this population, or considerably more than one-third, are residents of towns and cities of over 4000 population. An absolutely protected market of two and a half millions of towns people—which, after all is only a portion of the consuming class of Canada—is an asset of no mean importance to the agriculturists of the Dominion.

Another noteworthy fact shown by the census is, that although the agricultural population of Western Canada has been increasing at a reasonable rate, the agricultural population in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—taking these as a unit—has remained stationary. Yet, despite the the fact that the agricultural classes of this Eastern part of Canada have not increased, the census shows that of the increase of 1,710,534 in the population of Canada during the past ten years, over one-fifth, namely 375,766, has to be accredited to Quebec Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Practically all this increase in the East has been in the urban or consuming population comprised in 32 large towns, which between them shown an increase in population of 316,092.

Now this remarkable increase in the industrial population of Eastern Canada, which has afforded a proportionate increase in the market for the agriculturalists of the Dominion, as well as magnificent opportunities for such of their sons as are fitted by natural endowments for industrial careers has largely taken place during the last five years, as is indicated by the fact that according to the Government census of manufacturers in 1905, the number of industrial employes in Quebec had only increased by 6000 since 1900, in New Brunswick by 2,000 and in Nova Scotia by [illegible] population which these three Eastern provinces show, therefore, must have [illegible]

As a matter of fact, a great industrial awakening is taking place in the East. The secret of this awakening is that capitalists have suddenly discovered the industrial resources of these provinces. Money is pouring in, in a flood from Great Britain, from the United States, and from Germany and France for the industrial development of Eastern Canada. Great steel and coal industries are being built up on the very shores of the Atlantic Ocean, and during the past five years these industries have begun to compete in the markets of the world.

Great pulp and paper manufactories are springing up in New Brunswick and Quebec, and already are exporting their products to all parts of the world. Great mining industries are being established all over the East, and Quebec, whose mining resources have remained almost untouched while those of Ontario have been developing, has now entered into the van of progress, a result of a complete revision of her mining laws. These are only a few of the great basic industries. Hundreds of others are following in their wake. The East, in fact, is taking the place that Nature has fitted her to take—that of a great manufacturing country.

The phenomenal progress of some of the larger cities of the East, and notably of Montreal, is well known. But without instancing any of the larger cities, a few examples of lesser known places will illustrate the general progress. Victoriaville, Que., with electrical power from Shawinigan Falls, increased her manufactured products from $274,000 in 1901 to $500,000 in 1906. Three Rivers, Que., with power from natural gas, has increased from [illegible] to 14,000 in population. Fraserville, on the shores of the St. Lawrence, with unlimited timber at its back, increased its manufactured products from $276,874 in 1906 to $[illegible],000 in 1909. Joliette, Que., with power from Shawinigan Falls, increased its manufactured products from $719,382 in 1906 to over $1,000,000 in 1909. Buckingham, Que., with natural resources of lumber, phosphate, plumbago, and mica, increased its manufactured products from $265,950 to $800,000 in 1905.

As far back as 1905—really before the great industrial awakening had begun—over $70,000,000 per annum was being paid out in wages in the factories of Quebec, Nova Scotia, and the Maritime Provinces. Since then amount has more than doubled. In other words the amount paid out in wages in these provinces, during the past year, must equal an amount sufficient to pay for a wheat crop of [illegible] million bushels at $1 per bushel.

Considering that factory employees only form a portion of the urban population, it will be seen that the consuming population of the East is a big factor in the well-being of the Dominion as a whole, and presents as it were, a view of the future for such provinces as Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia whose vast resources, now dormant must inevitably attract and concentrate the industrial classes of the world.

THE FIRST CARPET-MAKING

Carpet-making, as a modern industry, was first developed in France. That country had large factories and a monopoly in Europe of the art of carpet weaving when a rush-strewn floor was the rule even in the Royal palaces of Britain. But the edict of Nantes, that great disperser of French artisans and artitry, caused many of the carpet craftsmen to cross the Channel. They settled at Bristol, Axminster, and other places in the southwest of England. From there the secrets of the industry spread to Glasgow, Kidderminster, and the towns of Yorkshire. These places are still the great carpet-weaving centres of Great Britain.

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

A small block of the stock is offered for public subscription at 10c per share.

Poultry Pointers

George Hansmann, a poulterer of Hillsboro, N.D., gives the following good advice:—

A cornsheller is not essential. The hens will do their own shelling if you throw out the ears in short, broken pieces.

Let the fowls have as wide range as possible, but if they must be confined, give them plenty of shade and dig up the ground frequently.

Young geese do not lay as many fertile eggs or produce as many goslings in the first breeding season as they do in the second.

Fresh air and sunshine are the best disinfectants that the poultry-raiser has at his disposal, and ought to be more often used in his work.

A plat of ground 50 feet square divided into two lots will be ample accommodation for 25 fowls. Confine them in one lot for a week at a time, meanwhile spading up the other.

The well-hatched chicks in the carefully-cared for brooder will amount to little unless the food is supplied in proper amounts and at right intervals.

More harm results to flocks during the summer months than at any other time owing to the neglect of their owners, not keeping the house and bodies of the birds clean.

Prices of grain feeds are high, and the poultryman must watch his feeding closely. Feeding has become a science, and costs are now figured to fractions of a cent.

Always handle ducks and geese by their necks and never by the legs, as fowls are handled, for their limbs are not strong enough to serve as handles.

A poulterer can well afford to pay one cent per quart for skim-milk. Feed quantities of whole milk and you will find it pays.

ELECTRICITY ON FARMS

Labor Will Be Trifling—Nothing to Do But Turn on Current

In these days when the metropolitan city may be described as a great electrical laboratory and consuming station, it should not be overlooked that the farm itself is coming in for its share of this universal source of power.

There are many ways through which the farm that can afford the use of the electric current may have it for the trouble of installation. Some near by inter-urban electric line may have its surplus current for sale; some stream close at hand may have a gravity waterfall to develop electricity sufficient for half a dozen farms; or the gasoline engine in connection with a dynamo is within comparatively easy reach of the prosperous farmer who discovers that to keep his boys on the farm—or even to make certain that his hired help will stay with him through the season—it is up to him to lighten those old drudgeries of [illegible] years ago.

WOMEN STEEPLEJACKS

Instances of Where They Have Climbed to Perilous Heights

Lady Constance Foljambe, whose failure to put in an appearance at St. Peter's, Eaton Square, where she was due to be married to the vicar of Whitwell-on-the-Hill, Yorkshire, created such a sensation, is an intrepid steeple-climber. In September, 1909, she, accompanied by two lady friends, climbed the spire of W[illegible] Church which was then undergoing repair.

In order to take some unique photographs, the sale of which was for the benefit of the church funds, the daughter of a well-known Leicester steeplejack accomplished the hazardous feat of climbing the steeple of St. Mary's Church, which is 200 feet high. When at the top she daringly walked round the narrow, unprotected staging where she took some fine views.

The steeple of All Saints', Hertford, which rises to the height of 260 feet, was two years back the scene of a daring exploit on the part of the pastor of the daughter of one of the churchwardens. Accompanied by the professional steeplejack who was engaged upon some repairs, she ascended to the summit, the feat being watched by an immense crowd of townsfolk and farmers from the neighboring villages and towns, who had come into the town to attend the Wednesday market.

Equally daring was a Stoke Newington lady, who, in February 1[illegible] scaled the spire of St. Mary's Church, the summit of which is 245 feet above the pavement. The last part of the journey was especially dangerous as it had to be accomplished by means of a couple of unprotected ladders leading directly to the weathercock, which the lady, to signalize the achievement of her task, sent spinning round.

In 1751, shortly before it was rebuilt, the spire of St. Mary's Church, Leicester, was ascended by a steeplejack named Wright, accompanied by his wife, as expert a climber as himself. The woman, dressed for the occasion in male attire, rendered her husband efficient assistance in the repairs that he had in hand, and so greatly was her pluck admired that a number of the townsmen entertained her to a supper at the principal inn, when she was presented with a purse containing five guineas.

Two years later this same woman undertook, in the absence of her husband through illness, to ascend the spire of Trinity Church, Coventry, which stood in need of slight repair. She accomplished her task to the entire satisfaction of her employers. In more recent years the wife of a Bradford steeplejack has not only frequently accompanied her husband on his ascents, but at times has, unaided, completed work which he had in hand. She owed her ability to her father, who, himself a steeplejack, had taught her to climb from early girlhood.

During the rebuilding of the [illegible] of Wakefield Cathedral, in the [illegible] years of the eighteenth century, a woman disguised in male attire [illegible] among the most [illegible] of the [illegible]ers, ascending to perilous heights and positions with the utmost intrepidity. Having met with an accident, her sex [illegible] and she was claimed by her relations, well-to-do people, whom, in the pure spirit of adventure, she had left in utter ignorance as to her whereabouts.

Mme. Saqui, the funambulist, whose performance at Vauxhall drew all the town, made, in 1812, an ascent of the church spire at Harfleur. Her feat would seem to have partaken of the nature of "steeple-flying," for having successfully made her way to the summit, where she beat a drum and blew a trumpet which she had taken up with her, she descended by gliding down a rope to the street below.

Suggestions from Paris

In reading some of the latest Paris fashion books I see that the skirt is to be just a bit wider, not enough, however, to make your last season's suit look out of date. The skirts will be cut straight; that is to say, will not be narrower around the ankles than at the knees, as was the case last season.

The position of the waist line has not changed, nor is it likely to, as the slightly raised waist line gives too good a line to nearly all figures for it to become obsolete. In other cases the natural waist line is better. One must, of course, study one's own figure and adopt what style is best suited to show one's figure to advantage.

In regard to the sleeves for the spring one well-known French house shows the separate sleeve in simple tailored dresses and the kimono sleeve in the more dressy gowns and evening blouses. Another Paris house says that the separate sleeve is certainly newer, but that the unbroken line of a pretty shoulder is more graceful. One style is just as good as another this year and so have what style suits you best.

For the spring dresses the sleeves are to be short for day and afternoon gowns, but the most popular length is just over the elbow.

The French or Dutch neck will be as popular as in the past few seasons and worn by those who have pretty and plump necks it is a most becoming style, but for the woman whose neck is long and thin it is a style to be avoided as it makes her look older and thinner.

Silks of all kinds are to be used in the gowns for all times of the day from tennis and golf dresses to evening gowns. There can be nothing prettier than a soft white silk dress made in simple lines in which to play tennis in, and so comfortable.

The very beautiful new silk called broche is a brocade in weave, but not in color, and is made in some very rich and beautiful tones. Jane Dare.

A MOTHER'S CARES DESTRUCTIVE TO HEALTH

ANAEMIA, BAD BLOOD, HEADACHES, AND LASSITUDE — VERY COMMON.

Mrs. Wilkinson's Letter Gives Advice That Every Mother Can Well Follow.

From her home in Newton where she resides with her large family, Mrs. Wilkinson writes: "For years I was pale, anaemic and lacking in vitality. I was a constant sufferer from indigestion, and the distress and pain it caused me, coupled with ever-increasing anaemia, made me weaker day by day. Constant headaches, specks before the eyes and attacks of dizziness made me feel as if life were not worth living. My constitution was completely undermined and the constant pallor and dullness in my eyes showed what a sick woman I was. I began to take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the [illegible] although slow, was sure.

"I gradually got back my strength and my appetite grew much stronger, and I enjoyed my meals thoroughly. I felt happier and more contented and the sickly pallor of my face was replaced by a bright, rosy color, which proved that a strong medicine was at work. In a few months Dr. Hamilton's Pills brought me from a condition of deathly pallor to robust health."

SYNDICALISM.

Our [illegible] contemporary in discussing [illegible] difficulties between capital and labor, refers to the word "Syndicalism." The [illegible] to etymology was lately coined for a new variety of the Labor party. It is a somewhat difficult matter to state exactly what is meant by syndicalism. It is akin to both socialism and anarchism. It does not believe in government action when there is a dispute between capital and labor. The universal strike is its acknowledged weapon for bringing capitalists to time. It is working also to bring about shorter hours of labor so that in order to accomplish the same amount of work more men must be employed; but it will not submit to have the wages lowered even though the working day should be reduced to four hours instead of nine or ten—syndicalism also believes that society owes every man a living. Syndicalism first came to the front in France whence it spread to England.

There are some aspects of syndicalism which are commendable. There is no doubt of the fact that the machinery now in use ought to enable us to provide every one with all the necessities and luxuries of life without working as many hours as men now have to do. One man with modern machinery can now do as much work as ten men could a century ago; but the hours have not been proportionately reduced, one reason for that being that people are using more of everything than they did a century ago and are living more luxuriously. What satisfied the ordinary merchant in his home [illegible] is not any better than what his clerk has to-day. [illegible] the increased demand is proportionately less than the increased production and for that reason the hours of the working day should be reduced in number.

There is a danger that syndicalism involves the idea of a conspiracy in restraint of trade. If that is the case then the government should take action to suppress that illegal aspect of the new "ism." Society may owe to every man a living, but there are legal means of getting that living; syndicalism might lead to the adoption of illegal means and in so far as it tends in that direction it is dangerous and should be suppressed.

COMPULSION IS DOUBTFUL.

The multitude of disputes between capital and labor lead many to urge that the solution of those troubles is found in the plan of compulsory arbitration. It is argued that the employer should be forbidden to lock out men until he has first made application to the arbitration board to interfere. On the other hand, it would be equally incumbent that the employe should be under control of the law and be compelled to appeal for arbitration before he would be at liberty to strike. Such are some of the fundamentals of the problem. The employe on that plan must also be organized in such a way that the law would reach the organization and control it.

Perhaps it is not sufficiently considered by those who advocate this plan that it has been tried in New Zealand especially and has been found something of a failure in a country where public opinion is so prone to every sort of experiment that it would seem to succeed there if anywhere.

It may be said that the alternative to arbitration is force, that is, the police set to maintain order when there is trouble between the employer and employe. Thus far in the history of American labor we have not proceeded beyond that point. To insist upon compulsory arbitration, however, as a solution of the whole difficulty is to appeal to policy which as far as it has been tried, proves to be of little avail.

In England the Parliament has resorted of late to a policy that broke down in the middle ages, a policy, that is, of fixing a minimum wage. Every sort of scheme has been tried and none ever yet has proved satisfactory to all concerned. Any system would probably work if it were satisfactory to the people, but in a free country nothing seems possible to be devised that shall meet all conditions and satisfy majorities, to say nothing of minor portions of the population.

It does not appear as if any settlement of the warfare between capital and labor is in sight. The I. W. W., which instigated the recent strike at Lawrence, Mass., has declared war upon capital and its plan to destroy the capital side of industry. That is the expressed purpose of the founders and promoters of that movement, but very few yet believe that the solution of labor questions is to be found in that way.

Editorial Notes

A Calgary paper gives a list of whom it considers the "Ten Greatest Women", as follows: Queen Victoria, Queen Elizabeth, Madame Curie, Eva Tanquay, George Eliot, Lucretia Borgia, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Ethel Le Neve, Joan of Arc, Leta Long. This may be meant as a joke. If so, it's an almighty poor one.

The summer cottage of Mr. J. Wardrobe, situated at Rosedale, was broken into a short while ago, and his complete stock of preserved fruit stolen. A thief or burglar who will break into a house to steal jam, should resign his job and take one where he would have a little push cart and go round the streets gathering up scraps of paper, and other refuse.

Admiral Kingsmill suggests that lantern slides and lectures illustrating navy conditions be employed to stimulate popular interest in the Canadian naval service. This is a brilliant idea. The Canadian navy would just suit the limitations of a magic lantern. With a line of sentimental songs, such as "The Anchor's Weighed," and "My Jack Gets Drunk To-day," quite a bunch of bright young men might be weaned from the farm and started on a life on the ocean wave. Oh, certainly, bring on the magic lantern. Eye-opener.

As regards the suffragette movement, whether a legislator believes in it or not, he possibly has a duty to perform in submitting subjects to the State from time to time when they show vitality and increasing favor with the people, in spite of objections based almost wholly on sentiment. There is weight to be attached to sentiment but it is less than the weight attached to such a fact as that in a free country the potent way to be felt seriously and to have influence in the betterment of condition, especially of women's work.

It would be strange if any preparation were neglected by the United States, that ought to be made with a view to intervention in Mexico. Affairs are going from bad to worse in that country. It would be foolish on their part to imitate the Mexican method of dawdling until action was forced on them for the protection of American interests and European too, for that matter. For it is coming to be expected of the nation that holds the Monroe doctrine [illegible] world that it shall uphold the interests of citizens [illegible] part of their mission in the western world. The President is sure to be sustained if he lives up to it.

As many of our bare walls are covered with huge advertisements of a drink called Coca-Cola, it is of interest to learn that the Inland Revenue Department has published a pamphlet concerning said decoction. This says, in part: "In order to determine this point, 68 samples of such syrup were purchased, in different parts of Canada, in October and November last; and these have been subjected to analysis, with the result that no cocaine has been found in any of them. Caffeine has been found in all of them, in amounts varying from 0.15 to 0.72 of a grain per ounce. The average amount is about 0.60 grain per ounce of the syrup. So far as I can learn, this is the usual amount of syrup employed in making a glass of the beverage. The pharmacopoeal dose of caffeine is 1 to 5 grains; so that the quantity present in a glass of Coca-Cola, as supplied at fountains is well within the limit of safety."

As matters of art have recently risen greatly in local interest, it will please many of our readers to note that the Ontario government is considering a bill regarding the Ontario College of Art. The bill reads in part: The word "College" shall mean The Ontario College of Art. There shall be established at the City of Toronto a College of Art to be known as The Ontario College of Art. The purposes of the College shall be the training of students in the fine arts, including drawing, painting, design, modelling, and sculpture, and in all branches of the applied arts in the more artistic trades and manufactures; and, the training of teachers in the fine and applied arts. The control and management of the College shall be vested in a council, which shall be a body corporate by the name of the Council of The Ontario College of Art. The Council shall consist of members to be appointed as follows:—The Art Museum, The Ontario Society of Artists and the Canadian Art Club, The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and the Trades and Labor Council of the city of Toronto, shall each appoint two members; the Senate of the University of Toronto, the Municipal Council of the city of Toronto, the Canadian National Exhibition, the Graphic Arts Society, the Toronto Society of Architects the Ontario Association of Architects, and the Applied Arts Society, shall each appoint one member; and the persons so appointed shall appoint five other persons, none of whom shall be a member of any of the corporations or associations mentioned in clauses (a) and (b), but who are considered by the appointing body, specially interested in art education.

DON'T WASH YOUR HORSE

It Removes the Natural Oil From the Outer Skin

The practice of washing horses, as a rule, is injurious because it removes the natural oil from the outer skin and predisposes the animal to chill, writes a practical man in the Kentucky Stock Farm. The application of water to a horse's skin increases the heat conducting power of his coat and lowers the temperature of the surface by evaporation and also by conduction in the event of the temperature of the water being cooler than that of the skin. Even in the tropics, washing a horse always takes the gloss off his coat, no matter how vigorously the subsequent grooming may be performed. This fact is certainly a strong argument against the practice in question. If it is imperative to wash, and there is not sufficient help to have the horse rubbed dry, without loss of time, we may, after scraping and going over him with two or three dry rubbers, take him out and exercise him at a brisk pace until he gets dry. We should then walk him about until his circulation regains its normal condition before taking him in. If we can not give this exercise, we may, after scraping and driving him, put on him a good supply of warm clothing, bandage his legs, and leave him thus to dry under his rugs, which he will do in an hour or less. He should after that be exercised and well rubbed down, so as to prevent his getting chilled. A good plan for getting horses to dry quickly and safely under clothing is to cover the animal's back and loins with straw before putting on a rug, so as to utilize the low heat conducting power of air and to give as little impediment as possible for the escape of moisture.

CHEAPER CUTS OF MEAT

Butchers should endeavor to correct the impression of customers that only the high-priced meats are valuable as food. On the contrary, the cheaper cuts are often more highly flavored and fully as nutritious.

The chuck is one of the cheapest portions of the beef, but when cooked slowly in a small amount of water either with or without vegetables for seasoning, is a most excellent dish.

In stewing meat, if too high a temperature is used, it will toughen the fibre. Another mistake is to overcook the meat until it falls to shreds. The skirt steak sells for 2 to 3 cents a pound less than the others, but if properly cooked is just as good. Lay the steak on a meat board and score it well with a chopping knife. Then dredge with flour and put it into a smoking hot frying pan that has been greased [illegible] to keep the meat from sticking to it. When well seared over on both sides, pour over it a little [illegible] slowly for two hours. Season to suit the taste. A bit of carrot or onion or bay leaf and a little vinegar to soften the fibre will add to the flavor of the meat.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Wharf and Dredging at Sarnia, Ont.," will be received at this office until 4.00 p.m., on Thursday, April 18, 1912, for the construction of a wharf and Dredging Basin at Sarnia, Lambton County, Ont.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of H. J. Lamb, Esq., District Engineer, Windsor, Ont., J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Sarnia, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

WHAT $10 WILL DO

Somewhere—"sometime"—when you've saved enough for a "start" your dream is to cut loose from the business grind and own something, some property, a something that people MUST have and which you can sell for far more than you paid for it, and thus start on the road to independence.

Now speaking man to man, at your present rate of progress will you ever do it? Not if you let present opportunity slip, and later try to catch up with rising prices. We want to help you, want to show you that you can do all you dreamed of doing, and you'll do it NOW.

It's hard to save, as we all find out, when you haven't a bulls-eye big and black, right in front of you, where you can record each added splash on the target. We have the target for you, the best investment target that is to-day before the public; we refer to the controlling commercial centre of the Peace River Country—namely GROUARD.

Behind it there are millions of acres of Peace River farm lands. RAILROADS ARE BUILDING TO GROUARD. The Canadian Northern Railway, and the Edmonton Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, both with BONDS OF CONSTRUCTION GUARANTEED BY THE ALBERTA GOVERNMENT. Would the railway companies build, would the Government guarantee, if Grouard and the country surrounding it were not important, were not going to make good?

Another Railway Company—The Pacific and Hudson Bay, have taken part of our subdivision for their TERMINALS AT GROUARD, and are under agreement to erect same ON THIS PROPERTY, and no other, in GROUARD.

Think of it: THREE railroads heading for Grouard.

Banks have established at Grouard. Would they be there if no business was to be done? FOLLOW THEIR LEAD IN YOUR INVESTMENTS, AND YOU WILL BENEFIT.

Ten dollars paid down starts you on the road to prosperity. It is all that is required as a first payment on either a business or a residential lot.

Read our easy terms of payment for the balance. Acquire a valuable property and start on the road to independence. If you don't someone else will, and take the profit and benefit.

We cannot say more than that we recommend this property to our friends, and we stand by our recommendation.

Send that $10 attached to the coupon below, signing your name and address, and MAKE YOUR DREAM COME TRUE.

Terms

On Lots costing $75 to $125 are: Cash $10, balance at $5 per month.
On Lots costing $130 to $175 are: Cash $10, balance at $7.50 per month.
On Lots costing $180 to $250 are: Cash $10 balance at $12.50 per month.
On Business Lots over $250 are: Cash $10, balance at $15.00 per month.

AN ARCTIC NIGHT

We were at the foot of Humboldt Glacier when the sun bade us a final adieu for the long winter night, not to appear again for many months to come. As though to leave us with pleasant memory of his visit, his going was in an effulgence of glory, and reluctant to go, he lingered for a little while below the horizon, lighting the sky with a mass of marvellous coloring—red, purple and orange, reaching upward from the white earth into the deep blue of the high heavens. For a time a prolonged twilight remained, but that, too, was presently lost behind the dark curtain that shut from our world all warmth and light.

No words can adequately describe the awful pall of the Arctic night. It is unreal and terrible. Even the moonlight is unnatural, casting on the snow and ice, the wind-swept rocks, and the people themselves, a shade of ghastly, indefinable greenish yellow. Shifting shadows flit among moving ice masses like wraiths of departed spirits. A death-like silence prevails, to be broken only by the startling and unexpected crackling of a glacier with a sound of mighty thunder clap, or the smashing together of great ice floes with a report like heavy cannon.

In spite of one, depression takes possession of the soul—a hopeless kind of unreasoning depression. Intense and severe as the cold may be any active man can stand it without serious suffering, when a little experience teaches how, for that acts only on the physical being, and can be guarded against; but the prolonged sunless night has a direct effect on the human mind which only exercise and diversion can counteract.—From "Hunting From the Eskimos," by Harry Whitney.

Light Water Craft

A Parisian inventor has devised a craft for getting over the water, which is so light and compact that it can be folded up and packed into a box no bigger than an ordinary suit case. The case part unfolds and joins together to form the main framework or hull of the boat, which is of the catamaran order. The two cigar-shaped floats are made of waterproof canvas. When packed up they occupy little space, and when in use they are blown up with a bicycle pump. The framework is fastened between them by means of ribs and straps, and when you have fixed a three-jointed, double-bladed paddle together and put a folding seat in place you are all ready to set out on your marine travels.

PEACE OFFERINGS.

"Bow-wow!" growled the dog.

"Ow-'ow!" howled the butcher's boy.

There was a scramble and a scuffle. But human wit was not equal to canine grit, and in a trice the butcher's boy was pinned up against the wall.

"Help!" he cried.

Help came. It came in the bulky shape of the dog's owner, who hurried out of the house to the scene of battle.

"Naughty little Towser! Down! down!" she exclaimed. "I do hope he hasn't bitten you?"

"No; I've kept him off giving him your meat," replied the lad, tearfully, "but you're just in time to save the beef."

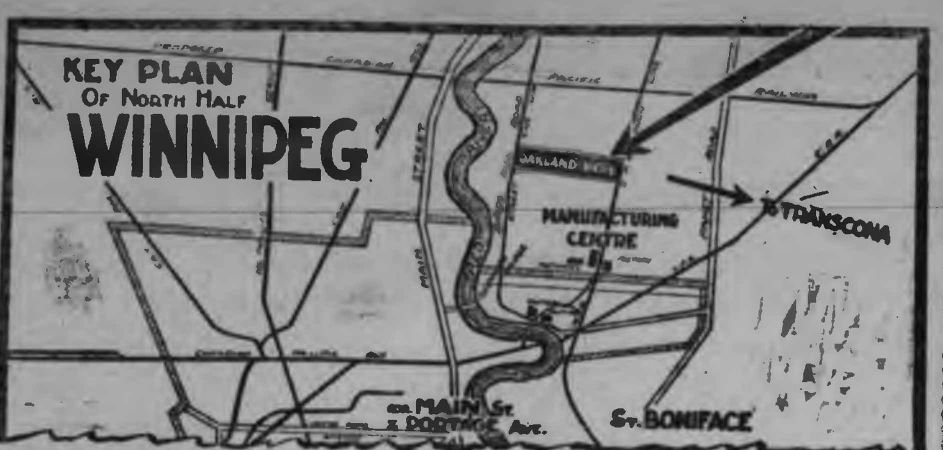
IN WINNIPEG

OAKLAND PARK

has the Right Location for Future VALUE



INDUSTRIAL WINNIPEG is in the beginning of its first big forward step. The city's 60,000 horse power hydro-electric plant, located forty miles north east of Winnipeg, is now in operation, and the year 1912 will see hundreds of new Industries located in Winnipeg.

NORTHEAST of the city is the best and favorite location of present industrial sites. It is in this direction that the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific Railways are spending millions this year in new terminals, five miles beyond the city.

OAKLAND PARK is an ideal residence district for the better class of citizens who will make up the increased industrial army of Winnipeg. East Kildonan in which Oakland Park is located, is the prettiest and most desirable residence section contiguous to the city, and it is close to the industrial center while at the same time removed from its immediate proximity.

GET IN LINE with the growth of a great city—Canada's commercial metropolis of to-morrow. A few dollars invested now in Oakland Park will combine the best kind of profit with absolute safety in investment. Send for Oakland Park literature, or better still, a deposit will secure the reservation of one or two of the best remaining lots in this division.

OAKLAND PARK PRICES $4.00 to $14.00 per Front

Rubbers on the Carpet

Many housekeepers will welcome the suggestions given below by "an extensive traveller. Suppose, however, a woman returning her visits enters ten houses in an afternoon. It would mean that she must put on or take off her rubbers twenty-two times during the afternoon, and her gloves would be ruined in the process. On a reception day a boy or maid would be required for the "rubber office" alone, or else a notice might be put outside: "Kindly use the door-mat before entering." I cite this merely as an example of what might occur. Perhaps some women readers will give their opinion on the subject, for there is a real grievance. The letter is as follows:—

"Some Americans, and especially Canadians, have a habit which, if practiced in Europe, would be considered an insult. I have noticed several times that people who ought to know better will come right from the dirty street into my drawing-room without taking off their rubbers.

"Rubbers and overshoes had better be left in the hall; they were never intended for and are certainly not needed on the parlor rug.

"An Extensive Traveller."

When oilcloth has been down for a few months and is losing the shiny surface, it can be renewed easily and made to last twice as long if treated in the following way. Melt a little ordinary glue in a pint of water, letting it stand on the top of the oven till dissolved. Wash the oilcloth thoroughly and let it dry. Then at night, when the traffic of the day ceases, go over the whole carefully with a flannel dipped in the glue water. Choose a fine day for it, and by morning the glue will be hard and will have put a fine gloss as good as new on your floor.

Save your lemon rinds, dry them in the oven, and store them in an air-tight tin. A little of this added to an apple pie gives it a delicious favoring.

Art muslin curtains should never be washed in warm water. Make a lather with hot water, and when it is nearly cold wash the curtains. If these are green, add a little vinegar; if lilac or pink, a little ammonia.

KING GEORGE AND THE BABY

Pretty Incident That Occurred Long Time Ago in Australia

A charming story of King George's kindness of heart has just been related by the Rev. Henry Howard, at a children's festival at Adelaide, Australia.

The occasion was the King's first visit to Australia as a cadet, with his brother, the late Duke of Clarence. In the course of this visit the two Princes went to Melbourne by coach from Mount Gambier.

The young Princes sat on the box seat during the long and dreary drive. The driver told them all about the kangaroo and the wallaby, and explained things they had never seen before, and his hearers were greatly interested. He mentioned that he had a little two-months-old girl in his home near to Casterton, and Prince George expressed a desire to see the baby.

The coach was, therefore, pulled up at the rural home, and the infant having been shown to the Prince, he took it in his arms and kissed it. Having handed the baby back to her mother, Prince George took a sovereign from his pocket, and asked the coachman to give it to the girl when she grew older, and to tell her that Prince George had presented it to her.

Twenty-one years later Prince George, as Duke of York, was again in Australia. Having ascertained that the old coachman was alive, he sent a message that he was to come to Melbourne. The old man readily accepted, and found that his fare had been paid. The Duke met him at Government House, and immediately asked after the little girl.

The old man's eyes dimmed with tears and his lips quivered as he said that the child had died. The Royal visitor was distressed by the news, but consoled the friend of his boyhood, and insisted that he should remain for a week at Government House as his guest.

During that week, amid all the engagements for the Commonwealth festivities, the Duke of York, for one hour every day, gave his time to the old coachman.

BUFFALO BULLS IN BATTLE

Two bulls, monarchs of the buffalo herd at City Park zoo, at Denver, engaged in mortal combat. One was killed. The other is now king with a dozen subjects to pay him homage as ruler. [illegible] tried conclusions [illegible] Montana and 9 years old, was bested by Colorado, a home product of the same size and pugnacity, after an all night contest full of gore and fierceness.

Loss of prestige did not set well with Pablo. He was never the same. Pulled from his throne in a night, he sulked and bided his time, just like the jealous ruler expatriated but ever mindful and determined to win back his throne.

Just how these two massive animals started their battle no one knows, save the others of the herd, and they are dumb. When Animal Keeper Hill made his usual inspection of his wards, lying in one corner of the buffalo lot he found Colorado, horned horribly and dead.

For fifty feet the earth had been ploughed up violently. It was also blood soaked. More than 100 feet away stood Pablo, docile, fatigued his mane clogged with gore and dirt, his horns discolored with Colorado's life blood. The dozen other members of the herd were gathered about the hay stack, eating as if nothing had occurred.

Like man, the buffalo must have his king. The difference is that the latter must win his throne by sheer force of strength. Hereditary does not go among people of the plains. Since the herd was brought to City Park zoo a score of years ago the rulership has gone to him that wrested it from his predecessor.

A MARVEL AT DANCING

Princess Radziwill Was in Forty-Four Dances in Five Hours.

Princess Albert Radziwill, who was Miss Dorothy Deacon, and who, since her reconciliation with her mother-in-law, has become a society star of the first magnitude, is in evidence at nearly every important function. The young princess has astonished people by her grace and endurance in dancing. Her friends have nick-named her "Betka," and the society journals chronicle the beauty of "Donna Betka" Radziwill and her grace in dancing.

At Princess George Radziwill's ball this week "Donna Betka" went through forty-four dances, round and square, between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m., after which she appeared at an afternoon function without the least trace of fatigue, and announced that she would be quite ready to repeat the performance that evening.

PRECOCIOUS BABY.

A university professor, who has greatly endeared himself to his students on account of his kind-heartedness, has one particular failing—that of absent-mindedness.

He visited his married nephew a few days ago and had listened to the young wife's praise of her firstborn.

The gentleman felt that he must say something to give the impression that he was interested.

"Can the dear little fellow walk?" he inquired quietly.

"Walk!" shouted the mother. "Why he has been walking for five months!"

"Dear me!" exclaimed the professor, lapsing again into abstraction. "What a long way he must have got!"

AN EYE TO BUSINESS.

A commercial traveller tells of seeing in a certain cemetery the epitaph: "Sacred to the memory of James Perkins, for thirty years senior partner of the firm of Perkins and Parker, now Parker and Co., who hope to merit a continuance of your patronage."

RURAL ONTARIO IS NOT DECAYING

Statistics Show That Farmers Are Producing More Than Ten Years Ago

Since the results of the Dominion Census have been published, many people have received the erroneous impression that rural Ontario is in a very decadent condition. An examination of a few facts taken from provincial reports prove, that the banner province of the Dominion is far from being in a state of decay.

Fewer Farmers but Greater Wealth.

Though smaller in numbers than in the year 1900, the farmers of Ontario are producing a more valuable output than ever before in the history of the province, and the assessed value of their lands was never as great as at the present time. The popular estimate places the number of farms in Ontario at 175,000, and the annual output from the fields of those farms is generally valued at $250,000,000. These figures hardly account for the entire agricultural worth of the province. In the first place, it is questionable if there are any more than 150,000 farms in Ontario. The past ten years have been a period of mergers in the farming world as well as in that of other industries, and the form of one hundred acres has rapidly passed out of sight. Fewer people hold more land than at the beginning of the century, and the farm of two hundred and three hundred acres has become the unit. Such is the condition at the present census taking, but there are signs even now that point to the resumption of the smaller areas before the next decade has passed. At the present moment, however, the number of real farms in this province would be more nearly 150,000 than 175,000, but their value is considerably greater than when the number did amount to 175,000.

The Farmer's Increased Income.

Two hundred and fifty million dollars has been given as the annual value of Ontario's field production, but there is every reason to believe that this amount falls short of the mark. Even Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who first quoted those figures, admits that the estimate is too low. The field crops when turned into beef, butter, cheese and eggs are greatly enchanced in value, and would be worth in a normal year at least half a million dollars. But, for the sake of comparison Mr. James' conservative estimate of $250,000,000 shall stand, and then we have every [illegible] value of Ontario's agricultural output was placed at 45 millions, and ten years ago it was not more than a hundred millions. The number of farms to share in that one hundred millions was larger than now, so that the average income to each farm was considerably less than $1,666. In fact, the average income in 1901 was about $600, according to calculations made from statistics published by the Department of Agriculture. This means that the Ontario farm of to-day is giving to its owner, returns that are at least 160 per cent. greater than they were in 1901.

Land Values Higher.

The growing value of the output of the farms has only resulted in one thing, and that is the increased value of the land. Thus, the latest records of the assessment of the rural areas show that the farm lands of Ontario are worth over $108,000,000 more than in the first years of the last decade. To make the comparison still more striking, the assessed rural land of Ontario is worth $10 an acre more than in 1901, and another significant fact is that the area of these lands has extended in the last ten years fully 1,500,000 acres, showing that farming is actually becoming a more widely followed pursuit in Ontario. This seems almost impossible when the Dominion census shows such a great decrease between the years 1901 and 1911, but it only proves that even with less labor certain kinds of farming can be developed in Ontario and found exceedingly profitable.

An Exploded Fallacy.

Just one more proof of the fallacy contained in the charge that rural Ontario is in a state of decay. The land, buildings, implements and livestock owned by the Ontario farmers at the present time are worth in round numbers about $1,225,000,000, as compared with $950,000,000 ten years ago. In other words, the average value of the Ontario farm to-day is $8,000 as against $5,000 in 1901. It is true that prices of farm products have advanced nearly 60 per cent. in the past ten years, but the marked increases in the total values of the annual outputs and of actual property during that time can only be due to the fact the productivity of the farms has also increased. This greater yield of produce, is merely the result of improved methods and a gradual increase, during the last five years, of workers in the country.

The Stimulus to Production.

And the stimulus to all this improved agriculture with its increasing values, is the growing demand for food in Canada, as much in the Western Provinces as in the Ontario towns and cities. With the farmers in the great Western half of the Dominion producing to supply an export trade, it behooves the farmers of the other half to produce with a view to supplying the home market, and the statistics of the country's trade show that this is precisely what is being done.

THE OLDEST FLAG

The flag of Denmark, a plain red banner bearing on it a white cross, is the oldest flag now in existence. For 300 years both Norway and Sweden were united with Denmark under this flag. In the year 1219 King Waldemar of Denmark, when leading his troops to battle against the Livonians, saw, or thought he saw, a bright light in the form of a cross in the sky. He held this appearance to be a promise of Divine aid, and pressed forward to victory. From this time he had the cross placed on the flag of his country, and called it the Dannebork—that is, strength of Denmark.

SAYS ALL SPORT IS DANGEROUS

A London Weekly Comments on the Injuries Associated With Athletics

A popular London Weekly has raised the question as to which of the various forms of sport is most injurious to the player. Apparently, it finds all of them dangerous, as witness the following:

"The fact that nowadays one hears much about deformities that were quite unknown to former generations makes one wonder whether the modern craze for athletics is so beneficial to the nation as is generally assumed.

"Although probably few white athletes would care voluntarily to deform themselves to the extent that Jack Johnson has done—the colored boxer has had all his natural teeth taken out and gold ones substituted, in order to obviate the risk of swallowing teeth during a fight—there seems to be a formidable list of deformities inseperable from the pursuit of certain branches of athletics by the strain.

"Very few branches of athletics develop the body equally. Nearly all of them develop certain muscles or sets of muscles only, with the result the athlete is disproportioned. And although the various systems of "physical culture" in existence claim to give symmetrical development, even these at their best only give a man a huge mass of over developed and slow-moving muscles, which in nine cases out of ten are of no earthly use to him in the life that he leads.

"Nowadays we have such deformities as the 'bicycle face,' the 'tennis elbow,' the 'chauffeur's stare,' 'pedestrian's foot,' 'bowler's wrist,' and so on.

"In lawn tennis, for example, the right side, and especially the forearm, get nearly all the exercise, and in the case of people who are constantly playing tennis their deformed, one-sided development is noticeable even away from the tennis lawn. Bowling is a winter sport to which exactly the same objections apply as to tennis.

"Then there is cycling. We see photographs of cyclists and motorcyclists careering round racecourses at terrific speeds, with their bodies bent over the handle-bars of their machines. Their faces are distorted, their lungs cramped, and their backs hideously humped. If this sport is long persisted in, the muscles of the face settle permanently in the contorted grooves, the hump-back, becomes chronic, and the cramped lungs surely make the individual liable to consumption. Hump-back, consumption, and the distorted face which comes through keeping a strained look ahead at a terrific speed, and at all angles which nature never intended, are not [illegible] descendants. Even the development of the legs which the ordinary cycling gave, which, considering how little people walk nowadays, was a considerable advantage, has been lost with the advent of the motor-bicycle.

"Then, again, think of the numerous instances where the dread shadow of heart disease has fallen on a man's life through his pursuit of the sport of rowing. And another injurious deformity is 'pedestrian's' or the 'boardwalk' foot. Nor are the thin and wiry legs of runners desirable traits to hand down to our children. Even golf, which is much more nearly an ideal sport than the sports mentioned already, is productive of the objectionable 'golf swing' and 'golf walk.'

"The trouble lies in the fact that athletes specialize, and develop only certain sets of muscles which fit them for one particular sport. This development takes place at the expense of other muscles of the body, and the 'game deformity' is produced. Moreover, there is to be considered the argument that excessive physical development takes place at the expense of the mental powers.

Altogether it seems to be clear that specializing in a particular sport is injurious. It is far wiser to be a duffer at all sports than to be expert at one, as is generally the case."

BEN HOUSER'S PLACE

Will Be on the First Corner for Boston Nationals.

Ben Houser is likely to be a fixture at first for the Boston Nationals. He is with the club at the training ground in Columbia, S.C. Houser played classy baseball at Indianapolis after the Athletics let him out, but when he was annexed by the Boston Pilgrims to hold down Fred Tenney's old place he was away out of condition. Houser is six feet two and weighed 165 pounds. He looked like he could crawl thru a hole in the fence. At the camp he pushed the beam up to 210 and looked like a baseball player. Johnny King looks to Houser as his first choice at the first corner. He went from Toronto to Philadelphia.

PSALMS BUT NO HIMS

Miss Olduan, suspecting her latest servant of regaling her beau upon cold beef from the pantry, called Betty and inquired whether she did not hear someone downstairs.

"Oh, no, madam," replied the girl readily, "it was only me singing a psalm to amuse myself."

"You may amuse yourself, Betty," replied the maiden lady, "with psalms but let's have no hims, Betty, no hims, mind you; I have a great objection to hims."

Betty curtsied and withdrew, seriously thinking.

5 Years' Throat Trouble And Influenza Cured

EMINENT DOCTORS FAILED TO CURE—HAD GIVEN UP HOPE.

Milford Haven, Da., Jan. 19—Every one in this neighborhood knows of the long suffering from influenza and catarrh endured by Mrs. D. Gurney. Today she is well. Her recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. This is her own statement: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh in the head, throat and nose, and endured the manifold tortures of influenza for five years. My life was despaired of. Catarrh was undermining my strength very fast. I used treatments from eminent doctors, but all failed to cure me. I had given up hope of ever being well. Then I read of a wonderful cure made by Catarrhozone. Immediately I sent for Catarrhozone, and before I had used one bottle I was greatly relieved. To-day I am cured. We would not be without Catarrhozone in our home—it's so sure in colds, coughs, bronchial and throat trouble. I feel it is my duty to publicly recommend Catarrhozone."

Get the large dollar size of Catarrhozone; it contains a beautiful hard rubber inhaler, and medicine that lasts two months. Smaller sizes, 25c. and 50c. each. Beware of imitations—accept only Catarrhozone, sold by all reliable dealers or by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y.

CHANGING THE WORLD

Look Around You and Examine Your Environment Occasionally

"You cannot change the world; only yourself."

The above saying is apt to be a little misleading. For though the world is so vast, huge, and complex that to change the whole of it in any way would require powers far greater than most of us possess, yet, on the other hand, by changing ourselves we do much towards changing the world. "He who reforms himself has done more to reform the community than a crowd of noisy, impotent talkers." Few of us properly realize the greatness of the influences which we exert, very often unconsciously, on all with whom we are constantly in contact.

When you change yourself, you cannot help but change your influence, and your influence changes others to some extent, and thus changes their influence, too—and so on, like the ripples caused by a stone flung into a pond. So if you reform yourself, you are taking a hand in the great task of reforming the world.

"Your world" is your mission ground. "Your world" is the place where your best work is needed. Your friends, your workmates, above all, your [illegible] yourself is good, but it is not a hopeless task.

You can alter your whole outlook on life. If you are inclined to be sad and gloomy, you can, by persistently forcing yourself to think cheerfully, in time develop the habit of cheerfulness to such an extent that it becomes second nature to you.

Look around you, and examine your world occasionally. See where a change for the better is most needed, and set to work at once to make that change. Here is one, perhaps, who needs cheering up; go and cheer him. Here is one who seems to want advice; give it to him. Here is one who requires help; let him have any such help as lies in your power to give.

"COULDN'T DO IT."

Little Jackie was receiving a lecture from his dad on the wickedness of stealing. Jackie being guilty of paying a sly visit to the pantry, and his mother catching him in the act advised his doting father to admonish him.

"What is the person called, Jack, who steals?" he asked Jack.

But Jack was quiet, and no answer came.

"Now, Jack," continued his father, "now suppose I were to put my hand your pocket and take a cent from it, what would you call me?"

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Machinery for 3½ Yard Dipper Dredge" will be received at this office until 4.00 p.m., on Tuesday, April 9th, 1912, for the construction of machinery for a 3½ Yard Dipper Dredge.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of J. L. Michaud, Esq., District Engineer, Merchants' Bank Building, Montreal, Que., and J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each members of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

The democratic members of the House of Representatives demand that the Phillipines shall have self-government. Now whilst every self-respecting Canadian demands self-government, there is no use considering the gift of such powers to a lot of half-wild savages, many of them head-hunters, as form the majority of the population of these Islands. Even Cuba, civilized for centuries, had hard work to get along with self-government. The huge unwieldy country of China so long under monarchical government, will take years to get along under self, or democratic rule.

A Peterborough professional man spent the evening with some friends recently. He won. When scolded by his wife for being out late, the p. m. tried to soothe her by saying: "Well, dear, there's $10 to get an Easter hat." She replied: "No, I don't think I want one this spring." "Say!" he fairly yelled. "For Heaven's sake go to Dr. —— to-morrow, you must be sick. Is your head bothering you?" "No", Madam answered. "I bought such a lovely set of books this morning, and I only paid $5 down, with $3 a month, until they are paid for." Her husband in despair, asked, "What were they, Les Miserables in sixty volumes, Kipling in gold and Morrocco binding? I suppose you have stuck me for $3 a month for the rest of our married life!"

It may be that one of the effects of the coal strike in England will be to cause the use of oil as fuel in merchant ships and in the navy. Oil has the advantage of taking up much less room than coal so that vessels can make a much longer trip without having to replenish their supply. As England has no oil it would have to be imported.

King George is to be commended for cancelling all engagements at race meetings, while the Coal Strike exists. It is just these tactful touches of sympathy with the people, that retain the popularity of the monarchy.

The Ontario Government will give the Hon. Adam Beck a salary of $6,000 a year. He deserves every cent of it and more for the work he has done and will do. The salary was not what he was working for.

There has been a socialistic municipal government in Milwaukee for the past two years but it has fallen into disfavor as a result of appointing too many office-holders. That is the weakness of socialism. It is founded on the idea that every one is an employee of the State and the difficulty is to provide jobs for all.

A FAMOUS AIRMAN

Much That Was Pathetic in Gilmour's Death and Funeral

Graham Gilmour, the famous London airman who was killed by falling from a height of 175 feet left a letter dated several months previously. This he had entrusted to a friend requesting that should he be killed at any time that at his funeral there should be no bell tolled, no mourning, and no moaning. If any flowers, they were to be colored, and his body was to be taken away on a four-wheeled farmer's cart or on a motor lorry. He desired to be buried with his mother and father at Mickleham Church. The letter concluded: "I want everyone to be merry and bright, for I don't believe in moaning." The body was therefore conveyed on a motor lorry. It is doubtful, however, whether the last sad ceremony could be described as "merry and bright," as he desired it to be.

Mr. J. Radley, the aviator, fitted up the chassis of his own car as a hearse, draping it in purple, and upon this the coffin, covered with a purple pall, was conveyed from the mortuary at Richmond by way of Kingston to the quiet little village of Mickleham, near Dorking, twelve miles away.

Mr. Radley himself drove the vehicle, and six motor-cars followed, conveying friends of Mr. Gilmour. Numerous wreaths were sent, all consisting of colored flowers, including daffodils, red roses, lilacs, tulips, hyancinths, and mimosa. One wreath bore the inscription, "His last long flight."

There was a touching incident just before the service, an old lady placing beside the grave a wreath bearing the inscription, "In sorrowful memory of one whose youthful spirit and kindly word cheered a day in an old woman's lonely life."

The body was buried in the grave containing the remains of Mr. Gilmour's mother and father.

BALL PLAYERS WITH AUTOS

The Chicago Cubs Have More Motors Than Other Teams

The Chicago Cubs own more automobiles than any other aggregation of ball players in the American or National Leagues. Chance's men have been joining the ranks of the auto enthusiasts one at a time until about half the team are classed as gasoline bugs.

Chance was one of the very first men playing baseball to own an automobile. Then one at a time his players followed in his footsteps, and the other day Joe Tinker purchased a new car at the Kansas City Auto Show.

The New York Club stands next to the Chicago team as auto owners, and now that the Athletics have won a couple of pennants and two world's championships, which meant a lot of extra dough for every member of the team, watch Mack's aggregation of stars develop the gasoline bug.

It is estimated that over two hundred ball players own automobiles at the present time, and every year from twenty-five to fifty more converts are made.

MANLY SPORTS

Prof. Morson Says That They Should be Encouraged

Prof. Morson, Toronto, in dismissing the appeal against Magistrate Denison's decision imposing a fine on the National Sporting Club for promoting a prize fight said:

"I express no opinion upon the merits of the case as it is now unnecessary. I desire to say, however, that while I may be opposed to what are prize fights, in fact, I am much in sympathy with and desire to encourage all manly sports which include sparring matches, according to well-known rules and which are nothing more than exhibitions of skill and endurance.

"I do not think any honest, manly sport, because it is a little rough, should, on that account be stopped, nor do I think a sparring match, because it happens also to be a little rough, should on that acount be characterized as a prize fight.

"The late Lord Justice Bramwell in Rex. vs. Bradshaw, 14 Criminal Cases 83, says: 'I have no doubt that the game was in any circumstances a rough one, but am unwilling to decry the manly sports of this country all of which are no doubt attended with more or less danger.'"

Boys Should be Debarred.

The Police Magistrate of Belleville, has fined four owners of billiard and pool rooms $10 each for allowing boys to frequent and play in their respective places. A good move that might well be followed here. There are, we understand, boys playing pool in some, if not all of Peterborough's pool rooms. Boys, or at least very few of them, cannot afford to pay forty cents an hour for the privilege of playing pool and lingering in an atmosphere of cheap cigarette smoke and continual profanity. Such luxury (?) comes too

HELPFUL HINTS

Household Information Which May Come in Handy

Get a nice thick piece of lean steak, cover it with good olive oil, and let it remain in the oil for an hour before cooking. This will make it tender, and the oil forms a coating, thus keeping in all the juice. The same method applies to cutlets.

Removing Inkstains

To remove ink from colored materials, dip the stained part in warm milk that has been boiled, and rub it lightly with the finger. As the milk becomes inked, change it, and continue the process till the stain fades away, then rinse the fabric, dry it quickly, and smooth it with a warm iron.

When Boiling Greens

If some hot water is poured over the greens before putting into the saucepan they will boil much quicker and look much greener. A little bicarbonate of soda used instead of washing soda will keep the greens a better color and make them much more tender.

A Time-Saving Hint

Where the family washing is large, much time, labor and fuel can be saved if this method is followed: First shake out all bath towels, and spread evenly on the table; then hand and roller towels; next the pillow covers. Fold the bed sheets, place them over all, and then cover with the ironing sheet. Commence ironing all the underwear, tablecloths, and handkerchiefs—all except the starched clothes. Then remove ironing sheets and all the linen underneath will be as smooth as if put through the mangle. Fold same, and place on clothes-horse to air.

Blanket Washing

Take half a cupful of pure ammonia, half a cupful of turpentine, and pour into a vessel that will hold two quarts of water; then cut up a small piece of soap about the size of a walnut—not more—or else the solution will be too stiff when cold. Then pour on two quarts of boiling water. When the liquid is cool, bottle off, and keep the bottle tightly corked. Be careful when pouring on the water, as the fumes are very strong. When washing the blankets add half a cupful of this mixture to each tub of water, and you will be more than pleased at the result. The blankets will come up quite soft and fluffy, and if this is carefully carried out they will never shrink.

Hints on Renovating

Light colored velvets may be cleaned by rubbing with benzoin or paraffin oil.

Chiffon can be washed in tepid water in which has been dissolved a small piece of Castile soap.

White silk should be washed in [illegible] ironed quite damp.

Where money is an object, it is a wise plan for everyone to know as much as possible about the art of re- [illegible] tle, and [illegible] over boiling water.

Chip hats should be first well brushed, then cleaned by rubbing with equal quantities of oil and ink.

White felt hats, if white, may be cleaned by rubbing with oatmeal.

For instance, velvet may be made as good as new by the following process: Place a damp cloth over a hot iron, and draw the back of the velvet over the cloth. When the creases are all out, remove the cloth, and dry by rubbing the back of the velvet over the iron.

HANDY FRUIT CORER

Extracts Centre of Apple or Pear at One Quick Stroke

A simple and effective device for extracting stones and cores from fruit has been designed by a Virginian man and will probably become a popular kitchen utensil. At first glance it resembles the top of a spade handle broken off. A single sheet of metal is rolled into a tube, tapering towards the bottom and with a pair of arms extending above, joined at their tops to a wooden handle between. The lower end of the tube has two sharp lips projecting opposite each other. To core an apple or pear the fruit is placed on the table, stem up, and the cutter thrust down through the centre. It is then pulled out again, bringing with it the centre of the fruit with the seeds and the hard substances that are so unpleasant to encounter in baked or stewed fruit. The same operation will remove stones from fruits that are not easily split in two, as are peaches, and cleaned in that way.

MACHINE OIL

Should any machine oil get on the material you are sewing, tack a piece of cotton-wool over the spot at once, and leave it for a short time. The cotton-wool absorbs the oil, and no trace of the stain will be left.

JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE

Johnny: "Isn't any."

Teacher: "Ah, but it must be."

Johnny: "Maybe yours is, because you talk through it, but the only part of speech I've got is my mouth."

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION.

William had just returned from college, resplendent in loud-checked trousers, silk hosiery, a fancy waistcoat, a necktie that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. The old gentleman looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked the more disgusted he became.

"Son," he finally blurted out, "you look like a silly fool!"

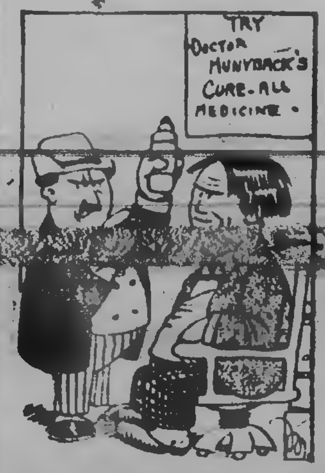
Later the old major who lived next door came in and greeted the boy heartily. "Willie," he said, with undisguised admiration, "you look exactly like your father did twenty-five years ago, when he came back from school."

"Yes," replied William, with a smile. "So father was just telling me."

HE KNEW.

"The Malays have a queer marriage custom," remarked the traveller. "The groom holds his nose against a small cylindrical object. I couldn't quite make out what it was——"

"A grindstone, probably," interposed Mr. Grough.



A MILLION MORE

ACCORDING TO HIS CUSTOM.

At a restaurant one night a young American—a barber—fell in with an Englishman. The latter was berating the Yankees for doing all manner of business in their shops and not following the better English plan of sticking to one branch. The next day he swaggered into the barber's shop to be shaved. The barber gave his face an extra good soaping and left him, at the same time seating himself to read. The Englishman kept quiet for a few minutes, when, seeing his attendant reading, he blurted out: "Why don't you shave me, sir?"

"You will have to go up the street for your shave," quietly replied the barber; "we only lather here."

A CORPORAL'S ORDER.

The Boy's Brigade were on parade, and the corporal, thinking they had been out long enough, gave the order to return on arriving at the corner from where they started.

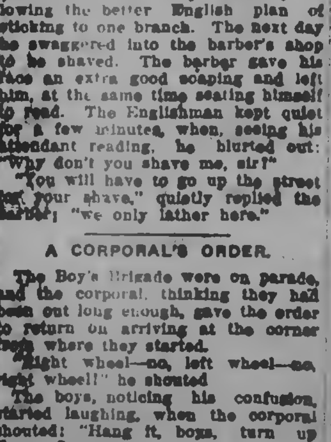
The boys, noticing his confusion, started laughing, when the corporal shouted: "Hang it, boys, turn up Yonge Street!"



BARGAIN DAY

"Why are you in such a hurry?"

"Promised to meet my wife at three o'clock down at the corner."

As improvements are being made on the steel bridge at Bethany, the good people there fear that the railroad is not keeping faith after the village gave the road a bonus, which was accepted.

The birth rate of the city of Peterborough during the year 1911 was 420 or a ratio of 32.7 per thousand. By comparison, the birth rate of Port Arthur, Ont., was 413, or a ratio of 109.7 per 1,000 of population. A good many English immigrants have, within the past few years, settled in Port

Large Quantities in England and the North of Ireland

Wild duck, which have entirely avoided many inland spots where a few are usually seen at this season, have appeared in very great quantities along some of their seaside haunts, especially on the east coasts of England and the north of Ireland.

The pursuers of the strange sport of punt gunning have had remarkable experiences. Slipping along in their punts at dawn they have come upon flocks so great that a single shot from the great swivel gun, which is almost a cannon, has bagged more than the 'longshore sportsman could get in a week. Fifty and sixty have been killed at a shot, though the manoeuvres of the shot may have taken a week or so.

Numbers of duck again have been killed in the more formal, artificial shoots of Lincolnshire, Bedfordshire, and other places where the birds are now bred almost as scientifically as pheasant.

A sportsman's bird that seems to increase in numbers and to widen its range is the golden plover, of which numbers are now to be seen in the poulterers' shops of the West End. These plover, which are held by some to be the best bird that comes to table, are seen frequently all over the country. They have been observed in swarms over grass fields in the home counties, as well as in their more normal haunts among the wild places of the coast.

Another bird that appeared at one moment in great quantity was the black duck, of which large numbers were shot over the coast of Norfolk from boats. But he is a brave or very hungry man who would dare to face the bird at table.—London Daily Mail.

FREAK SURGERY

The Vital Organs of Animals Transplanted by Americans.

Some remarkable experiments on the grafting of limbs on animals to which they did not originally belong, and the transference of vital organs, such as the kidney, from one animal to another, are reported, says the "Standard," from Harvard University. Most of them have been carried out by Dr. Carrel, under the direction of Dr. E. E. Tyzzer.

His first successful grafting—or, at any rate, the first that he placed on record—was for the benefit of a fox terrier. This he described before the American Philosophical Society. The terrier, owing to an accident, had to have its leg amputated. A small dog that had just died was pressed into service. Its leg was removed, and grafted on to the stump of the leg of the living terrier. Arteries, veins, and nerves were connected by suitable means, and [illegible] grew together, and the dog remained perfectly healthy.

But this is only a minor triumph in surgery when compared with those which have come later. From the grafting of limbs Dr. Carrel has moved onward step by step until it would appear that he can transplant and replace almost every organ in the body. He says himself:—

"A dog whose abdominal aorta was replaced by a human femoral artery is still alive in a normal state. The thoracic aorta of another animal was replaced about the same time by a large artery that had been kept several months in cold storage, and the operation was a complete sucess."

In the transplanting of kidneys Dr. Carrel has been attended with the greatest success in the case of cats, and he has said that possibly the results would have been much better in experimenting with dogs if he had used dogs of the same breed. While he has taken organs from one animal and replaced them in another, he has been uniformly fortunate in reversing the kidneys. In this work he has taken a cat, and, removing the kidneys, has replaced the left kidney in the cavity of the right side and the right kidney in the left cavity.

When one thinks of the complex structure of the kidney, with its nerve supply, its three great connecting vessels—vein, artery, and ureter—and its intimate relations with other organs of the body, such operations as these are truly amazing. Their value in the saving and preservation of human life, if such a thing as the renewal of a kidney should be found possible, will be enormous. The removal of a single kidney is a fairly common operation. After it has been performed the patient usually recovers his health, but sometimes in after life the increased demand made on the single remaining kidney may lead to serious trouble.

It is only a month since a wealthy widow, Mrs. Reginald Waldorf, of Philadelphia, offered a small fortune to anyone who would sell her an index finger to be grafted on to the stump whence hers has been removed. It would be curious if such advertisements as this went further, and public requests were made for the supply of kidneys, spleen, or even for a new liver. But it is difficult to see where the organs of which persons only possess one each are to come from.

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES.

Interesting facts about the inside working of the Bank of England were explained by Mr. Frederick Huth. The rights of issuing notes, he said, is one of the most important functions of the Bank of England. One rarely sees a dirty Bank of England note. That is because the Bank never re-issues a banknote. Even if anyone went into the Bank and demanded a five-pound note in exchange for five sovereigns, and then crossed to another counter and changed the same note back into gold, that note would be destroyed. The system is expensive, but by its means the Bank avoids many of the risks of forgery.

Old Resident of Smith Gone.

Mr. W. J. Tully, at the venerable age of 76 years, passed away, on Sunday at lot 4, con. 2, Smith. Mr. Tully was one of the oldest and best known residents of the township. He had been in poor health for some time. He leaves to mourn his loss, a wife and three children, Mrs. B. L. Tully, Smith; Mr. Fred Tully, New York, and Miss Edith at home. The deceased was a member of the George street Methodist church. He was a Liberal in politics, as was his father before him, the late Mr. Thomas Tully. The funeral will take place from the family residence Wednesday at two o'clock, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

DEFYING THE ROMAN CHURCH

Quebec Government is Reported to Have Rejected Demands of Heirarchy

Montreal, April 1.—It is being whispered in the club rooms and in political circles here that the Liberal Government of Quebec Province has definitely told the Roman Catholic hierarchy that it will have nothing to do with the proposition said to have been made to it to act as the instrument of the Church.

The statement is made that the Gouin Administration was squarely confronted with the alternatives of accepting the authority of the bishops or of going down to defeat at the hands of the ultramontaines at the forthcoming general election.

A meeting of the Cabinet is said to have been held, at which, after long discussion, it was decided to keep the Government from the tutelage of Rome, and to play the game of politics entirely apart from religion. Sir Lomer Gouin, it is declared, then told the representative of the ultramontaine element that the Government would have nothing to do with their proposition, and while expressing the hope that the Church authorities would reconsider their position, and decide not to interfere with the State matters, practically dared them to do their worst, declaring that he had faith enough in the spirit of the people to feel justified in adopting the same course as Sir Wilfrid Laurier had adopted in his relations with the Church.

As a result of the firmness displayed by the Premier, many influential Conservatives are throwing their whole weight on the side of the Liberal Government, and it is an open secret already that a certain titled Montreal financier, who is a man of great political influence in Quebec district, is using every means at his disposal to counteract the influence of Armande Lavergne, M.P.P., in

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price, $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

ROYAL SALUTES

The Much-Esteemed Greetings of Royalty—Interesting Side Lights on Court Etiquette

Of the various salutations that pass between Sovereign and people, the most popular is undoubtedly the handshake. It is pleasant to have felt the grip of a king—an experience to remember and make much of.

A North-country miner, whom the King had decorated and shaken hands with for some deed of heroism, was welcomed on returning home by a crowd of his friends. They were surprised, however, when he persistently ignored their hands, proffered in congratulation, and kept his own at the bottom of his trouser-pocket.

"How's this, mate?" said a friend. "Hast turned proud?"

The miner cautiously drew his right hand from his pocket, regarded it a moment in admiration, and then returned it decisively to the depths it came from.

"Na, na, lads!" he exclaimed, with a sly twinkle in his eye. "Ye canna expect it; I've shaken hands with the King!"

The value of the "big man's handshake" is thoroughly understood in America. A political "captain" will stand for hours shaking hands with the endless file of his supporters. The President himself is not exempt. On the occasion of the Inauguration Ball at Washington, Mr. Taft went through the ceremony, it was calculated, just 4,500 times.

To those unversed in Court Etiquette, another form of salutation, that of kissing the Royal hand, sometimes proves a veritable trap. The poet Longfellow, describing his presentation to Queen Victoria, tells how he unwittingly grasped the hand which the Queen held out to him. He noticed a look of surprise on her face, but did not realize till afterwards that her Majesty intended her hand to be kissed.

This rather formal mode of salutation, though it enters into many Court ceremonies, is not in this country carried to such an extreme as at Madrid, one of the most conservative Courts in Europe. When the second of the young Spanish princes was born, the little Prince of the Asturias was just twelve months old. But already he seems to have been instructed in Court etiquette, for on his baby brother being shown to him, he immediately held out his hand for the infant to kiss!

When king meets king, the usual greeting is a kiss on both cheeks. The two monarchs embrace by lightly holding each other's shoulders, and saluting first on one cheek and then immediately afterwards the other.

The raising of the hat and bowing, which are the only forms of salutation that the ordinary mortal can expect to receive from Royalty, are most fatiguing operations, if long continued. Queen Victoria never spared herself in this respect. Even in the Dia[illegible] procession, [illegible] seventy-eight years of age, she bowed almost continuously for by far the greater part of the route.

That the youngest members of the Royal Family are brought up in the [illegible] dent which occurred later on that very day. At the moment when the crowd round Buckingham Palace was thickest, the two eldest children of the present King appeared at the open nursery window. Prince Eddy, the elder, who was three years old within a day, in response to the cheers of the spectators, gravely raised his hand to his forehead and saluted.

This action brought the enthusiasm of the crowd to a high pitch, and the acclamations were so long continued that the little Prince concluded that something more was expected of him. Straightening himself, therefore, he again saluted, but this time with both hands at once!

BRAHMS AND THE SARDINES

Mme. Liza Lehmann is one of the world's leading composers, although she first achieved fame and popularity as a singer. Randegger was her teacher, but she received many useful hints from Jenny Lind in her earlier days. After her marriage in 1894 she devoted herself entirely to composition. Mme. Lehmann tells a quaint story of Brahms. She was staying with Mme. Schumann at the time at Frankfort, and while she was there Brahms came for a short visit. Naturally her excitement at the prospect of meeting one of the world's most famous masters was great. On the morning of the first day of his visit the breakfast menu included sardines, which were served in the tin containing them. Brahms devoured a number with gusto, and then, to his youthful worshipper's amazement and horror, coolly took up the tin and drank the oil!

THE GENTLE CYNIC

A man is apt to feel that his hands are tied if he hasn't a free foot.

Laurels that are rested upon soon wilt.

Silence is the sauce that softens the spice of life.

THE SUPREMACY OF BRIDGE

Reviewers of the social "season" just closed agree that its outstanding feature is the conquest of German society by the seductive game of bridge. From a monopoly in the hands of a few privileged folk, who knew it from English visits, bridge has now become the property of German society generally. It has invaded all branches of the smart set, including royalty, the army, and the aristocracy. The theatres reveal unmistakable evidence of the bridge plague. Several of the season's plays introduce games, and the dialogues of a dozen others tell of it conspicuously. Henceforth the national game of "Skat" seems likely to have to fight for its existence with all-conquering bridge.

Did Well in Prison

"Penal servitude must be a healthy state of things," remarked the Recorder of Birmingham to a prisoner, "or you would not look so well on it after thirty-six years of it." The man was ordered to be imprisoned for one day.

He Was Jilted

A man of 75, who sued a woman of 63 at Swaffham, Norfolk, for the return of $35 and some furniture, said that after he had entrusted the money and things to her, with the idea of getting married, she jilted him and married another.

SUCCESSFUL VIOLINISTS

Kubelik Advises Students on How to Master the Strings

In the opinion of Kubelik, the famous violinist, the standard of violin playing has steadily risen of late years, which is not surprising when one considers the enormous increase in students [illegible] steadily devote hours daily to mastering the intricacies of the instrument.

Kubelik, however, not only emphasizes the need of earnest, steady work, under the direction of a good teacher, but that the student should procure as good a violin as possible, care being taken that the tone is pleasant to the ear.

"The tone of a violin greatly depends upon its strings," says Kubelik, "and the proper placing of the bridge and sound-post. The sound-post is the little wooden pillar inside the instrument, situated about a quarter of an inch behind the right foot of the bridge. Should the bridge or the sound-post be only slightly out of place, the finest 'Strad' will sound like a three-dollar fiddle.

Watch the Strings

"I would recommend all possessors of violins to have them examined by an expert, in order that the best results may be obtained. My experience is that most violins can be improved by paying attention to these details.

"I have known students almost driven to despair and loss of weeks of work in the vain endeavor to produce certain notes with a pure tone, not knowing that the difficulty arose from defects of the instrument, probably the bridge or post, being slightly out of place, or the bad quality of strings.

"It is false economy to play too long without changing strings, as a string after being used for a certain time refuses to respond to the student's intention, and time is lost by unnecessarily repeating a phrase.

"Beginners should commence their studies with a competent teacher, as good progress can only be made on a proper foundation, and bad habits, once acquired, are difficult to eradicate. So commence properly.

Concentrate! Concentrate!

"When practising the mind must be entirely concentrated on the work in hand. If the thoughts are allowed to wander, no good result will follow, and consequently it is not advisable to play too long without a rest.

"When the student feels his brain refuse to grip he must stop at once. Each individual should arrange his studies to suit his physique, and on no account continue his exercises when his brain is tired. I do not expect the 'born-tireds' to take advantage of this rule; my advice is intended for diligent students only.

"I strongly advise all students to attend to physical culture, avoiding exercises which tend to stiffen the wrist and interfere with the flexibility of the fingers."

MERCURY AT COBALT

Provincial Officials are Endeavoring to Discover Ore Combinations

The discovery of mercury in the ore at the Nipissing Mines has led to an investigation by experts of the Bureau of Mines to determine in what combinations of mineral bodies it is found, and as to whether it exists in large enough quantities to make the discovery of commercial importance.

Mercury or quicksilver was found in silver ore at the Silver Inlet Mine, famous many years ago. Some time ago Professor Miller, Provincial Geologist, examined ore at Cobalt to find mercury, but without success. Since the discovery at the Nipissing camp investigations have been resumed. In ordinary ore the mercury runs about four pounds to the ton and in purer ore that resists crushing from twenty to forty pounds to the ton.

The Use of Stilts

A contemporary mentions that "in parts of France shepherds keep their sheep under observation on stilts," but omits to say whether it is the sheep, the shepherds, or the observations which are thus mounted.

"Why, my little man, and what's the matter?"

"Matter, mum? 'Ere 'ave I been a-playing truant all day, and I've just remembered the holidays began yesterday!"

PULLMAN CAR TRAVEL

A Britisher Writes His Impressions Concerning It

Yet I confess, writes an Englishman in Harper's Weekly, even bankruptcy seems welcome as an escape from the [illegible] by day with two or three score of people, at least one of whom is certain to be a squalling infant and another a ubiquitous youngster with lungs and legs in an equal state of activity; where you have to rouse yourself every few minutes to resist the carboy's pestiferous attentions; and where the buzz of an incessant movement and conversation makes reading and dozing alike impossible. But even that pales before the trials that await one at bedtime.

A Pullman car at night is the most uncivilized thing on the American continent, and one of the most indecent. It quite fascinates my blushes. I sit enthralled as the darky porter strews my seat with other people's belongings, holds a pillow-case in his teeth and squeezes the pillow into it, and hurls sheets and mattresses about, and pulls at chains and sliding doors and levers and curtains. And what can be more enchanting than to hear husband and wife discussing how they shall dispose of themselves for the night, whether they shall share the lower berth or whether he shall be banished to the nest above?

And what pleasanter than to be made conscious by the writhings and heavings and vigorous protuberances of the curtains that just across the aisle some good lady is engaged in the fearsome struggle to undress. To walk the length of a Pullman car at about 10.30 p.m., when most of the berths are made up, and when the curtained compartions of those who are in the agony of "retiring" are at their worst, and when you butt into strange projections of humanity, and stumble over shoes and watch someone scaling the heights of an upper berth, is on the whole the most delirious experience I have ever encountered.

NAPOLEON'S GHOST

The "Ugliest Woman in Paris" Tells of a Strange Apparition

Mlle. Polaire, long known as "the ugliest woman in Paris" and "the actress with the smallest waist," now proudly declares that since she has become the owner of a famous old mansion in the aristocratic Faubourg St. Germain, she has been honored by a visit of the spirit of the great Napoleon, who first met Josephine Beauharnais within the walls of the mansion. Mlle. Polaire relates that towards sunset, a few weeks ago, she was reclining on a couch in her drawing-room. "Suddenly I became aware," she says, "that a man was approaching me in the half-light. I looked at him steadily, with emotion but without fear. He was dressed in a strange, old fashioned, military uniform. As I scrutinised him I recognised the features of the great Napo[illegible] to me by [illegible] portrait of the Emperor as a youth. As the Emperor appeared to me, he was as beautiful as a young Greek god, full of love and fire. It is thus that he must have appeared at the time of his courtship with Josephine, on the eve of the second glorious campaign in Italy. As I looked at him I was thrilled with joy. I felt that I was in the presence of the greatest man that ever lived. His face was thin, with the pure outline of a Greek. His great deep, dark eyes radiated love, passion, world-embracing ambition. His beautiful face seemed to be appealing for love. He pressed his hands together, and bent forward as if imploring me, but without saying a word. Three times the same apparition presented itself to me at the same hour and place. Was he brought back by memories of Josephine, or did he come to see me? I can hardly tell."

THE GIRL WITH A GROUCH

She is always selfish, unhappy and discontented.

The most selfish girl in the whole world is the girl with a grouch. The most unhappy girl in the whole world is the girl with a grouch. The effect would not be so disastrous if it ended with her own feelings; she not only injures herself, but she injures every one about her, because she seems to enjoy her grouch most when she sees those about her most unhappy. With some girls, this disposition is chronic—the attacks last from four days to four weeks. Girls subject to the grouch, spend nearly all their time thinking of themselves. They also spend much of their time smoothing out with cosmetics the wrinkles that these grouches plow into their faces. They cannot, however, change the facial expression that this disposition cultivates. Elsie Janis, who is famous for her youthful beauty, says: "A sweet disposition does more toward promoting good looks than any other thing. Never think unkind thoughts of anybody, never sulk, never get into a temper. You can't have a nice, frank expression half of the time, if, during the other half of the time you are wearing a frown. Keep your temper and think kind thoughts. Temper is a great wrinkle producer, and a sour expression adds years to one's looks." It is considered as much an asset nowadays for a young lady to have a good disposition as beauty. Lady Diania Manners, who is a recent London debutante, has been named Lady Perfect Manners, because of her beautiful disposition.

Whenever the stork is down-hearted and wants a little fun, he pays a visit to some apartment house where "children are not allowed"!—The Smart Set.

A new sighting device has been invented which promises to make every soldier a dead shot—if he doesn't forget the essential principle in the heat of the battle. By an ingenious application of a well-known law of mathematics the soldier has simply to estimate the apparent height of the object he desires to hit, and to fire at an imaginary point below the ground. The theory of the device is geometrically sound and scientifically infallible, since the sight is so arranged that when the shot leaves the barrel and reaches its vortex it attains a height just double that of the target, and, in scientific language, "the negative aim creates an angle below the ground line which automatically subtracts from the angle of elevation."

Presentation to Mr. Ingram.

Mr. Lew Ingram, who has ably filled the duties of assistant secretary of the Peterborough Hockey Club during the past season, was presented with a travelling bag yesterday by the club. Mr. Ingram leaves shortly for the West.

Local Liquor Licenses.

Applications for renewal of liquor licenses will be received by the License Commissioners up to April 20. Mr. Alex. Elliott has applied for a retail shop license. The licenses in the city are made up of 12 taverns, 3 shops and one club.

Ministerial Association in Armouries

At the last meeting of the Ministerial Association of Peterborough, it was decided to hold a public service on Good Friday, as usual. Owing to the lateness of the season it will not be possible to utilize Central Park. However, by kindness of the local authorities, it will likely be held in the Armouries.

Well Known Hotel Sold.

As hundreds of our citizens annually stop at the Queen's hotel, Port Hope, it will be of interest to many to learn that the popular carabansery has been sold to a syndicate, headed by Reeve Mitchell and Mr. A. E. Law. The price paid was $17,000 and the buy is considered a very good one.

WHILE YOU WORK AND WHILE YOU SLEEP.

Wage earners make money only while they work. My lot buyers and gardeners make money while they sleep. Those who have bought from me during the past four years have made by increasing value of lots, more than 50 per cent. per annum on the amount invested. And they are worth from $200 to $1200 to-day, because of having wisely imposed a "must" upon themselves to save a little of what they earned. Come in and let us show you a very easy way to do the same.

Gardens: I know one man who planted 1 acre of onions, and sold his crop for $900 cash. Was this not making money while he slept? We can supply a few acres ploughed to men who would wish to do likewise. Also a larger place with good buildings and orchards suitable for gardens, and a large poultry plant. Immediate possession. Decide at once, and call for all particulars.

Lock Street Wedding.

Yesterday afternoon a pretty, but quietly celebrated marriage, was solemnized at 104 Lock street, when Miss Sarah May Throop became the bride of Mr. John Henry Campbell. Rev. J. R. Webb, of Murray street Baptist church officiated. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell left on a trip to Western points, and on their return will reside in the city.

Lindsay Citizen Honored.

Mr. James Low, Lindsay, the well known manager of the Victoria Loan and Savings Company had severed his relations with that company and will soon move to British Columbia. Last Friday evening, the Directors of the company assembled at the home of Mr. W. Flavelle, the President, to say farewell to Mr. Low, who has been connected with the company for the past thirteen years.

Lecture on the Jesuits.

Rev. Dr. Graham, of Toronto, gave a spirited and interesting address last night, in the Park street Baptist church. His subject was "The Jesuits." The reverend gentleman traced the history of this organization from its foundation by Ignatius Loyola to the present day, and clearly showed how they worked along the lines that the end justifies the means. He showed also their former power and its decline in many countries of both Europe and South America.

Peterborough Power Question Postponed.

Yesterday Mayor Bradburn and Ald. Gordon, accompanied by City Clerk Armstrong, Messrs. M. L. Hayes, representing the City Solicitor, W. H. Denham of the Quaker Oats, and James Kendry of Auburn Mills, were in Toronto. They appeared before the Private Bills Committee of the Ontario Legislature in regard to power in Peterborough. The object of their quest was postponed.

Mr. Spry Praises The Times.

A Times' representative had occasion yesterday to hold a conversation with Mr. Louis Spry, the veteran tin-smith of Stewart-street. The old gentleman, 83 years of age, is still hale and hearty, and daily performing similar work to what he has looked after for more than half a century. He, yesterday unhesitatingly remarked, "The Times is the best paper of the whole three printed in Peterborough. Your paper is the only one that gives the news and its opinions apart from any fear."

Our Reports of the Ball Games.

The Times yesterday arranged with Mr. Dan McCabe to have the latter furnish us with complete comprehensive reports of the base-ball games during the coming season. [illegible] our readers [illegible] Mr. McCabe has had experience in newspaper work, so that his ability to write bright, sparkling and readable reports, is assured. Again, as far as his ability to describe the games is concerned, Dan is not only a director of the local professional club, but a former ball twirler with a good reputation throughout the entire Midland district.

Y.W.C.A. Entertainment Repeated.

The Y.W.C.A. Gymnasium classes, last night, gave a repetition of their former exhibition of drills and exercises, as described in a former issue of The Times. The Teddy Bears again met with popular approval. Among the new features of last night were songs by Mr. A. S. Huycke, and piano selections by Miss Gwendoline Hall. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. It reflected great credit both upon the Y.W.C.A. for its enterprise and upon the young lady in charge of the physical culture of those taking part.

A Dog for the Fire Brigade.

It seems to be a tradition, dating back to the first formation of regular fire brigade, that such organization like baseball teams, should have a mascot. The local brigade had one, but its spirit or what constitutes that part of a dog's life fled to its ultimate bourne some time ago. Realizing this need of the brigade here, Mr. G. W. Hatton, yesterday morning, presented a well bred little spaniel to them. Its name is Jerry, and the man who hurts that dog may consider his name to be "Mud."

Post Office Clock Out Again.

The alleged time-piece over the post office building should take the gold cure. Yesterday at 2.45 the hands on the clock pointed to 1.36, or an hour and nine minutes slow. One morning last week at 7.15 a.m., the clock proclaimed the hour of 2.10 whether a.m. or p.m., only the clock knew. Within the past few weeks this clock has gone out of commission for days at a time. Who is responsible? Hundreds of our citizens daily look to that clock to correct (Heaven save the mark!) their watches and clocks, and the local man in charge must surely be paid something as caretaker.

Bad Whiskey in Cold Storage.

At yesterday's police court it seemed as though April fool day had created some cerebral weakness among several citizens fond of a horn. John Hogan, for indulging got it where the chicken got the axe, to the extent of $2, paid. William Kelly, who had previously been told to leave town but played Linger Longer Lou with the ardent spirits was given another chance to skip. He skup. A blacklister, who fell from grace, and acquired a load of the goods that make a man love his mother-in-law and break his wife's dishes, was fined $10. He claimed to have had whiskey put away before he was blacklisted. "Say! but that story is a corker," said a police court habitue.

Local Man Goes After Sap.

Yesterday morning early, a [illegible] of Peterborough, who is known to many of our readers, went out to make maple syrup. Now . . . this part of our story is imagination. He said to his wife, I'll not pay $1.00 a gallon for syrup when I can get the sap and boil it down myself. To get back to facts. The citizen ploughed his way for about three miles to a maple grove. Here he was chased away by the owner, who makes maple syrup and sugar himself. At the next concession, he found another maple tree forest. The good citizen beneath that little strap that most men wear on their trousers, at the rear elevation, had a hatchet. He brought out the axe home for dinner. About 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the citizen went out to collect his sap. As he stood looking astounded at three empty tin pails, he had hung up, a farmer came by and asked, "what are you doing with them elm trees of mine."

FEATHER GARMENTS

Make Their Reappearance in Quite an Original Way.

An interesting novelty is to be the substitution of feather garments in the place of furs. This does not mean a mere revival of the long-discarded feather boa and muff. Feathers are to make their reappearance in quite an original way. "Long feather stoles will be worn," a West End Modiste says, "and they will be composed of such myriads of tiny, uncurled feathers that in the case of black or white stoles they could easily be mistaken for the most exquisite skins.

"There will be large pillow-shaped muffs to match, and in Paris some coats and jackets of similarly 'materialised' feathers will be seen.

"Another striking innovation is that the spring feathers will be obtainable in every conceivable shade, so that a pink, blue, or green muff will be no unusual sight.

"Furs, of course, do not afford a very large choice of colour, and this is an advantage which the feathers will offer.

"Soft, downy trimming is to be used a good deal on evening dresses and, to some extent, also on costumes.

"The new fashion will doubtless be appreciated by most women as forming a transition between the heavy furs required for mid-winter and the lighter garments of the early summer."

THE EYE LIKE A CAMERA.
The eye is constructed so wonderfully and ingeniously that the handicraft of man has not as yet been able to construct so delicate an instrument. It is like a camera—the lens to focus, the lid as a shutter, the iris or color as the diaphragm, the thick coatings of the eye-ball as the dark room, the nerve as the sensitive plate, and strange as it may seem, the images are bottom side up exactly as the image in the camera. Now so delicate and sensitive an instrument as the eye should have good care. Let us explain more fully to you how to care for the eyes.

ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY ARE DROWNED AT SEA

Steamship Koombana Founders With All on Board Off Australian Coast—No Survivors Yet Found

Perth, Western Australia, April 3.—Wreckage picked up off the coast appears to seal the fate of 50 passengers and the 80 men of the crew of the British steamer Koombana, which has been missing since the disastrous typhoon that prevailed on the northwest coast of Western Australia during the last week of March.

The wreckage of the Koombana, which belongs to Adelaide, was found in the vicinity of the Pearl fishing station at Broome, a small seaport in the Kimberley division of Western Australia. During the typhoon 67 pearl fishing boats, belonging to Broome were wrecked, and over 40 pearl fishers lost their lives.

The Koombana was a steamer of 2,182 tons net. She was built at Glasgow in 1900, and was owned by the Adelaide Steamship Co., of Adelaide, Australia.

CLAIM THAT 20,000 TONS OF COAL ARE HELD AT MIMICO

Toronto, April 3.—While there are people in Toronto who cannot get coal from their dealers, a Grand Trunk official says there are about 400 cars containing 20,000 tons in the yards at Mimico waiting for consignees to have it moved. Probably half of this quantity, he says, is anthracite coal and the inference is that much of it is being held for speculative purposes in anticipation of sudden stoppage of the supply altogether.

"Goodness knows, there is enough coal coming along," said the G.T.R. man this morning. He added that the G.T.R. brought in 340 cars yesterday. To-day they have advices of 97 cars at Fort Erie and 130 cars at Black Rock, and they have fourteen engines capable of drawing 40 cars each on the job now to clean it up. At Niagara Falls to-day there are 115 cars and eight engines to move them.

"I can't understand why people complain that there is no coal," said the Grand Trunk man. "I would think there is enough of both kinds here to carry everybody right through the summer."

A WIFE, UNDER QUEBEC LAW MAY NOT BE A MARRIED WOMAN

Montreal April 3.—The Quebec marriage, according to Dean Walton, of McGill University, a well-known authority, enables a husband in Quebec to say to his wife: "What is yours is mine, and what is mine is my own."

He made this assertion in the course of a lecture on married women's property, delivered last evening before the Royal Victoria College for Girls.

Dean Walton also severely criticized the law of succession between husband and wife in Quebec, and described it as utterly behind the age, and only to be characterized as scandalous. As the law stood to-day, if a husband died intestate any relation of his within the twelfth degree had a better right than his wife to his estate. If a man died leaving a fifth cousin, of whom in all probability he had never heard, this blood relation would carry off his whole estate, and the wife, if she had no property of her own, would be left penniless, though her husband might have been a millionaire. So far as he knew the Province of Quebec was the only civilized country which retained a rule so preposterous.

THOSE FISH FRY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I saw a good article in your paper a few days ago, about Mr. Burnham, M.P., going to have bass and maskilonge fry placed in the Kawartha Lakes. Mr. Burnham has done a great act in this matter. There is no use, however, trying to propagate fish in our upper waters as long as the hotels are enabled, I do not say permitted, to buy bass and maskilonge by the hundred weight in the close season. This is being done, as clearly shown in a recent police court case. I happen to know that hundreds of pounds of such fish are secretly sold every week right in this city.

THE GORDON-DAVIES COMPANY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—As per press reports of last week I have disposed of my fixtures and lease of my store situated at 340 George street, Peterborough to the Gordon-Davies Co'y, Limited, of Toronto.

I have much pleasure in stating to the citizens of Peterborough, that I have had considerable dealings during the past two years with this company, in fact I have supplied them largely, during the summer months from the Toronto market with all classes of live stock for their stores in Haileybury, Porcupine and Golden City, where they carry on a large business, as well as several retail stores in Toronto.

I can assure all the customers who dealt with me at 340 George street, in the past the very best possible service, and would consider it a favor if all of my past customers would give them a fair share of their patronage, and I feel satisfied that a few trial orders will convince everyone that this company are prepared to cater to all classes of trade in a most satisfactory manner.

I am also pleased to state that the two principal members of this company, Mr. W. P. Davies and Mr. J. R. Gordon are both practical men in the meat and provision business; and from past experience can confidently state that they will endeavor in every way to handle only the very best quality meats and to serve the public in a most up-to-date manner.

I remain,

IS TORTURED UNTIL HE DIES

"Third Degree" in Russia is Carried to the Extremes

IS BURNED WITH IRONS

Two Police Officers Heavily Punished—Body Burned With Red Hot Soldering Iron and Also Kicked.

Odessa, Russia, April 3.

TWO non-commissioned officers of gendarmery and a peasant have been tried at Elizabetgrad before the Odessa circuit court on the charge of savagely maltreating a prisoner, with the result that he died from his injuries.

The prisoner, a peasant, was accused of having stolen the fur coat of a railway traveller. He stoutly denied his guilt. In order to extort a confession the two gendarmes aided by a peasant whose services they enlisted, pounded him with their fists, kicked him, struck him with a poker, and burned his body with a red-hot soldering iron.

Unable to stand the torture the prisoner at length said that he had stolen the coat and had hidden it in a certain barn. As it was not found there the gendarmes re-commenced their barbarities and inflicted such injuries on their victim that he died the same night.

The medical evidence showed that the bones of both forearms were broken and that the body was a mass of burns and contusions.

Heavily Punished.

The gendarmes were sentenced to two and a half years' and one year's imprisonment respectively.

Similar stories of the maltreatment of prisoners come from Smolens. A boy of fourteen recently hanged himself owing to his mind becoming un- [illegible] apparently wrongfully [illegible] theft. He was flogged and beaten by a police officer and a rural guard, and for four days was attached to the shafts of a cart and forced to keep pace with the horse. A doctor testified that he had found 11 wounds on the boy's body. The police officer was sentenced to four months' imprisonment. The rural guard was acquitted.

BOMB EXPLODED IN MAN'S HANDS

Red Bank, N.J., April 3.—While a meeting of the Garment Workers' union was about to open in Columbus Hall, the presiding officer, an organizer by the name of Marette, saw an object on the floor that looked like a bomb, and it is alleged that he requested Andrew Shkulsky, a Polish member of the union, to carry it out of doors.

Shkulsky had carried the bomb about one hundred yards away from the building, when it exploded, tearing away both his hands, shattering his right arm, and inflicting many body bruises. He is in a critical condition from loss of blood, the wounds being so bad that his recovery is doubtful.

A Quiet Wedding Celebrated.

A pretty wedding was solemnized last night at the home of Mr George Frost, of Otonabee, when his daughter, Miss Pearl, was united in marriage to Mr. Edward McGregor, of North Monaghan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. G. Brown, of St. James church, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. After the wedding ceremony, a delightful supper was partaken of. The couple left on their honeymoon trip on the 7.42 train for Toronto.

GREAT ENGLISH COAL STRIKE IS NOW PRACTICALLY ENDED

London, April 3.—Albert Stanley, secretary of the Midlands Mine Federation, and member of the House of Commons, practically announced the end of the national coal strike in the United Kingdom this afternoon.

Addressing a mass meeting of miners at Cannock Chase, in Staffordshire, Mr. Stanley said that it was now impossible to secure the necessary two-thirds majority of the miners in favor of continuing the strike.

Mr. Stanley has access to the figures and knows the intentions of the Miners' Federation which are not available to the public. He advised the miners of the Cannock Chase district who have voted against the resumption of work to return to the pits without delay and they have decided to resume work to-night.

The Postmaster-General Herbert Louis Samuel, addressing deputations which called on him in the House of Commons, also stated that he was confident the strike would be declared over when the Miners' Federation meets to-morrow.

The fact that King George is leaving for Sandringham to-morrow to spend the Easter vacation is regarded as a confirmatory sign that the trouble is at an end.

Mr. Whitfield, one of the miners' leaders now in London for the meeting of the Miners' Federation, furnished an indication of the trend of events when he telegraphed to the miners of Bristol this afternoon to return to work. The men immediately obeyed his instructions and have already gone down the pits.

The aggregate decrease during the week in the traffic returns of the railroads attains the huge total of $3,560,000, making in the four weeks since the beginning of the strike a decrease of $11,705,000.

Out of Coal To-day.

Several of the local dealers are out of coal to-day, and do not know where to get any more. Others have shipments still on the way and are anxiously awaiting arrival.

At the office of one big dealer, the reply to a prospective customers was "We can let you have plenty of coal but not to-day." This firm had previously declined a hurry up order from a gentleman at the Parliament buildings, who called up three other dealers before he was supplied. "And then I only got half a ton of coal dust," he said.

Another man says he got a ton from one of the big firms after his own dealer had been unable to supply it.

MRS. SCOTT SAYS EXPLORER WAS NOT RACING TO POLE

London, April 3.—Mrs. Robert F. Scott, although naturally somewhat disappointed that her husband is not returning, is delighted at the prospect that he will get another season of scientific investigation in the Antarctic, for she takes the keenest interest in his work. She said to an interviewer:

"It would be the greatest pity if such highly skilled, trained scientists once on the spot, did not have the [illegible] study. Originally the lack of funds [illegible] of the expedition into the space of one year, but everybody who has any interest in the subject must be glad that a more thorough program is now decided upon.

"If my husband feels any regret it is that it delays his return to his naval duties. His great desire is to resume, as soon as possible after the expedition is over, his position in that service, which has always occupied the foremost place in his enthusiasm.

"As regards a 'race,' so far as my husband is concerned, there never has been one or any thought of one. Indeed, I think it more probable that until the early part of next year he will know nothing whatever about the race in which he popularly supposed to have been a competitor.

"He stuck to his original plans and in almost every detail has carried out a program that was drawn up more than two years ago. [illegible] somewhat about the end of December that being the best time at which to take theodolite observations.

"So far as can be judged he would have arrived at his objective a little more than a fortnight after the scheduled time. In other respects he appears to have been successful in his mission."

HALF-BLOOD NEGRESS HAS KILLED 17 PERSONS

Lafayette, La., April 3.—Clementine Barnabet, a "half-blood" negress told a story here to-day that the police authorities say they accept as clearing the mystery veiling the killing of twenty negroes in Southwest Louisiana, and which, it is said gave clues that will fix the guilt for 15 other night assassinations of blacks in Louisiana and Texas.

From Clementine's story it appears she led a mysterious negro cult, the members of which performed the rites of "human sacrifice."

The Police declare Clementine told her story of wholesale slaughter with no apparent appreciation that killing of human life was a crime. Without reservation, she told her part in the 35 assassinations, but declined to reveal the names of members of the mysterious cult that helped her. The murders have been committed in the last year.

Most of the 35 assassinations were accomplished in the killing of families of three and four members at one time. In every instance the murder was committed at night.

The police to-day determined from Clementine's story that the religious fanatics took possession of a cottage owned by a person marked for slaughter, and that a bloody orgy followed.

CHATHAM INUNDATED BY FLOOD FROM RISING OF THAMES RIVER

Chatham, Ont., April 3.—The River Thames now stands fourteen feet above normal summer level, and it is still rising. It rose nearly two feet in the night despite the change in temperature, and there is a current running over seven miles an hour. Basements all along King street are flooded and Dover street is impassable except in flat bottomed boats. Residents in the valley were flooded out last night and there is several feet of water in their lower storeys to-day. The Kent mills have shut down owing to water having reached the level of the furnace fire boxes, putting the fires out.

BOYS SHOT THEIR FATHER BECAUSE HE BOSSED THEM

Brothers, Aged 13 and 15, Waited At Roadside Till He Passed, Fired Revolver, and Drove Home With Body

Los Angeles, April 3.—Frank and Roy Yanes, brothers, aged 15 and 13 respectively, are in the county jail here to-day, charged with the murder of their father—George Yanes—a rancher near Compton. The boys admitted their guilt. Frank said he and his brother concealed themselves at the roadside. As the elder Yanes approached, Frank told the officers, he fired the fatal shot from a revolver. The boys took $5.85 in money from his pockets, loaded the body on a mud-sled, and hauling it home, told their mother some enemy had killed him.

Both admitted their father had been kind to them, and that they had no reason to kill him except that he had compelled them to go to school and "they were tired of being bossed."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE WILL NOT CHANGE LICENSE LAWS

Toronto, April 3.—It is generally credited that as a result of a caucus of Conservative members this morning, the Government will not introduce at this session any radical amendment to the present liquor laws of the Province. Mr. Rowell's resolution likely will be followed by an amendment of the Provincial Secretary expressing satisfaction at the progress of temperance in Ontario, and referring to the system of Government supervision of the traffic.

It is understood that several members pressed hard for a counter move to Mr. Rowell's abolition plank. Mention was made in caucus of the idea of abolishing the treating system; but it is believed that it was not given serious consideration.

The two methods of Government procedure in regard to the Rowell platform of "Abolish the Bar" that were considered before the caucus were, first, that the Provincial Secretary should oppose the Rowell resolution with an amendment simply endorsing the course of the Government in the administration of the liquor laws, and upholding local option as the most desired means toward the end of liquor abolition; second, that the party should take steps forward in the suppression or regulation of the traffic, which would offset the Rowell cry as a political talisman.

BOY'S BACK MARKED BY MANY STRAP BLOWS

Woodstock, Ont., April 3.—At 7.30 o'clock last night the three Woodstock College professors—Messrs. R. [illegible] McCrimmon and Vincent Price, who, it was alleged, [illegible] to a student of that institution by the name of Vincent Hoppwood, were charged in the local Police Court with assault. The accused professors were represented in court by G. G. McKay, K.C., of this city, while Crown Attorney Bell prosecuted.

The chief witness for the Crown was the plaintiff boy, Hoppwood. He stated that about 11.30 o'clock on the night of March 22, Prof. McDonald came to his room and told him to follow him. Witness did so, and was taken to the gymnasium, followed by Professors McCrimmon and Price. When the gymnasium was reached Hoppwood was ordered to take off his bathrobe and lay across the vaulting horse. Witness refused at first to do so, but the three masters forced him to do as requested. McDonald applied ten cracks with a strap over his bare back. Witness did not think he had been cut. McDonald told him he would get twice as much next time.

Cross-examined, Hoppwood admitted he had been a bad boy. He had been punished by other teachers several times before, and had been warned that his next offence meant severe punishment. Witness stated that he attended other schools and had received [illegible] had been a frequent offender against the rules of the college.

Dr. Welford, who examined the boy the day after the punishment, stated that there were several marks on the student's back about 12 or 14 inches long. The skin was not cut. Dr. Welford thought that the beating was most severe.

The only witness called for the defence was Prof. R. A. F. McDonald, who administered the punishment. He stated that previous to the whipping he had repeatedly warned Hoppwood regarding his disobedience. Witness did not feel that the whipping had been too severe. McDonald was questioned regarding his authority for administering such a punishment, and stated that, although he had not secured special instructions from the principal in this case, the masters were generally trusted regarding the punishment to be administered.

QUEBEC BISHOPS FORBID PEOPLE TO JOIN ANY TRADE UNIONS

Montreal, April 3.—Concerted action is being taken by the Roman Catholic authorities in the Province of Quebec against international unions which have adopted neutrality in religious matters as part of their program. Solemn warnings are being issued to working men, pointing out that those unions are liable to encourage socialism and Godlessness.

Archbishop Bruchesi of Montreal, made a statement along these lines a few days ago.

Yesterday two Quebec prelates, the Bishop of Chicoutimi and the Bishop of Sherbrooke, made similar announcements on the subject.

The former said he saw a real danger from Roman Catholic workingmen of this country joining such unions as fraternize freely with Socialistic and Masonic groups and do not hide their anti-clerical ideas.

The Bishop of Sherbrooke denounced trade unions and contended in an address that unions are the source of the present troubles in Great Britain and that, instead of uniting the people, they separated them. His Lordship's statement is said to be inspired by an attempt to form a carpenters' union in Sherbrooke.

THE GROWTH OF CANADA

Industrial Awakening in the East Brings Expansion to Many Industries

Canada, with its seven millions odd of population, already has a home market for her agriculture and manufactures of one-fifth of that of the United Kingdom. When we come to think that the United Kingdom imports her food supplies from all over the world, and that the foodstuffs that Canada sends her is but a drop in the bucket, it will be realised that Canadian agriculturists have already, in their own home market, by far their greatest source of wealth.

The purely consuming class—the urban and industrial class—is far greater in Canada than is generally supposed. For instance, the recent census, which places our total population at just over seven millions, shows that two and a half millions of this population, or considerably more than one-third, are residents of towns and cities of over 4000 population. An absolutely protected market of two and a half millions of towns people—which, after all is only a portion of the consuming class of Canada—is an asset of no mean importance to the agriculturists of the Dominion.

Another noteworthy fact shown by the census is, that although the agricultural population of Western Canada has been increasing at a reasonable rate, the agricultural population in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—taking these as a unit—has remained stationary. Yet, despite the the fact that the agricultural classes of this Eastern part of Canada have not increased, the census shows that of the increase of 1,710,534 in the population of Canada during the past ten years, over one-fifth, namely 375,766, has to be accredited to Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Practically all this increase in the East has been in the urban or consuming population comprised in 33 large towns, which between them shown an increase in population of 316,092.

Now this remarkable increase in the industrial population of Eastern Canada, which has afforded a proportionate increase in the market for the agriculturalists of the Dominion, as well as magnificent opportunities for such of their sons as are fitted by natural endowments for industrial careers, has largely taken place during the last five years, as is indicated by the fact that according to the Government census of manufacturers in 1905, the number of industrial employees in Quebec had only increased by 5000 since 1900, in New Brunswick by 3,000 and in Nova Scotia by 500. Most of the 375,766 increase in population which these three Eastern provinces show, therefore, must have taken [illegible]

As a matter of fact, a great industrial awakening is taking place in the East. The secret of this awakening is that capitalists have suddenly discovered the industrial resources of these provinces. Money is pouring in, in a flood from Great Britain, from the United States, and from Germany and France for the industrial development of Eastern Canada. Great steel and coal industries are being built up on the very shores of the Atlantic Ocean, and during the past five years these industries have begun to compete in the markets of the world.

Great pulp and paper manufactories are springing up in New Brunswick and Quebec, and already are exporting their products to all parts of the world. Great mining industries are being established all over the East, and Quebec, whose mining resources have remained almost untouched while those of Ontario have been developing, has now entered into the van of progress, a result of a complete revision of her mining laws. These are only a few of the great basic industries. Hundreds of others are following in their wake. The East, in fact, is taking the place that Nature has fitted her to take—that of a great manufacturing country.

The phenomenal progress of some of the larger cities of the East, and notably of Montreal, is well known. But without instancing any of the larger cities, a few examples of lesser known places will illustrate the general progress. Victoriaville, Que., with electrical power from Shawinigan Falls, increased her manufactured products from $274,000 in 1901 to $500,000 in 1909. Three Rivers, Que., with power from natural gas, has increased from 9,000 to 14,000 in population. Fraserville, on the shores of the St. Lawrence, with unlimited timber at its back, increased its manufactured products from $276,874 in 1900 to $600,000 in 1909. Joliette, Que., with power from Shawinigan Falls, increased its manufactured products from $719,359 in 1906 to over $1,000,000 in 1909. Buckingham, Que., with natural resources of lumber, phosphate, plumbago, and mica, increased its manufactured products from $265,980 to $800,000 in 1908.

As far back as 1900—really before the great industrial awakening had begun—over $70,000,000 per annum was being paid out in wages in the factories of Quebec, Nova Scotia and the Maritime Provinces. Since that amount has more than doubled. In other words the amount paid out in wages in these provinces, during the past year, must equal an amount sufficient to pay for a wheat crop of [illegible] million bushels at $1 per bushel.

Considering that factory employees only form a portion of the urban population, it will be seen that this consuming population of the East is a big factor in the well-being of the Dominion as a whole, and presents, as it were, a view of the future for such provinces as Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, whose vast resources, now dormant, must inevitably attract and concentrate the industrial classes of the world.

NELLIE'S DEATH.

Scene: The bar of a public-house. Enter poor woman, weeping bitterly.

"My poor little Nellie has just been run over and killed," she moaned.

They were only hard-working men and their hearts were touched, and soon a hat was being passed round the bar for the afflicted woman's benefit.

"Five years," she answered; and then paralysed them all with: "And I've had her ever since she was a kitten."

HON. WALTER SCOTT

Like other prominent Canadian politicians, the Hon. Walter Scott entered politics by way of journalism. Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself gained much of his facile power of expression during the year in which he edited Le Defricheur. Alexander Mackenzie, the only other Liberal Prime Minister that Canada ever had, was also an editor, while the Hon. W. S. Fielding grew politically wise while wielding the editorial pen of the Halifax Chronicle.

A very humble position introduced Mr. Scott to journalistic life, for it was none other than that of printer's devil. The young "devil" rose quickly. He was soon at the "case," and a year or two later saw him mechanical foreman. With mechanical foremanship he combined leader writing, for in those days there were no nice distinctions between the different departments of Western newspapers. Ten years after "hitting" the West, Mr. Scott was editor and proprietor of two newspapers. There is cause for gratification in the fact that men like Mr. Scott are constantly rising from the ranks to give States and Provinces and nations just laws and good government. Upon this fact the world depends for its guides and leaders. The old idea that a single class, an hereditary, or patrician class of the community could supply a succession of competent law-givers has hopelessly broken down.

HON. WALTER SCOTT

Mr. Scott grew up as the son of pioneer farmers in Old Ontario. His father died when he was a baby, and for that reason Mr. Scott had to work perhaps a little harder than other boys. He milked and ploughed and did every common task incidental to the raising of stock and the growing [illegible] to the common school, and in the autumn, when the mornings were chilly, he learned the trick of warming his feet on the patches where the cows had been laying.

The spring of 1885 saw him, a gaunt lad of seventeen, pack up his traps and set out for the Canadian West. He felt in his bones that he was not destined to spend his life upon the farm. He got off the train at Portage La Prairie, one of the small towns west of Winnipeg, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, which was then pushing through the Rockies to the Pacific Coast. For five months he drove a tradesman's cart, and then, following a true instinct, he entered the office of the Manitoba Liberal, and became a printer's devil. The proprietor evidently thought him a bright lad, for about a year afterwards the two went together farther west, and started a new paper in Regina, then the capital of the North-West Praries. The next fifteen years were spent by Mr. Scott in Regina, and intermittently in the neighboring town of Moose Jaw, in active newspaper work. He did everything there was to do about a newspaper. He often wrote a leading article and set it up in type himself. It is one of his boasts that he is still a union printer. The years brought their return. In 1894 Mr. Scott bought the Moose Jaw Times, and the following year the Regina Leader, both of which are to-day prominent among the daily newspapers of Western Canada.

RULES OF GREAT WORTH

Before going to bed that night the discouraged girl had committed to memory these rules for being a good clerk which the older woman had prepared in the form of an acrostic, daintily colored and framed:—

Make light of hardships, forget annoyances, and keep cheerful.

Avoid quarrels, close intimacies and gossip.

Keep alert, interested, attentive and progressive.

Induce customers to buy by being pleasant, obliging and helpful.

Neglect nothing that will make you valuable to your employers.

Gain the good-will of your fellow-workers, and—keep it.

Give honest work and loyalty to your firm, it will not go unrewarded.

Obey orders, stick to rules, and don't be a firebrand.

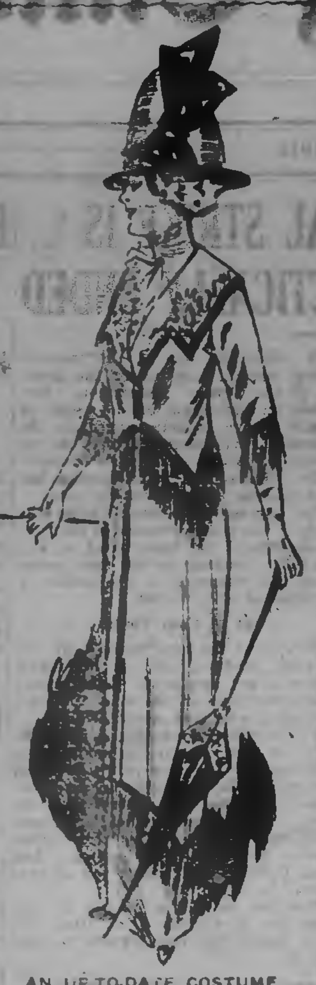
Determine to succeed and live up to that determination.

So well did the clerk live up to her rules that not only the end of the month found her in her place, but she had conquered the unfriendliness of her mates and had won notice from her superiors by her courteous, obliging manner and her growing favor with customers.

WHERE PROS. ARE NUMEROUS

No wonder they have champion oarsmen in Australia. The professionals are sufficiently numerous there to justify the formation of a professional scullers' league. The organization meeting was attended by three ex-champions of the world—William Beach, George Towns and Peter Kemp—besides many other lesser lights. It does not always work out that way, though. England has a hundred entries in a professional handicap, but only one man approaching the first class.

HINTS FOR THE HOME



AN UP-TO-DATE COSTUME

Everywhere and on every sort of frock one sees fringe, and unless it is run to death, bids fair to be the most popular trimming for street and evening gowns. Even the tailored coat suits are fringe trimmed, and the above sketch illustrates its use on a coat and skirt costume of purple and green shot silk, which, in addition to the fringe, has trimming bands of black velvet put on as indicated. The medicis collar is braided with black silk soutache.

Before Scraping new potatoes always soak them for half an hour in salt and water. The effect afterwards is wonderful; not only do the skins come off much more easily, but the hands will [illegible] A little pumice stone or half a lemon rubbed on them will remove the stain.

When you are about to sweep a room, take a page of newspaper or other paper, wet in hot water, and [illegible] cast all over the carpet; then sweep, and most of the dust in the room, if you use your broom judiciously, will be attracted to the paper.

To make Jam or marmalade look clear without skimming it, add a piece of butter the size of an egg about a quarter of an hour before removing the fruit from the fire. The jam will look quite clear, and will not stick to the jars when turned out for use.

It is Difficult sometimes when using essences for cakes, etc., to measure correctly the number of drops required. Try this: Dip the finger in water and wet the rim of the bottle in one place, and the essence will be found to drop quite easily.

Curtains that are starched with flour will last longer than if the ordinary starch is used, because flour does not rot them the same as the starch does. Three tablespoonfuls of flour mixed to a paste with cold water; then pour boiling water on as for proper starch. This will do two pairs of curtains, besides a few smaller covers, etc.

Few Insect Pests can withstand an application of hot alum water, and ants, beetles, and crickets can be destroyed by pouring into their holes the solution made by adding a pint of boiling water to half a pound of alum. Painting the crevices of bedsteads and bedrooms furniture with turpentine effectually keeps away unwelcome insect pests.

Woman Smoker Burned

A millworker, named Elizabeth Berry, or Welsh, aged fifty, who left Springfield to walk to Newport, died in the Cottage Hospital, Cupar, from shock and other injuries. She was found by the roadside near the farm of Hayston in an unconscious state, with the upper part of her clothing in flames. It appears she had accidentally set fire to her dress with the match she had been using to light her pipe.

STOPPING THE CRITICS

How Rev. Mr. Sams Stopped Objections to His Decisions

Talking about getting close to the people, the following telegram appearing in the latest Australian papers, from Longreach, Queensland, is interesting:—

At a boxing tournament in aid of the hospital, which a number of ladies attended, the contestants in the middleweight division were Sandy Thompson and Jack Miles. At the end of four rounds the judges disagreed, and the referee, Rev. Hulton Sams, who is well-known in Northern Queensland as the "fighting parson," gave the decision as a draw.

A good deal of boo-hooing followed. Rev. Mr. Sams invited anyone who disagreed with the verdict to step into the ring with him. This quieted the audience.

Rev. Hulton Sams was referee for the amateur boxing tournament recently, and official positions were held by two other clerics. Rev. Father [illegible] was timekeeper and Rev. C. [illegible], head of the Bush Brotherhood, was ten-second check. The reverend gentlemen proved efficient officials, and carried their duties to the satisfaction of the contestants and the crowd.

THE BOXER'S LIMIT

The new rules of the French Boxing Federation bar boxers under 21 years of age, and this provision shuts out Georges Carpentier, who is only 18 years old, but who has won successively the bantam, feather, light and welter-weight championships of his country, and who recently disposed of the English middleweight champion, Jim Sullivan.

THE PERFECT WIFE

A Court [illegible] One Exists

In some quarters the discovery that there is such a thing as a "perfect wife" seems to have created a great deal of surprise.

Directly as the result of a Western court's assertion, in deciding a divorce case, that there isn't any such thing as "perfection" in wives, we are assured by a loyal husband that the judge is egregiously wrong.

He has a "perfect wife," he declares, and to prove it he cites the facts that in 36 years she has never uttered a cross word to him nor provoked one from him. And, better than all, she has given to the world four splendid sons and four fine daughters.

What woman could do better? he proudly asks.

The fact of the matter is, the Western judge is very much mistaken.

There are "perfect wives" and plenty of them. The great trouble is that the world hears so little about them.

All around us are husbands who could, if they would, enlighten the erring court as to the whereabouts of other "perfect wives." If pinned right down to it they would admit, perhaps, that their own wives are not the most beautiful women in the world, not the cleverest or most brilliant, and that now and then they give reason for remembering that they are not yet angles. But they are "perfect wives," no matter what the court says.

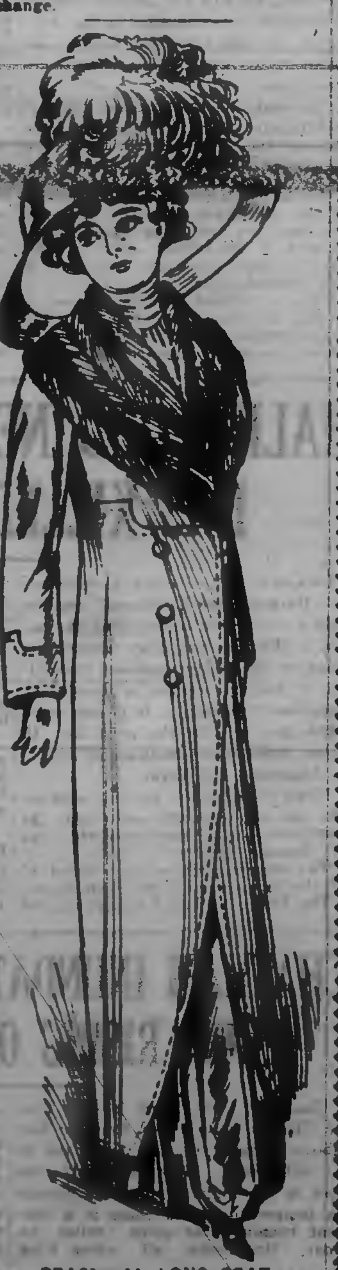
AGE FOR MARRIAGE

A Nonagenarian Advises Against "Kindergarten" Marriages

At the ripe age of 96, Major Archelaus G. Warner, addressing the Englewood Old Settlers' Association, advised against what he called "kindergarten weddings." A girl, in his opinion, should be 21 and a man 25 before entering upon marriage, because "people of those ages make fewer mistakes."

Probably there are many foolishly contracted marriages of persons under the ages specified, but there are many happy ones also. With certain qualifications, however, the advice of Major Warner seems sound. When the man must make his way in the world unaided by relatives or inherited money, he is not likely to get a good start before he is 25. The young woman is likely to know her own mind better if she waits until she is 21.

From the theoretical point of view the right time to marry is when the right man or woman comes along and there are no serious obstacles of any sort. As civilization grows older in our northern climates the average age at which people marry becomes later, with necessity and wisdom back of the change.



PRACTICAL LONG COAT

There is a greater variety of long coats shown this season than ever before, and the majority of them are pretty and practical. One exceedingly good-looking model is cut on lines suggested in our sketch, and is made from a lovely shade of dark blue colth, trimmed with a huge collar of sable. This would make an ideal evening coat for the woman living in the suburbs.

Soiled Paint

Finger marks on doors will quickly disappear if they are rubbed with a clean piece of flannel dipped in paraffin. Afterwards wipe with a clean cloth wrung out of hot water, in order to remove the smell of the oil.

PSALMS BUT NO HIMS

Miss Oldum, suspecting her latest servant of regaling her beau upon cold beef from the pantry, called Betty, and inquired whether she did not hear someone downstairs.

"Oh, no, madam," replied the girl, readily. "It was only me singing a psalm to amuse myself."

"You may amuse yourself, Betty," replied the maiden lady, "with psalms; but let's have no hims, Betty, no hims, mind you; I have a great objection to hims."

Betty curtsied and withdrew, seriously thinking.

A MODEL HUSBAND.

He had been married just a year, and one day strolled into his office grinning all over his face and whistling.

"What is the matter with you?" asked his colleague.

"Matter?" Why when I left home this morning my wife said: 'Dear, you are a model husband.'"

"Well, that is not much of a compliment," said his partner.

"I should like to know why not?" stated the young husband.

"Well, take my advice, and look up the English Dictionary, and note what the word 'Model' means."

The young husband did so, and this is what came to his gaze, and dampened his feelings:

"Model, a small pattern, a miniature of something on a larger scale."

INSULTING.

Doctor: "And you, sir, you could not try a case of cheese!"

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

She—But suppose I sue you for breach of promise?

He—You'd better not or you'll get crushed in the mob!

TOO MANY COLLECTIONS

A Scot, paying a visit to London, was taken by his nephew to a service in St. Paul's Cathedral. He had no acquaintance with the Liturgy of the Church of England. He picked up a prayer-book and became very interested, but as he turned over the leaves his face became clouded with a look of intense anxiety.

He placed the prayer-book carefully down, looked cautiously round, picked up his hat, and crept stealthily to the door.

His nephew followed him, and said, "Are you ill, uncle? What is the matter?"

The uncle replied, "No, but it is enough to make any man ill, the number of collections made in this kirk!"

"Collections?" said the nephew in surprise, "if there is any at all there certainly won't be more than one."

"Well," replied the uncle, "they shouldna' mark so many in the book [illegible] 'collect' and a [illegible] I'll bide here until all these collections are taken, I'll no ha'e a bawbee left in ma pocket.'"

A TIP TO BUSINESSLIKE FARMERS

A motor-car had just reached a nice level stretch of road, and the man in the goggles was preparing for a scorch, when an honest-eyed old farmer stepped from the hillside, and held up his hand.

"Reckon you was jest going to slip along tidy fast," he said.

The motorist seemed angry for having been stopped, and wanted to know why he had stopped him. The old farmer replied:

"Look through these 'ere glasses of mine, and then perhaps you will change your mind."

The motorist looked through the glasses, and beheld a policeman on the branch of a tree.

"Great Scott!" he said; "it's nothing but a police-trap. Thanks, old friend." And the clink of coins was heard.

A minute later he went crawling past the tree at six miles per hour. [illegible], remarked:

"That idea of carting the scarecrow from the pea-field and fixing it to the tree wasn't so bad."

GERMAN'S DEADLY NEW SIEGE GUN

Fires Huge Bomb Which Does Not Enter Bore---A Destructive Weapon

The new gun was constructed by the firm of Krupp. It is an improvement on an idea much used by the Japanese in the siege of Port Arthur, and is designed to aid the advance of infantry storming an entrenched position. At the same time, experiments have been carried out with a new form of hand grenade, which effects much the same purpose.

For long military experts in Germany have been puzzling over the problem of how the long range artillery of an army could render efficient support to its own advancing infantry right up to the trenches of a fortified position. According to present "siege technique" the artillery of an attacking army has to cease bombarding the enemy's entrenchments as soon as the storming infantry gets to close quarters, otherwise the stormers are likely to be shot down by their own guns from the rear.

This cessation of the attackers' bombardment enables the besieged to emerge from their entrenchments and pour a devastating fire at close quarters into the ranks of the attacking force, which is thus deprived of the support of its own artillery just at the moment when it most stands in need of it. The new gun has been devised to overcome this difficulty.

It has an extremely narrow, unrifled bore, and is of very light construction, easily capable of being carried by two men, and is intended to be carried in the front lines of the advancing infantry. Its most remarkable feature is its projectile, which consists of a round bomb of great diameter loaded with a very powerful explosive mixture. The bomb is of far greater diameter than the bore of the gun which throws it, and is provided with a long stick-like tail which is loaded into the barrel of the gun, its lower end, which is enlarged to a wad or piston-like form, resting on the guncharge at the bottom of the barrel. The bomb itself merely lies on the gun muzzle, quite outside the bore.

On being fired, the trailing stick like tail serves to keep the bomb in its proper direction of flight, and only detaches itself and falls to earth after a certain distance has been covered, leaving the bomb to pursue its course alone.

The experiments have shown that a reasonable precision can be obtained with the new missile up to a distance of 300 to 400 yards, and the bomb itself, which, owing to its large capacity, is capable of great destruction serves not only to prevent the defenders emerging from their cover, but also to make great breaches in their [illegible].

CAULIFLOWER SEED

Nine-tenths of the world's supply of Cauliflower seed is grown by a woman on a Puget Sound island. Startling as this statement may seem, the fact remains that it is not due altogether to any supremacy of knowledge or skill that has enabled Mrs. Anne Archibault to achieve what thousands of first rank gardeners hopelessly abandoned. It is due to the peculiar climatic conditions of Whidby Island. Outside of Holland no other section affords the climatic requisites for maturing the seed pods of cauliflower plants.

It was an accident, this discovery of Mrs. Archibault, that has made it possible for her to own 1,000 acres of fertile land and to enjoy a business of $100,000 annually. Cauliflower seed will not mature except under certain favorable conditions. One is dampness, humidity, which gives the tiny seeds the plumpness so essential to development. Another is water—not irrigation, rain, nor the wet, boggy muck of a marsh, but a continuous moist soil beneath which a hardpan subsoil acts as a floor to a reservoir. The land of Whidby Island is ideal for this culture.

Cauliflower plants are transplanted like cabbage in rows. The usual cultivation is continued until the seed pods form. Then even the wind should be kept from the fields, for even the flutter of a tiny bird over a cluster of the seed pods will mar the perfect development of the seed. Harvest consists in gathering the dry pods, artificial drying in the sun, a clover-seed separator and a fanning mill.

Mrs. Archibault's first crop amounted to a handful of seed. About this time she read in a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture that the supply of this seed was short and limited to a few hundred pounds. This was five years ago. Like a flash Mrs. Archibault saw her longed-for independence. She grew 400 pounds of seed in 1907. Communication with some well-known seedmen brought orders for her supply at $3 a pound. Every year since she has increased the yield of seed until the present world's supply of 80,000 pounds is practically all grown by her.

Farmers all over Whidby Island grow this seed and sell their product to Mrs. Archibault, who markets it through her eastern sales agencies.

The cauliflower fields are beautiful at flowering time, the immaculate snow-white blossoms being alive with white butterflies. The mistress does not interfere with these cabbage moths, believing they aid in scattering the pollen from flower to flower.—Gal [illegible]

LITTLE NELL

"God bless dadda, mamma, George, Elsie, an'—an' the wee dog ablow the bed," and then there was a long pause.

The little boy raised his head from his mother's lap and showed a very red face.

"What wee dog, John?" asked Mamma Fulton.

John looked round, but Elsie and George had left the kitchen. He tried to speak, but instead of words came tears.

Mamma Fulton took his hand, raised him up, and led him to the room. A moment later she called, "Dadda, come here a minute."

He went down on his knees and looked under the boy's bed. There was a little black heap near the wall. He crawled under the bed, took hold of it, and dragged it into the light.

"Who brought this here?" he asked, somewhat sternly.

All the children were now crying. George was the eldest—he was a plump little fellow of nine—and the others looked to him to reply.

"Oh, dad, it was lyin' doon in the close; it couldna walk, and some big boys were tormentin' it, so we were giein' it a wee rest—jist till the mornin'."

Dadda looked closely at the little terrier, with its coat and legs all splashed with mud, and saw that one of its paws was stained with blood. He lifted up the dog tenderly, carried it to the kitchen, and placed it on the rug before the fire. He gave it some food, and then it lay down as if it could keep awake no longer.

The children were satisfied, and went to bed happy.

The little dog was very lame, and was allowed to stay with the Fultons until it could run about with comfort.

Nell, as the children named her, was given a good bath in the wash-house. She lost her torn and tattered look, and became trim and smart. She and the children were soon fast friends. They loved to gather round the fire and play on the hearthrug.

As the days passed Dadda and Mamma Fulton began to look seriously at Nell. They were very poor, and had no money for a dog license, so they had to make up their minds to send Nell away. They often talked of the matter when the children were asleep without being able to decide what to do.

"I hate to disappoint the weans," said Dadda Fulton, "but Nell must go."

It was Saturday afternoon. The dinner dishes had been washed and put away. George, Elsie, and John were given their weekly halfpennies and sent out to spend them. Nell was not allowed to go with them, so she curled herself up in front of the fire and blinked at the dancing flames.

Dadda Fulton put on his cap, took her in his arms, and went out. When he reached the closemouth he looked about to see if the children were near. Ay, there they were on the other side of the street looking at the good things in the window of a sweet-shop and wanting to buy the lot.

He hurried down the street and was [illegible]. He walked on for [illegible] reached Glasgow Cross. There he put Nell down near King William's Statue and ran away.

Nell did not waste a minute, but followed him at once. Dadda Fulton tried to slip into the underground railway station, but Nell was too sharp for him. She soon caught up to him and trotted by his side.

The Cross was very busy. Men and women were standing about or jostling each other on the pavement. Cars, vans, lorries, and barrows were passing from every corner.

Dadda Fulton tried to get away from Nell in the crowd, but she kept too close to him. At last, feeling like one who has done something very wrong, he jumped on a car going east and hurried upstairs. When he reached the top he turned and saw poor Nell standing at the Cross and gazing after the car as if she did not know what to do. She was such a forlorn-looking little creature that Dadda Fulton felt very miserable at having deserted her.

He was very quiet that afternoon as he sat in his wooden armchair with his feet on the fender and a newspaper in his hand.

Suddenly there was a great noise on the stair. He rose and opened the door. In rushed the three children—Elsie crying, John spluttering with excitement, and George carrying Nell—poor, dirty, battered Nell.

"What's this?" asked Dadda Fulton.

"Oh, dadda," began Elsie—

"Elsie was nearly rin ower," cried John.

When the children were quieted, the whole story was told.

Elsie had been crossing the street, careless of the horse and van coming rapidly towards her. She would have been knocked down had not a little dog given a bark and jumped at the horse's nose. The horse had turned aside and Elsie was saved, but Nell's foreleg was badly crushed.

Brave little Nell! Her glistening eyes showed the terrible pain she was suffering.

It took a long time to put her right again. At first Dadda Fulton had little hope of being able to save her. But she was saved, although she was never as smart in her limbs as before the accident. However, though lame and not beautiful, to Elsie, George, and John she was the dearest little doggie in all Glasgow.

There was now no thought of putting her away. A license was bought, and Nell became one of the family.

Back Full of Aches Headaches and Depression

MUCH OF WOMEN'S SUFFERIN IS NEEDLESS AND CAN BE PREVENTED BY THE USE OF DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS

That Stab-like Pain in the Back is Sure Indication of Kidney Trouble.

Mrs. Anna Rodriguez writes as follows from her home in Valencia: "For a long time I suffered with failing strength and nagging headaches. My condition grew steadily worse, my limbs became bloated and shaky, I was sallow and thin, felt rheumatic pains, dizziness and chills. I unfortunately didn't suspect my kidneys, and was nearly dead when I discovered the true cause of my sufferings. I read so much about the wonderful health and strength that comes to all who use Dr. Hamilton's Pills that I felt sure they would help me. Such blessings of health and comfort I got from Dr. Hamilton's Pills I can't describe. They speedily put me right, and their steady use keeps me active, energetic, strong and happy. I strongly urge others to regulate and tone their system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut."

IMPROVE THE CITY.

A golden opportunity to make [illegible] less disfigured by poles than at present. Mr. Duckworth, sup- [illegible] of the Great Northwest- [illegible] that, if the city will pay $350 towards [illegible] these huge poles, on our main thoroughfare, originally put up by the Ontario Telephone Co. There were little thirty-foot poles where the present big ones now obstruct the view, down, or up George street, but the Ontario Telephone Co., a local concern, using the influence of its members and directors, got the city and the G.N.W. T. Co. to allow the small poles to be replaced by the present big ones. The telegraph company retained the right to possession of the "right-of-way", and the poles, and fourteen or fifteen feet at the tops above the telephone wires. The Ontario Company, after an ineffectual struggle, sold out to the Bell Telephone Co., and the G.N.W. Co. now own the poles and right-of-way.

THE WAR LORD AT WORK.

God help the hard-working, industrious German peasant or factory hand! The War Lord has determined to proceed with naval construction, that is warships, at a more furious pace than ever before. The agricultural and industrial masses, in that country, are simply over-ridden and swamped by the corset-wearing, gaudily uniformed mobs of the army and navy. Let us in Canada render sincere thanks to a benign providence, that shoulder straps and plumed helmets do not override the dictates of business progress and the nation's maintenance. What use to the country are hundreds of thousands of swagger officers, and bull-dozed privates, walking the streets eating up the taxes paid by the whole community? They toil not, neither do they drive a plough or tend a machine that produces wealth. If the head officials of the war department of Germany were compelled by law and custom, instead of sitting in their offices, directing affairs, to stand in the front line before the enemy's fire, they would curtail their warlike activities. Some one should take the Kaiser by the collar and put him gently, but firmly and deeply into a good big mud puddle, then spank him with a shingle and warn him to keep off the dogs of war.

Editorial Notes

The suggestion made by the city officials recently that all our citizens should clean off the pavement in front of their respective residences, or places of business, should be strictly enforced. Why should one man too lazy to clean away the snow and slush from in front of his own premises, compel pedestrians, who have possibly walked a long dry pavements, to wade through two or three inches of semi-liquid snow?

Seeing that his honor Judge Huycke has been appointed a member of the board to investigate the pay of barristers and solicitors of Ontario, that local and respected citizen has his own troubles ahead. The Ontario government has been asked to increase the fees of the less wealthy barristers, solicitors and registrars of Ontario. The present tariff schedule was established in 1892, and since then the cost of living has been increased 75 to 100 per cent, so they claim. A board of county judges has been appointed by the government to investigate the matter.

Following in the footsteps of his grandfather, Edward the Peace-maker, the Prince of Wales is now in Paris, France, helping to keep up the "entente cordiale" between England and La Belle France. France is displaying the greatest interest in the arrival of England's prospective future King, who is to spend several months in the French capital with the Marquis de Breteuil. The Prince went to Paris with his tutor, to complete his education in French. The Marquis and Marchioness de Breteuil possess a fine mansion on the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, in which a suite of rooms is to be placed at the disposal of the young Prince. The newspapers express the hope in welcoming the Prince of Wales that he, like his grandfather, King Edward, will become fond of Paris. The Marquis de Breteuil was for years a close friend of King Edward.

GROWING TOBACCO

Twenty Acres Set Out in Plant at Kelowna this Year

Louis Holman, of Kelowna, has planted 20 acres in tobacco this year. A much larger area would have been placed under cultivation had Mr. Holman been able to secure experienced help.

In discussing the future of the tobacco industry in the Okanagan Mr. Holman observed that for the success of the industry it was essential that one or more experienced men should take up tobacco-growing in each of the different districts of the interior where it might profitably be gone in for. These would be, as it were, guide-posts for other ranchers who went in for the project, and with this assistance there should be no failures in crops even at the commencement, with the exception of those caused very occasionally in this province by exceptionally cold winters. It took about three years, Mr. Holman stated, for a man starting in "green" to properly master planting, irrigating and harvesting without any aid from experienced planters. As far as ultimate success was concerned he was certain of it.

CHANGING THE WORLD

Look Around You and Examine Your Environment Occasionally

"You cannot change the world; only yourself."

The above saying is apt to be a little misleading. For though the world is so vast, huge, and complex that to change the whole of it in any way would require powers far greater than most of us possess, yet, on the other hand, by changing ourselves we do much towards changing the world. "He who reforms himself has done more to reform the community than a crowd of noisy, impotent talkers." Few of us properly realise the greatness of the influences which we exert, very often unconsciously, on all with whom we are constantly in contact.

When you change yourself, you cannot help but change your influence, and your influence changes others to some extent, and thus changes their influence, too and so on, like the ripples caused by a stone flung into a pond. So if you reform yourself, you are taking a hand in the great task of reforming the world.

"Your world" is your mission-ground. "Your world" is the place where your best work is needed. Your friends, your workmates, above all, your family are the people who are the most affected by you. To reform yourself is hard, but it is not a hopeless task.

You can alter your whole outlook on life. If you are inclined to be sad and gloomy you can, by persistently forcing yourself to think cheerfully, in time develop the habit of cheerfulness to such an extent that it becomes second nature to you.

Look around you, and examine your world occasionally. See where a change for the better is most needed, and set to work at once to make that change. Here is one, perhaps, who needs cheering up; go and cheer him. Here is one who seems to want advice; give it to him. Here is one who requires help; let him have any such help as lies in your power to give.

MARRIED VERY YOUNG.

An amusing incident happened some time ago in one of the Paris courts of justice. A vain, haughty woman was called as a witness, when the magistrate inquired her age.

"Twenty-five last August," promptly replied the lady.

The next witness was a young man, who at once acknowledged that he was twenty-seven years of age.

"Are you related to the last witness?" queried the magistrate.

"Yes; I'm her son," he replied.

"Ah!" mused the magistrate, "your mother must have married very young."

EXPLAINED.

Two ladies, previously unacquainted, were conversing at a reception. After a few conventional remarks, the younger exclaimed:

"I cannot think what has upset that tall, blond man over there. He was so attentive a little while ago, but he won't look at me now."

"Perhaps," said the other, "he saw me come in. He's my husband."

ANCIENT BULLION

Portion of Soudan Treasure Trove for Ontario Museum

Charles T. Currelley, director of the new museum of Toronto University, has received word that a good sample of the treasure trove of royal bullion, brought to light recently by Professor Garstang, of Liverpool University, England, in the course of his excavations at the ancient City of Meroe, in the Soudan, Africa, which existed about the time of Christ, was on its way to the museum. The bullion belonged to the ancient kings. Mr. Currelley related the very interesting circumstances associated with this sensational find. "Shortly after the time of Christ," he said, "the Soudan had a sudden burst of energy and greatness that those who have followed the Mahdi and Khalifa in recent times can understand, at least, to some extent. The great centre of this period was the town of Meroe, in the Soudan. Here great monuments were built and work was done that is surprisingly skilful and beautiful, though, of course it is impossible to say how much of it was actually done by the Etheopians, or the Soudanese themselves, or how far it was the result of imported slave or free labor from Northern Africa, or, in fact, from anywhere on the Mediterranean. For some time Professor Garstang, of Liverpool, has been carrying on most successful excavations at Meroe, and last year the Royal Ontario Museum received, through the kindness of Mr Robert Mond, of London, England, who is partially financing the expedition, some exquisite pieces of the ceramics of this period. This last winter Professor Garstang discovered the ancient treasure house of the Kings of Meroe, and there was still in the place a quantity of the royal bullion in gold nuggets, dust, etc., to the value of many thousands of dollars. It is probable that this new gift of a portion of bullion is also through the kindness of Mr. Mond.

"One is apt to speculate as to what happened to that ancient Minister of Finance and to the whole staff of clerical and manual helpers, or in any way why a large mass of such portable treasure should have been left for nearly 2,000 years. At any rate, we are very glad that a part of it will find a home in Toronto"

Mr. Currelley added that the records of ancient history threw very little light on the existence of the City of Meroe. There is a script at the ancient site of the once great city, and two men have been working on it, but so far have not been able to make head or tail out of it.

ECONOMY OF GOOD ROADS

The Cost of Haulage is Enormously Decreased

The value of good roads becomes evident when we look at the financial side of the problem. The cost of hauling one ton one mile is nine cents in Germany, [illegible] the United States; the difference is [illegible] these figures to hauling, say, 5,000 bushels of wheat five miles, the cost in Europe would be $67.50, in the United States $187.50, or $120 more. It will be safe to say that where 5,000 bushels of wheat is raised, as much more hauling will be done which would represent another $120, or $240, the extra outlay caused by poor roads. This is only one item. Good roads increase the value of the land—$5 an acre is putting it too low, but at that it amounts to $1,600 for a half section—then the convenience and the ability to market at any time, so that advantage can be taken of the highest prices. The man in town realizes the value of good roads, and he gets them. He paves the sidewalks and streets. He knows that they will increase his business, his comforts and social advantages, but no more so than in the country for the farmer.—North Dakota Agricultural College.

"I canna let you pass, ma'am," answered the man of the baton. "But, sir, do you know who I am. I am the wife of a Cabinet Minister." "It disna mak no difference, ma'am," he answered "I couldn'a let you pass if you were the wife of a Presbyterian minister."—Presbyterian Standard.

AN ARCTIC NIGHT

We were at the foot of Humboldt Glacier when the sun bade us a final adieu for a long winter night, not to appear again for many months to come. As though to leave us with pleasant memory of his visit, his going was in an effulgence of glory, and reluctant to go, he lingered for a little while below the horizon, lighting the sky with a mass of marvellous coloring—red, purple and orange, reaching upward from the white earth into the deep blue of the high heavens. For a time a prolonged twilight remained, but that, too, was presently lost behind the dark curtain that shut from our world all warmth and light.

No words can adequately describe the awful pall of the Arctic night. It is unreal and terrible. Even the moonlight is unnatural, casting on the snow and ice, the wind-swept rocks, and the people themselves, a shade of ghastly, indefinable greenish yellow. Shifting shadows flit among moving ice masses like wraiths of departed spirits. A death-like silence prevails, to be broken only by the startling and unexpected crackling of a glacier with a sound of mighty thunder clap, or the smashing together of great ice floes with a report like heavy cannon.

In spite of one, depression takes possession of the soul—a hopeless kind of unreasoning depression. Intense and severe as the cold may be any active man can stand it without serious suffering, when a little experience teaches how, for that acts only on the physical being, and can be guarded against; but the prolonged sunless night has a direct effect on the human mind which only exercise and diversion can counteract.—From "Hunting From the Eskimos," by Harry Whitney.

Light Water Craft

A Parisian inventor has devised a craft for getting over the water, which is so light and compact that it can be folded up and packed into a box no bigger than an ordinary suit-case. The case part unfolds and joins together to form the main framework or hull of the boat, which is of the catamaran order. The two cigar-shaped floats are made of waterproof canvas. When packed up they occupy little space, and when in use they are blown up with a bicycle pump. The framework is fastened between them by means of ribs and straps, and when you have fixed a three-jointed, double-bladed paddle together and put a folding seat in place you are all ready to set out on your marine travels.

Death of "Tannie" Gillespie.

The news of the death of Alex. (Tannie) Gillespie, Hamilton, after only a few days' illness, was a shock to hundreds of his friends. Of a robust build, a cheerful disposition, a careful liver, and barely past his fiftieth year, he looked like a man destined for a ripe old age. The late Mr. Gillespie was an active cricketer and curler, and in his younger days a celebrated member of the Hamilton Tigers' Rugby Football Club, working on the forward line according to the rules then in vogue. He played first-class cricket for the Toronto Club, and for Hamilton before he moved here, with the Canada Life Company, a fine batsman and splendid medium-pace bowler. He was a member of the Toronto Curling Club.

Gladys:—"Reggie, dear, there is something of the old-time lovelight in your eyes to-night—something about you that reminds me of those sweet days of long ago. I hope you have—"

Reggie:—"Yes; I have a little bit. How much do you want this time?"

SENSE IN BRIEF.

There are times when it is better to be imposed upon than to fight.

When a kind and gentle man does deliver a jolt it counts.

A self-made man nearly always looks like the kind of a job he might be expected to turn out.

No matter how little we love our neighbors, we can see no good reason why they shouldn't have a kindly feeling for us.

Free advice is the kind people give away, because they have no use for it.

The man who hasn't enough property to interest the tax-assessor is always talking about the good he would do if he were a millionaire.

You can tell when a man has made a little money by how patronizing he is to everybody who hasn't.

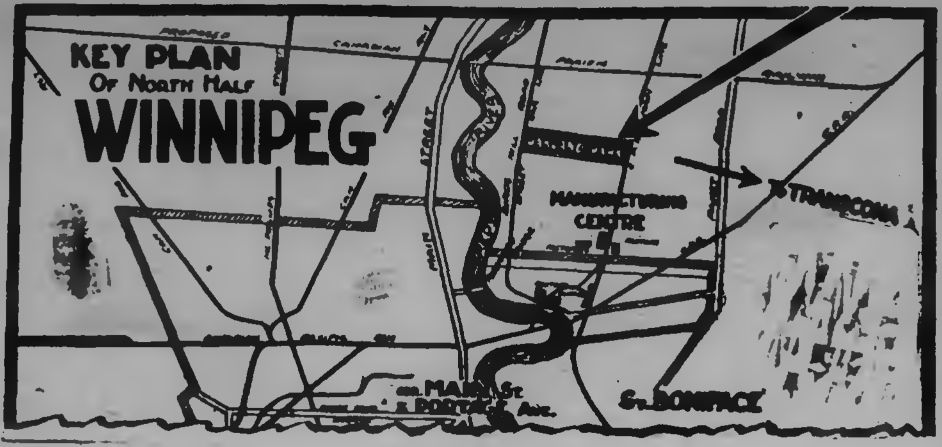
OAKLAND PARK

has the Right Location for Future VALUE



INDUSTRIAL WINNIPEG is in the beginning of its first big forward step. The city's 60,000 horse power hydro-electric plant, located forty miles north east of Winnipeg, is now in operation, and the year 1912 will see hundreds of new Industries located in Winnipeg.

NORTHEAST of the city is the best and favorite location of present industrial sites. It is in this direction that the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Pacific Railways are spending millions this year in new terminals, five miles beyond the city.

OAKLAND PARK is an ideal residence district for the better class of citizens who will make up the increased industrial army of Winnipeg. East Kildonan in which Oakland Park is located, is the prettiest and most desirable residence section contiguous to the city, and it is close to the industrial center while at the same time removed from its immediate proximity.

GET IN LINE with the growth of a great city—Canada's commercial metropolis of to-morrow. A few dollars invested now in Oakland Park will combine the best kind of profit with absolute safety in investment. Send for Oakland Park literature, or better still, a deposit will secure the reservation of one or two of the best remaining lots in this division.

OAKLAND PARK PRICES $4.00 to $14.00 per Front

WOMEN IN PARLIAMENT

A Glance at the Reigns of the Early Edwards

In the very early times the affairs of the nation were not wholly in the hands of the sterner sex, for in the reigns of Henry III. and Edward I. four abbesses at least were summoned to Parliament—namely, those of Shaftesbury, Barking, Winchester, and Milton. To one of the Parliaments of Edward III. there were summoned by writ ten ladies of noble birth, seven of them countesses. Gurdon, in his "Antiquities of Parliament," goes back still further than this, for he says that "ladies of birth and quality sat in council with the Saxon Mitas." A certain Abbess Hilda, according to the historian Bede, presided at an ecclesiastical synod. In Wighfred's great council at Becconfeld, A.D. 694, the abbesses sat and deliberated, and five of them signed decrees of that council along with the King, Bishops and nobles. King Edward's charter to the Abbey of Crowland, A.D. 961, was with the consent not only of the nobles but also of the abbesses, their names appearing among those who signed it.

BRAINS IN THE HAND.

What's that you have in your hand?" asked Mrs. Gimlet, of her husband, as he brought home a roll of manuscript.

"Brains, madam," retorted Mr. Gimlet, pompously, "Are you surprised at the fact?"

"Not in the least," she replied. "I knew you didn't carry them in your head."

NEW COOK'S PUDDING.

Wife: "This pudding is a sample of the new cook's work. What do you think of it?"

FATHER AND DONKEY.

Small Boy: "Can't I have a ride on a donkey?"

Mother: "No, darling. Father says not."

Mother (to father): 'Oh, for goodness' sake, Bill, give him a ride on your back to keep him quiet."

WOMAN'S DRESS CENTURIES AGO

Modern Garb Not as Absurd as it Was in the Elizabethan Century

Absurd as some of our modern fashions may be they cannot equal in absurdity those of a century ago.

For instance, in 1794, the heavy tax that was placed upon hair-powder brought the Georgian wigs into disfavor, and women being forced to wear merely their own hair adopted a hundred extravagant modes of dressing it. One of the most ridiculous was that of wearing very enormous feathers. These feathers were so high that it was impossible to wear them in carriages with tops, and The Times, commenting caustically upon an accident, stated that "a young lady, only ten feet high, was overset yesterday in a gale of wind, and the uppermost of her feather blown upon Hamstead Hill."

At this period, the distinguishing characteristic of the dress for nearly twenty years was the high waist—so high that gowns were made all in one. They had no sleeves, merely shoulder straps elaborately embroidered, while a cape or collarette was donned when the wearer went out of doors. In 1801 the scanty skirts became a little fuller, but the next year they were scantier than before and very short. The "Titus" or Roman style of hair-dressing had come in and many women had their hair cut close to the head. With arms and neck bare, skirts reaching only half way below the knee, and short hair, the fashionable dames must have cut a sorry figure.

Immediately upon the heels of this Roman craze came a reaction in favor of Stuart ruffs and caps, and sleeves suddenly reappeared, so long as to completely hide the bands. The famous Spencer made its debut, and the Capote or greatcoat, Queen Charlotte's favorite dress, became very popular. It was like a man's coat, having a velvet collar. A passion for imitating man's dress then burst forth. A portrait of a lady of this period in driving dress is eloquent of the follies committed in the name of fashion. She is wearing a box-coat and cape, a round white beaver hat, a white cravat, and Hessian boots, the coat is open, showing the costume beneath—a cambric dress cut as low at the neck as our evening dress, and fitting close to the body without any fullness in such a manner as to disclose the lines of the figure. At this time the thin gowns were even damped in order that they should cling more closely to their wearers as they dried, and the lighter the clothing the more it was admired.

In 1809 the turban came into prominence. It was a curiously shaped cap, fitting closely over the forehead, over which was wound many yards of silk of eastern manufacture. A jewelled aigrette or a feather was negligently placed among the folds.

About 1812, brocades, silks, and satins came into daily use, and dresses [illegible] their appearance. Some of them were [illegible] material as the dress itself.

The first bonnets came into style about 1820. They completely enshrouded the face, being tied with broad ribbons under the chin. Then they became enormously large, covered with tufts of marabout feathers, and well meriting the name "majestic monuments of millinery." The hair, too, was massively arranged, interwoven with ribbons, and of a fantastic height. After this phase came the hideous mode of straining the hair away from the face so tightly that it was impossible to close one's eyes, whilst a long ringlet fell down the sides of the face, corresponding in size to the pendant earrings then worn.

In the matter of colors our grandmothers were totally ignorant of the "art shades." Primary colors in all their crudity were the delight of their hearts, and greens and yellows of aggressive density were worn together, read feathers sometimes being added to these. The more inharmonious the whole effect, the greater the success of the costume. Naturally, a vulgar display of jewellery accompanied the lack of taste in color. For nearly fifty years the topaz was the favorite precious stone.

"Oblivion is not to be hired"; yet from the annals of our ancestresses women may learn much—among other things, the real proportion of dress in everyday life, and the ludicrous folly of excess therein.—Amelia Sedley.

PIVOT OF THE HOUSEHOLD

Make Home Attractive for the Boys and Girls

It is a most common complaint amongst parents that their children, as soon as they arrive at years of independence, drift away from their homes, or that the boys and girls never seem to be happy at home, but always want to be out. They usually blame the children for lack of parental affection instead of turning their thoughts inward to solve the problem. It never seems to occur to some parents that they have not made such a pleasant place that their children find their greatest happiness within it. Young people of both sexes have a great natural craving for happiness and recreation, but they are too often sacrificed at the altar of parental comfort.

The idea that the comfort of the parents is the pivot on which the household should revolve has been the cause of more discontented and restless sons and daughters than anything else, and has led to many hasty, ill-considered youthful marriages.—Mrs. Bull.

A USEFUL HINT

"COULDN'T DO IT."

Little Jackie was receiving a lecture from his dad on the wickedness of stealing, Jackie being guilty of paying a sly visit to the pantry, and his mother catching him in the act advised his doting father to admonish him.

"What is the person called, Jack who steals?" he asked Jack.

But Jack was quiet, and no answer came.

"Now, Jack," continued his father "now suppose I were to put my hand in your pocket and take a cent from it, what would you call me?"

A QUERY IN COLORS

Dulllditch had a new Rugby football club, and the players were fifteen of the lustiest, liveliest lads the village could produce.

The day of their first match duly dawned as per programme; but the jerseys failed to turn up from the outfitters.

As a result of this unforeseen tragedy the players took the field in raiment of many hues rivalling the rainbow. The weak November sunlight showed up the weird colouring, making it appear like an artist's paint-bedaubed palette.

Just before half-time two laborers chanced to stop athwart the hedge, and peered over.

"What is it, Bill? asked one, in no little amaze. "Is it a football-match of a bag o' mixed chocolates?"

THE TRUTH—THE WHOLE TRUTH

Papa severely: "Did you ask mamma if you could have that apple?"

Three-year-old: "Yes, papa."

Papa: "Be careful now. I shall ask mamma, and if she says you didn't ask her, I shall whip you for telling a story. Did you ask mamma?"

Three-year-old: "Yes, papa, truly" (a pause). "She said I couldn't have it."

DELIGHTED.

Rosie—Mary Smith was married this morning.

Josie—Who's the happy man?

Rosie—Her father.

A GOOD NIGHT'S REST.

A certain family were preparing to take their annual week's holiday, with the exception of their son named John, who had to work this particular week. His parents gave him strict instructions not to get too late for work, as he was a very sound sleeper.

The family had a fine time at the seaside, and got home again about twelve o'clock noon the following Saturday. They were surprised to find the blinds drawn, exactly as they had left them the Saturday previous.

After a deal of knocking and hammering at the door, the bed room window was slowly opened, and John, rubbing his eyes, called out:

"Hello! What's up? Did you miss the train?"

HIS LONG FALL.

"I see," [illegible] looking up from his paper, "that a man fell three hundred feet from a chimney yesterday."

"Was he hurt?" inquired Mrs. Smart.

"Eh? Oh, no," said Mr. Smart sarcastically. "But I believe he complained of a slight headache."

FOXY.

He—How shall I express my sentiments toward you?

She—On paper, please. Then there can be no chance of your wriggling out of it.

WHY HURRY?

The scorching cyclist was on the road to Stratford-on-Avon. He was bent over the handle-bars, and the beads which bespeak the strenuous toiler were trickling off his face.

"Hi, sonny!" he called to a passing youth, "Am I right for Shakespeare's house?"

"Yes, you're right, mister," was the dreamy reply of the leisurely youth; "but you needn't hurry—Shakespeare's dead."

HARDLY.

"Are you a friend of the groom's family?" asked the usher at the church wedding.

"I think not," replied the lady addressed; I'm the mother of the bride."

THAT LITTLE BIRD.

"Whatever are you doing to the jam cupboard, Teddy?"

"Birdlimin' it."

"What for?"

"Why, to catch that little bird wot's always telling muvver when I goes in it."

LOSING FAITH.

"Why doesn't Jimson call in his family doctor? Has he lost faith in him?"

"No; the family doctor has lost faith in Jimson."

SUCCESSFUL VIOLINISTS

In the opinion of Kubelik, the famous violinist, the standard of violin-playing has steadily risen of late years, which is not surprising when one considers the enormous increase in students from all nations, who for years steadily devote hours daily to mastering the intricacies of the instrument.

Kubelik, however, not only emphasises the need of earnest, steady work, under the direction of a good teacher, but that the student should procure as good a violin as possible, care being taken that the tone is pleasant to the ear.

"The tone of a violin greatly depends upon its strings," says Kubelik, "and the proper placing of the bridge and sound-post. The sound-post is the little wooden pillar inside the instrument, situated about a quarter of an inch behind the right foot of the bridge. Should the bridge or the sound-post be only slightly out of place, the finest 'Strad' will sound like a three-dollar fiddle.

Watch the Strings

"I would recommend all possessors of violins to have them examined by an expert, in order that the best results may be obtained. My experience is that most violins can be improved by paying attention to these details.

"I have known students almost driven to despair and loss of weeks of work in the vain endeavor to produce certain notes with a pure tone, not knowing that the difficulty arose from defects of the instrument, probably the bridge or post, being slightly out of place, or the bad quality of strings.

"It is false economy to play too long without changing strings, as a string after being used for a certain time refuses to respond to the student's intention, and time is lost by unnecessarily repeating a phrase.

"Beginners should commence their studies with a competent teacher, as good progress can only be made on a proper foundation, and bad habits, once acquired, are difficult to eradicate. So commence properly.

Concentrate! Concentrate!

"When practising the mind must be entirely concentrated on the work in hand. If the thoughts are allowed to wander, no good result will follow, and consequently it is not advisable to play too long without a rest.

"When the student feels his brain refuse to grip he must stop at once. Each individual should arrange his studies to suit his physique, and on no account continue his exercises when his brain is tired. I do not expect the 'born-tireds' to take advantage of this rule; my advice is intended for diligent students only.

"I strongly advise all students to attend to physical culture, avoiding exercises which tend to stiffen the wrist and interfere with the flexibility of the fingers."

MERCURY AT COBALT

Provincial Officials are Endeavoring to Discover Ore Combinations

The discovery of mercury in the ore at the Nipissing Mines has led to an investigation by experts of the Bureau of Mines to determine in what combinations of mineral bodies it is found, and as to whether it exists in large enough quantities to make the discovery of commercial importance.

Mercury or quicksilver was found in silver ore at the Silver Inlet Mine, famous many years ago. Some time ago Professor Miller, Provincial Geologist, examined ore at Cobalt to find mercury, but without success. Since the discovery at the Nipissing camp investigations have been resumed. In ordinary ore the mercury runs about four pounds to the ton and in purer ore that resists crushing from twenty to forty pounds to the ton.

Nasal Discharge Proves Catarrh is Active

THE PURE BALSAMIC ESSENCES OF CATARRHOZONE AFFORD SUREST AND QUICKEST CURE.

Catarrhozone is certain to cure because its healing vapor is carried with the breath direct to the seat of the chest, nose or throat trouble. Being composed of the purest balsams and pine essences, it immediately allays irritations, facilitates the ejection of mucous, soothes and stimulates the lungs and bronchial tubes. The marvel of the age in curing winter ills—that's what thousands say about Catarrhozone. There is nothing so sure to cure, and to those in fear of changeable weather—those who easily catch cold—those who work among lung-chilling surroundings, or where dust, impure air, fog, or damp can affect them—let them get Catarrhozone and use it several times daily—it will cure every time.

BAD CASE CURED IN TWO DAYS.

"I was unfortunate enough to catch a bad cold from sitting in a draught in my bare head," writes Miss Nora E. Jamieson, well known in Sangre Grande, Td. "An acute condition of catarrh developed in my nostrils, and for three days my eyes and nose ran most copiously. The usual remedies entirely failed to relieve. I read in the Mirror newspaper about Catarrhozone, and sent to Smith Bros.' drug store for a dollar outfit. In two days Catarrhozone cleared out my nostrils, cured the sneezing, coughing, and all traces of catarrh."

Large size Catarrhozone, sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. Beware of imitations, and substitutors, and insist on getting "Catarrhozone" only. By mail from the Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

FEATHER GARMENTS

Make Their Reappearance in Quite an Original Way.

An interesting novelty is to be the substitution of feather garments in the place of furs. This does not mean a mere revival of the long-discarded feather boa and muff. Feathers are to make their reappearance in quite an original way. "Long feather stoles will be worn," a West End Modiste says, "and they will be composed of such myriads as tiny, uncurled feathers that in the case of black or white stoles they could easily be mistaken for the most exquisite skins.

"There will be large pillow-shaped muffs to match, and in Paris some coats and jackets of similarly 'materialised' feathers will be seen.

"Another striking innovation is that the spring feathers will be obtainable in every conceivable shade, so that a pink, blue, or green muff will be no unusual sight.

"Furs, of course, do not afford a very large choice of colour, and this is an advantage which the feathers will offer. [illegible] a good deal on evening dresses and [illegible] also on costumes.

"The new fashion will doubtless be appreciated by most women as forming a transition between the heavy furs required for mid-winter and the lighter garments of the early summer."

PRECOCIOUS BABY.

A university professor, who has greatly endeared himself to his students on account of his kind-heartedness, has one particular failing—that of absent-mindedness.

He visited his married nephew a few days ago and had listened to the young wife's praise of her firstborn.

The gentleman felt that he must say something to give the impression that he was interested.

"Can the dear little fellow walk?" he inquired quietly.

"Walk!" shouted the mother. "Why, he has been walking for five months!"

"Dear me!" exclaimed the professor, lapsing again into abstraction. "What a long way he must have got!"

Admiral Kingsmill suggests that lantern slides and lectures illustrating navy conditions be employed to stimulate popular interest in the Canadian naval service. This is a brilliant idea. The Canadian navy would just suit the limitations of a magic lantern. With a line of sentimental songs, such as "The Anchor's Weighed," and "My Jack Gets Drunk To-day," quite a bunch of bright young men might be weaned from the farm and started on a life on the ocean wave. LAND OF BABES IN THE WOODS

Tradition Has Always Given Wayland Wood as the Place Where the Babes Died

There is no nook or corner in England, however small or however far removed from the main currents of life, but contains relics of the past—some story or bit of folk lore which is full of interest. These memories of the past are buried away in old oaken chests in the vestries of the parish churches, or lie under the moss-grown stones of some ruined building. Sometimes they remain unheeded and unnoticed, and the story they have to tell is not brought to light.

But fortunately there are men in our country villages who have the leisure and the enthusiasm to grub about among these hidden stores and find for us the treasures they contain. One of these is the Rev. Charles Kent, the rector of Merton, in Norfolk, who lives in a quiet little corner of England which contains survivals reaching back to the time when palaeolithic man rambled over the heaths of South-West Norfolk in search of flints. Right across the district runs the Peddler's Way, which was an avenue of commerce before Cadmus was teaching Attica her letters, and before a little handful of peasants were struggling for existence on the Tiber. For in the Stone Age the Norfolk flints were as valuable as Bessemer steel is nowadays.

The story of all this, and much more, reaching to our own times, is told by Mr. Kent in his book, "The Land of the Babes in the Wood." The rector of Merton has soaked himself in the past. He has the art of making the old days and the old ways live again. He has caught the very spirit of the place, as well he may from the associations which surround him.

As for the old story of the Babes, the Wicked Uncle, and the Wood which was the scene of their death, tradition says that the whole took place in and around Merton. Mr. Kent has sifted over all that can be found about the story, which has been the delight of the children of three centuries, and which has formed the groundwork of many a pantomime. He is able to reconstruct the story for us, and to show that it has a basis of fact, which illustrates the condition of rural life at the time when great changes were passing over Norfolk and over England as well.

The first trace of the story is to be found in an old chap-book in the Roxburghe Collection, which bears the date of 1595:—"The Norfolk Gent, His Will and Testament and howe he commytted the keepinge of his children to his owne brother, whoe delte most wickedlie with them and howe God plagued him for it." The ballad is to be sung to the tune of "Rogero," and it begins by telling us:

A gentleman of good account
In Norfolk lived of late,
Whose wealth and riches did surpass
Most men of his estate.

Who was the "gentleman of good account," who were the Babes, and who was the Wicked Uncle? Mr. Kent supplies an answer to these questions which fits in with all the local circumstances of the case, and is supported by many documents. In 1562 there died at Merton a Norfolk squire named Thomas De Grey. His son and heir was seven years old at that time, and consequently was a ward of the Crown. Always anxious to turn an honest penny, Queen Bess married him at the age of eight to Elizabeth Drury, another ward. These two, the boy and girl bridegroom and bride, were the "Babes." At Griston Hall, very close to Merton, there lived Robert De Grey, brother to Thomas, who died, and uncle to the boy-bridegroom. Here is the "Wicked Uncle." As for the Wood, tradition has always given it as Wayland Wood, and the oak was long shown under which the hapless Babes lay down for their last sleep. Mr. Kent shows that it was the Hundred Oak, under which the sheriff held his court.

Between Thomas De Grey and his brother Robert there were no very friendly feelings. Mr. Kent quotes a copy of the will of the former to show that there had been disagreements and family jars:—"I will to my brother Robert, so that he confesseth that he hath offended me, &c., &c." This may be the foundation of the story in the ballad of the death-bed scene, where the dying father is evidently anxious about the coming relations between his son and the uncle. Soon after this, the boy went on a visit to his stepmother, who had married a second time. At her house at Baconsthorpe the young squire died suddenly or before he could reach home. It may be that he died when passing through Wayland Wood.

Robert De Grey succeeded to the estates. He was a Popish Recusant, and for that reason was very unpopular in a part where the Protestant cause was very strong. Robert tried to rob the girl-widow of her dower which had been settled on her by the boy-husband. This and other acts of the new squire led to a great trial at the assizes at Norwich, which developed into a battle royal between the Protestants and the Papists of the county. Robert was worsted, and afterwards was constantly imprisoned and fined for his recusancy. At his death $24,900 was due from him to the Crown for fines. This seems to be the basis of the story; a wicked uncle has his boy nephew put out of the way, seizes his possessions, as well as the dower of the poor girl widow. By and by it crystallized into the ballad as we now have it. Mr. Kent suggests that robins who want to cover up everything stand for the uncle, who desires to hide the evidence in the great trial.

Griston Old Hall, the residence of the "Wicked Uncle," is close to the beautiful old church of Tompson, which is one of the three collegiate churches of East Anglia. It formerly had a rector and six chaplains, and the old college in which they lived is now part of a farmhouse.

Our Reports of the Ball Games.

The Times yesterday arranged with Mr. Dan McCabe to have the latter furnish us with complete comprehensive and concise reports of the baseball games during the coming season. In this respect, both The Times and our readers are to be congratulated. Mr. McCabe has had experience in newspaper work, so that his ability to write bright, sparkling and readable reports, is assured. Again, as far as his ability to describe the games is concerned, Dan is not only a director of the local professional club, but a former ball twirler with a good reputation throughout the entire Midland district.

QUEBEC'S WONDERFUL INDUSTRIAL RESOURCES

This Province Has the Greatest Water Power on the Continent of North America

The Eastern portion of Canada is equipped as no other portion of the Dominion, or the continent, is for the industrial race. It is not generally known, for instance, that Quebec has at its back a single waterfall of far vaster power than Niagara. The minimum at Niagara Falls is 3,818,000 horse power. At the Grand Falls, on the Hamilton River, the minimum available is 9,000,000 horse power. These falls have been visited by Mr. A. P. Low, in his capacity of Director of the Geological Survey of the Dominion, and he has officially confirmed the estimate of the almost inconceivable force of nine million horse power, declaring that there can be little doubt that these Falls will some day supply the greater part of the Province of Quebec with power. The Falls have a sheer drop of 312 feet, and a total drop of over 760 feet, compared to a drop of 168 feet at Niagara.

The position that Quebec is bound to take, as the premier manufacturing region, of the whole continent is best illustrated by the following comparison of her water powers with those of the other parts of the Dominion, taken from a report by Mr. J. B. Challies, C. E., of the Department of the Interior, on water powers in Canada:

Location	Min. Flow Dev.	Present Dev.
Yukon	470,000	......
British Columbia	2,065,500	72,000
Alberta	1,144,000	1,880
Saskatchewan	500,000	1,880
Manitoba	504,000	19,000
North-West Territ's	600,000	......
Ontario	3,129,168	321,157
Quebec	17,075,939	50,000
New Brunswick	150,000	......
Nova Scotia	54,200	13,300
Total	25,692,807	486,887

Is it any wonder that capital is pouring into Quebec for the establishment of every conceivable kind of manufactory? Is it any wonder that since Mr. Challies made the above computation a year or two ago, "the development of water power in Quebec has more than quadrupled?"

To-day along one single piece of car track on the island of Montreal, the track running from Montreal to the Lachine Rapids—there are no fewer than $80,000,000 of American money invested in industrial establishments. This is only an example of what is going on all over the East. Besides water powers the Province of Quebec has more forest wealth than any other region on the continent, and already employs in the lumber industry no fewer than 40,000 men, all of whom, like those in the factories, must be numbered among the industrial and therefore consuming classes. Many huge pulp and paper mills are now either under construction or in operation, besides water power in the [illegible] industrial activity is attracting people from all over the English-speaking world, the consequence being that the population of Quebec is not made up, as many suppose, of French-Canadian farmers, but of a bi-lingual, cosmopolitan people who are rapidly building up huge industries.

WHAT WILL THE CENSUS SHOW

There are Indications of Great Development in the Maritime Provinces

It will probably take the best part of the next twelve months to classify the census taken this year of manufactories, but it may be taken for granted that the huge total shown in the census for the year 1905 will be far exceeded, in view of the tremendous strides which have been made during the past five years in industrial development. In the Maritime Provinces alone, one sees New Brunswick becoming more and more industrial, while Nova Scotia is affording remarkable illustration of the industrial awakening of the East. From the great basic enterprises such as the iron and steel works at Sydney, through all the ramifications of industrial enterprise, its towns and cities are rapidly forging to the front. It is true that the water powers of Nova Scotia are trifling compared with those of Quebec, but look at its coal fields. These comprise no fewer than 735 square miles, and the Dominion Coal Company alone, have to its certain knowledge enough coal in its holdings at Glace Bay to provide for an output of three and a half million tons per year for 1,000 years.

At the census of manufactories in 1905 it was shown that Quebec had $261,780,182 invested in industrial enterprises, with 116,748 employees, producing products for the year to the value of $216,478,496. Nova Scotia had $74,599,538 invested, with an output of the value of $21,987,449. New Brunswick had $36,792,698 invested, with an output value of $22,133,951.

These are big figures. They show a total production as far back as 1905 of $274,599,896, enough to buy up the whole of the 1911 wheat crop in Western Canada, and still leave one million of dollars on hand.

WORLD'S BANK ACCOUNTS

Country	Year	Total Deps.	Ave. to Each Dep.

Belgium	1905	155,760,150	62
France	1906-7	974,378,000	79
Italy	1906	616,183,000	92

SECLUDED WOMEN

Curious Experiences in India—How Evidence is Given by Women in Court

While hearing a civil case in which a lady of considerable property was entitled to give evidence, the day was fixed, and she was brought to Court, not, however, in a palanquin, which, despite its name, was nothing else than a sort of small and uncomfortable box carried on a bamboo pole. One could hardly understand how it was possible for her to be in it without great discomfort. It had been carried into a room of the Zenana and laid down. After all the men had gone away, she had come, attended by her women, and had stepped into it. The thick curtain that covered one side of the box (all the rest being of wood) was then dropped and securely fastened. Her nearest male relative stood by while the box was removed from her room, and walked with it through the streets. When it was brought into the Court, it was laid down, but not opened. I asked the counsel on both sides whether they were satisfied that the lady inside the box was the witness whom it was desired to examine. After conversing with those who had accompanied her, and addressing a question or two to the lady, they replied that they were satisfied. I then put certain questions to her, and she answered them—clear, intelligent answers in a sweet, low-toned voice. I never saw her; no one in the Court saw her. She returned through the streets to her seclusion in the Zenana, having seen nothing all the time during which she was out of it."

After narrating other official experiences with ladies in seclusion, Sir Andrew Fraser writes:—"I made it a practice as far as possible to take my wife with me to such interviews, so that she might sit on the other side of the purda with the Rani, as she was acquainted with her. This was at least a security that the right lady was conversing with me. To me there was always a feeling of dissatisfaction in that neither of us in the course of our conversation was able to look the other in the face, and receive that light upon our interchange of views which the human countenance so often gives. I recall one case in which that feeling was evidently shared by the lady herself. She turned to Lady Fraser and asked her in a whisper, which I did not hear, whether there was any objection to her slightly putting the curtain aside with her finger, just so far as to permit her to get a view of my face, so as to see whether I was giving kindly attention to the expression of her views. My wife, of course, said that there was no objection; and, although I was unaware of it, the old lady saw my face, and then expressed herself as more confident that I would give careful and kindly consideration to her wishes."

DARING BRIDGE BUILDERS

The Construction of the Niagara Bridge Recalled

Notwithstanding the great height at which the men worked in replacing the Niagara Suspension Bridge above a maelstrom from which escape would have been impossible, most of them soon grew unconcerned, and some of them, indeed, vied with one another in reckless daring.

So many valuable tools were dropped from the bridge that some of the more careless were discharged. Consequently, one day, when a man dropped a wrench 200 feet to the water's edge, he foolishly started to recover it by climbing down hand over hand on a steeply inclined thin wire cable nearly 500 feet long. He had no sooner begun his insane exploit than a rival, not to be outdone, started out of sheer bravado to descend an adjacent rope.

After going a few feet they tried in vain to return, and it seemed to their horrified companions on the bridge above that human muscle could not endure the increasing strain of their long journey. The foreman instructed them how to climb more easily and what to do at the bottom, accompanying his orders with violent abuse, wisely bestowed to divert them from the fright that added to their danger. By nothing less than a miracle both men held on until they had crossed over the water. Then one of them, watching his chance, dropped safely into a tree top. The other finally gave out and fell a considerable distance to the ground. But both escaped practically unhurt.

A FAMOUS MANUSCRIPT

Mr. H. F. Dickens, K.C., tells an interesting story concerning the original manuscripts of his father's famous "Carol." The novelist presented the MS. to Thomas Milton, an old schoolfellow. In 1875 Mr. Milton sold it to Mr. Francis Harvey, a bookseller, for $250. Then it passed into the hands of Mr. George Churchill, an enthusiastic autograph collector. Mr. Churchill treasured it until 1882, when circumstances compelled him to part with it. After photographing every page of it, it was sold to Mr. Bennett, a Birmingham bookseller and curio dealer, who eventually found a purchaser who readily signed a cheque for $1,000 for it. Finally it was bought by Mr. Stuart M. Samuel, of Kensington Palace Gardens, for $1,500, who is said to still retain the precious document.—Tit-Bits.

CHASED BY WOLVES

A story comes from Maple Leaf, a Saskatchewan village, to the effect that William Robinson, returning from a visit to a neighbor, was chased by a band of wolves and arrived home in an exhausted state. Only by throwing off his coat, which delayed the wolves for a few minutes while they tore it to pieces, did he manage to escape.

WILD DUCK PLENTIFUL

Large Quantities in England and the North of Ireland

Wild duck, which have entirely avoided many inland spots where a few are usually seen at this season, have appeared in very great quantities along some of their seaside haunts, especially on the east coasts of England and the north of Ireland.

The pursuers of the strange sport of punt gunning have had remarkable experiences. Slipping along in their punts at dawn they have come upon flocks so great that a single shot from the great swivel gun, which is almost a cannon, has bagged more than the 'longshore sportsman could get in a week. Fifty and sixty have been killed at a shot, though the manoeuvres of the shot may have taken a week or so.

Numbers of duck again have been killed in the more formal, artificial shoots of Lincolnshire, Bedfordshire, and other places where the birds are now bred almost as scientifically as pheasant.

A sportsman's bird that seems to increase in numbers and to widen its range is the golden plover, of which numbers are now to be seen in the poulterers' shops of the West End. These plover, which are held by some to be the best bird that comes to table, are seen frequently all over the country. They have been observed in swarms over grass fields in the home counties, as well as in their more habitual haunts among the wild places of the coast.

Another bird that appeared at one moment in great quantity was the black duck, of which large numbers were shot over the coast of Norfolk from boats. But he is a brave or very hungry man who would dare to face the bird at table.—London Daily Mail.

FREAK SURGERY

The Vital Organs of Animals Transplanted by Americans

Some remarkable experiments on the grafting of limbs on animals to which they did not originally belong, and the transference of vital organs, such as the kidney, from one animal to another, are reported, says the "Standard," from Harvard University. Most of them have been carried out by Dr. Carrel, under the direction of Dr. E. Tyzzer.

His first successful grafting—or, at any rate, the first that he placed on record, was for the benefit of a fox terrier. This is described before the American Philosophical Society. The terrier, owing to an accident, had to have its leg amputated. A small dog that had just died was pressed into service. Its leg was removed, and grafted on to the stump of the leg of the living dog. Arteries, veins, and nerves were connected by suitable means and the bones were placed in juxtaposition. As the bones knit the other tissues grew together, and the dog remained perfectly healthy.

But this is only a minor triumph which has come later. From the [illegible] Dr. Carrel has moved onward step by step until it would appear that he can transplant and replace almost every organ in the body. He says himself:—

"A dog whose abdominal aorta was replaced by a human femoral artery is still alive in a normal state. The thoracic aorta of another animal was replaced about the same time by a large artery that had been kept several months in cold storage, and the operation was a complete sucess."

In the transplanting of kidneys Dr. Carrel has been attended with the greatest success in the case of cats, and he has said that possibly the results would have been much better in experimenting with dogs if he had used dogs of the same breed. While he has taken organs from one animal and replaced them in another, he has been uniformly fortunate in reversing the kidneys. In this work he has taken a cat, and, removing the kidneys, has replaced the left kidney in the cavity of the right side and the right kidney in the left cavity.

When one thinks of the complex structure of the kidney, with its nerve supply, its three great connecting vessels—vein, artery, and ureter—and its intimate relations with other organs of the body, such operations as these are truly amazing. Their value in the saving and preservation of human life, if such a thing as the renewal of a kidney should be found possible, will be enormous. The removal of a single kidney is a fairly common operation. After it has been performed the patient usually recovers his health, but sometimes in after life the increased demand made on the single remaining kidney may lead to serious trouble.

It is only a month since a wealthy widow, Mrs. Reginald Waldorf, of Philadelphia, offered a small fortune to anyone who would sell her an index finger to be grafted on to the stump whence hers had been removed. It would be curious if such advertisements as this went further, and public requests were made for the supply of kidneys, spleen, or even for a new liver. But it is difficult to see where the owners of which persons only possess one each are to come from.

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES.

Interesting facts about the inside working of the Bank of England were explained by Mr. Frederick Huth Jackson. The rights of issuing notes, he said, is one of the most important functions of the Bank of England. One rarely sees a dirty Bank of England note. That is because the Bank never re-issues a banknote. Even if anyone went into the Bank and demanded a five-pound note in exchange for five sovereigns, and then crossed to another counter and changed the same note back into gold, that note would be destroyed. The system is expensive, but by its means the Bank avoids many of the risks of forgery.

SYNDICALISM.

Our esteemed contemporary in discussing the present difficulties between capital and labor, refers to the word "Syndicalism." This latest addition to etymology was lately coined for a new variety of the Labor party. It is a somewhat difficult matter to state exactly what is meant by syndicalism. It is akin to both socialism and anarchism. It does not believe in government action when there is a dispute between capital and labor. The universal strike is its acknowledged weapon for bringing capitalists to time. It is working also to bring about shorter hours of labor so that in order to accomplish the same amount of work more men must be employed; but it will not submit to have the wages lowered even though the working day should be reduced to four hours instead of nine or ten—syndicalism also believes that society owes every man a living. Syndicalism first came to the front in France whence it spread to England.

There are some aspects of syndicalism which are commendable. There is no doubt of the fact that the machinery now in use ought to enable us to provide every one with all the necessities and luxuries of life without working so many hours as men now have to do. One man with modern machin-

LIGHT THAT DOES NOT FAIL

A Volcanic Beacon in San Salvador Republic

The republic of San Salvador is the only government on earth that collects lighthouse fees on account of a volcano that it owns, and without the slightest cost of upkeep.

The volcanic beacon is about eight miles inland from the port of Acajutla, and its pillar of cloud by day and its fire sky by night are visible for many miles out to sea. It bursts forth every seven minutes, and is just as accurate as any revolving light that warns mariners of danger in any part of the world.

This volcano has been keeping up this seven minutes' service of eruptions ever since anyone can remember. It is a favorite amusement of visitors to sit by the hour during the lazy afternoons, and, watch in hand, to time the eruptions till they tire of the occupation and fall asleep. No one has ever caught the volcano napping, however.

Every vessel that puts in at Acajutla has to pay its lighthouse fee. There is no other lighthouse than the volcano, but that is a sufficient excuse for the Government of Salvador to make a charge for its services. The explosions that accompany the eruptions sound like detonations of heavy charges of dynamite, but, fortunately, they are not sufficient to shake the ground perceptibly more than about a mile or two from the summit of the crater.

BOY MUSICIANS BEFORE KINGS

This can certainly be termed the age of baby prodigies, for the number of boys and girls of tender years who perform on the stage at the present time runs well over a score. A few Sarasates and Paderewski's in sashes and pinafores gain Royal recognition almost before the public has heard of them, and during the last week or two the inhabitants of a street in Maida Vale have been surprised, if not exactly pleased, by brilliant five-o'clock-in-the-morning performances on a grand piano of rhapsodies by Liszt and Chopin waltzes.

At first it was imagined that an old professor had taken up his abode in the neighborhood, but it has just come to light that the pianist is Master Erwin Nyiregyhazi, of Budapest, who is only five years of age. Erwin has apparently been practising for a Royal performance for soon he will play before King George and Queen Mary.

Although the boy will not become a public artiste before he reaches the age of fifteen, it is understood that he will give a series of drawing-room concerts. He appeared at the Duchess of Rutland's house in Arlington Street, Piccadilly, and gave a wonderful exhibition of technique and memory. He played with perfect fluency works by Bach, Handel, Chopin, Rachmaninoff, Mozart, Greig, and Liszt

After the unveiling of Queen Victoria's Memorial the German Emperor and Empress drove to St. Dunstan's, Regent Park, where they were present at a garden-party given by Lord and Lady Londesborough. The Kaiser took a great deal of interest in David Paget, the "boy fiddler," who played a couple of selections, appearing before the Royal party in the clothes which he wore during the latter days of his street peregrinations, for some time ago he was found playing to a theatre queue in a London thoroughfare. Paget, who is ten years old, was awarded first prize in a recent competition held for street-players. He performed the Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana" before the German monarch with remarkable skill.

His Majesty of Potsdam quite recently instructed Hans von Garnier, a boy musician, to write him an opera. It was six years ago when the Kaiser first became interested in the boy, who is now sixteen years of age. Garnier had composed a Grenadier March, which his Majesty thought so well of that he ordered its inclusion in the list of the so-called German Army marches for infantry and cavalry. A little while ago Garnier composed a Review March, to be played during the [illegible] Emperor [illegible] troops [illegible] at a banquet of the Territorial battalions.

Moritz Lutzen, who commenced to play the piano when three years of age, has acquired considerable distinction as a composer of music. He has conducted an orchestra of 180 players in some of his own compositions before the German Emperor, and conducted the Garde Républicaine, the famous Parisian band, in a concert consisting exclusively of his own pieces. He also won prominence in this country by giving a concert of his compositions to his own conducting with Mr. Dan Godfrey's band at Bournemouth, on the outskirts of which city, by the way, he was born.

Mischa Elman, is another wonderful boy musician. He was thought good enough to play a concerto at the Birmingham Triennial Festival in 1906. Young Mischa was a pupil of Professor Auer, of St. Petersburg, who described him as the future Joseph Joachim.—Tit-Bits.

AND STILL SOME VACANCIES

George W. Perkins Recalls a Humorous Western Advertisement

George W. Perkins, who has withdrawn from the bankiang-house of J. P. Morgan & Co. to devote himself to the great public questions of the day, said at a recent dinner in New York:

"Ours is a country of phenomenal prosperity. There is no such prosperity anywhere else on earth. Here we have work for all."

Mr. Perkins smiled.

"In fact," he said, "we have such a scarcity of labor here that the Western farmer was hardly joking when he inserted in the newspapers this 'want ad.':

"'Wanted—Harvest hands. Hired girl blonde and pleasant. Phonograph music during meals. Pie three times a day. Six lumps of sugar to each cup of coffee. Hammocks, leather divans, cosy corners, feather-beds. Rising-hour, 10 a.m. Organ concert every evening. Free chewing and smoking. Come one, come all."

OPPOSED TO POLYGAMY

In connection with the application of a Mohammedan woman, Sir. J. Wessels at Johannesburg recently decided that no person could bring into the Transvaal more than one wife. A protest has now been made by the Indian community to the Minister of the Interior, in which it is pointed out that polygamy is a recognised institution in India.

Prefers Indian Dress

A growing number of Indians are adopting European dress. For our own part we think this is very much to be regretted in itself. We wish Indians would retain their own easy and dignified dress, and spare their money for something more worth having than cheap and ugly imitations of European clothes.—Madras Weekly Mail.

THE FIRST CARPET-MAKING

Carpet-making, as a modern industry, was first developed in France. That country had large factories and a monopoly in Europe of the art of carpet weaving when a rush-strewn floor was the rule even in the Royal palaces of Britain. But the edict of Nantes, that great disperser of French artisans and artistry, caused many of the carpet craftsmen to cross the Channel. They settled at Bristol, Axminster, and other places in the south-west of England. From there the secrets of the industry spread to Glasgow, Kidderminster, and the towns of Yorkshire. These places are still the great carpet-weaving centres of Great Britain.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

Poultry Pointers

George Hanemann, a poulterer of Hillsboro, N.D., gives the following good advice:—

Grit to the fowl is what teeth are to the ruminating animal, a necessity.

A cornsheller is not essential. The hens will do their own shelling if you throw out the ears in short, broken pieces.

Let the fowls have as wide range as possible, but if they must be confined, give them plenty of shade and dig up the ground frequently.

Young geese do not lay as many fertile eggs or produce as many goslings in the first breeding season as they do in the second.

Fresh air and sunshine are the best disinfectants that the poultry-raiser has at his disposal, and ought to be more often used in his work.

A plat of ground 50 feet square divided into two lots will be ample accommodation for 25 fowls. Confine them in one lot for a week at a time, meanwhile spading up the other.

The well hatched chicks in the carefully-cared-for brooder will amount to little unless the food is supplied in proper amounts and at right intervals.

More harm results to flocks during the summer months than at any other time owing to the neglect of their owners, in keeping the house and bodies of the birds clean.

Prices of grain feeds are high, and the poultryman must watch his feeding closely. Feeding has become a science, and costs are now figured to fractions of a cent.

Always handle ducks and geese by their necks and never by the legs, as fowls are handled, for their limbs are not strong enough to serve as handles.

A poultryman can well afford to pay one cent per quart for skim-milk. Feed quantities of whole milk and you will find it pays.

ELECTRICITY ON FARMS

Labor Will Be Trifling—Nothing to Do But Turn an Current

In these days when the metropolitan city may be described as a great electrical laboratory and consuming station, it should not be overlooked that the farm itself is coming in for its share of this universal source of power.

There are many ways through which the farm that can afford the use of the electric current may have it for the trouble of installation. Some nearby inter-urban electric line may have its surplus current for sale; some stream close at hand may have a gravity waterfall to develop electricity sufficient for half a dozen farms; or the gasoline engine in connection with a dynamo is within comparatively easy reach of the prosperous farmer who discovers that to keep his boys on the farm—or even to make [illegible] his hired help will stay with him through the season—it is up to him to lighten those old drudgeries of [illegible] years ago.

In the [illegible] of the fa[illegible] adaptation [illegible] the [illegible] would be [illegible] lamp. A [illegible] a pump and [illegible]

Dr. Dosem—"Have you got the testimonial for Dr. Dosem's Cure-All done yet?"

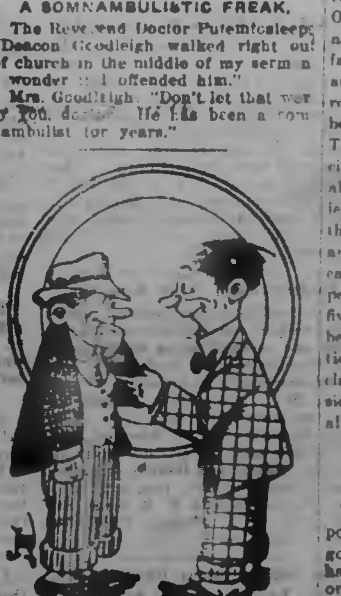
RELATED BY MARRIAGE.

As my wife and I, at the window one day,
Stood watching a man with a monkey,
A cart came by, "with a broth of a boy,"
Who was driving a stout little donkey.
To my wife I then spoke, by way of a joke,
"There's a relation of yours in that carriage;"
To which she replied, as the donkey she spied,
"Ah, yes, a relation—by marriage."

A SOMNAMBULISTIC FREAK.

The Reverend Doctor Putemtosleep: "Deacon Goodleigh walked right out of church in the middle of my sermon. I wonder if I offended him."

Mrs. Goodleigh: "Don't let that worry you, doctor. He has been a somnambulist for years."



SHE WAS A HUSTLER

"Bubbles has bought two new machines—one for himself and one for his wife."

"That's very generous."

"How's that?"

"Why, he bought her a sewing machine."

AND THEY'RE CALLED "MERE MEN."

"I want some collars for my husband," said a lady in a department store, "but I am afraid I have forgotten the size."

"Thirteen and a half, ma'am?" suggested the clerk.

"That's it. How on earth did you know?"

"Gentlemen who let their wives buy their collars for 'em are always about that size, ma'am," explained the observant clerk.

As matters of art have recently risen greatly in local interest, it will please many of our readers to note that the Ontario government is considering a bill regarding the Ontario College of Art. The bill reads in part: The word "College" shall mean The Ontario College of Art. There shall be established at the City of Toronto a College of Art to be known as The Ontario College of Art. The purposes of the College shall be the training of students in the fine arts, including drawing, painting, design, modelling, and sculpture, and in all branches of the applied arts in the more artistic trades and manufactures; and, the training of teachers in the fine and applied arts. The control and management of the College shall be vested in a council, which shall be a body corporate by the name of the Council of The Ontario College of Art. The Council shall consist of members to be appointed as follows:—The Art Museum, The Ontario Society of Artists and the Canadian Art Club, The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and the Trades and Labor Council of the city of Toronto, shall each appoint two members: the Senate of the University of Toronto, the Municipal Council of the city of Toronto, the Canadian National Exhibition, the Graphic Arts Society, the Toronto Society of Architects the Ontario Association of Architects, and the Applied Arts Society, shall each appoint one member; and the persons so appointed shall appoint five other persons, none of whom shall be a member of any of the corporations or associations mentioned in clauses (a) and (b), but who are considered by the appointing body, specially interested in art education.

Post Office Clock Out Again.

The alleged time-piece over the post office building should take the gold cure. Yesterday at 2.45 the hands on the clock pointed to 1.36, or an hour and nine minutes slow. One morning last week at 7.15 a.m., the clock proclaimed the hour of 2.10 whether a.m. or p.m., only the clock knew. Within the past few weeks this clock has gone out of commission for days at a time. Who is responsible? Hundreds of our citizens daily look to that clock to correct (Heaven save the mark!) their watches and clocks, and the local man in charge must surely be paid something as caretaker.

A Times' representative had occasion yesterday to hold a conversation with Mr. Louis Spry, the veteran tinsmith of Stewart-street. The old gentleman, 83 years of age, is still hale and hearty, and daily performing similar work to what he has looked after for more than half a century. He yesterday unhesitatingly remarked, "The Times is the best paper of the whole three printed in Peterborough. Your paper is the only one that gives the news and its opinions, apart from any fear."

Cobourg May Vote on Local Option.

The County Temperance Convention which was held in Cobourg on Monday last was not largely attended. A resolution was introduced requesting the temperance people to submit a local option by-law in January next, but no definite decision was arrived at.

What Good Fuel
Is to an Engine

Right food is to the body—the source of vital energy.

GRAPE-NUTS

is a GOOD food in every sense of the word.

It is made from the natural food grains—wheat and barley; is perfectly cooked; partially pre-digested for easy, quick assimilation; and has fine flavour.

Besides being rich in body building elements, it contains the Phosphate of Potash (grown in the grain) which Nature especially requires for rebuilding the tissue cells in brain and nerves, and which can only be supplied through daily food.

Mr. King the energetic proprietor of the Princess Theatre is showing a bright, clear, fine picture, entitled, "Making Heroes." He invited the members of the local fire btigade to come and see the film, which shows all the latest and most modern fire appliances in action.

Dr. Graham to Speak Here Again.

Dr. Graham, who delivered his interesting address in Park street Baptist church, on "The Jesuits," has been asked to return to the city and deliver the lecture again. The talented speaker accepted the invitation and will give the same address on the first Friday in May in the S.O.E. Hall.

Does Anybody Here Know Kelly?

Does anybody here know Kelly, Kelly with a first name Bill? Yes. The police recognized him as a man who had been given a strong hint to leave town, but tarried and got full. The result was a fine of $10 at yesterday's police court and poor William had not the necessary simoleons in his jeans, so—Well, poor William!

Good Friday Service at Armoury.

An interesting and unique service will be held in the Armouries on the afternoon of Good Friday, under the auspices of the Peterborough Ministerial Association. The Band of the Salvation Army will lend their services for the day and will lead in the singing. Short addresses will be given by several of the local clergy.

New Organ for St. Andrew's.

The Organ Committee of St. Andrew's church have placed an order for a fine new Karn organ. The instrument will consist of 92 registers, made up of about 40 speaking stops, 25 tablet couplers, 27 pistons and mechanical accessories. The stops run for the most part to 68 notes. This will be a great organ and a credit to this progressive church.

The Clock is Convalescent.

Just as we are going to press, 3.47 a.m., the post office clock is still bravely struggling along. The hands are really and truly turning round, and, by our special microscope, we could hear a distinct tick, tick. The clock may be moribund, but life still lingers. Well! It's had a forty-eight hours rest and should run along for another day or two.

Judge Huycke on the "Holy Grail."

His Honor Judge Huycke will give an address this evening at 8 o'clock in the Public Library building on Tennyson's "Holy Grail." This lecture is given under the auspices of the Peterborough Womens' Art Association. There is no charge for ad[illegible]ented a speaker, ensures a large attendance.

Farmer Missed His Train.

Yesterday morning as the G.T.R. train pulled out for Port Hope, a farmer missed it by just 51 seconds. This agriculturist, judging by his garb, and spinach bunch of whiskers, must come from Cavendish or the north corner of Galway. As the train got to King street, he flung his arms in the air and yelled. "Hi, there! Come back, just for a minute please."

The Gordon-Davies Store.

Peterborough is to have another fine store added to her present complement. On Saturday next, the Gordon-Davies Co., will open their meat market in that commodious store in the Kennedy building, near the Royal Theatre. Mr. Davies was in the city yesterday, overseeing the extensive alterations now in progress. Mr. W. McCracken will be local manager.

Another Star for Peterborough.

Manager Templin of the Peterborough Canadian League Baseball team received a contract signed by E. J. Kelly, a back-stop, with a bright record. Kelly will be one of the highest paid men on the team, but he is evidently worth the price. He is a hard worker and full of ginger, and a splendid man to handle young pitchers. He is 5 foot, 9 inches tall, weighs 165 pounds, and is 28 years of age.

C.G.E. Line to Be Extended.

We are given to understand that the local street railway will extend the C.G.E. Co. line about June 1st. Several diamonds to be used where railway tracks are to be crossed, have arrived recently and the supplies of ties and the other necessities have been here for a month. There will be two cars put on the C.G.E. line. The company have purchased a lot of land on Boundary Road, near the C.P.R. tracks, which will likely be used for a loop.

Poultry Farm Near Kingston.

Ideal conditions for poultry raising. Only one-half mile to railroad station, three and one-half miles to Kingston, and 89 miles to New York City; 7 acres, slopes gently to the south; 7-room house, 30 ft. barn, other outbuildings. If taken now, $1100, part cash. Traveling directions to see this and other good farms near the Hudson River and between Albany and Buffalo, "Strout's Farm Catalogue 36", just out, copy free. We pay buyer's R. R. fares. Station 2171, E. A. Strout, 47 W. 34th Street, New York.

Post Office Holiday Good Friday.

Those having business at the local post office on Good Friday should remember, that the day is a holiday. The post office wickets including the registration department, will only be open from 12 to 1 o'clock noon. The outgoing morning and afternoon mails will close at the usual hours. A mail for Great Britain and Europe will be despatched on Friday. Letters and parcels intended for this mail should be in not later than To-day. The letter carriers will observe the day as a holiday. Therefore, there will be no regular delivery of mail throughout the day.

Local Merchant Gets Lindsay Store.

Lindsay Post: Mr. L. R. Knight, wrote the Council last evening on behalf of Mr. Louis Yeotes of Peterborough, who has secured the premises on Kent street formerly used by Mr. J. L. Primeau as a butcher shop. Mr. Yeotes intends opening up a shoe shine, cigar store and hat cleaning department; also a shooting gallery. He would pay usual license of $50 for selling cigarettes and at the present time there was no town by-law regulating shooting gallery license. Mr. Yeotes was anxious to learn what license fee he would have to pay and felt if he paid a license of $10 or $15 in addition to the cigarette license that it would be sufficient. The matter was referred to the committee.

Former Local Man Makes Good.

It seems that Peterborough people make good always, including when they go West. Fred Whitcroft, the former Peterborough hockey player, and now 2nd Vice-President of McGrath Holgate, Limited, real estate and financial brokers, Edmonton, has just put through one of the largest financial propositions on record in Edmonton. On the 29th of February Mr. Whitcroft paid $10,000 for a 60-day option on some property known as the New Hagmann estate, at a price of $800,000. He immediately put the proposition on the market, and within ten days has sold over $300,000 worth. Those acquainted with land conditions in Edmonton, think his firm will make two hundred thousand dollars profit.

Regimental Orders.

Following are the orders issued for this week, for the 57th Regiment:

Headquarters, Peterborough,
April 2, 1912.

Orders by the Officer Commanding 57th Regiment, Peterborough Rangers.

No. 1—The following extracts from General and Militia Orders are promulgated for the information of the Regiment.

The Training for each week will be divided into two periods.

(a) Training at regimental headquarters—11 days.

Married Here Sixty Years Ago.

A couple that were married in Peterborough in 1852, celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in Pontypool a few days ago. The couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jason O. Williamson. The clergyman officiating was Rev. I. B. Howard. Although residents of Pontypool for a number of years, both Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are natives of the township of Cavan, Durham County. Mr. Williamson was born near Millbrook, on the 6th concession of Cavan in April, 1829. And Mrs. Williamson whose maiden name was Mary Ann Syer was born on the 8th concession of the same municipality in May, 1832. Among the four generations present at the reunion were: Mr. George E. and Mrs. Williamson, and Lloyd, son and grandson of this city.

As Peterborough is to vote on Local Option next January, it is of interest to note that John O'Donnell, Orillia, was recently fined $200, with the option of three months in jail for selling liquor without a license. Orillia is one of the towns where local option is strictly enforced.

Lindsay people seem patriotic to their own town. Although Mr. Hood's Knitting works, there was destroyed last week by fire and Mr. Hood has had inducements offered by other places to remove, he has decided to reopen his factory in an abandoned school house there.

The baseball fans have got the fever again. Wherever you go, if baseball lovers are around you hear of nothing but the great American game. When Dan McCabe gets busy with his pencil, this coming summer, full reports will be spicely given in The Times.

SMITH TOWNSHIP COUNCIL

The members of the Municipal Council of the Township of Smith met in the County Council Chamber, Peterborough, on Monday, April 1st. All the members were present with Reeve J. H. Garbutt in the chair. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

A communication was received from Mr. J. K. Moore asking that the Council pass a by-law prohibiting the posting up of indecent placards throughout the township. The matter was referred to the Township Solicitor for investigation.

The members of the Monaghan Council interviewed the local Council as regards the boundary road. An agreement was reached whereby Monaghan agreed to spend in the neighborhood of $200 during the latter part of the coming season, and after that the road was to be kept up jointly by the two townships.

Moved by Mr. McKee, seconded by Mr. McConkey that the Treasurer be instructed to pay the following accounts:—

F. McIlmoyl, drawing cement	$ 1.50
T. Armstrong, shovelling snow	16.50
John Harrison, shovelling snow	5.50
E. Rosborough, shovelling snow	4.00

T. J. Bell, shovelling snow	14.45
Lewis McIlmoyl, shovelling snow	22.50
Peter Nichols, shovelling snow	9.35
W. G. Wright, shovelling snow	1.50
Jno. Northey, Jr., shovelling snow	10.00
P. T. Udy, goods to T. Cullen	16.00

—Carried.

The Council then adjourned, to meet again as a Court of Revision during the latter part of May.

HOW TO WALK

An artist has lately been complaining that his chief objection to fashionable dress is that it reveals so completely the inability of the average Englishwoman to walk well. He says that most of us either slouch or strut, and he gives the following instructions on "how to walk":—

"The head should not be held erect as if by effort—a woman should not look like a soldier on parade. The steps should not be jerky—however quick, they should be 'smooth.' The movement should be from the hips and the knees bent as little as possible. A slight—a very slight—bend forward is graceful, if the walker be tall and slim. The arms should not swing noticeably, but should hang freely—elbow should be unobservable. The feet should turn out slightly, and walking should appear to be done chiefly on the toes—the heel down first style is unpardonable. But the chief feature and charms of a good carriage are its seemingly leisureliness, the absence of 'strut' and 'slouch,' and a certain air of unconscious grace."

The same critic recommends daily practice in front of a full-length mirror—exercises to be taken preferably in cycling knickers, as the movements of the limbs can then be better studied.

TO REMOVE STAINS

Coffee or cream stains may be removed from delicate silk or woollen fabrics by first of all brushing the stains with glycerine, and then well rinsing them in lukewarm water. But the stain should not be allowed to dry in. Later, press the material on the wrong side with a warm iron.

TO POLISH LINOLEUM

The following mixture is excellent for polishing linoleum: Mix together one gill of methylated spirit and one ounce of shellac. Let the shellac thoroughly dissolve, and then apply with a soft flannel. The polish will remain on the linoleum even after it has been washed.

CHANCELLOR BURWASH SAYS CHURCH UNION IS ALL OVER

The General Assembly Which Meets in June Will Have the Final Decison 'Says Head of Victoria College

Toronto, April 4.—The resolution of the Presbyterian Committee yesterday appears to have sounded the death note of church union," declared Chancellor Burwash, of Victoria University this morning. "Of course, it is not the final decision.

"That can only come from the General Assembly, which meets in June, but the decision of the Committee may be taken as a fairly accurate forecast of the result. Still at this early stage it would not be wise for anyone who has been working for church union to say much in the matter.

"As will be seen by the report of the meeting, the Presbyterians are divided among themselves. One party wants to drop the matter altogether the other wishes union simply on educational and missionary lines.

"If this is secured, then union will be a question of time, for the shoulder-to-shoulder working will draw the churches together, and absolute union will come in the end.

"It is extremely unlikely that the Methodist and Congregationalists churches will essay a union if the Presbyterian church declines to enter the coalition. Such a course would draw many adherents of the Congregational church to the Presbyterian. It is likely that a new basis of union will be formulated."

GOLD SEEMS TO HAVE BEEN FOUND IN THE PORCUPINE CAMP

South Porcupine, April 4.—Porcupine has had its doubting Thomases of all grades. The black pessimists who professed to believe the camp would never produce gold have now been annihilated, for the camp is now turning out the yellow metal, and everyone admits that a gold production of at least a moderate quantity will be made for the next few years.

But there still remains a lighter shade of pessimist who refuses to follow the Porcupine enthusiast in his highest claims.

One gets an inkling of the basis for this conservatism when one asks how the Porcupine formation differs from that of the Rainy River country.

The answer will be, "There is very little difference. In fact the points of similarity are very striking."

To any one who came through the Lake of the Woods boom this statement will be far from reassuring, but there are two further statements which modify its disquieting effects.

1.—The deposits in Porcupine have already been proved to be more continuous and much more extensive than anything developed previously in Ontario, and

2.—With modern methods it is quite possible that some of the mines of by gone days in the Rainy River district can now be operated successfully.

IRELAND UNDER HOME RULE WILL HAVE UPPER AND LOWER HOUSE

London, Aoril 4.—The Home Rule Bill, which is to be introduced by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons on April 11, will, according to an evening paper, whose statement is based on the authority of a Nationalist member of Parliament, whose name is not given, provided for an Irish Parliament consisting of two Houses, which will sit in Dublin Forty representative Irish members will be sent to the House of Commons at Westminster.

Ireland will make no direct contribution to the Imperial revenue. The Customs and Excise of Ireland will remain under Imperial control, but the local Parliament will have power to vary the duties on articles, although it may not vary the articles themselves.

The taxation of Ireland is to continue to be in consonance with the financial system of the United Kingdom. The old age pensions and land purchase schemes are to remain under Imperial responsibility.

The Irish Parliament will have no power to impose duties on British goods.

SHE QUIT.

And Much Good Came From It.

It is hard to believe that coffee will put a person in such a condition as it did a woman of Apple Creek, O. (Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it contains caffeine, the same drug found in coffee). She tells her own story:

"I did not believe coffee caused my trouble, and frequently said I liked it so well I would not quit drinking it, even if it took my life, but I was a miserable sufferer from heart trouble and nervous prostration for four years.

"I was scarcely able to be around at all. Had no energy and did not care for anything. Was emaciated and had a constant pain around my heart until I thought I could not endure it. I felt as though I was liable to die any time.

"Frequently I had nervous chills and the least excitement would drive sleep away, and any little noise would upset me terribly. I was gradually getting worse until finally, one day, it came over me and I asked myself what is the use of being sick all the time and buying medicine so that I could indulge myself in coffee?

"So I thought I would see if I could quit drinking coffee, and got some Postum to help me quit. I made it strictly according to directions and I want to tell you that change was the greatest step in my life. It was easy to quit coffee because I had the Postum which I like better than I liked the coffee. One by one the old troubles left, until now I am in splendid health, nerves steady, heart all right and the pain all gone. Never have any more nervous chills, don't take any medicine can do all my housework and have done a great deal besides.

"My sister-in-law, who visited me this summer, had been an invalid for some time, much as I was. I got her to quit coffee and drink Postum. She gained five pounds in three weeks, and I never saw such a change in anyone's health."

"There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

PUBLIC OPINION

THE COAL SITUATION.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I saw in your issue of yesterday that the mines of the United States have all closed down. This is a most serious situation. As far as Peterborough is concerned, we are absolutely dependent upon coal. A few days ago I heard a gentleman, on George street, speaking about the coal strike, say: "Well, if we can't get coal we'll have to burn gas." Mr. Editor, as I was not personally acquainted with the speaker, I could not butt in and inform him that without coal, there can be no gas made. Personally I think that both the English and the United States governments should step in and take possession of the mines. If the mine owners are unreasonable in their desire for profits, or, if the miners are unreasonable in their demands, let the governments take hold and operate the mines. If they deduct a reasonable amount as profit to the operators and owners, and pay a fair wage to the workers, it would keep millions of people from suffering and hardship.

THE MADE AT HOME EXHIBITION

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have followed the articles in your paper for some weeks regarding the proposed "Made in Peterborough" Exhibition, proposed to be held in the Armouries. I must congratulate you, Sir, on the way you have tried to boom Peterborough, through your editorials on this subject. In fact, I consider it was the Morning Times that first brought this matter to the minds of Peterborough people, when you first advocated Peterborough getting up a similar, but better "made at home" exhibition than that recently held in Lindsay. Mr. Editor, there are two points of view from which to look at this "Made in Peterborough" Exhibition. First, the cause and then the effect. Now the object is to raise funds to pay a district nurse to visit tuberculosis patients, and teach the people how to handle and prevent tuberculosis in our midst. Incidentally, in this respect, is the booming and display of Peterborough-made products. Surely, with two so commendable causes, there is no denying that such an exhibition should be encouraged in every way in this city. Now, between cause and effect, is a bridge. That is the encouragement given or denied to the ladies who are working for this exhibition. If they, the ladies, do not get sufficient encouragement, both moral and financial, they will have to change the name to a "Made in Canada" Exhibition. Surely with the factories and facilities right here in Peterborough we can get up as good, if not better, exhibition as Lindsay held, and it, I understand, was a great success. Let us all, merchants, manufacturers, and the big public of Peterborough, put our shoulders to the wheel, our hands in our pockets, and have a great big "MADE IN PETERBOROUGH EXHIBITION."

ELOPES WITH A PASTOR AND GETTING HOMESICK GOES HOME

Hempstead, L.I., April 4.—Homesick for the sight of her aged grandmother Floretta Whaley, who, six years ago, was the central figure in one of the most sensational elopements in the history of this country, has returned home. Her disappearance in company with Rev. Jeremiah R. Cooke, rector of the exclusive St. George's Episcopal Church of this city, of which Augustus Belmont is senior warden, disrupted the congregation and caused a profound stir throughout Long Island, because of the prominence of the minister and his wife, who was a member of an old Hartford, Conn., family.

After the Elopement.

Cooke worked as a carpenter and cabinet maker. At times he and the girl suffered for want of food. They finally settled in San Francisco, where Cooke worked as a painter and decorator. He now has a large establishment there, employing fifteen men.

Miss Whaley will shortly inherit more than $25,000 from the estate of her father.

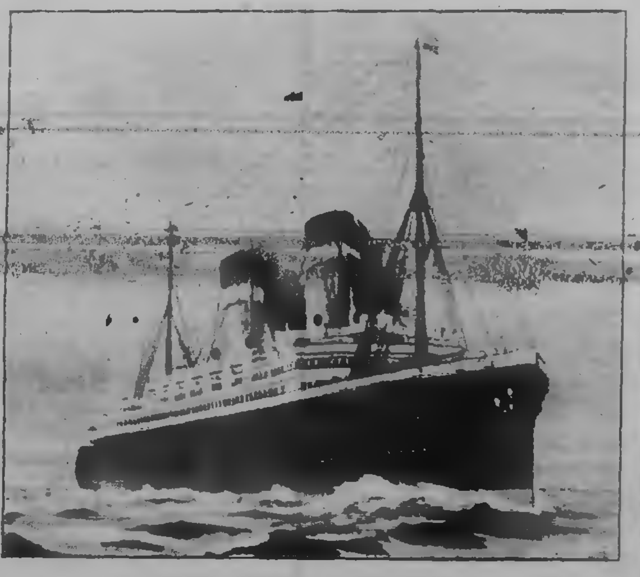
THINKS WHITNEYS NEW POLICY WILL REMOVE TEMPTATION

Kingston, Ont., April 4.—(Special) The feeling in Kingston for the most part favor Whitney's proposal to make the treating system illegal rather than the policy of Mr. Rowell to abolish the bar in its entirety. The liquor men, while somewhat loath to discuss the question, agree that the aboliting of the treating system is a much saner step than that proposed by Mr. Rowell. The citizens generally agree with this sentiment.

The strictly anti-license interests are divided. A prominent Liberal connected with the Moral and Social Reform League, when interviewed by your representative, admitted that both policies were steps in the right direction, but expressed the opinion that Mr. Rowell's policy would be easier to enforce.

Mayor Holds Up Both Hands.

Mayor Hoag said that he would hold up both hands for the abolition of the treating system, as it would have the effect of materially reducing the consumption of liquors.



ALLAN LINE S. S. ALSATIAN

FIFTY THOUSAND MEN AT WORK IN MINES OF GREAT BRITAIN

London, April 4.—The Miners' Federation, after a long conference, decided to advise all the miners in Great Britain to resume work.

The decision of the executive of the Miners' Federation to-day is only the first step towards officially terminating the national coal strike, and an national conference of the whole of the Miners' Federation will now have to decide whether or not the advice of the executive shall be adopted.

A national conference of the federation has been summoned to meet on Saturday to determine the question.

Surprised the Officers.

A surprise awaited the executive committee of the Miners' Federation when scrutinizing the ballots of the miners. The figures disclosed an unexpectedly large majority of 43,000 against the resumption of work, out of a total vote of 445,000. The members of the executive, however, finally decided that as a two-thirds majority of the miners had been required to declare the strike, a two-thirds majority was also necessary to continue it.

In the meanwhile large numbers of miners in various coal districts, without awaiting the decision of the leaders, have returned to the pits. Fully 50,000 miners went down the shafts to-day.

The official count when announced was, as expected, against resumption being as follows

Against resumption	244,011
For resumption	201.013
Majority against	42,998

The direct loss to the country during the strike is estimated at $350,000,000, but the indirect loss is incalculable.

Special Songs by the Great Italian Singer

D'ANGELO, at the Red Mill Theatre

The Red Mill Picture Palace seems to grow more in popular favour each week, and the cream of Peterborough's society and business folk are nightly represented in this delightful place of amusement. The Red Mill Orchestra, under the direction of Mrs. Foscer, is of high order of excellence, both from a classical and popular standpoint, while the singing of Mr. Donaldson the past few weeks has been delightfully refreshing. His selections have all been familiar and encores have been in large demand. To-day, Mr. R. M. D'Angelo, the noted tenor, recently from the Metropolitan Opera House, will be soloist. Mr. D'Angelo is a native of Palermo, Sicily, and is only 28 years of age, yet he has sung in most of the principal opera houses of Italy, including the La Scala, at Milan, Sambarlo at Naples, and the Massimo at Palermo. He came to America six years ago, under the Grau management to the Metropolitan Opera House. He is engaged at the Red Mill Theatre for Friday and Saturday [illegible] For the holiday [illegible] we have secured, by telegraph, that Great Western picture, entitled "A Day on a Buffalo Ranch," and other new films. Three singers, D'Angelo, Mr. Donaldson and Miss Long, in catchy song.

ALLAN LINE OF STEAMERS

Splendid Translantic Service Being Given by This Old Established Company—A Short Review of the Company's Early History.

Canada, as a young nation, has reason to be proud of the Allan Line. The history of steamship trans-Atlantic service given by the Allan Line. The history of steamship transportation across the Atlantic dates back to 1840, although, in 1819 the steamer Savannah sailed from Savannah, Ga., to Liverpool. This ship took twenty-nine days, eleven hours to make the passage.

This brings one to the Great Western then thought too big and unwieldy to do business. That vessel, however, as compared with the present magnificent ships of the Allan Line, would now seem comparatively small. Alexander Allan, founder of the Allan Line, was born in the little town of Saltcoats, Ayrshire. He was born and bred to the sea. His first command was a brig of 350 tons, which during the Peninsular War, carried British troops to Portugal. After the conclusion of that struggle, Mr. Allan sailed his brig to Canada in 1814, going from Glasgow to Montreal. The establishment of the present great Allan Line, and the opening of the Grand Trunk Railway between Montreal and Portland, and the Intercolonial between Halifax and Quebec, were synchronous. In this issue appears a picture of the Allan Line's magnificent new steamship Alsatian, for use in the Montreal-Liverpool service. This steamer, when completed, will be quadruple screws, propelled by turbine engines, and will be, with its sister ship the Albynian, the fastest and largest steamers on the St. Lawrence route. The last two ships noted will be ready for service in the spring of 1913.

HOTEL MEN SHOCKED OVER NOW TREATING LEGISLATION

They Claim Prohibition of Treating Would be Impossible Under the Law 'and in View of Prevailing Custom

Toronto, April 4.—Local hotelmen did not think the Government would do it. The readiness of the Premier Sir James Whitney to stand sponsor for a movement to abolish the treating system was something they did not expect. They had adapted themselves to recent changes in the License Act with resignation and were feeling secure on their acquiescence and strict observance of the law.

Mr. Rowell's platform to abolish the bar did not worry them much. They had anticipated that the Government would point with pride to the splendid working of the License Act under its Administration, and would leave them alone so long as they continued the conduct of business in such an exemplary way.

Shocked and Disappointed.

Several of the bonifaces were interviewed this morning. To all of them the Premier's announcement seemed to be a shock and a disappointment. The concensus of their opinion was, as one expressed it, that "the Government would let well enough alone." Some did not care to say anything about it at all. They were sparring for wind.

There is no discounting the fact that they feel a severe blow has been aimed at them and they want time to think it over. Most of them could not figure out how prohibition of treating could be enforced.

All stated that no action had yet been taken to meet the movement for local option, which the temperance forces propose to put to a vote next January.

Did Not Expect It.

Mr. Wm. Hassard, late of the Cadillac Hotel, and president of the Toronto Hotel-Keepers Association, admitted that the attitude of the Government had rather taken his breath away and he did not know what he could find to say about it just yet.

"We were not looking for anything like that," he said.

"What did you expect?"

"We did not expect anything, to tell you the truth. We thought the Government would leave things as they are; the licenses are conducted well here, as everybody will admit; rigid inspection is made, the law is observed to the letter, and a substantial license tax is paid.

CHAUFFEUR WHO IS RESPONSIBLE HELD UNDER VERY HEAVY BAIL

The Crown Attorney again refused to accept any pleas from Joseph Radnor, the chauffeur who is charged with wounding Mrs. Hayden, while driving an automobile at reckless speed when under the inflence of liquor. Mrs. Hayden is still in a precarious condition in the hospital, and her recovery is doubtful.

In the event of her death, Radnor will be charged with manslaughter. Bail was fixed at the sum of $20,000.

DURING RECITAL OF 'CRUCIFIXION' THIEVES MADE A BIG CLEAN UP

Forty Members of Church of the Epiphany Victims of Systematic Raid on the Dressing Rooms

Toronto, April 4.—At the conclusion of Stainer's "Crucifixion" in the Church of the Epiphany, Queen St. west, last night, the discovery was made that sneak thieves had been busy in the ladies' and gentlemen's dressing rooms.

A complete clean-up had been effected, even scarves, gloves and handkerchiefs being stolen.

Two of the ladies lost handbags containing money. The organist, Mr. Thomas Sargent, was relieved of a card case containing car tickets and private papers, and one of the choir men lost a $5 bill. Another member of the choir only saved a roll of $50 by removing it from his coat pocket when he left his coat in the dressing room. Altogether some 40 people were robbed, and the affair was at once put in the hands of the police.

ACQUAINTED WITH PLACE.

The fact that the robbery was so methodical and complete points to the conclusion that the thief or the thieves were acquainted with the inside layout of the church and had some means of knowing that the caretaker was safely away in the rear premises.

A FAMOUS AIRMAN

Much That Was Pathetic in Gilmour's Death and Funeral

Graham Gilmour, the famous London airman who was killed by falling from a height of 175 feet left a letter dated several months previously. This he had entrusted to a friend requesting that should he be killed at any time that at his funeral there should be no bell tolled, no mourning, and no moaning. If any flowers, they were to be colored, and his body was to be taken away on a four-wheeled farmer's cart or on a motor lorry. He desired to be buried with his mother and father at Mickleham Church. The letter concluded: "I want everyone to be merry and bright, for I don't believe in moaning." The body was therefore conveyed on a motor lorry. It is doubtful, however, whether the last sad ceremony could be described as "merry and bright," as he desired it to be.

Mr. J. Radley, the aviator, fitted up the chassis of his own car as a hearse, draping it in purple, and upon this the coffin, covered with a purple pall, was conveyed from the mortuary at Richmond by way of Kingston to the quiet little village of Mickleham, near Dorking, twelve miles away.

Mr. Radley himself drove the vehicle, and six motor-cars followed, conveying friends of Mr. Gilmour. Numerous wreaths were sent, all consisting of colored flowers, including daffodils, red roses, lilacs, tulips, hyacinths, and mimosa. One wreath bore the inscription, "His last long flight."

There was a touching incident just before the service, an old lady placing beside the grave a wreath bearing the inscription, "In sorrowful memory of one whose youthful spirit and kindly word cheered a day in an old woman's lonely life."

The body was buried in the grave containing the remains of Mr. Gilmour's mother and father.

BALL PLAYERS WITH AUTOS

The Chicago Cubs Have More Motors Than Other Teams

The Chicago Cubs own more automobiles than any other aggregation of ball players in the American or National Leagues. Chance's men have been joining the ranks of the auto enthusiasts one at a time until about half the team are classed as gasoline bugs.

Chance was one of the very first men playing baseball to own an automobile. Then one at a time his players followed in his footsteps, and the other day Joe Tinker purchased a new car at the Kansas City Auto Show.

Ty Cobb is another enthusiast, although he manages to win some sort of a machine every year by leading the world in batting.

The New York Club stands next to [illegible] now that the Athletics have won a couple of pennants and two world's championships, which meant a lot of extra dough for every member of the team, watch Mack's aggregation of stars develop the gasoline bug.

It is estimated that over two hundred ball players own automobiles at the present time, and every year from twenty-five to fifty more converts are made.

MANLY SPORTS

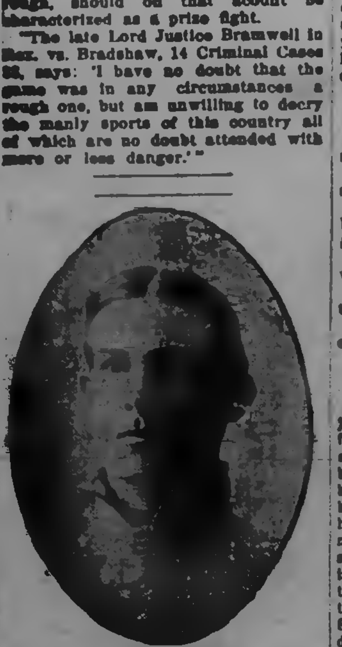
Prof. Morson Says That They Should be Encouraged

Prof. Morson, Toronto, in dismissing the appeal against Magistrate Denison's decision imposing a fine on the National Sporting Club for promoting a prize fight said:

"I express no opinion upon the merits of the case as it is now unnecessary. I desire to say, however, that while I may be opposed to what are prize fights, in fact, I am much in sympathy with and desire to encourage all manly sports which include sparring matches, according to well-known rules and which are nothing more than exhibitions of skill and endurance.

"I do not think any honest, manly sport, because it is a little rough, should, on that account be stopped, nor do I think a sparring match, because it happens also to be a little rough, should on that acount be characterized as a prize fight.

"The late Lord Justice Bramwell in Rex. vs. Bradshaw, 14 Criminal Cases 83, says: 'I have no doubt that the game was in any circumstances a rough one, but am unwilling to decry the manly sports of this country all of which are no doubt attended with more or less danger.'"



"CY" SEYMOUR

Former Buffalo outfielder. He has signed with the Newark team.

If the U.S. coal strike continues, the well dressed man on George street will soon have a small chunk of black diamond stuck in his neck tie or dangling from his watch chain.

Judging by the Government reports, the local custom house receipts for the year ending March 31, 1912, fell considerably below the amount received here during the preceding year.

ROYAL SALUTES

The Much-Esteemed Greetings of Royalty—Interesting Side Lights on Court Etiquette

Of the various salutations that pass between Sovereign and people, the most popular is undoubtedly the handshake. It is pleasant to have felt the grip of a king—an experience to remember and make much of.

A North-country miner, whom the King had decorated and shaken hands with for some deed of heroism, was welcomed on returning home by a crowd of his friends. They were surprised, however, when he persistently ignored their hands, proffered in congratulation, and kept his own at the bottom of his trouser-pocket.

"How's this, mate?" said a friend. "Hast turned proud?"

The miner cautiously drew his right hand from his pocket, regarded it a moment in admiration, and then returned it decisively to the depths it came from.

"Na, na, lads!" he exclaimed, with a sly twinkle in his eye. "Ye canna expect it; I've shaken hands with the King!"

The value of the "big man's handshake" is thoroughly understood in America. A political "captain" will stand for hours shaking hands with the endless file of his supporters. The President himself is not exempt. On the occasion of the Inauguration Ball at Washington, Mr. Taft went through the ceremony, it was calculated, just 4,500 times.

To those unversed in Court Etiquette, another form of salutation, that of kissing the Royal hand, sometimes proves a veritable trap. The poet Longfellow, describing his presentation to Queen Victoria, tells how he unwittingly grasped the hand which the Queen held out to him. He noticed a look of surprise on her face, but did not realize till afterwards that her Majesty intended her hand to be kissed.

This rather formal mode of salutation, though it enters into many Court cememonies, is not in this country carried to such an extreme as at Madrid, one of the most conservative Courts in Europe. When the second of the young Spanish princes was born, the little Prince of the Asturias was just twelve months old. But already he seems to have been instructed in Court etiquette, for on his baby brother being shown to him, he immediately held out his hand for the infant to kiss!

When king meets king, the usual greeting is a kiss on both cheeks. The two monarchs embrace by lightly holding each other's shoulders, and saluting first on one cheek and then immediately afterwards the other.

Queen Victoria never spared herself in this respect. Even in the Diamond Jubilee procession, when seventy-eight years of age, she bowed almost continuously for by far the [illegible] Royal Family are brought up in the same tradition is shown by an incident which occurred later on that very day. At the moment when the crowd round Buckingham Palace was thickest, the two eldest children of the present King appeared at the open nursery window. Prince Eddy, the elder, who was three years old within a day, in response to the cheers of the spectators, gravely raised his hand to his forehead and saluted.

This action wrought the enthusiasm of the crowd to a high pitch, and the acclamations were so long continued that the little Prince concluded that something more was expected of him. Straightening himself, therefore, he again saluted, but this time with both hands at once!

BRAHMS AND THE SARDINES

Mme. Liza Lehmann is one of the world's leading composers, although she first achieved fame and popularity as a singer. Randegger was her teacher, but she received many useful hints from Jenny Lind in her earlier days. After her marriage in 1894 she devoted herself entirely to composition. Mme. Lehmann tells a quaint story of Brahms. She was staying with Mme. Schumann at the time at Frankfort, and while she was there Brahms came for a short visit. Naturally her excitement at the prospect of meeting one of the world's most famous masters was great. On the morning of the first day of his visit the breakfast menu included sardines, which were served in the tin containing them. Brahms devoured a number with gusto, and then, to his youthful worshipper's amazement and horror, coolly took up the tin and drank the oil!

THE GENTLE CYNIC

Hope springs as eternally as a woman from a mouse.

A man is apt to feel that his hands are tied if he hasn't a free foot.

Laurels that are rested upon soon wilt.

Silence is the sauce that softens the spice of life.

One good turn is apt to make us expect another.

THE SUPREMACY OF BRIDGE

Reviewers of the social "season" just closed agree that its outstanding feature is the conquest of German society by the seductive game of bridge. From a monopoly in the hands of a few privileged folk, who knew it from English visits, bridge has now become the property of German society generally. It has invaded all branches of the smart set, including royalty, the army, and the aristocracy. The theatres reveal unmistakable evidence of the bridge plague. Several of the season's plays introduce games, and the dialogues of a dozen others tell of it conspicuously. Henceforth the national game of "Skat" seems likely to have to fight for its existence with all-conquering bridge.

As Peterborough is to vote on Local Option next January, it is of interest to note that John O'Donnell, Orillia, was recently fined $200, with the option of three months in jail for selling liquor without a license. Orillia is one of the towns where local option is strictly enforced.

HELPFUL HINTS

Household Information Which May Come in Handy

Get a nice thick piece of lean steak, cover it with good olive oil, and let it remain in the oil for an hour before cooking. This will make it tender, and the oil forms a coating, thus keeping in all the juice. The same method applies to cutlets.

Removing Inkstains

To remove ink from colored materials, dip the stained part in warm milk that has been boiled, and rub it lightly with the finger. As the milk becomes inked, change it, and continue the process till the stain fades away, then rinse the fabric, dry it quickly, and smooth it with a warm iron.

When Boiling Greens

If some hot water is poured over the greens before putting into the saucepan they will boil much quicker and look much greener. A little bicarbonate of soda used instead of washing soda will keep the greens a better color and make them much more tender.

A Time-Saving Hint

Where the family washing is large, much time, labor and fuel can be saved if this method is followed: First shake out all bath towels, and spread evenly on the table; then hand and roller towels, next the pillow covers. Fold the bed sheets, place them over all and then cover with the ironing sheet. Commence ironing all the underwear, tablecloths, and handkerchiefs—all except the starched clothes. Then remove ironing sheets and all the linen underneath will be as smooth as if put through the mangle. Fold same, and place on clothes-horse to air.

Blanket Washing

Take half a cupful of pure ammonia, half a cupful of turpentine, and pour into a vessel that will hold two quarts of water; then cut up a small piece of soap about the size of a walnut—not more—or else the solution will be too stiff when cold. Then pour on two quarts of boiling water. When the liquid is cool, bottle off, and keep the bottle tightly corked. Be careful when pouring on the water, as the fumes are very strong. When washing the blankets add half a cupful of this mixture to each tub of water, and you will be more than pleased at the result. The blankets will come up quite soft and fluffy, and if this is carefully carried out they will never shrink.

Hints on Renovating

Light colored velvets may be cleaned by rubbing with benzoin or paraffin oil.

Chiffon can be washed in tepid water in which has been dissolved a small piece of Castile soap.

White silk should be washed in lukewarm water, rolled in a cloth, and ironed quite damp.

Where money is an object, it is a wise plan for everyone to know as much as possible about the art of renovating.

Crepe should be wound round a bottle, and steamed over boiling water.

Ribbons should be well brushed [illegible] tissue paper

Chip hats should be first well brushed, then cleaned by rubbing with equal quantities of oil and ink.

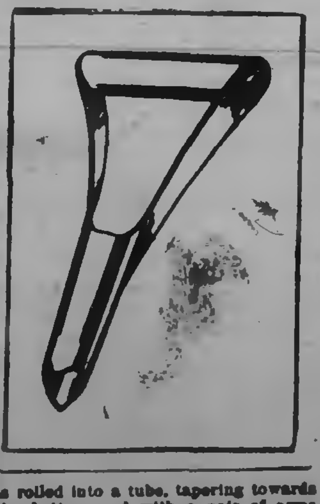
White felt hats, if white, may be cleaned by rubbing with oatmeal.

For instance, velvet may be made as good as new by the following process: Place a damp cloth over a hot iron, and draw the back of the velvet over the cloth. When the creases are all out, remove the cloth, and dry by rubbing the back of the velvet over the iron.

HANDY FRUIT CORER

Extracts Centre of Apple or Pear at One Quick Stroke

A simple and effective device for extracting stones and cores from fruit has been designed by a Virginian man and will probably become a popular kitchen utensil. At first glance it resembles the top of a spade handle broken off. A single sheet of metal is rolled into a tube, tapering towards the bottom and with a pair of arms extending above, joined at their tops to a wooden handle between. The lower end of the tube has two sharp lips projecting opposite each other. To core an apple or pear the fruit is placed on the table, stem up, and the cutter thrust down through the centre. It is teen pulled out again, bringing with it the centre of the fruit with the seeds and the hard substances that are so unpleasant to encounter in baked or stewed fruit. The same operation will remove stones from fruits that are not easily split in two, as are peaches, and cleaned in that way.



MACHINE OIL

Should any machine oil get on the material you are sewing, tack a piece of cotton-wool over the spot at once, and leave it for a short time. The cotton-wool absorbs the oil, and no trace of the stain will be left.

Lindsay people seem patriotic to their own town. Although Mr. Hood's Knitting works, there was destroyed, last week by fire and Mr. Hood has had inducements offered by other places to remove, he has decided to reopen his factory in an abandoned school house there.

The baseball fans have got the fever again. Wherever you go, if baseball lovers are around you hear of nothing but the great American game. When Dan McCabe gets busy with his pencil, this coming summer, full reports will be spicely given in The Times.

FORTUNES MAY BE YOURS

How to Become as Rich as a Rothschild or a Rockefeller

There is no doubt that a fortune, and probably a large one, awaits the man who shall solve certain problems. Surgery, for instance, has made wonderful strides of late years, and its allied art of dentistry has become an almost exact science; but, though the dentist can furnish the mouth with new and wonderfully efficient instruments of mastication, yet the surgeon has hitherto entirely failed to replace the worn-out organs of digestion, says Tit-Bits.

He can remove, wholly or in part, almost every organ of the body, but he can do very little towards their artificial replacement. It is said that Mr Rockefeller has offered half a million dollars to anyone who will supply him with a new digestive apparatus, but up to the present we have not heard that anyone has drawn the cash.

The same gentleman is bald, and although he is probably less perturbed about his bald pate than about his dyspeptic stomach, yet doubtless he would be willing to endow that man with a pension for life who would rethatch his roof. Many hair-washes there are which have admirable qualities in the direction of stimulating the growth of the hair and preventing it from falling out, but even the manufacturer of those articles of the toilet would frankly admit that a real and infallible cure for baldness has not been discovered. The man who could rise up and demonstrate to the world that he can make hair spring up on a patch of pate as smooth as a billiard ball would be a millionaire in six months.

Many diseases, like leprosy, the plague, cholera, and smallpox, have been wholly or nearly eradicated from Western Europe, America, and the British Colonies, yet rheumatism continues to cripple tens of thousands, and is considered by most doctors as practically incurable. The man who can find a genuine cure is likely to be a millionaire in life and to have his statue in every city after he is dead.

The same remarks apply to cancer. Investigators are engaged on the problems involved in the cure of this disease in every quarter of the globe. It is no exaggeration to say that millions of pounds have been spent on research work in connection with it, and yet its ravages remain unabated.

So far as consumption is concerned, all the above remarks apply; but in this case a more rational treatment of the patients and their more careful isolation have done something to reduce its ravages. There are teeming thousands of men and women who would be willing to shower all their treasures at the feet of the man who, one fine morning, could step forth and say, "Here is a certain cure for consumption," or, "I hold in my hands the antidote to cancer." Aye, the world would beatify him.

No one has ever found a cure for sea-sickness, yet there is a fortune [illegible] Many sailors even, of whom the "Mighty Nelson" was one, are victims of sea-sickness if the weather should be at all rough. It has been a human experience ever since man ventured to embark upon the ocean. Yet nobody has ever found a remedy for it.

Just as, when you have a cold, every person you meet will give you a new and infallible cure, so, when you are going for a voyage, short or long, everyone will give you a simple panacea for sea-sickness. If the sea is as calm as a mill-pond the nostrum acts, but in the chops of the Channel it proves a tragical failure. There is a lot of money in an infallible cure for sea-sickness.

TURPENTINE NOW A LUXURY

No Longer the Cheapest Thing a Householder Can Buy

The time was when turpentine was about the cheapest thing a housekeeper could buy. The biggest bottle in the house was sent for five cents' worth of turpentine. Now your sewing-machine oil bottle is big enough for that much. Indeed, turpentine has so grown in value that unless when you call at the paint dealer's and do not specify that you want the genuine article he will hand you out a substitute made largely of crude gasoline. Some years ago turpentine retailed for 20 cents a gallon, and now sells for 10 cents a half-pint.

Turpentine is a southern product, and, while the demand has largely increased, the output has largely fallen off. The value of the output in 1910, though much smaller than the previous year, was 40 per cent. greater than in 1909, all of which shows that the south has a very valuable industry and one that demands scientific and careful handling of the pine forests that produce the resin and the turpentine to prevent the destruction of the trees. The old forests are already giving out and new areas are being worked. The product is taken from the tree by chopping holes in the bark and sap, through which it oozes. The trees have been overworked, and many large areas that were valuable have been killed by the greed of the turpentine companies. The trees are natural growth and cannot be restored by replanting. Their value will steadily increase, and it would be the sheerest folly to keep up the old methods of destruction.

First British Woman to Fly

The distinction of being the first woman of purely British nationality to fly belongs to Miss Gertrude Bacon daughter of the famous aeronaut who was really one of the pioneers of ballooning. Miss Bacon went up with Mr. Sommer in a Farman biplane during the Rheims aviation meeting of 1909, and in her book, "How Men Fly," which has recently been published, she provided a fascinating narrative of the sensations of flying. She quotes the unfortunate Mr. Rolls as saying that his "first impression of flying was like trying to drive a motor-car which was skidding in all directions at once."

The Gordon-Davies Store.

Peterborough is to have another fine store added to her present complement. On Saturday next, the Gordon-Davies Co., will open their meat market in that commodious store in the Kennedy building, near the Royal Theatre. Fire Laddies See a Picture.

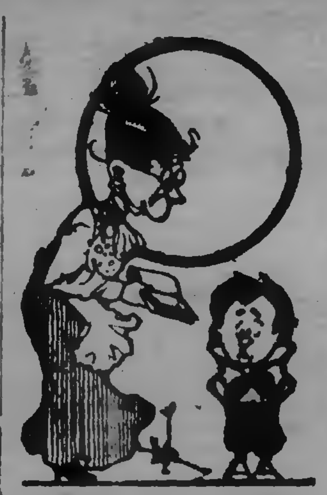
Mr. King the energetic proprietor of the Princess Theatre is showing a bright, clear, fine picture, entitled, "Making Heroes." He invited the members of the local fire brigade to come and see the film, which shows all the latest and most modern fire appliances in action.



JUST BEFORE THE BATTLE

Johnny:—"Tisn't any."

Teacher:—"Ah, but it must be."

Johnny:—"Maybe yours is, because you talk through it, but the only part of speech I've got is my mouth."

FROM GENERATION TO GENERATION.

William had just returned from college, resplendent in loud-checked trousers, silk hosiery, a fancy waistcoat, a necktie that spoke for itself. He entered the library where his father was reading. The old gentleman looked up and surveyed his son. The longer he looked the more disgusted he became.

"Son," he finally blurted out, "you look like a silly fool!"

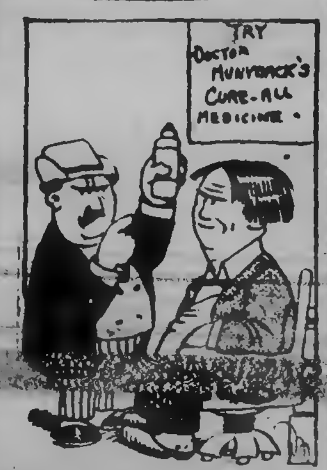
Later the old major who lived next door came in and greeted the boy heartily. "William," he said, with undisguised admiration, "you look exactly like your father did twenty-five years ago, when he came back from school."

"Yes," replied William, with a smile. "So father was just telling me."

HE KNEW.

"The Malays have a queer marriage custom," remarked the traveller. "The groom holds his nose against a small cylindrical object. I couldn't quite make out what it was——"

"A grind tone, probably," interposed Mr. Grough.



A MILLION MORE

Patient:—"You're a fraud! You guaranteed your medicine to cure after everything else failed and—

Medicine Man:—"Well, probably you haven't tried everything else."

ACCORDING TO HIS CUSTOM.

At a restaurant one night a young American—a barber—fell in with an Englishman. The latter was berating the Yankees for doing all manner of business in their shops and not following the better English plan of sticking to one branch. The next day he swaggered into the barber's shop to be shaved. The barber gave his face an extra good soaping and left him, at the same time seating himself to read. The Englishman kept quiet for a few minutes, when, seeing his attendant reading, he blurted out: "Why don't you shave me, sir?"

"You will have to go up the street for your shave," quietly replied the barber; "we only lather here."

A CORPORAL'S ORDER.

The Boy's Brigade were on parade, and the corporal, thinking they had been out long enough, gave the order to return on arriving at the corner from where they started.

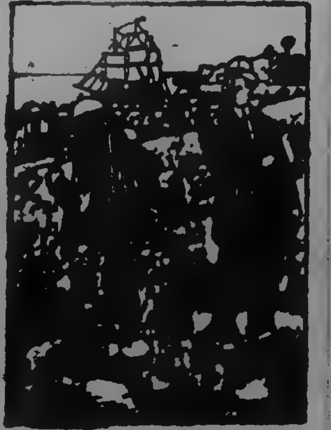
The boys, noticing his confusion, started laughing, when the corporal shouted: "Hang it, boys, turn up Yonge Street!"



BARGAIN DAY

"[illegible] are you in such a hurry?"

"[illegible] to meet my wife at three [illegible] down at the corner."

"[illegible] there's no hurry. It's only [illegible] four now."

Post Office Holiday Good Friday.

Those having business at the local post office on Good Friday should remember, that the day is a holiday. The post office wickets including the registration department, will only be open from 12 to 1 o'clock noon. The outgoing morning and afternoon mails will close at the usual hours. A mail for Great Britain and Europe will be despatched on Friday. Letters and parcels intended for this mail should be in not later than To-day. The letter carriers will observe the day as a holiday. Therefore, there will be no regular delivery of mail throughout the day.

GERMAN'S DEADLY NEW SIEGE GUN

Fires Huge Bomb Which Does Not Enter Bore---A Destructive Weapon

A destructive new type of siege gun has just yielded satisfactory results to experiments conducted by the German military authorities.

The new gun was constructed by the firm of Krupp. It is an improvement on an idea much used by the Japanese in the siege of Port Arthur, and is designed to aid the advance of infantry storming an entrenched position. At the same time, experiments have been carried out with a new form of hand grenade, which effects much the same purpose.

For long military experts in Germany have been puzzling over the problem of how the long range artillery of an army could render efficient support to its own advancing infantry right up to the trenches of a fortified position. According to present "siege technique" the artillery of an attacking army has to cease bombarding the enemy's entrenchments as soon as the storming infantry gets to close quarters, otherwise the stormers are likely to be shot down by their own guns from the rear.

This cessation of the attackers' bombardment enables the besieged to emerge from their entrenchments and pour a devastating fire at close quarters into the ranks of the attacking force, which is thus deprived of the support of its own artillery just at the moment when it most stands in need of it. The new gun has been devised to overcome this difficulty.

It has an extremely narrow, unrifled bore, and is of very light construction, easily capable of being carried by two men, and is intended to be carried in the front lines of the advancing infantry. Its most remarkable feature is its projectile, which consists of a round bomb of great diameter loaded with a very powerful explosive mixture. The bomb is of far greater diameter than the bore of the gun which throws it, and is provided with a long stick-like tail which is loaded into the barrel of the gun, its lower end, which is enlarged to a wad or piston-like form, resting on the guncharge att he bottom of the barrel. The bomb itself merely lies on the gun muzzle, quite outside the bore.

On being fired, the trailing stick-like tail serves to keep the bomb in its proper direction of flight, and only detaches itself and falls to earth after a certain distance has been covered, leaving the bomb to pursue its course alone.

The experiments have shown that a reasonable precision can be obtained with the new missile up to a distance of 300 to 400 yards, and the bomb itself, which, owing to its large capacity, is capable of great destruction serves not only to prevent the defendends emerging from their cover, but also to make great breaches in their [illegible]

CAULIFLOWER SEED

A Woman on Puget Sound Island Grows a Huge Quantity of It

Nine-tenths of the world's supply of Cauliflower seed is grown by a woman on a Puget Sound island. Startling as this statement may seem, the fact remains that it is not due altogether to any supremacy of knowledge or skill that has enabled Mrs. Anne Archibault to achieve what thousands of first rank gardeners hopelessly abandoned. It is due to the peculiar climatic conditions of Whidby island. Outside of Holland no other section affords the climatic requisites for maturing the seed pods of cauliflower plants.

It was an accident, this discovery of Mrs. Archibault, that has made it possible for her to own 1,000 acres of fertile land and to enjoy a business of $100,000 annually. Cauliflower seed will not mature except under certain favorable conditions. One is dampness, humidity, which gives the tiny seeds the plumpness so essential to development. Another is water—not irrigation, rain, nor the wet, boggy muck of a marsh, but a continuous moist soil beneath which a hardpan subsoil acts as a floor to a reservoir. The land of Whidby Island is ideal for this culture.

Cauliflower plants are transplanted like cabbage in rows. The usual cultivation is continued until the seed pods form. Then even the wind should be kept from the fields, for even the flutter of a tiny bird over a cluster of the seed pods will mar the perfect development of the seed. Harvest consists in gathering the dry pods, artificial drying in the sun, a clover seed separator and a fanning mill.

Mrs. Archibault's first crop amounted to a handful of seed. About this time she read in a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture that the supply of this seed was short and limited to a few hundred pounds. This was five years ago. Like a flash Mrs. Archibault saw her longed-for independence. She grew 400 pounds of seed in 1907. Communication with some well-known seedmen brought orders for her supply at $3 a pound. Every year since she has increased the yield of seed until the present world's supply of 20,000 pounds is practically all grown by her.

Farmers all over Whidby island grow this seed and sell their product to Mrs. Archibault, who markets it through her eastern sales agencies.

The cauliflower fields are beautiful at flowering time, the immaculate snow-white blossoms being alive with white butterflies. The mistress does not interfere with these cabbage moths, believing they aid in scattering the pollen from flower to flower.—Gail H. Fields.

GREAT BRITAIN'S UNCROWNED KINGS

It was only last autumn that Mr. William L. Cary disposed of his island kingdom, the Calf of Man, to a Huddersfield manufacturer for $100,000. Under a grant of the island from the Crown in the days of Queen Elizabeth, the Calf of Man was declared to be forever free from taxation. No one can land, and, above all, live, on the island without the consent of the owner. It is in every sense of the word a strictly private estate, and laid out as such. The only objection to this little kingdom in the Irish Sea is that but a small part of it is cultivated, and the whole of it is overrun with rabbits and rats, which, strange to relate, like Manx cats, are tailless. Mr. Cary's father lived there for many years, leading a very retired life. He was a man of most scholarly attainments, immersed in study, devoted to his books, and allowed years to go by without so much as visiting the neighboring kingdom, the Isle of Man. His son and successor emigrated as a boy to the United States, and, after serving behind the counter in some of the big stores, started a business of his own in California, which proved so successful that in a few years he amassed quite a fortune. He developed, however, a taste for American life which totally unfitted him for the quiet, secluded existence which his father had lived on the island, and it was for this reason that, after holding it for ten years, he sold it.

Bardsey Island

Out in the waters of Cardigan Bay, off the coast of Carnarvon, is Bardsey Island, a small slip of land two miles long, covering an area of 444 acres. Here reigns the Hon. Frederick G. Wynn, who is acknowledged chief by the inhabitants, numbering less than 200 all told. The island figured largely in the early religious history of the country. Tradition has it that no less than 20,000 "saints" were buried there. That the story has at least some substance of truth is proved by the immense number of human bones and antique remains which have been unearthed in every part of the isle. The name "Bardsey" was bestowed upon the island by the Saxons, probably on account of its having formed a refuge to the Bards. Thither fled a great number of these monks, who escaped the general massacre by the Saxons under the Northumbrian Prince Ethelfrith, the Bernician conqueror. Of the monastery built here, as early as the sixth century, only the shell of a ruined tower remains.

Island of Lambay

Just north of Howth, in Dublin Bay, lies the island of Lambay. Formerly it was the property of the Archbishops of Dublin, but a few years ago it was purchased by the Hon. Cecil Baring, heir to the Earldom of his childless brother, Lord Revelstoke. The island is a small isle, barely three miles in [illegible] scarcely four [illegible] isolated when one considers its proximity to the capital of the Green Isle. It is only occasionally that any of the frequent excursion steamers from Dublin touch at Lambay. The cliffs which go to make up the greater part of the coastline are exceptionally fine, and rise to a considerable height.

Lambay Castle, the residence of the owner, is an interesting old building of some historic note, from the fact that Archbishop Usher, a staunch adherent to Charles I., took refuge in the house on one occasion when his life was endangered. Some declare that it was on Lambay that St. Patrick first landed in Ireland, and that he built his first church there; while others aver that the old church ruins on the island are those of a sacred edifice founded by St. Columba.

Inishmurray

Another island kingdom in Irish waters is Inishmurray, in Sligo Bay. It has been owned for two hundred years by a family of the name of Waters. The late Michael Waters, the father of the present proprietor, was a great character, and known throughout Ireland. Although his kingdom was small and his subjects few, he ruled without difficulty over a community which knew no law but his will, and who devoted themselves to farming, fishing, and to the manufacture of illicit but excellent whiskey. The island boasts of the most interesting remains of early monastic architecture to be found in Ireland, St. Mulacuis, a disciple of St. Patrick, having established a monastery there, his wooden representation being still preserved in the oratory. Among the oddities of the island is the fact that there is one graveyard for the women, and another, some distance off, for the men. The islanders firmly believe that no male could rest content in the female burying-ground, and that any attempt to inter him there would result in the unrest of his spirit and in ghostly wanderings.

ONE TO THE PRIME MINISTER

Mr. Asquith, the Prime Minister, is in these days regarded as such a particularly solemn gentleman that the following anecdote is interesting:

Long years ago he attended a small preparatory school for boys, the principal of which was a learned clergyman, and a strict grammarian.

One night, after ten o'clock, when all the boys should have been in bed, he was passing silently along the corridor when he heard sounds of revelry from a darkened dormitory.

He rapped on the door. Silence within. Then:

"Who's there?" called out the future Premier.

"It's me—the principal. Open the door!"

"Ha, ha, ha-a-a!" answered young Asquith. "If it were the principal he would say, 'It is I.'"

Seeing the force of this argument the schoolmaster passed on.

C.G.E. Line to Be Extended.

We are given to understand that the local street railway will extend the C.G.E. Co. line about June 1st. Several diamonds to be used where railway tracks are to be crossed, have arrived recently and the supplies of ties and the other necessities have been here for a month. There will be two cars put on the C.G.E. line. The company have purchased a lot of land on Boundary Road near the C.P.R. tracks, which will likely be used for a loop.

Health for Every Woman No More Headaches

FROM WEAKNESS AND DESPAIR THOUSANDS HAVE BEEN RESTORED TO ROBUST HEALTH BY DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS.

That sick women are made well by Dr. Hamilton's Pills is proved in the following letter :

"For years I was thin and delicate I lost color and was easily tired ; a yellow pallor, pimples and blotches on my face were not only mortifying to my feelings, but because I thought my skin would never look nice again I grew despondent. Then my appetite failed. I grew very weak. Various remedies, pills, tonics and tablets I tried without permanent benefit. A visit to my sister put into my hands a box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. She placed reliance upon them, and now that they have made me a well woman I would not be without them whatever they might cost. I found Dr. Hamilton's Pills by their mild yet searching action very suitable to the delicate character of a woman's nature. They never once griped me, yet they established regularity. My appetite grew—my blood red and pure—heavy rings under my eyes disappeared, and to-day my skin is as clear and unwrinkled as when I was a girl. Dr. Hamilton's Pills did it all."

The above straightforward letter from Mrs. J. Y. Todd, wife of a well-known citizen in Rogersville, is proof sufficient that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. Use no other pill but Dr. Hamilton's 25c. per box. All dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ontario.

THE MORNING TIMES

FRIDAY, APRIL 5, 1912.

CHINESE SUFFRAGETTES.

While the suffragettes in England are smashing windows and are being sent to prison, the parliament at Nanking, China, has granted equal suffrage to women under the same restrictions as men. They must be able to read and write, own property, and have arrived at the age of 20 years. Already Yik [illegible] graduate and the Mrs. Pankhurst of China, has been elected a member of the parliament from the Canton province. This marks a long step in advance in the Flowery Kingdom. This reform has been adopted by the good sense of the Chinese statesmen and was unaccompanied by any outbreak or foolish performance, such as has marked the course of the British advocates.

WHAT EUROPE THINKS OF PANAMA CANAL.

Senor E. A. Moralee, Minister of Panama to Germany, Holland, and Belgium, who is on his way to Panama after several years' absence at his posts, gives an interesting statement concerning what Europeans think of the Panama canal. He had talked with men prominent in commercial life and found that Europe in general is getting ready to take advantage of the facilities which the canal will offer the trans-Atlantic trade.

In Holland he learned that steps had already been taken to establish a new steamship line to run from a port in that country to Portland, Oregon, by way of the canal, and that this was but one of many incidents showing how great is the interest in the waterway and how general is the expectation among Europeans in regard to its possibilities.

Senor Morales was convinced by the arrangements being made to use the canal that it will prove a paying investment for this country as well as a most important addition to the worlds facilities of traffic and travel. The desire and expectation of the Europeans, however, is that the use of the canal will be given to all ships, including those of America, on the same terms.

The prediction is made that the opening of the canal will mean a tremendous increase of the business of the Isthmus, especially in the fruit and cattle trade. The latter should be of particular interest to the consumers of this country in the face of the extortion to which they have so long been subjected by the Meat Trust.

Editorial Notes

It seems that Peterborough is not the only place where the political axe is falling. At Beaverton, five lockmasters, five bridge tenders and one lighthouse tender on the Lake Simcoe and Balsam Lake division of the Trent Canal received word from Ottawa yesterday that their services would not be required after March 31st.

In these days of bi-lingual school controversy, just consider the absurdity, the undesirability, and the expense of printing all the government documents, on one side of the page like this : "The diligence with which you have applied yourselves to your public duties, calls for my warm acknowledgments." Whilst on the other side appears : "Le soin que vous avez apporte a vous acquitter de vos devoirs publics merite mes vives felicitations."

Mother Goose was a genuine personage originally known as Elizabeth Foster. She was born in old Charleston, S. C., and resided there until her marriage with Isaac Goose, when she became step-mother to ten children and went to live in Boston. To entertain her charges, Mrs. Goose used to invent stories in prose and verse, and these were, in course of time, collected by a Boston relative [illegible] of her stepdaughters. They were published in 1719 with the title "Goose [illegible] for the Nursery, or Mother Goose's Melodies for Children." The book proved a huge success. Mrs. Goose died in 1757.

The Ontario Legislature, to simplify disposition of property, where no will is left, by a deceased person is considering the following amendment to the Surrogate Court Act, viz.: "Subject to subsection 2, where a person dies wholly intestate as to his property, or leaving a will affecting property but without having appointed an executor thereof, or an executor willing and competent to take probate and the persons entitled to administration, or a majority of such of them as are resident in Ontario, request that another person be appointed to be the administrator of the property of the deceased, or of any part of it, the right which such persons possessed to have administration granted to them in respect of it shall belong to such person.

Colds

Don't trifle with a cold; no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, catarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with

as a quick cure for colds and grip, and by its use the more serious diseases may be avoided.

DOCTORS FAILED. RESTORED BY PERUNA

Catarrh of the Lungs Threatened Her Life.

"I had several hemorrhages of the lungs. The doctors did not help me much and would never have cured me.

"I saw a testimonial in a Peruna almanac of a case similar to mine, and I commenced using it.

"I was not able to wait on myself when I began using it. I gained very slowly at first, but I could see that it was helping me.

"After I had taken it a while I commenced to raise up a stringy, sticky substance from my lungs. This grew less and less in quantity as I continued the treatment.

"I grew more fleshy than I had been for a long time, and now I call myself well."

A Flurry Over Peterborough's Bill.

When Peterborough's Bill was before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature yesterday morning, was stated that the Peterborough Light and Power Company's distributing plant in the City of Peterborough is valued at three hundred thousand dollars. Hon Adam Beck charged that exhorbitant rates were now being asked for power in Peterborough. Mr. J. E. Carey, of Smith Carey and Chase, the consulting engineers of the Trent Valley Electric Merger, said : "Mr. Beck, you have been making absolute mis-statements with regard to our rates all along before this committee." Mr. Beck retorted by asking, "don't you charge a seven cent rate in Peterborough?" This was admitted. A sub-committee was appointed to go into the question of expropriation

RESULTS HE GOT WERE PERFECT

SAM MALLETTE'S BRIGHT'S DISEASE CURED BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

He Suffered Tortures and the Doctor Failed to Give Relief but Three Boxes Cured Him.

Rutter Station, Ont., April 5—(Special)—"I got perfect results from Dodd's Kidney Pills." So says Mr. Sam Mallette of this place. And he has a reason.

"My sickness started from a strain," Mr. Mallette continues, "and for a year I did not know a well day. My sleep was broken and unrefreshing, my appetite was fitful and my limbs would swell.

"Then rheumatism set in and neuralgia, backache, headache and heart trouble added to my tortures. I was attended by a doctor but he did me no lasting good. [illegible] me in its grasp, I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and after [illegible] boxes, I was as well as ever I was in my life. I have had no pain since and advise all my friends who suffer from kidney disease to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and be cured."

Mr. Mallette's case shows what neglected kidney disease will result in and what splendid results Dodd's Kidney Pills give.

Overfatness Condemned.

Fat, or even fattish women readers who want to be in the mode this year must understand that the demand is for lines, not curves, and govern themselves accordingly.

That means OFF with the fat. It has become a duty. Many are trying exercise or dieting ; but it is certain they will find these methods too slow, and undesirable. The cheapest and safest way to get in form for the Directoire mode is by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. Any druggist (or the Marmola Co., 1192 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich.) will give you a large sized case of these elegant little fat reducers, containing a good, generous supply, for seventy-five cents, and even this quantity should be enough to make a decided impression on your excess fat. Many have lost as much as a pound a day.

These Marmola Prescription Tablets may be used with impunity and likewise perfect confidence, for, being made strictly in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription, they are, of course, quite harmless. They are rather beneficial than otherwise, in fact, never disturbing the stomach or causing a wrinkling of the flesh

Englishman's View of Canadians.

Yesterday, a Times representative, happened to get into conversation with several Englishmen. One of them, who has served the Motherland, aboard a man-of-war, in all quarters of the globe, is expecting relatives, including his wife, to arrive in Canada next May from England. He had penned a few lines, that, not from an artistic point of view, but, as a sample of the tie that binds all members of the Empire, and as a tribute, homely put perhaps, to the country of his adoption, are, we think worth presenting. Mr. Frank Cridland's verses are as follows :

I.

I am living for the time to come,
To welcome you to our new home ;
Knowing we shall be out here,
Our son, and I, to meet you dear.
People here will greet you grand,
And Always give a welcome hand ;
They do not pass you by like dirt,
Nor try good-fellowship to hurt.

II.

It is true fellowship in this land,
And every one goes hand in hand;
And so you'll find it is out here
Amongst our people, have no fear.
In Canada we're all good friends,
And our good friendship never ends ;
Now, you will find it true, I say,
Not like the land you leave in May.

III.

I hope you'll have a pleasant trip,
Across the ocean on the ship ;
I hope the weather will be fine,
And on your ship the sun will shine.
I know you'll think the voyage long,
But you'll enjoy it like a song.
I wish you safe, without a squall,
Till we will meet in Montreal.

KICKING

According to a report in the Winnipeg Free Press, March 19th, the President of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and Peace River Railway is kicking because the Canadian Steel Mills can't make Steel Rails fast enough for the Railroad building now under way to the PEACE RIVER COUNTRY with GROUARD as its commercial centre and big business centre.

Does not this indicate to you how anxious the railroad companies are to get their lines completed into that country, which will be the greatest farming country in Canada ; and all these roads go to GROUARD where Rail and Water meet

Think ! Three Railroads heading for GROUARD, and one of them has taken part of this property for its terminals there.

GROUARD is established, has Churches, Stores municipal telephone system, telegraph, banks, doctors, offices, mills etc.

What a wonderful advance in GROUARD when the first railway reaches it.

We are offering you your choice of the best part of the present town.

BRAINS IN THE HAND.

"What's that you have in your hand?" asked Mrs. Gimlet, of her husband, as he brought home a roll of manuscript.

"Brains, madam," retorted Mr. Gimlet, pompously. "Are you surprised at the fact?"

"Not in the least," she replied. "I knew you didn't carry them in your head."

NEW COOK'S PUDDING.

Husband: "I'd call it mediocre."

Wife: "No, dear; it's tapioca."

FATHER AND DONKEY.

Small Boy: "Can't I have a ride on a donkey?"

Mother: "No, darling. Father says not."

Mother (to father): "Oh, for goodness' sake, Bill, give him a ride on your back to keep him quiet."

Belgium's Population

Belgium, with 642 inhabitants to the square mile, is the most thickly populated country in Europe; England's figure is 557, Germany's 306, France's 303, Russia's 194, and Spain's 101.

Storm of Long Ago

In the great English storm of 1703, which lasted two days, 8,000 people were drowned, 20,000 trees were uprooted in Kent, and two million pounds' worth of damage was done in London alone.

SENSE IN BRIEF.

There are times when it is better to be imposed upon than to fight.

When a kind and gentle man does deliver a jolt it counts.

A self-made man nearly always looks like the kind of a job he might be expected to turn out.

No matter how little we love our neighbors, we can see no good reason why they shouldn't have a kindly feeling for us.

Free advice is the kind people give away, because they have no use for it.

The man who hasn't enough property to interest the tax-assessor is always talking about the good he would do if he were a millionaire.

You can tell when a man has made a little money by how patronizing he is to everybody who hasn't.

HON. WALTER SCOTT

Sketch of the Career of a Typical Western Canadian

Like other prominent Canadian politicians, the Hon. Walter Scott entered politics by way of journalism. Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself gained much of his facile power of expression during the year in which he edited Le Defricheur. Alexander Mackenzie, the only other Liberal Prime Minister that Canada ever had, was also an editor, while the Hon. W. S. Fielding grew politically wise while wielding the editorial pen of the Halifax Chronicle.

A very humble position introduced Mr. Scott to journalistic life, for it was none other than that of printer's devil. The young "devil" rose quickly. He was soon at the "case," and a year or two later saw him mechanical foreman. With mechanical foremanship he combined leader writing, for in those days there were no nice distinctions between the different departments of Western newspapers. Ten years after "hitting" the West, Mr. Scott was editor and proprietor of two newspapers. There is cause for gratification in the fact that men like Mr. Scott are constantly rising from the ranks to give States and Provinces and nations just laws and good government. Upon this fact the world depends for its guides and leaders. The old idea that a single class, an hereditary, or patrician class of the community could supply a succession of competent law-givers has hopelessly broken down.

HON. WALTER SCOTT

Mr. Scott grew up as the son of pioneer farmers in Old Ontario. His father died when he was a baby, and for that reason Mr. Scott had to work perhaps a little harder than other boys. He milked and ploughed and did every common task incidental to the raising of stock and the growing of grain. In the summer time he went, like other children, barefooted to the common school, and in the autumn, when the mornings were chilly, he learned the trick of warming his feet [illegible] where the cows had been laying.

The spring of 1885 saw him, a gaunt lad of seventeen, pack up his traps and set out for the Canadian West. He felt in his bones that he was not destined to spend his life upon the farm. He got off the train at Portage La Prairie, one of the small towns west of Winnipeg, on the Canadian Pacific Railway, which was then pushing through the Rockies to the Pacific Coast. For five months he drove a tradesman's cart, and then, following a true instinct, he entered the office of the Manitoba Liberal, and became a printer's devil. The proprietor evidently thought him a bright lad, for about a year afterwards the two went together farther west, and started a new paper in Regina, then the capital of the North-West Praries. The next fifteen years were spent by Mr. Scott in Regina, and intermittently in the neighboring town of Moose Jaw, in active newspaper work. He did everything there was to do about a newspaper. He often wrote a leading article and set it up in type himself. It is one of his boasts that he is still a union printer. The years brought their return. In 1894 Mr. Scott bought the Moose Jaw Times, and the following year the Regina Leader, both of which are to-day prominent among the daily newspapers of Western Canada.

RULES OF GREAT WORTH

Before going to bed that night the discouraged girl had committed to memory these rules for being a good clerk which the older woman had prepared in the form of an acrostic, daintily colored and framed:—

Make light of hardships, forget annoyances, and keep cheerful.

Avoid quarrels, close intimacies and gossip.

Keep alert, interested, attentive and progressive.

Induce customers to buy by being pleasant, obliging and helpful.

Neglect nothing that will make you valuable to your employers.

Gain the good-will of your fellow-workers, and—keep it.

Give honest work and loyalty to your firm, it will not go unrewarded.

Obey orders, stick to rules, and don't be a firebrand.

Determine to succeed and live up to that determination.

So well did the clerk live up to her rules that not only the end of the month found her in her place, but she had conquered the unfriendliness of her mates and had won notice from her superiors by her courteous, obliging manner and her growing favor with customers.

PEACE OFFERINGS.

"Bow-wow!" growled the dog.

"Ow-'ow!" howled the butcher's boy.

There was a scramble and a scuffle. But human wit was not equal to canine grit, and in a trice the butcher's boy was pinned up against the wall.

"Help!" he cried.

Help came. It came in the bulky shape of the dog's owner, who hurried out of the house to the scene of battle.

"Naughty little Towser! Down! down!" she exclaimed. "I do hope he hasn't bitten you?"

"No; I've kept him off giving him your suet," replied the lad, tearfully, "but you're just in time to save the beef."

THE PERFECT WIFE

A Great Deal of Surprise that Such an One Exists

In some quarters the discovery that there is such a thing as a "perfect wife" seems to have created a great deal of surprise.

Directly as the result of a Western court's assertion, in deciding a divorce case, that there isn't any such thing as "perfection" in wives, we are assured by a loyal husband that the judge is egregiously wrong.

He has a "perfect wife," he declares, and to prove it he cites the facts that in 36 years she has never uttered a cross word to him nor provoked one from him. And, better than all, she has given to the world four splendid sons and four fine daughters.

What woman could do better? he proudly asks.

The fact of the matter is, the Western judge is very much mistaken.

There are "perfect wives" and plenty of them. The great trouble is that the world hears so little about them.

All around us are husbands who could, if they would, enlighten the erring court as to the whereabouts of other "perfect wives." If pinned right down to it they would admit, perhaps, that their own wives are not the most beautiful women in the world, not the cleverest or most brilliant, and than now and then they give reason for remembering that they are not yet angles. But they are "perfect wives," no matter what the court says.

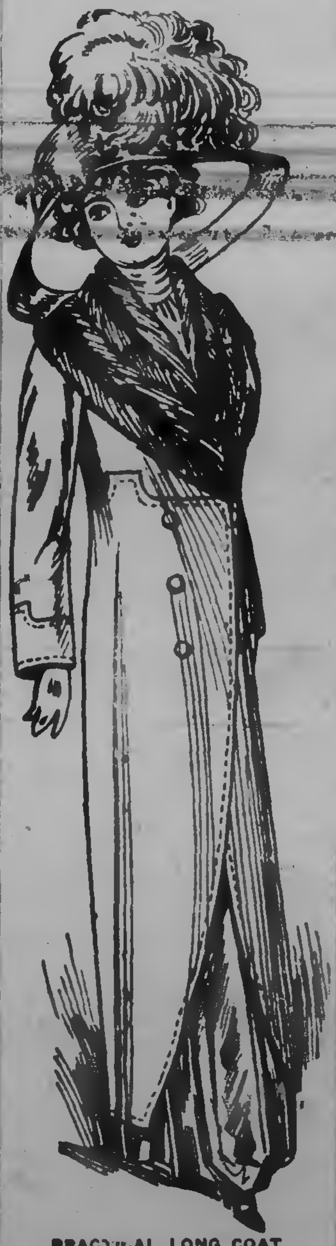
AGE FOR MARRIAGE

A Nonagenarian Advises Against "Kindergarten" Marriages

At the ripe age of 96, Major Archelaus G. Warner, addressing the Englewood Old Settlers' Association, advised against what he called "kindergarten weddings." A girl, in his opinion, should be 21 and a man 25 before entering upon marriage, because "people of those ages make fewer mistakes."

Probably there are many foolishly contracted marriages of persons under the ages specified, but there are many happy ones also. With certain qualifications, however, the advice of Major Warner seems sound. When the man must make his way in the world unaided by relatives or inherited money he is not likely to get a good start before he is 25. The young woman is likely to know her own mind better if she waits until she is 21.

From the theoretical point of view the right time to marry is when the right man or woman comes along and there are no serious obstacles of any sort. As civilization grows older in our northern climates the average age at which people marry becomes later, with necessity and wisdom back of the change.



PRACTICAL LONG COAT

There is a greater variety of long coats shown this season than ever before, and the majority of them are pretty and practical. One exceedingly good-looking model is cut on lines suggested in our sketch, and is made from a lovely shade of dark blue coith, trimmed with a huge collar of sable. This would make an ideal evening coat for the woman living in the suburbs.

Soiled Paint

Finger marks on doors will quickly disappear if they are rubbed with a clean piece of flannel dipped in paraffin. Afterwards wipe with a clean cloth wrung out of hot water, in order to remove the smell of the oil.

"EYES OF THE FLEET"

The Navy Department of the United States proposes to equip all the warships with aeroplanes, to be used as eyes of the fleet. They will be carried on deck, and will be fitted with pontoons, which will keep them afloat when forced to descend.

A VENERABLE OYSTER

Weighing 3 lb., and measuring 8 in. across the top of the shell, a petrified oyster has been dredged up from the Faversham fields. Experts estimate the age of the bivalve as thousands of years.

IMPROVE THE CITY.

A golden opportunity to make George-street less disfigured by poles than at present. Mr. Duckworth, superintendent of the Great Northwest Telegraph Co. is authority for saying that, if the city will pay $350 towards the cost, the company will remove these huge poles, on our main thoroughfare, originally put up by the Ontario Telephone Co. There were little thirty-foot poles where the present big ones now obstruct the view, down, or up George street, but the Ontario Telephone Co., a local concern, using the influence of its members and directors, got the city and the G.N.W. T. Co. to allow the small poles to be replaced by the present big ones. The telegraph company retained the right to possession of the "right-of-way", and the poles, and fourteen or fifteen feet at the tops above the telephone wires. The Ontario Company, after an independent struggle, sold out to the Bell Telephone Co., and the G.N.W. Co. now own the poles and right-of-way.

LAND OF BABES IN THE WOODS

Tradition Has Always Given Wayland Wood as the Place Where the Babes Died

There is no nook or corner in England, however small or however far removed from the main currents of life, but contains relics of the past—some story or bit of folk lore which is full of interest. These memories of the past are buried away in old oaken chests in the vestries of the parish churches, or lie under the moss-grown stones of some ruined building. Sometimes they remain unheeded and unnoticed, and the story they have to tell is not brought to light.

But fortunately there are men in our country villages who have the leisure and the enthusiasm to grub about among these hidden stores and find for us the treasures they contain. One of these is the Rev. Charles Kent, the rector of Merton, in Norfolk, who lives in a quiet little corner of England which contains survivals reaching back to the time when palaeolithic man rambled over the heaths of South-West Norfolk in search of flints. Right across the district runs the Peddler's Way, which was an avenue of commerce before Cadmus was teaching Attica her letters, and before a little handful of peasants were struggling for existence on the Tiber. For in the Stone Age the Norfolk flints were as valuable as Bessemer steel is nowadays.

The story of all this, and much more, reaching to our own times, is told by Mr. Kent in his book, "The Land of the Babes in the Wood." The rector of Merton has soaked himself in the past. He has the art of making the old days and the old ways live again. He has caught the very spirit of the place, as well he may from the associations which surround him.

As for the old story of the Babes, the Wicked Uncle, and the Wood which was the scene of their death, tradition says that the whole took place in and around Merton. Mr. Kent has sifted over all that can be found about the story, which has been the delight of the children of three centuries, and which has formed the groundwork of many a pantomime. He is able to reconstruct the story for us, and to show that it has a basis of fact, which illustrates the condition of rural life at the time when great changes were passing over Norfolk and over England as well.

The first trace of the story is to be found in an old chap-book in the Roxburghe Collection, which bears the date of 1595—"The Norfolk Gent. His Will and Testament and howe he committed the keepinge of his children to his owne brother, whoe delte most wickedlie with them, and howe God plagued him for it." The ballad is [illegible] and it begins by telling us:

In Norfolk lived of late,
Whose wealth and riches did surmount
Most men of his estate.

Who was the "gentleman of good account," who were the Babes, and who was the Wicked Uncle? Mr. Kent supplies an answer to these questions which fits in with all the local circumstances of the case, and is supported by many documents. In 1562, there died at Merton a Norfolk squire named Thomas De Grey. His son and heir was seven years old at that time, and consequently was a ward of the Crown. Always anxious to turn an honest penny, Queen Bess married him at the age of eight to Elizabeth Drury, another ward. These two, the boy and girl bridegroom and bride, were the "Babes." At Griston Hall, very close to Merton, there lived Robert De Grey brother to Thomas, who died, and uncle to the boy-bridegroom. Here is the "Wicked Uncle." As for the Wood, tradition has always given it as Wayland Wood, and the oak was long shown under which the hapless Babes lay down for their last sleep. Mr. Kent shows that it was the Hundred Oak, under which the sheriff held his court.

Between Thomas De Grey and his brother Robert there were no very friendly feelings. Mr. Kent quotes a copy of the will of the former to show that there had been disagreements and family jars—"I will to my brother Robert, so that he confesseth that he hath offended me, &c., &c." This may be the foundation of the story in the ballad of the death-bed scene, where the dying father is evidently anxious about the coming relations between his son and the uncle. Soon after this, the boy went on a visit to his stepmother, who had married a second time. At her house at Bracon Ash—Becconsthorpe the young squire died suddenly or before he could reach home. It may be that he died when passing through Wayland Wood.

Robert De Grey succeeded to the estates. He was a Popish Recusant, and for that reason was very unpopular in a part where the Protestant cause was very strong. Robert tried to rob the girl-widow of her dower which had been settled on her by the boy-husband. This and other acts of the new squire led to a great trial at the assizes at Norwich, which developed into a battle royal between the Protestants and the Papists of the county. Robert was worsted, and afterwards was constantly imprisoned and fined for his recusancy. At his death $24,900 was due from him to the Crown for fines. This seems to be the basis of the story; a wicked uncle has his boy nephew put out of the way, seizes his possessions, as well as the dower of the poor girl widow. By and by it crystallized into the ballad as we now have it. Mr. Kent suggests that robins who want to cover up everything stand for the uncle, who desires to hide the evidence in the great trial.

Griston Old Hall, the residence of the "Wicked Uncle," is close to the beautiful old church of Tompson, which is one of the three collegiate churches of East Anglia. It formerly had a rector and six chaplains, and the old college in which they lived is now part of a farmhouse.

The suggestion made by the city officials recently that all our citizens should clean off the pavement in front of their respective residences, or places of business, should be strictly enforced. Why should one man too lazy to clean away the snow and slush from in front of his own premises, compel pedestrians, who have possibly walked along dry pavements, to wade through two or three inches of semi-liquid snow?

QUEBEC'S WONDERFUL INDUSTRIAL RESOURCES

This Province Has the Greatest Water Power on the Continent of North America

The Eastern portion of Canada is equipped as no other portion of the Dominion, or the continent, is for the industrial race. It is not generally known, for instance, that Quebec has at its back a single waterfall of far vaster power than Niagara. The minimum at Niagara Falls is 3,820,000 horse power. At the Grand Falls on the Hamilton River, the minimum available is 9,000,000 horse power. These falls have been visited by Mr. A. P. Low, in his capacity of Director of the Geological Survey of the Dominion, and he has officially confirmed the estimate of the almost inconceivable force of nine million horse power, declaring that there can be little doubt that these Falls will some day supply the greater part of the Province of Quebec with power. The Falls have a sheer drop of 312 feet, and a total drop of over 700 feet, compared to a drop of 160 feet at Niagara.

The position that Quebec is bound to take, as the premier manufacturing region, of the whole continent is best illustrated by the following comparison of her water powers with those of the other parts of the Dominion, taken from a report by Mr. J. B. Challies, C. E., of the Department of the Interior, on water powers in Canada:

Location	Min. Flow Dev.	Present Dev.
Yukon	470,000	....
British Columbia	2,065,500	73,000
Alberta	1,144,000	1,380
Saskatchewan	500,000	1,330
Manitoba	504,000	18,000
North-West Territ's	600,000	....
Ontario	3,129,163	321,137
Quebec	17,075,939	50,000
New Brunswick	150,000	....
Nova Scotia	54,300	13,300
Total	25,692,907	484,887

Is it any wonder that capital is pouring into Quebec for the establishment of every conceivable kind of manufactory? Is it any wonder that since Mr. Challies made the above computation a year or two ago, the development of water power in Quebec has more than quadrupled?

To-day along one single piece of car track on the island of Montreal, the track running from Montreal to the Lachine Rapids—there are no fewer than $80,000,000 of American money invested in industrial establishments. This is only an example of what is going on all over the East. Besides water powers the Province of Quebec has more forest wealth than any other region on the continent, and already employs in the lumber industry no fewer than 40,000 men, all of whom, like those in the factories, must be numbered among the industrial and therefore consuming classes. Many huge pulp and paper mills are [illegible] outlying districts of the Province. This industrial activity is attracting people from all over the English speaking world, the consequence being that the population of Quebec is not made up, as many suppose, of French-Canadian farmers, but of a bi-lingual, cosmopolitan people who are rapidly building up huge industries.

WHAT WILL THE CENSUS SHOW

There are Indications of Great Development in the Maritime Provinces

It will probably take the best part of the next twelve months to classify the census taken this year of manufactories, but it may be taken for granted that the huge total shown in the census for the year 1906 will be far exceeded, in view of the tremendous strides which have been made during the past five years in industrial development. In the Maritime Provinces alone, one sees New Brunswick becoming more and more industrial, while Nova Scotia is affording remarkable illustration of the industrial awakening of the East. From the great basic enterprises such as the iron and steel works at Sydney, through all the ramifications of industrial enterprise, its towns and cities are rapidly forging to the front. It is true that the water powers of Nova Scotia are trifling compared with those of Quebec, but look at its coal fields. These comprise no fewer than 725 square miles, and the Dominion Coal Company alone, has to its certain knowledge enough coal in its holdings at Glace Bay to provide for an output of three and a half million tons per year for 1,000 years.

At the census of manufactories in 1905 it was shown that Quebec had $251,730,182 invested in industrial enterprises, with 116,748 employes, producing products for the year to the value of $216,478,496. Nova Scotia had $74,599,538 invested, with an output of the value of $31,987,449. New Brunswick had $30,792,698 invested, with an output value of $32,133,951.

These are big figures. They show a total production as far back as 1905 of $270,598,596, enough to buy up the whole of the 1911 wheat crop in Western Canada, and still leave one millions of dollars on hand.

WORLD'S BANK ACCOUNTS

Country	Year	Total Deps.	Ave. to Each Dep.
U. King.	1907	$1,048,368,360	$84
Belgium	1905	158,739,160	68
France	1905-7	974,272,850	79
Italy	1906	616,183,630	92
Neth'l'ds	1905	92,551,665	58
Canada	1911	696,935,033	97.75

The Clock is Convalescent.

Just as we are going to press, 3.47 a.m., the post office clock is still bravely struggling along. The hands are really and truly turning round, and, by our special microscope, we could hear a distinct tick, tick. The clock may be moribund, but life still lingers. Well! It's had a forty-eight hours rest and should run along for another day or two.

Does Anybody Here Know Kelly?

Does anybody here know Kelly, Kelly with a first name Bill? Yes. The police recognized him as a man who had been given a strong hint to leave town, but tarried and got full. The result was a fine of $10 at yesterday's police court and poor William had not the necessary simoleons in his jeans, so—Well, poor William!

SECLUDED WOMEN

While hearing a civil case in which a lady of considerable property was required to give evidence, "a day was fixed, and she was brought to Court. She came in a palaki or palanquin, which, despite its name, was nothing more than a very small and uncomfortable box carried on a bamboo pole. One could hardly understand how it was possible for her to be in it without great discomfort. It had been carried into a room of the Zenana and laid down. After all the men had gone away, she had come, attended by her women, and had stepped into it. The thick curtain that covered one side of the box (all the rest being of wood) was then dropped and securely fastened. Her nearest male relative stood by while the box was removed from her room, and walked with it through the streets. When it was brought into the Court, it was laid down, but not opened. I asked the counsel on both sides whether they were satisfied that the lady inside the box was the witness whom it was desired to examine. After conversing with those who had accompanied her, and addressing a question or two to the lady, they replied that they were satisfied. I then put certain questions to her; and she answered them—clear, intelligent answers, in a sweet, low-toned voice. I never saw her; no one in the Court saw her. She returned through the streets to her seclusion in the Zenana, having seen nothing all the time during which she was out of it."

After narrating other official experiences with ladies in seclusion, Sir Andrew Fraser writes:—"I made it a practice as far as possible to take my wife with me to such interviews, so that she might sit on the other side of the parda with the Rani, as she was acquainted with her. This was at least a security that the right lady was conversing with me. To me there was always a feeling of dissatisfaction in that neither of us in the course of our conversation was able to look the other in the face, and receive that light upon our interchange of views which the human countenance so often gives. I recall one case in which that feeling was evidently shared by the lady herself. She turned to Lady Fraser and asked her in a whisper, which I did not hear, whether there was any objection to her slightly putting the curtain aside with her finger, just so far as to permit her to get a view of my face, so as to see whether I was giving kindly attention to the expression of her views. My wife, of course, said that there was no objection, and, although I was unaware of it, the old lady saw my face, and then expressed herself as more con[illegible] consideration by her [illegible]

DARING BRIDGE BUILDERS

The Construction of the Niagara Bridge Recalled

Notwithstanding the great height at which the men worked in replacing the Niagara Suspension Bridge above a maelstrom from which escape would have been impossible, most of them soon grew unconcerned, and some of them, indeed, vied with one another in reckless daring.

So many valuable tools were dropped from the bridge that some of the more careless were discharged. Consequently, one day, when a man dropped a wrench 200 feet to the water's edge, he foolishly started to recover it by climbing down hand over hand on a steeply inclined thin wire cable nearly 500 feet long. He had no sooner begun his insane exploit than a rival, not to be outdone, started out of sheer bravado to descend an adjacent rope.

After going a few feet they tried in vain to return, and it seemed to their horrified companions on the bridge above that human muscles could not endure the increasing strain of their long journey. The foreman instructed them how to climb more easily and what to do at the bottom, accompanying his orders with violent abuse, wisely bestowed to divert them from the fright that added to their danger. By nothing less than a miracle both men held on until they had crossed over the water. Then one of them, watching his chance, dropped safely into a tree top. The other finally gave out and fell a considerable distance to the ground. But both escaped practically unhurt.

A FAMOUS MANUSCRIPT

Mr. H. F. Dickens, K.C., tells an interesting story concerning the original manuscripts of his father's famous "Carol." The novelist presented the MS. to Thomas Milton, an old schoolfellow. In 1875 Mr. Milton sold it to Mr. Francis Harvey, a bookseller, for $250. Then it passed into the hands of Mr. George Churchill, an enthusiastic autograph collector. Mr. Churchill treasured it until 1882, when circumstances compelled him to part with it. After photographing every page of it, it was sold to Mr. Bennett, a Birmingham bookseller and curio dealer, who eventually found a purchaser who readily signed a cheque for $1,000 for it. Finally it was bought by Mr. Stuart M. Samuel, of Kensington Palace Gardens, for $1,500, who is said to still retain the precious document.—Tit-Bits.

CHASED BY WOLVES

A story comes from Maple Leaf, a Saskatchewan village, to the effect that William Robinson, returning from a visit to a neighbor, was chased by a band of wolves and arrived home in an exhausted state. Only by throwing off his coat, which delayed the wolves for a few minutes while they tore it to pieces, did he manage to escape.

Farmer Missed His Train.

Yesterday morning as the G.T.R. train pulled out for Port Hope, a farmer missed it by just 51 seconds. This agriculturist, judging by his garb, and spinach bunch of whiskers, must come from Cavendish or the north corner of Galway. As the train got to King street, he flung his arms in the air and yelled, "Hi, there! Come back, just for a minute please."

WILD DUCK PLENTIFUL

Large Quantities in England and the North of Ireland

Wild duck, which have entirely avoided many inland spots where a few are usually seen at this season, have appeared in very great quantities along some of their seaside haunts, especially on the east coasts of England and the north of Ireland.

The pursuers of the strange sport of punt gunning have had remarkable experiences. Slipping along in their punts at dawn they have come upon flocks so great that a single shot from the great swivel gun, which is almost a cannon, has bagged more than the 'longshore sportsman could get in a week. Fifty and sixty have been killed at a shot, though the manoeuvres of the shot may have taken a week or so.

Numbers of duck again have been killed in the more formal, artificial shoots of Lincolnshire, Bedfordshire, and other places where the birds are now bred almost as scientifically as pheasant.

A sportsman's bird that seems to increase in numbers and to widen its range is the golden plover, of which numbers are now to be seen in the poulterers' shops of the West End. These plover, which are held by some to be the best bird that comes to table, are seen frequently all over the country. They have been observed in swarms over grass fields in the home counties, as well as in their more normal haunts among the wild places of the coast.

Another bird that appeared at one moment in great quantity was the black duck, of which large numbers were shot over the coast of Norfolk from boats. But he is a brave or very hungry man who would dare to face the bird at table.—London Daily Mail.

FREAK SURGERY

The Vital Organs of Animals Transplanted by Americans.

Some remarkable experiments on the grafting of limbs on animals to which they did not originally belong, and the transference of vital organs, such as the kidney, from one animal to another, are reported, says the "Standard," from Harvard University. Most of them have been carried out by Dr. Carrel, under the direction of Dr. E. E. Tyzzer.

His first successful grafting—or, at any rate, the first that he placed on record—was for the benefit of a fox terrier. This he described before the American Philosophical Society. The terrier, owing to an accident, had to have its leg amputated. A small dog that had just died was pressed into service. Its leg was removed, and grafted on to the stump of the leg of the living dog. Arteries, veins, and nerves were connected by suitable means, and the bones were placed in juxtaposition. As the bones knit the other tissues grew together, and the dog remained perfectly healthy. [illegible] in surgery when compared with those which have come later. From the grafting of limbs [illegible] moved onward step by step until it would appear that he can transplant and replace almost every organ in the body. He says himself:—

"A dog whose abdominal aorta was replaced by a human femoral artery is still alive in a normal state. The thoracic aorta of another animal was replaced about the same time by a large artery that had been kept several months in cold storage, and the operation was a complete success."

In the transplanting of kidneys Dr. Carrel has been attended with the greatest success in the case of cats, and he has said that possibly the results would have been much better in experimenting with dogs if he had used dogs of the same breed. While he has taken organs from one animal and replaced them in another, he has been uniformly fortunate in reversing the kidneys. In this work he has taken a cat, and, removing the kidneys, has replaced the left kidney in the cavity of the right side and the right kidney in the left cavity.

When one thinks of the complex structure of the kidney, with its nerve supply, its three great connecting vessels—vein, artery, and ureter—and its intimate relations with other organs of the body, such operations as these are truly amazing. Their value in the saving and preservation of human life, if such a thing as the renewal of a kidney should be found possible, will be enormous. The removal of a single kidney is a fairly common operation. After it has been performed the patient usually recovers his health, but sometimes in after life the increased demand made on the single remaining kidney may lead to serious trouble.

It is only a month since a wealthy widow, Mrs. Reginald Waldorf, of Philadelphia, offered a small fortune to anyone who would sell her an index finger to be grafted on to the stump whence hers has been removed. It would be curious if such advertisements as this went further, and public requests were made for the supply of kidneys, spleen, or even for a new liver. But it is difficult to see where the organs of which persons only possess one each are to come from.

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES.

Interesting facts about the inside working of the Bank of England were explained by Mr. Frederick Huth rights of issuing notes, he said, is one of the most important functions of the Bank of England. One rarely sees a dirty Bank of England note. That is because the Bank never reissues a banknote. Even if anyone went into the Bank and demanded a five-pound note in exchange for five sovereigns, and then crossed to another counter and changed the same note back into gold, that note would be destroyed. The system is expensive, but by its means the Bank avoids many of the risks of forgery.

THE GROWTH OF CANADA

Industrial Awakening in the East Brings Expansion to Many Industries

Canada, with its seven millions odd of population, already has a home market for her agriculture and manufactures of one-fifth of that of the United Kingdom. When we come to think that the United Kingdom imports her food supplies from all over the world, and that the foodstuffs that Canada sends her is but a drop in the bucket, it will be realised that Canadian agriculturists have already, in their own home market, by far their greatest source of wealth.

The purely consuming class—the urban and industrial class—is far greater in Canada than is generally supposed. For instance, the recent census, which places our total population at just over seven millions, shows that two and a half millions of this population, or considerably more than one-third, are residents of towns and cities of over 4000 population. An absolutely protected market of two and a half millions of towns people—which, after all is only a portion of the consuming class of Canada—is an asset of no mean importance to the agriculturists of the Dominion.

Another noteworthy fact shown by the census is, that although the agricultural population of Western Canada has been increasing at a reasonable rate, the agricultural population in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces—taking these as a unit—has remained stationary. Yet, despite the the fact that the agricultural classes of this Eastern part of Canada have not increased, the census shows that of the increase of 1,710,834 in the population of Canada during the past ten years, over one-fifth, namely 375,766, has to be accredited to Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. Practically all this increase in the East has been in the urban or consuming population comprised in 33 large towns, which between them shown an increase in population of 316,003.

Now this remarkable increase in the industrial population of Eastern Canada, which has afforded a proportionate increase in the market for the agriculturalists of the Dominion, as well as magnificent opportunities for such of their sons as are fitted by natural endowments for industrial careers has largely taken place during the last five years, as is indicated by the fact that according to the Government census of manufacturers in 1906, the number of industrial employes in Quebec had only increased by [illegible] since 1900, in New Brunswick by 3,000 and in Nova Scotia by 500. Most of the 375,766 increase in population which these three Eastern [illegible] have taken place in the last five years. [illegible] trial awakening is taking place in the East. The secret of this awakening is that capitalists have suddenly discovered the industrial resources of these provinces. Money is pouring in, in a flood from Great Britain, from the United States, and from Germany and France for the industrial development of Eastern Canada. Great steel and coal industries are being built up on the very shores of the Atlantic Ocean, and during the past five years these industries have begun to compete in the markets of the world.

Great pulp and paper manufactories are springing up in New Brunswick and Quebec, and already are exporting their products to all parts of the world. Great mining industries are being established all over the East, and Quebec, whose mining resources have remained almost untouched while those of Ontario have been developing, has now entered into the van of progress, a result of a complete revision of her mining laws. These are only a few of the great basic industries. Hundreds of others are following in their wake. The East, in fact, is taking the place that Nature has fitted her to take—that of a great manufacturing country.

The phenomenal progress of some of the larger cities of the East, and notably of Montreal, is well known. But without instancing any of the larger cities, a few examples of lesser known places will illustrate the general progress. Victoriaville, Que., with electrical power from Shawinigan Falls, increased her manufactured products from $274,000 in 1901 to $600,000 in 1909. Three Rivers, Que., with power from natural gas, has increased from 9,000 to 14,000 in population. Fraserville, on the shores of the St. Lawrence, with unlimited timber at its back, increased its manufactured products from $276,374 in 1906 to $600,000 in 1909. Joliette, Que., with power from Shawinigan Falls, increased its manufactured products from $719,382 in 1906 to over $1,000,000 in 1909. Buckingham Que., with natural resources of lumber, phosphate, plumbago, and mica, increased its manufactured products from $265,980 to $800,000 in 1908.

As far back as 1906—really before the great industrial awakening had begun—over $70,000,000 per annum was being paid out in wages in the factories of Quebec, Nova Scotia, and the Maritime Provinces. Since then amount has more than doubled. In other words the amount paid out in wages in these provinces, during the past year, must equal an amount sufficeitn to pay for a wheat crop of 150 million bushels at $1 per bushel.

Considering that factory employes only form a portion of the urban population, it will be seen that this consuming population of the East is a big factor in the well-being of the Dominion as a whole, and presents as it were, a view of the future for such provinces as Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia whose vast resources, now dormant must inevitably attract and concentrate the industrial classes of the world.

THE FIRST CARPET-MAKING

Carpet-making, as a modern industry, was first developed in France. That country had large factories and a monopoly in Europe of the art of carpet weaving when a rush-strewn floor was the rule even in the Royal palaces of Britain. But the edict of Nantes, that great dispenser of French artisans and artistry, caused many of the carpet craftsmen to [illegible] the [illegible]. They settled at [illegible], Axminster, and other places in the south-west of England. From there the secrets of the industry spread to Glasgow, Kidderminster, and the towns of Yorkshire. These places are still the great carpet-weaving centres of Great Britain.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

Following in the footsteps of his grandfather, Edward the Peace-maker, the Prince of Wales is now in Paris, France, helping to keep up the "entente cordiale" between England and La Belle France. France is displaying the greatest interest in the arrival of England's prospective future King, who is to spend several months in the French capital with the Marquis de Breteuil. The Prince went to Paris with his tutor, to complete his education in French. The Marquis and Marchioness de Breteuil possess a fine mansion on the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne, in which a suite of rooms is to be placed at the disposal of the young Prince. The newspapers express the hope in welcoming the Prince of Wales that he, like his grandfather, King Edward, will become fond of Paris. The Marquis de Breteuil was for years a close friend of King Edward.

Royal Personages Who Came Nearly Having to Direct the Affairs of a Nation.

Whenever Royal blood is recognized it is treated with universal respect. Nevertheless, it is an indisputable fact that there are in Great Britain to-day literally thousands of persons with Royal blood in their veins who occupy humble and, in many cases, menial positions. And it is quite reasonable to assume that there are in our slums and workhouses many men and women who might be leading persons at Court.

It has actually been ascertained that there are no fewer than 11,723 persons living who can be proved to be direct descendants of Henry VII., our monarch in 1485.

Using these figures as the basis for a simple mathematical calculation, we arrive at the astounding conclusion that, from the death of Henry VII. to the present day, there must have been living at least 36,736 persons directly descended from the King.

It is quite easy to follow the means by which the "family" has become so numerous, and there is no need to wrestle with complex genealogical tables. Henry VII. had two daughters, the elder of whom married James IV. of Scotland, becoming thereby the grandmother of Mary Queen of Scots. The younger daughter, Mary Tudor, married, in the first instance, Louis XII. of France.

The marriage had been entered upon against her will, and, immediately on regaining her freedom, she contracted a second marriage with Charles Brandon, Duke of Suffolk.

The descendents of Mary Tudor number, at the present day, some 10,000 persons in a direct line, and by an extraordinary string of circumstances have kept almost entirely distinct from those of her elder sister, Margaret.

From the latter sprang the Stuarts, who later occupied the throne, and to her all the crowned heads of Europe, except those of a few small semi-civilized States, can trace their descent. From this it will be seen that all European monarchs are related.

When Queen Elizabeth successfully revoked the will of Henry VIII. there two daughters of Mary Tudor living, who each married a nobleman. Their children also married into other noble families, and that is how the wide diffuson of Royal blood was started.

Although many of the descendants of Mary Tudor occupy, as has been stated, more or less fitting positions, there are a great number who are scattered amongst the very humblest positions in life. The record of how some of these have come down in the world remains.

A similar, though perhaps slightly more congenial fate, was that of Lord Kingsland, who earned his living as a waiter. On his death he left no heir, and his family then came to an end.

The claim of a certain small shopkeeper in Mile End to be regarded as a descendant of Mary Tudor is quite valid; and at different times it has been ascertained that a Customs officer, a toll-gate keeper, and a butcher were indisputably direct descendants.

DON'T WASH YOUR HORSE

It Removes the Natural Oil From the Outer Skin

The practice of washing horses, as a rule, is injurious because it removes the natural oil from the outer skin and predisposes the animal to chill, writes a practical man in the Kentucky Stock Farm. The application of water to a horse's skin increases the heat conducting power of his coat and lowers the temperature of the surface by evaporation and also by conduction, in the event of the temperature of the water being cooler than that of the skin. Even in the tropics, washing a horse always takes the gloss off his coat, no matter how vigorously the subsequent grooming may be performed. This fact is certainly a strong argument against the practice in question. If it is imperative to wash, and there is not sufficient help to have the horse rubbed dry, without loss of time, we may, after scraping and going over him with two or three dry rubbers, take him out and exercise him at a brisk pace until he gets dry. We should then walk him about until his circulation regains its normal condition before taking him in. If we can not give this exercise, we may, after scraping and driving him, put on him a good supply of warm clothing, bandage his legs, and leave him thus to dry under his rugs, which he will do in an hour or less. He should after that be exercised and well rubbed down, so as to prevent his gettin chilled. A good plan for getting horses to dry quickly and safely under clothing is to cover the animal's back and loins with straw before putting on a rug, so as to utilize the low heat conducting power of air and to give as little impediment as possible for the escape of moisture.

CHEAPER CUTS OF MEAT

Butchers should endeavor to correct the impression of customers that only the high-priced meats are valuable as food. On the contrary, the cheaper cuts are often more highly flavored and fully as nutritious.

The chuck is one of the cheapest portions of the beef, but when cooked slowly in a small amount of water, either with or without vegetables for seasoning, is a most excellent dish.

In stewing meat, if too high a temperature is used, it will toughen the fibre. Another mistake is to overcook the meat until it falls to shreds. The skirt steak sells for 2 to 3 cents a pound less than the others, but if properly cooked is just as good. Lay the steak on a meat board and score it well with a chopping knife. Then dredge with flour and put it into a smoking hot frying pan that has been greased enough to keep the meat from sticking to it. When well seared over on both sides, pour over it a little boiling water and allow it to simmer slowly for two hours. Season to suit the taste. A bit of carrot or onion or bay leaf and a little vinegar to soften the fibre will add to the flavor of the meat.

QUEBEC'S WONDERFUL INDUSTRIAL RESOURCES

This Province Has the Greatest Water Power on the Continent of North America

The Western portion of Canada is equipped as no other portion of the Dominion, or the continent, is for industrial uses. It is [illegible] known, for instance, that [illegible] at its back a single [illegible] water power [illegible] Niagara [illegible] horse power. At [illegible] the Hamilton River [illegible] available is [illegible]. These falls have been [illegible] A. P. Low, in his [illegible] vey of the Geological Survey of the Dominion, and he has [illegible] the estimate of [illegible] conservative [illegible] horse power, declaring that there can be little doubt that these Falls will some day supply the greater part of the Province of Quebec with power. The Falls have a sheer drop of 300 feet, and a total drop of over 700 feet, compared to a drop of 160 feet at Niagara.

The position that Quebec is bound to take, as the premier manufacturing region, of the whole continent is best illustrated by the following comparison of her water powers with those of the other parts of the Dominion, taken from a report by Mr. J. B. Challies, C. E., of the Department of the Interior, on water powers in Canada:

Location	Min. Flow Dev.	Present Dev.
Yukon	470,000	....
British Columbia	2,065,500	73,000
Alberta	1,144,000	1,330
Saskatchewan	500,000	1,330
Manitoba	504,006	18,000
North-West Territ's	600,000	....
Ontario	3,129,168	331,157
Quebec	17,075,939	60,000
New Brunswick	150,000	....
Nova Scotia	54,300	13,300
Total	25,692,907	486,887

Is it any wonder that capital is pouring into Quebec for the establishment of every conceivable kind of manufactory? Is it any wonder that since Mr. Challies made the above computation a year or two ago, the development of water power in Quebec has more than quadrupled?

To-day along one single piece of car track on the island of Montreal, the track running from Montreal to the Lachine Rapids—there are no fewer than $80,000,000 of American money invested in industrial establishments. This is only an example of what is going on all over the East. Besides water powers the Province of Quebec has more forest wealth than any other region on the continent, and already employs in the lumber industry no fewer than 40,000 men, all of whom, like those in the factories, must be numbered among the industrial and therefore consuming classes. Many huge pulp and paper mills are now either under construction or in operation, besides water power in the outlying districts of the Province. This industrial activity is attracting people from all over the English speaking world, the consequence being that the population of Quebec is not made up, as many suppose, [illegible]

The Home Team Complete.

Secretary Davidson has received a letter from Manager Templin, of the Peterborough Baseball Club, in which the writer says his team is practically complete. In his sixteen years experience in the ball game, Manager Templin, claims never to have had a more likely bunch.

A Slight Fire Yesterday.

Yesterday, during the noon hour, a fire started in the home of Mr. H. Gerrish, of 196 Murray Street, caused by an overheated stove-pipe. Some carpets and curtains were burnt but with the asistance of neighbours the blaze was extinguished, without having to summon the Fire Brigade. The damage will amount to $25 or $30.

Chicken Fanciers Met.

The Peterborough Poultry Association held a meeting last night in the old labor temple. There was a good attendance. Wyandotte and Plymouth Rock chickens were shown, and their points discussed. Mr. J. H. Callender gave a spirited address on the subject of raising early chickens and the money to be made.

Improvements to Police Station.

The City Commissioners met yesterday afternoon, at one o'clock. The principle subject of discussion was improvement of the police station. The Commissioners decided to advertise for tenders for said improvements at once. It is estimated that those badly wanted changes, will cost somewhere from $4,000 to $5,000.

Automobile Address Postponed.

Last night, Mr. Main Johnston, secretary of the Ontario Motor League, was to have delivered an address, in the Bank of Montreal Chambers before the recently formed Peterborough Automobile Association. The meeting, however, was postponed.

Old Lady in Fenelon Falls Hurt.

As Mrs. Pearson, an nonogenarian of Fenelon Falls was coming down a hill in that village, last Monday, She fell and fractured one of her thigh bones. The old lady was taken to the residence of Dr. Graham, where she is doing as well as can be expected, considering her advanced age of ninety-two years.

Lots of Wood For Peterborough.

As a coal strike is on, it is of interest to learn that a local coal company has got a large amount of wood purchased in the back country. The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co., will have about 1500 cords to bring into the city from the district around Buckhorn Lake, Gannon's Narrows and other points in the North Country.

Judge Huycke Lectured.

Last night a good attendance greeted Judge Huycke at the Public Library. The occasion was a lecture by his honor on the "Holy Grail." The address was given under auspices of the local Woman's Art Association. Mr. A. Mowat occupied the chair and introduced the talented speaker. Judge Huycke handled his subject in his usual happy manner, so that all present enjoyed a literary treat.

C.G.E. Co. After Damages.

The Canadian General Electric Co. has issued a writ, against the Hydro-Electric Supply Company, alleging the issue of "misleading circulars addressed to customers of the plaintiff and others, to the damage of the plaintiff's business," asking for damages, and applying for an injunction concerning the circulars complained of.

Services at the Armouries To-day.

A special service will be held this afternoon, in the Armouries, under auspices of the local Ministerial Association. Addresses will be given by Rev. Robt. Pogue, of St. Paul's church, Rev. [illegible] of St. Andrew's, and Rev. [illegible], of St. Luke's. Mr. G. W. Mulligan will sing "There is a Green Hill Far Away." The Salvation Army Band will lead in the singing of three well known hymns: "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," "Tell Me the Old Old Story," and "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross." The service will be short.

Barnardo Children in Rough Passage

We noted in our issue of Thursday that a large number of boys and girls, were, this week, brought out by the Dr. Barnardo Homes from England. About half of them were girls who were kept at Peterborough for distribution, at the Margaret Cox Home. Yesterday a Times representative had occasion to enter into conversation with one of the local Barnardo Homes Staff. This young lady said that the ship upon which this consignment of children were brought to their new homes in Canada, via St. John, N.B., was delayed by exceptionally severe storms and was 19 days on her passage.

Promise to Supply Power Cheap.

Mr. Munro, of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., is authority for saying that the Electric Power Co., will supply residents along the Trent River System with power of maximum efficiency at minimum cost. The plant will have a generating capacity equal to the entire requirements of Oshawa and district. It will be built on the lands owned by the company immediately adjacent to the sub-station, and opposite the gas plant. A plant of 5000 h.p. capacity and an expenditure of about six hundred thousand dollars, is proposed.

Case Against City Postponed.

The case of Mr. D. W. Dumble vs. City of Peterborough, that was to have been heard in the Division Court here, yesterday, was postponed as his honor, Judge Huycke is indirectly interested. Judge Harding of Lindsay will likely hear it at a date to be decided upon. This case is a claim in connection with the registration for manhood suffrage in the last election. This case will likely determine the action of Judge Huycke and Mr. Morrow, who presented similar claims to the city in connection with the same work.

WAINWRIGHT

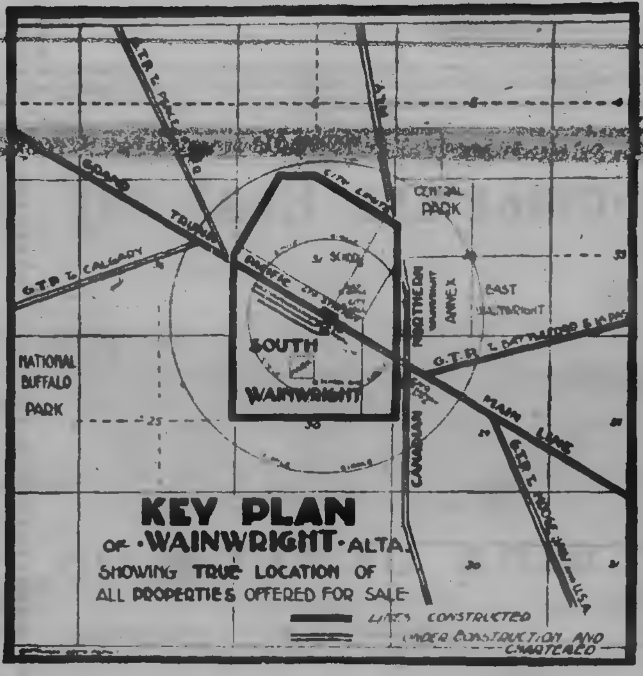
The Most Promising New City in Western Canada

Every Purchaser is Protected By Our Iron-Clad Guarantee

We Buy Your Lots Back—With Interest if You are Dissatisfied



We hold a large block of inside business property and picked residential locations at South Wainwright immediately south of the Grand Trunk Pacific yards, station and shops. Remember, Wainwright is the most important divisional point on the G.T.P. line between Winnipeg and Edmonton — and within the HALF MILE CIRCLE that embraces the present town. These lots are situated for to-morrow, and will, we predict, become the most valuable properties in Wainwright when this city begins to get its growth These lots are from one-half to one mile closer in than other subdivision property now on the market at Wainwright.

Wainwright is only three years old. The railway development here has only begun. The next two years will see thousands of new residents at Wainwright.

Wainwright, Alberta, is the central divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in Alberta. It is an important junction point also. It is the trading centre of one of the richest agricultural districts of the west. It is to-day the second largest point of original live stock shipments in the Province, exceeded only by Calgary.

Wainwright is famous as the home of Canada's National Buffalo Herd, the largest herd of buffalo in the world, maintained in the National Buffalo Park by the Canadian Government. The presence of this park and its herd of buffalo will make Wainwright one of the meccas of Canada's annual tourist traffic, and will contribute to the prosperity of Wainwright.

We give notice that on April 15th, the prices of all unsold property in South Wainwright will be advanced 25 to 50 per cent. Until April 15th, prices are: $75, $100, $125, $150 and $175 per lot, depending upon location. Business and trackage lots are $125 to $175, residential lots $75 and $100. Cash payment one-quarter; balance $7.50 monthly.

OUR GUARANTEE—We agree to deliver Torrens Title upon completion of payments. We agree to carry interest and pay taxes upon all property until title is delivered. We further agree to buy back, upon demand, after two years, any lot purchased from us in South Wainwright, refunding the full purchase price, with interest added at the rate of 6 per cent.

ELDERLY MAN WAS FOUND MURDERED WITH HIS SKULL CRUSHED IN AND ROPE AROUND HIS NECK

FOUR FIRES HERE YESTERDAY ONE CAUSED CONSIDERABLE LOSS

On Sunday morning at four o'clock the fire department were called upon to fight one of the most stubborn fires that has occurred in the city for a long time. People living in the vicinity of George and Dublin streets were awakened by their houses being filled with smoke. The Mann planing mill, from some unknown cause, had caught fire. And the southeast portion of the building was a mass of flames before it was discovered. There is no watchman employed, we understand.

The fire was very spectacular and caused considerable alarm in that portion of the city. Someone turned in an alarm of fire from box 42, and the firemen made a splendid race for the scene Impatient spectators thought the entire block would surely be consumed. But the firemen under the direction of Chief Howard, went at their most difficult task in a businesslike manner.

Five heavy streams of water were soon pouring into the building from all sides, with the result that the fire did not gain any further headway after the arrival of the brigade, despite the combustable nature of the contents of the building, which was filled with a stock of sash, doors and moulding, ready to supply the builders for the spring trade.

This fire has occurred at a time that will place the firm at great inconvenience. But as the machinery in the building has not suffered any very great damage the firm will be able to resume operations in the course of a few weeks. The damage is roughly estimated at $5,000.00 as follows: About $3,000.00 on buildings, $1,400.00 on stock, $600.00 on belting, and a possible $200.00 on the machinery. The building contents and machinery were only partly covered by insurance, and consequently the firm will sustain considerable loss in addition to the inconvenience of having the business delayed. The following insurance companies are interested. The Royal $2,250; Guardian $2,250; Atlas $500 on buildings and $500 on machinery; Canadian Fire Insurance Co. $500 on stock; American Aetna $1,000 on stock.

Four More Fires.

The fire king was not satisfied with the tribute already paid him. He demanded more. At 3.10 p.m., a telephone message called the brigade to Hicks & Company's wood yard. It seems that one of the overhead electric light wires had broken, and the end of this death bearing wire, had fallen across one of the woodpiles, setting it on fire. The brigade quickly had the wire cut at the pole head. The damage was trifling. At 3.35 p.m., the fire laddies had a chimney fire at the Palace Hotel. No damage. At 3.46 p.m., they were called to 659 George street, occupied by Mr. H. B. Lindley, another chimney. The brigade had a hard day of it and worked well.

IRISH PARLIAMENT RIGHTS WILL BE UNDER VERY STRICT CONTROL

According to what may be an inspired forecast of the Home Rule Bill published in The Ulster Guardian the organ of the Ulster Liberal As- [illegible] posed to be constituted will have its powers strictly limited. Not only are all subjects affecting the United Kingdom generally excluded from its jurisdiction but customs and excise will be under Imperial control.

With regard to safeguards, the Irish legislature will have no power to make laws for the purpose of (1) establishing or endowing any religious creed or imposing disabilities or conferring privileges on account of religion affecting the undenominational constitution of national school [illegible] validity of marriage laws as at present existing; (3) depriving any one of life, liberty, or property without process of law in accordance with settled precedents or denying equal protection of laws or taking property without just compensation, and (4) imposing disabilities or conferring privileges on account of birth, parentage, or place of business.

FIVE FIREMEN OVERCOME AT A BIG FIRE IN TORONTO

Toronto, April 6.—When a fire broke out in John J. Fee's wholesale produce warehouse at 64 Front street east, about 4.35 Saturday afternoon, thousands of spectators were thrilled even more than had it been a blood curdling melodrama. Five firemen were overcome by the dense smoke on the ladders leaning up against the burning building. They were rescued by brother "smoke-eaters," and carried to earth by means of ropes, which were wrapped around the waists of the limp bodies.

All the excitement happened within twenty minutes. But the blaze carried on its destructive work for two hours, completely gutting the building and playing havoc to the extent of about 830,000. The building was owned by the Manning Estate. Both building and contents were insured.

The blaze centred in a large pile of packing cases on the second floor, near the rear. About ten firemen were in the building trying to smother it, but were driven back by the thick smoke several times to the Front street windows.

Those who fainted were all of the Berkeley street Fire Station, and Lieut. Hughes of the Queen street hall.

Collapsed on Ladder.

Poole was the first man to keel over. He climbed out of the second storey window, closely followed by Sinclair, gained his footing on the ladder and commenced to descend. About half-way down he collapsed against the fire rung. He was rescued, unconscious by a rope put round his waist. The other four had similar experiences.

Resuscitation.

All the suffocated men were carried into the warehouse of Rutherford Marshall & Co. and resuscitated in a few moments. But they were unable to again tackle the blaze which was gradually being brought under control.

WIRELESS MESSAGES CARRY BETTER WHEN SUN IS ECLIPSED

New York, April 6.—A series of notable experiments in wireless telegraphy are to be tried in Paris on April 23, during an eclipse of the sun which will obscure four-fifths of the suns rays. It has been noticed by scientists that the distance over which wireless messages can be dispatched varies greatly according to the time of day and the direction. A message sent by rapid vibration which will not carrying more than 700 miles during the day, can be sent two or three times that distance at sunset, especially toward the south. When slower vibrations are used, it can be transmitted further during the day.

It is believed that these curious facts are due to the activity of the so-called ultra-ciolet rays of the sun, the theory being that these rays are a powerful factor in the energy of the Hertzian waves. The eclipse, when a great part of these rays will be suddenly cut off, will be an ideal occasion for decisive tests, and the wireless station on the Eiffel Tower will send messages continuously from a little before eclipse until a little after it in several directions.

GET PEOPLE TO PETERBOROUGH

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—Now that the summer season is coming let our City Fathers, our Board of Trade and our merchants make some endeavor to get people to patronize and organize excursions to Peterborough. Which is best for Peterborough and her merchants? To have thousands of Peterborough dollars leave this city on excursions, or to have thousands of the other fellow's money come to Peterborough. Why not pay a man, with some snap and idea of advertising, to visit all the towns within a hundred miles of our city. He could take photographs and literature with him. His expenses would be justified.

—Progress.

FLOODS RAGING ON MISSISSIPPI

Memphis, Tenn., April 6.—"The situation is desperate, but we still are hopeful," O. N. Killough, president of the St. Francis levee board.

"Extremely serious, but if the weather continues favorable, we may be able to prevent crevasses," Major Clarke Smith, U.S.A. Corps of Engineers.

This is the Mississippi flood situation as reviewed by men directing the fight from the Missouri State line to the mouth of the White River in Arkansas, the stretch of levee bearing the brunt of the battle with the waterway to-day.

Except for the Reelfoot embankment, which went out late yesterday, all main levees are holding this morning but each hour the situation is growing more critical. The river is rising rapidly, faster than the superficial earthwork can be constructed. Golden Lake, 50 miles from north Memphis, Pecan Point, in the same vicinity, Lambville, Mount City, Holly Bush, Ark., and the White River front are regarded as points in immediate danger.

CREEK ON THE RAMPAGE

The creek which runs parallel to Aylmer street, and passes the old stone building, once called Lundy's tavern, went wild, or, as a cowboy would say, was lacoed yesterday. Hundreds of citizens went to the scene of its overflow, which will result in much damage, and has already caused many nearby residents great inconvenience. The water rose over the pavement for some distance. Cellars of many houses along Aylmer street, between London and McDonnel streets are entirely flooded. Some of the people living in the district referred to, are isolated, all approach on foot, dry-shod, from the street to their respective residences being cut off. Whilst a gang of men were on hand doing what they could, the overflow was difficult to handle. The creek did not seem to be blocked by ice that might have been dynamited. As the evening drew on, the cold weather caused the flood to subside somewhat At one time it looked as if a very serious state of affairs was about to develop. Only one living creature seemed to derive any pleasure out of the flood, and that was a solitary duck that gaily swam all over the submerged streets.

UNDER GUARD OF POLICE

Toronto, April 6.—Over twenty-five million dollars' worth of securities and valuables, the contents of the safety deposit vaults, were transferred this afternoon from the old Toronto General Trusts Building at the corner of Yonge and Colborne streets, at the vault of the new building at the corner of Bay and Melinda streets. The moving operations commenced at one o'clock, and were carried on under the watchful eyes of three policemen, a number of private detectives, and members of the company. Twelve sections of the deposit vaults, each containing one hundred compartments, and weighing with the contents from four to six tons each, were moved on heavy trucks, the removal from the basement of the old building, and to the new quarters, being effected by travelling cranes rigged up on the sidewalk.

NO MID-WEEK MAILS BETWEEN NEW YORK AND SOUTHAMPTION

New York, April 6.—Owing to the coal strike in Great Britain there were no mid-week mails from Great Britain this week, and there is no fast mail for Southampton to-day as three of the four American liners are laid up, as well as the Oceanic of the White Star Line.

The next mail will arrive to-morrow on the Cunard liner Caronia. Shipping men say the entire Atlantic service would have been tied up if the strike had continued much longer.

COL. ROOSEVELT'S FRIENDS CAN'T GET HIM TO BOLT

New York, April 6.—The statement was made at the Republican state committee headquarters to-day that there would be opposition made to any plan to instruct the four delegates at large to be elected at the Rochester convention next week. On the other hand, Samuel S. Koenig, president of the Republican county committee, who returned last night from Washington where he conferred with President Taft, Senator Root and Representative McKinley, said that the administration of President Taft will be endorsed, and that the delegates at large will go to Chicago with specific instructions to vote for the renomination of the president.

"New York State is for Mr. Taft," Mr. Moenig said, "but there is a difference of opinion as to how this is to be expressed at the state convention. There are some of the leaders who believe that an endorsement of the administration will be sufficient. Personally, I favor specific instructions, and I have no hesitation in saying that such action will be taken. President Taft's political advisers are not making any demands, but the friends of the president are confident that all will be harmony at Rochester.

"Col. Roosevelt will not bolt," Mr. Koenig said. "His friends cannot persuade him to go to that extreme."

GERMAN LINES PLANNING TO RUN TO CALIFORNIA

New York, April 6.—In steamship offices here to-day it was an open secret that two of the big German steamship lines are planning, as soon as the Panama Canal is open, to begin a special service of ships between Europe and California, in which steerage passengers will be carried to the Pacific Coast at the same rates as to New York. The only extra charge will be sufficient to cover the canal dues.

MINERS' FEDERATION ACCEPT REPORT AND MEN GO TO WORK

London, April 6.—The Miners' Federation this afternoon accepted the recommendation of the executive committee, that the men should resume work as the result of the recent ballot, and the miners will be ordered to return to the pits forthwith.

The decision of the Federation was reached after a two-and-a-half hours' controversy, which at times was intensely embittered, the extremists charging executive pusillanimity in recommending that the men resume work before the district boards had yielded to the miners' schedule of minimum wages.

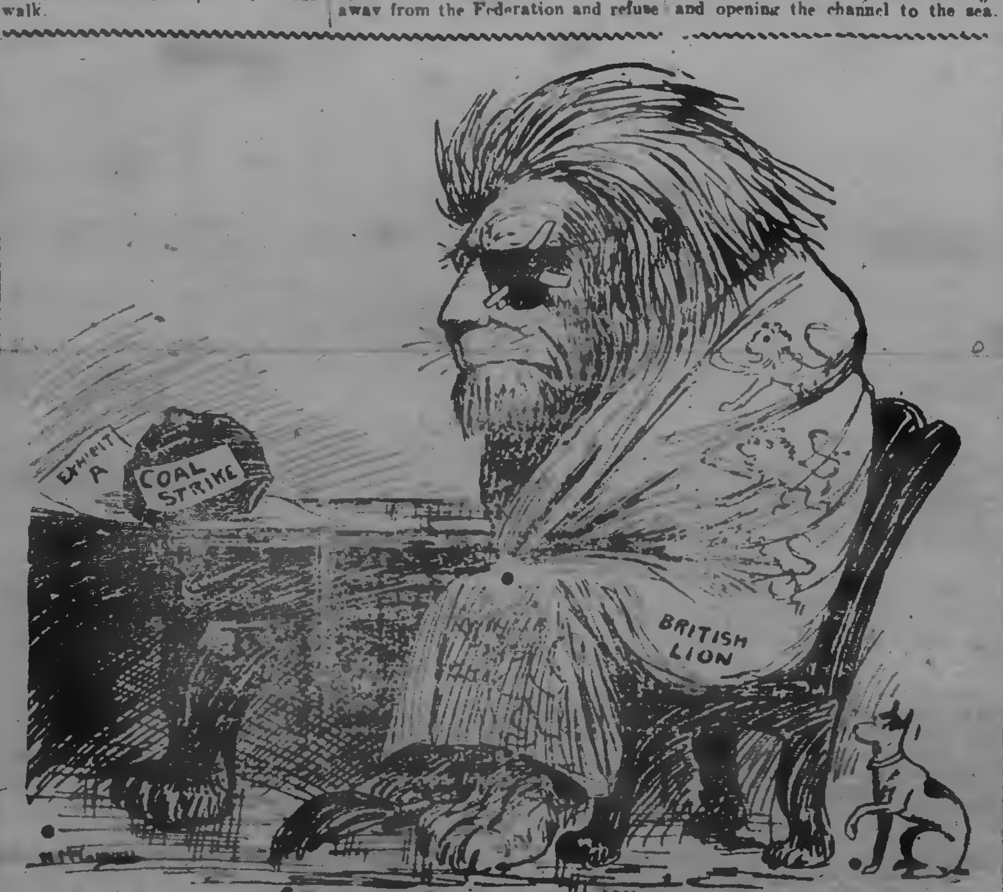
The moderates, however, finally carried the day. Some of the firebrands had to acknowledge that with 60,000 men already at work, and with double that number ready to resume work on Monday, it would be hopeless to attempt to carry on the war, and a sufficient number of delegates broke away to enable the executive to carry the resolutions calling off the strike, and to send out instructions ordering that work in the mines be resumed immediately. The resolution accepting the recommendation of the executive committee was carried by a vote of 440 to 125.

Some of the extremist delegates threaten that the colliers in the north, who still have plenty of funds in the union treasuries, will break away from the Federation and refuse to resume work until the minimum wage schedules have been granted. Even if this is true it does not alter the fact that the coal strike as a national strike is now ended, but it would mean a breach in the solidity of the miners' Federation, which has enabled the colliers to paralyze half the trade of the United Kingdom for the past month, causing misery to millions of persons at a cost to the colliers themselves of some $50,000,000.

RIVER STILL FROZE UP

Montreal, April 6.—All hope of an early opening of navigation has been abandoned in marine circles, and shipping men are looking with considerable misgiving to an unusually late inauguration of river traffic.

With the Government ice-breaker Montcalm, crippled with a broken rudder, the situation is still worse, as no other steamer of the Government fleet is capable of doing the work done for the past two or three seasons of breaking up the ice bridge and opening the channel to the sea.



CONVALESCENT.—From Toronto News.

SCRAPIRON DEAL LEADS TO DEATH OF JOE ROSENTHAL

Toronto, April 6.—Lured to a lonely spot in the rear of the hydro-electric transform station, near the foot of Strachan avenue on the pretext of the sale of a carload of scrap iron, Joseph Rosenthal, 133 York street, was murdered Friday night, and Eli Dunkelman, 184 West Richmond street, was so beaten that he is in the General Hospital with a severe fracture of the skull and may die. The clues in the hands of the police are meagre. The most definite is a description of a tall fair young man who called at Dunkelman's house Thursday to tell the old man to go to 205 Strachan avenue at 7 o'clock Friday night, taking with him enough money to purchase the carload of scrapiron.

Lying upon its face with a ten pound cake of concrete resting at the base of the battered skull, the dead body of Joseph Rosenthal was found at 7.15 Saturday morning by John Blythe, H. Hewitt and Patrick Hayden, three employees of the hydro-electric commission. Nearby was a pool of blood which they took to indicate that the body had been dragged by a rope which hung about the neck of the body. This latter proved to be the spot where Dunkelman had lain in a semi-conscious state all night. The police were notified and the body removed to the morgue.

Staggered Through Streets.

At eight o'clock Saturday morning Dunkelman staggered up to his own door. He rang the bell and was admitted by his little daughter, who did not know him so bespattered with blood and mud was he. He had left the house at 6 o'clock Friday night to go with Rosenthal to meet some men who were to sell them a car of scrap iron. Taking with him more than $100 and possibly over $200. Mr. Rosenthal had more than $50 on him.

While in the house waiting to be taken to the hospital, Dunkelman talked incoherently of the assault upon himself and Rosenthal. First he [illegible] on them. Then he said that he had fallen from a rig later that Rosenthall was coming and would tell all about the matter.

The story of the murder begins on Tuesday, when a man giving his name as "Smith" called up Mr. Rosenthal, jr., at his office and asked how he could see his father, as he had some scrapiron to sell him. The son said he would speak to his father. The man called again and twice more that night. He wanted to make an appointment for Wednesday morning at the corner of Bay and Queen streets, but the son said that if he had business to transact with his father he would arrange a meeting at his office.

Sons Looked for Father.

Wednesday, a tall, fair, slim, youngish man called at the home of Mr. Dunkelman and left a note asking him to call at 205 Strachan avenue, Friday night. Thursday Dunkelman went to the tailor shop of his son David and asked him to cash a cheque, saying that he was going to buy some scrapiron and saying that it was too late to get the cheque cashed, and the men would not want a cheque, but would have to have the money.

Dunkelman was seen at his office at 6 o'clock last night, and was then waiting for Rosenthal to meet him to go to buy some scrap iron. He did no tsay where they were to go. When Dunkelman did not turn up at his home at 1 o'clock Saturday morning his two sons went to look for him at the foot of Strachan avenue, where they believed he had gone but found no traces of either him or Rosenthal.

Dunkelman went through two operations in the hospital on Saturday. These were performed in an endeavor to save his life. The doctors have still a thread of hope that he will recover.

One of the most surprising things in connection with the matter is the fact that from the hour between seven and eight o'clock Saturday morning Dunkelman, covered with blood, and mud, with his clothing torn and his head battered, staggered through more than a mile of city's most traversed thoroughfares and yet no one seems to hav eseen him save a few workmen who noticed him stag- [illegible] lieved him to be drunk.

An inquest was opened at the morgue at 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon.

LOOKS AS IF THE U. S. COAL STRIKE WILL BE PROLONGED

Philadelphia, Pa., April 6.—Fires continue to be drawn from under the boiless in collieries, and more mules are being taken out of the mines in the Wilkes-Barre region of the anthracite coal regions, indicating that the suspension of mining will last longer than at first expected. To-day ended the first week of idleness.

The tension over the outcome of next week's conference in Philadelphia between the representatives of the men and the operators is beginning to be felt in the regions. The district presidents are still receiving reports from all parts of the coal territory and shaping matters they will present at the conference.

The work of organizing the non-union mine workers was pushed vigorously to-day especially in the Schuylkill region.

All the big coal companies in the Scranton-Wilkes-Barre regions to-day paid the wages for the last two weeks in March. All the men received big envelopes as the production of coal during March exceeded that of any month for more than a year. The district officers of the union said the men are better able now than at any previous time to meet demands on them through a prolonged idleness.

Recruiting of guards, cooks and waiters in Philadelphia for service in the coal regions has been stopped for the present, and the 800 men engaged in the last few weeks, but still here, were to-day paid the "waiting scale," or half the wages they were promised in case they were sent into the coal fields.

OBITUARY

Robert Hay.

An old resident of Peterborough in the person of Mr. Robert Hay, has passed away, his demise occurred on Thursday evening. Mr. Hay, who had many warm friends in the city, was 72 years of age. Two sons and one daughter survive him, namely, Robert Hay, Jr., formerly accountant in Mr. Poussette's office, Mr. Gus L. Hay, who left two weeks ago for the West, and Mrs. Captain J. Schneider of Saskatoon. The funeral took place on Saturday to the Little Lake cemetery. Rev. Canon Davidson officiating.

Mrs. Amanda Embery.

A comparatively recent arrival in Peterborough, in the person of Mrs. Amanda Embery, 295 McDonnell street, died at the above address, on Friday morning. She was seventy four years of age, and came to Peterborough from Belleville, about two years ago.

Thomas Casey.

Word has come from Lowell, Mass. that Mr. Thomas Casey, formerly of this city, and a brother of Mr. David Casey of Otonabee, passed away there on March 29th. He is survived by his father and four brothers, James, John, Willie and Dave, also two sisters, Mrs. A. Wetherhead and Sister Marcella of North Bay.

Winnifred Margaret French.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold French, 3[illegible] Stewart street are receiving the heartfelt sympathy of their friends over the death, on Friday, of their infant daughter, Winnifred Marjorie. The little one only came to her parents on December 17th last. The funeral took place from the family residence to Little Lake cemetery, on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Webb officiating.

SHORT CIRCUIT CAUSES DEATH

Quebec, April 6.—Pierre Leviner, 41 years old, is dead: William Doyle, aged 60, is badly, if not fatally injured, and Eugene Nadeau, aged 22, is seriously injured as a result of a premature blast at the Bell Asbestos Mines, Thetford Mines. The explosion occurred at 5 o'clock yesterday evening while the wires were being connected. Leviner leaves a wife and six children.

The explosion was caused when J. Gilbert started to connect a battery He was standing in a pool of water with one end of the wire submerged when he picked up the other end. It made a short circuit through his body, sending off the charge.

A FAMOUS AIRMAN

Much That Was Pathetic in Gilmour's Death and Funeral

Graham Gilmour, the famous London airman who was killed by falling from a height of 175 feet left a letter dated several months previously. This he had entrusted to a friend requesting that should he be killed at any time that at his funeral there should be no bell tolled, no mourning, and no moaning. If any flowers, they were to be colored, and his body was to be taken away on a four-wheeled farmer's cart or on a motor lorry. He desired to be buried with his mother and father at Mickleham Church. The letter concluded :"I want everyone to be merry and bright, for I don't believe in moaning." The body was therefore conveyed on a motor lorry. It is doubtful, however, whether the last sad ceremony could be described as "merry and bright," as he desired it to be.

Mr. J. Radley, the aviator, fitted up the chassis of his own car as a hearse, draping it in purple, and upon this the coffin, covered with a purple pall, was conveyed from the mortuary at Richmond by way of Kingston to the quiet little village of Mickleham, near Dorking, twelve miles away.

Mr. Radley himself drove the vehicle, and six motor-cars followed, conveying friends of Mr. Gilmour. Numerous wreaths were sent, all consisting of colored flowers, including daffodils, red roses, lilacs, tulips, hyacinths, and mimosa. One wreath bore the inscription, "His last long flight."

There was a touching incident just before the service, an old lady placing beside the grave a wreath bearing the inscription, "In sorrowful memory of one whose youthful spirit and kindly word cheered a day in an old woman's lonely life."

The body was buried in the grave containing the remains of Mr. Gilmour's mother and father.

BALL PLAYERS WITH AUTOS

The Chicago Cubs Have More Motors Than Other Teams

The Chicago Cubs own more automobiles than any other aggregation of ball players in the American or National Leagues. Chance's men have been joining the ranks of the auto enthusiasts one at a time until about half the team are classed as gasoline bugs.

Chance was one of the very first men playing baseball to own an automobile. Then one at a time his players followed in his footsteps, and the other day Joe Tinker purchased a new car at the Kansas City Auto Show.

Ty Cobb is another enthusiast, although he manages to win some sort of a machine every year by leading the world in batting.

The New York Club stands next to the Chicago team as auto owners, and now that the Athletics have won a couple of pennants and two world's [illegible] teams, watch Mack's aggregation of stars develop the gasoline bug.

It is estimated that over two hundred ball players own automobiles at the present time, and every year from twenty-five to fifty more converts are made.

MANLY SPORTS

Prof. Morson Says That They Should be Encouraged

Prof. Morson, Toronto, in dismissing the appeal against Magistrate Denison's decision imposing a fine on the National Sporting Club for promoting a prize fight said:

"I express no opinion upon the merits of the case as it is now unnecessary. I desire to say, however, that while I may be opposed to what are prize fights, in fact, I am much in sympathy with and desire to encourage all manly sports which include sparring matches, according to well-known rules and which are nothing more than exhibitions of skill and endurance.

"I do not think any honest, manly sport, because it is a little rough, should, on that account be stopped, nor do I think a sparring match, because it happens also to be a little rough, should on that acount be characterized as a prize fight.

"The late Lord Justice Bramwell in Rex. vs. Bradshaw, 14 Criminal Cases 83, says: 'I have no doubt that the game was in any circumstances a rough one, but am unwilling to decry the manly sports of this country all of which are no doubt attended with more or less danger.'"

Promise to Supply Power Cheap.

Mr. Munro, of the Peterborough Light and Power Co., is authority for saying that the Electric Power Co., will supply residents along the Trent River System with power of maximum efficiency at minimum cost. The plant will have a generating capacity equal to the entire requirements of Oshawa and district. It will be built on the lands owned by the company immediately adjacent to the sub-station, and opposite the gas plant. A plant of 5000 h.p. capacity and an expenditure of about six hundred thousand dollars, is proposed.

BOUGHT THE HARVESTER

Will Be Taken to Europe for Some Speed Contests.

The announcement that the Chicago millionaire C. K. G. Billings had bought "The Harvester, 2.01, the world's champion trotting stallion, caused no great amount of surprise to horsemen, as it was known that the executors for the estate of the late August Uihlein, who owned the great horse, were desirous of disposing of him by private sale, and Mr. Billings is one of the few turfmen able to pay the price such a horse is worth. Although the sale price has not been made public, it is understood to be considerably in excess of $50,000, which fully demonstrates that it pays to raise champions. It is Mr. Billings' intention to take The Harvester to Europe along with Uhlan, 1.58¾, Lou Dillon, 1.58½, etc., to show the people across the pond what America has accomplished in the way of breeding light harness horses.

The Harvester was bred at Walnut Hall Farm, near Lexington, Ky., and was sold when a two-year-old, only halter broken, in the winter of 1907-08, to the late August Uihlein, of Milwaukee, Wis., one of the pioneer patrons and breeders of the trotter, who bought him upon the advice of the sagacious Splan. He was at once turned over to the accomplished Geers, who has handled him ever since, no other hand ever having pulled a line over him. In his three-year-old form he took a record of 2.08 3-4, which he reduced to 2.06 3-4 as a four-year-old, and as a five-year-old, to 2.01, as above narrated.

THE FIRST DERBY

And an Occasion When Herbert Spencer was Present

The first Derby was run nearly 132 years ago, on May 4, 1780, when Sir Charles Bunbury's Diomed beat Major [illegible] [illegible] or $6,125. It [illegible] and proved so small an attraction to the sporting fraternity that it was found necessary to fortify the Epsom program with a cock-fight. Public interest in the matter was so slight that The Public Advertiser, though it found room to record the breakdown of a one-horse shay on the road home from Epsom, had not even a corner to spare for an account of the race itself. Nowadays people go to Epsom in search of sport, but our forefathers were wont to look for health in the little Surrey town—and what is more they found it. For Epsom wells were famous before Epsom races, were thought of, and royal visits were common. Discovered in the reign of Elizabeth, the wells soon became famous, and Epsom grew from a country village to a gay and brilliant town, with absolutely the last word in luxurious hotels at that day. Pepys, of course, visited them and tasted the water—four pints was his allowance for a taste. By 1810 the wells were deserted, but the Derby had then been in existence 30 years, so a continuance of the fame of Epsom was assured. Epsom Downs attract every year for Derby Day many people who have not the slightest sympathy for the turf. Perhaps the strangest of all these alien race-goers was Herbert Spencer, who was once wickedly persuaded by his friend, the late Sir Francis Galton, to go to the Derby with an Oxford clerical don. "They were," records Sir Francis in his volume of memoirs, "as incongruous a pair as could easily be devised, but they enjoyed each other's company." "All went well," except that Spencer would not be roused to enthusiasm by the races. He said that "the crowd of men on the grass looked disagreeable, like flies upon a plate, and that the whole event was just what he had imagined the Derby to be."

Sir William Ramsay Says 175 Years Will End It

Sir William Ramsay gave a surprise to the members of the British Association, in a grave warning to England that the present rate of consumption of her coal supply she will be a bankrupt nation 175 years hence. "It may be said that 175 years is a long time," said Sir William. "In the life of a nation it is a mere span.' Sir William urged Governmental afforestation and general economy in the use of coal, in order that "our life as a nation may be prolonged." Both in industrial life and in the home there was, he said, room for economy. He advocated the appointment of a permanent commission, whose object should be to keep abreast with the diminution of the stores of natural energy, and to take steps to lessen its rate.

Old Lady in Fenelon Falls Hurt.

As Mrs. Pearson, an nonogenarian of Fenelon Falls, was coming down a hill in that village, last Monday, She fell and fractured one of her thigh bones. The old lady was taken to the residence of Dr. Graham, where she is doing as well as can be expected, considering her advanced age of ninety-two years.

Improvements to Police Station.

The City Commissioners met yesterday afternoon, at one o'clock. The principle subject of discussion was improvement of the police station. The Commissioners decided to advertise for tenders for said improvements at once. It is estimated that those badly wanted changes, will cost somewhere from $4,000 to $5,000.

HELPFUL HINTS

Household Information Which May Come in Handy

Get a nice thick piece of lean steak, cover it with good olive oil, and let it remain in the oil for an hour before cooking. This will make it tender, and the oil forms a coating, thus keeping in all the juice. The same method applies to cutlets.

Removing Inkstains

To remove ink from colored materials, dip the stained part in warm milk that has been boiled, and rub it lightly with the finger. As the milk becomes inked, change it, and continue the process till the stain fades away, then rinse the fabric, dry it quickly, and smooth it with a warm iron.

When Boiling Greens

If some hot water is poured over the greens before putting into the saucepan they will boil much quicker and look much greener. A little bicarbonate of soda used instead of washing soda will keep the greens a better color and make them much more tender.

A Time-Saving Hint

Where the family washing is large, much time, labor and fuel can be saved if this method is followed: First take out all bath towels, and spread evenly on the table; then hand and roller towels, next the pillow covers. [illegible] sheets, place them over [illegible] and [illegible] over with the ironing sheet. Commence ironing all the underwear, tablecloths, and handkerchiefs—all except the starched clothes. Then remove ironing sheets and all the linen underneath will be as smooth as if put through the mangle. Fold same, and place on clothes-horse to air.

Blanket Washing

Take half a cupful of pure ammonia, half a cupful of turpentine, and pour into a vessel that will hold two quarts of water, then cut up a small piece of soap about the size of a walnut—not more—or else the solution will be too stiff when cold. Then pour on two quarts of boiling water. When the liquid is cool, bottle off, and keep the bottle tightly corked. Be careful when pouring on the water, as the fumes are very strong. When washing the blankets add half a cupful of this mixture to each tub of water, and you will be more than pleased at the result. The blankets will come up quite soft and fluffy, and if this is carefully carried out they will never shrink.

Hints on Renovating

Light colored velvets may be cleaned by rubbing with benzoin or paraffin oil.

Chiffon can be washed in tepid water in which has been dissolved a small piece of Castile soap.

White silk should be washed in lukewarm water, rolled in a cloth, and ironed quite damp.

Where money is an object, it is a wise plan for everyone to know as much as possible about the art of renovating.

Crepe should be wound round a bottle, and steamed over boiling water.

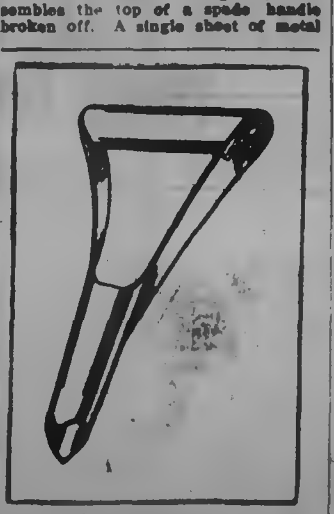
Chip hats should be first well [illegible] quantities of oil and [illegible] felt hats, if white, may be cleaned by rubbing with oatmeal.

For instance, velvet may be made as good as new by the following process: Place a damp cloth over a hot iron, and draw the back of the velvet over the cloth. When the creases are all out remove the cloth, and dry by rubbing the back of the velvet over the iron.

HANDY FRUIT CORER

Extracts Centre of Apple or Pear at One Quick Stroke

A simple and effective device for extracting stones and cores from fruit has been designed by a Virginian man and will probably become a popular kitchen utensil. At first glance it resembles the top of a spade handle broken off. A single sheet of metal is rolled into a tube, tapering towards the bottom and with a pair of arms extending above, joined at their tops to a wooden handle between. The lower end of the tube has two sharp lips projecting opposite each other. To core an apple or pear the fruit is placed on the table, stem up, and the cutter thrust down through the centre. It is then pulled out again, bringing with it the centre of the fruit with the seeds and the hard substances that are so unpleasant to encounter in baked or stewed fruit. The same operation will remove stones from fruits that are not easily split in two, as are peaches, and cleaned in that way.



MACHINE OIL

Should any machine oil get on the material you are sewing, tack a piece of cotton-wool over the spot at once, and leave it for a short time. The cotton-wool absorbs the oil, and no trace of the stain will be left.

New Uniforms For Regiment.

The annual 57th Regiment Camp will be held this season from June 6th to the 10th at Kingston, orders to that effect being issued by Lt.-Col. Clegg. The Regiment is to be fitted out with complete new uniforms this year, tunics, serges and caps, etc. They will be issued next Tuesday at the Armories.

The Home Team Complete.

Secretary Davidson has received a letter from Manager Templin, of the Peterborough Baseball Club, in which the writer says his team is practically complete. In his sixteen years experience in the ball game, Manager Templin, claims never to have had a more likely bunch.

SECLUDED WOMEN

While hearing a civil case in which a lady of considerable property was required to give evidence, "a day was fixed, and she was brought to Court. She came in a palaki or palanquin, which, despite its name, was nothing else than a very small and uncomfortable box carried on a bamboo pole. One could hardly understand how it was possible for her to be in it without great discomfort. It had been carried into a room of the Zenana and laid down. After all the men had gone away, she had come, attended by her women, and had stepped into it. The thick curtain that covered one side of the box (all the rest being of wood) was then dropped and securely fastened. Her nearest male relative stood by while the box was removed from her room, and walked with it through the streets. When it was brought into the Court, it was laid down, but not opened. I asked the counsel on both sides whether they were satisfied that the lady inside the box was the witness whom it was desired to examine. After conversing with those who had accompanied her, and addressing a question or two to the lady, they replied that they were satisfied. I then put certain questions to her; and she answered them—clear, intelligent answers, in a sweet, low-toned voice. I never saw her; no one in the Court saw her. She returned through the streets to her seclusion in the Zenana, having seen nothing all the time during which she was out of it."

After narrating other official experiences with ladies in seclusion, Sir Andrew Fraser writes:—"I made it a practice as far as possible to take my wife with me to such interviews, so that she might sit on the other side of the parda with the Rani, as she was acquainted with her. This was at least a security that the right lady was conversing with me. To me there was always a feeling of dissatisfaction in that neither of us in the course of our conversation was able to look the other in the face, and receive that light upon our interchange of views which the human countenance so often gives. I recall one case in which that feeling was evidently shared by the lady herself. She turned to Lady Fraser and asked her in a whisper, which I did not hear, whether there was any objection to her slightly putting the curtain aside with her finger, just so far as to permit her to get a view of my face, so as to see whether I was giving kindly attention to the expression of her views. My wife, of course, said that there was no objection; and, although I was unaware of it, the old lady saw my face, and then expressed herself as more confident that I would give careful and kindly consideration to her wishes.

DARING BRIDGE BUILDERS

The Construction of the Niagara Bridge Recalled

Notwithstanding the great height at which the men worked in replacing the Niagara Suspension Bridge above a maelstrom from which escape would have been impossible, most of them soon grew unconcerned, and some of them, indeed, vied with one another in reckless daring.

So many valuable tools were dropped from the bridge that some of the more careless were discharged. Consequently, one day, when a man dropped a wrench 200 feet to the water's edge, he foolishly started to recover it by climbing down hand over hand on a steeply inclined thin wire cable nearly 500 feet long. He had no sooner begun his insane exploit than a rival, not to be outdone, started out of sheer bravado to descend an adjacent rope.

After going a few feet they tried in vain to return, and it seemed to their horrified companions on the bridge above that human muscles could not endure the increasing strain of their long journey. The foreman instructed them how to climb more easily and what to do at the bottom, accompanying his orders with violent abuse, wisely bestowed to divert them from the fright that added to their danger. By nothing less than a miracle both men held on until they had crossed over the water. Then one of them, watching his chance, dropped safely into a tree top. The other finally gave out and fell a considerable distance to the ground. But both escaped practically unhurt.

A FAMOUS MANUSCRIPT

Mr. H. F. Dickens, K.C., tells an interesting story concerning the original manuscripts of his father's famous "Carol." The novelist presented the MS. to Thomas Milton, an old schoolfellow. In 1875 Mr. Milton sold it to Mr. Francis Harvey, a bookseller, for $250. Then it passed into the hands of Mr. George Churchill, an enthusiastic autograph collector. Mr. Churchill treasured it until 1882, when circumstances compelled him to part with it. After photographing every page of it, it was sold to Mr. Bennett a Birmingham bookseller and curio dealer, who eventually found a purchaser who readily signed a cheque for $1,000 for it. Finally it was bought by Mr. Stuart M. Samuel, of Kensington Palace Gardens, for $1,500, who is said to still retain the precious document.—Tit-Bits.

CHASED BY WOLVES

A story comes from Maple Leaf, a Saskatchewan village, to the effect that William Robinson, returning from a visit to a neighbor, was chased by a band of wolves and arrived home in an exhausted state. Only by throwing off his coat, which delayed the wolves for a few minutes while they tore it to pieces, did he manage to escape.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Enter by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties.—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or by his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter section alongside his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside upon the homestead or pre-emption, six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including time required to earn homestead patent) and cultivate 50 acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may enter for a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect house worth $300.00.

"Well, he has a fifty cent watch and the hives."

STOPPING A RUN.

Many years ago, in consequence of a commercial panic, there was a severe run on a bank in South Wales, and the small farmers jostled each other in crowds to draw their money. Things were rapidly going from bad to worse, when the bank manager, in a fit of desperation, suddenly bethought him of an expedient. By his direction a clerk, having heated some sovereigns in a frying-pan, paid them over the counter to an anxious applicant.

"Why, they're quite hot!" said the latter, as he took them up.

"Of course," was the reply; "what else could you expect? They are only just out of the bank's own mint. We are coining them by hundreds as fast as we can."

"Coining them!" thought the simple agriculturist: "then there is no fear of the money running short." With this their confidence revived, the panic abated, and the bank was enabled to weather the storm.

FINE PROSPECTS

"You may laugh at my cooking, George, but Mr. Lang says he thoroughly appreciates it."

"Yes, I know. But he looks at it from a professional point of view. He's going to be a doctor."

HIS BUSY DAY.

"Hard work!" Jobson snorted, after a particularly heavy day at the office. 'Don't talk to me! What do you know about it?"

Smith, who didn't go to an office, smiled.

"Well, I guess I know something," he answered gently. "Since I got up this morning, for instance, I've put down a linoleum, laid three carpets, papered two rooms, fixed a fire-grate, swept the hall——"

"Good Scott!" Jobson began to grow compassionate—sympathetic.

"Mended a chair," Smith went on, "made two beds, set the table, washed the dishes, moved a piano and a sideboard, and hung nine pictures!"

"Poor old chap!" gasped Jobson. "Was it—your wife—made you?"

"No; my little girl did," said Smith sorrowfully. "You see, I bought her a new doll's house last night!"

A SIMPLE INVENTOR.

"I understand that Rushliegh made his fortune out of a simple invention."

"No. Out of a simple inventor."

GERMAN'S DEADLY NEW SIEGE GUN

Fires Huge Bomb Which Does Not Enter Bore---A Destructive Weapon

A destructive new type of siege gun has just yielded satisfactory results to experiments conducted by the German military authorities.

The new gun was constructed by the firm of Krupp. It is an improvement on an idea much used by the Japanese in the siege of Port Arthur, and is designed to aid the advance of infantry storming an entrenched position. At the same tiem, experiments have been carried out with a new form of hand grenade, which effects much the same purpose.

For long military experts in Germany have been puzzling over the problem of how the long range artillery of an army could render efficient support to its own advancing infantry right up to the trenches of a fortified position. According to present "siege technique" the artillery of an attacking army has to cease bombarding the enemy's entrenchments as soon as the storming infantry gets to close quarters, otherwise the stormers are likely to be shot down by their own guns from the rear.

This cessation of the attackers' bombardment enables the besieged to emerge from their entrenchments and pour a devastating fire at close quarters into the ranks of the attacking force, which is thus deprived of the support of its own artillery just at the moment when it most stands in need of it. The new gun has been devised to overcome this difficulty.

It has an extremely narrow, unrifled bore, and is of very light construction, easily capable of being carried by two men, and is intended to be carried in the front lines of the advancing infantry. Its most remarkable feature is its projectile, which consists of a round bomb of great diameter loaded with a very powerful explosive mixture. The bomb is of far greater diameter than the bore of the gun which throws it, and is provided with a long stick-like tail which is loaded into the barrel of the gun, its lower end, which is enlarged to a wad or piston-like form, resting on the guncharge att he bottom of the barrel. The bamb itself merely lies on the gun muzzle, quite outside the bore.

On being fired, the trailing stick like tail serves to keep the bomb in its proper direction of flight, and only detaches itself and falls to earth after a certain distance has been covered, leaving the bomb to pursue its course alone.

The experiments have shown that a reasonable precision can be obtained with the new missile up to a distance of 300 to 400 yards, and the bomb itself, which owing to its large capacity, is capable of great destruction [illegible] entrenchments or fortifications.

CAULIFLOWER SEED

A Woman on Puget Sound Island Grows a Huge Quantity of It

Nine-tenths of the world's supply of Cauliflower seed is grown by a woman on a Pudget Sound island. Startling as this statement may seem, the fact remains that it is not due altogether to any supremacy of knowledge or skill that has enabled Mrs. Anne Archibault to achieve what thousands of first rank gardeners hopelessly abandoned. It is due to the peculiar climatic conditions of Whidby island. Outside of Holland no other section affords the climatic requisites for maturing the seed pods of cauliflower plants.

It was an accident, this discovery of Mrs. Archibault, that has made it possible for her to own 1,000 acres of fertile land and to enjoy a business of $100,000 annually. Cauliflower seed will not mature except under certain favorable conditions. One is dampness, humidity, which gives the tiny seeds the plumpness so essential to development Another is water—not irrigation, rain, nor the wet, boggy mush of a marsh, but a continuous moist soil beneath which a hardpan subsoil acts as a floor to a reservoir. The land of Whidby Island is ideal for this culture.

Cauliflower plants are transplanted like cabbage in rows. The usual cultivation is continued until the seed pods form. Then even the wind should be kept from the fields, for even the flutter of a tiny bird over a cluster of the seed pods will mar the perfect development of the seed. Harvest consists in gathering the dry pods, artificial drying in the sun, a clover seed separator and a fanning mill.

Mrs. Archibault's first crop amounted to a handful of seed. About this time she read in a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture that the supply of this seed was short and limited to a few hundred pounds. This was five years ago. Like a flash Mrs. Archibault saw her longed-for independence. She grew 400 pounds of seed in 1907. Communication with some well-known seedmen brought orders for her supply at $3 a pound. Every year since she has increased the yield of seed until the present world's supply of 20,000 pounds is practically all grown by her.

Farmers all over Whidby island grow this seed and sell their product to Mrs. Archibault, who markets it through her eastern sales agencies.

The cauliflower fields are beautiful at flowering time, the immaculate snow-white blossoms being alive with white butterflies. The mistress does not interfere with these cabbage moths, believing they aid in scattering the pollen from flower to flower.—Gal E. Fiskle.

RURAL ONTARIO IS NOT DECAYING

Statistics Show That Farmers Are Producing More Than Ten Years Ago

Since the results of the Dominion Census have been published, many people have received the erroneous impression that rural Ontario is in a very decadent condition. An examination of a few facts taken from provincial reports prove, that the banner province of the Dominion is far from being in a state of decay.

Fewer Farmers but Greater Wealth.

Though smaller in numbers than in the year 1900, the farmers of Ontario are producing a more valuable output than ever before in the history of the province, and the assessed value of their lands was never as great as at the present time. The popular estimate places the number of farms in Ontario at 175,000, and the annual output from the fields of those farms is generally valued at $250,000,000. These figures hardly account for the entire agricultural worth of the province. In the first place, it is questionable if there are any more than 150,000 farms in Ontario. The past ten years have been a period of mergers in the farming world as well as in that of other industries, and the form of one hundred acres has rapidly passed out of sight. Fewer people hold more land than at the beginning of the century, and the farm of two hundred and three hundred acres has become the unit. Such is the condition at the present census taking, but there are signs even now that point to the resumption of the smaller areas before the next decade has passed. At the present moment, however, the number of real farms in this province would be more nearly 150,000 than 175,000, but their value is considerably greater than when the number did amount to 175,000.

The Farmer's Increased Income.

Two hundred and fifty million dollars has been given as the annual value of Ontario's field production, but there is every reason to believe that this amount falls short of the mark. Even Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who first quoted those figures, admits that the estimate is too low. The field crops when turned into beef, butter, cheese and eggs are greatly enchanced in value, and would be worth in a normal year at least half a million dollars. But for the sake of comparison Mr. James' conservative estimate of $250,000,000 shall stand, and thus, we have every farm in Ontario earning a yearly income of $1,[illegible]. Five years ago, the value of Ontario's agricultural out- [illegible] dred millions. The number of farms to share in that one hundred millions was larger than now, so that the average income to each farm was considerably less than $1,666. In fact, the average income in 1901 was about $600, according to calculations made from statistics published by the Department of Agriculture. This means that the Ontario farm of to-day is giving to its owner, returns that are at least 160 per cent. greater than they were in 1901

Land Values Higher.

The growing value of the output of the farms has only resulted in one thing, and that is the increased value of the land. Thus, the latest records of the assessment of the rural areas show that the farm lands of Ontario are worth over $108,000,000 more than in the first years of the last decade. To make the comparison still more striking, the assessed rural land of Ontario is worth $10 an acre more than in 1901, and another significant fact is that the area of these lands has extended in the last ten years fully 1,500,000 acres, showing that farming is actually becoming a more widely followed pursuit in Ontario. This seems almost impossible when the Dominion census shows such a great decrease between the years 1901 and 1911, but it only proves that even with less labor certain kinds of farming can be developed in Ontario and found exceedingly profitable.

An Exploded Fallacy.

Just one more proof of the fallacy contained in the charge that rural Ontario is in a state of decay. The land, buildings, implements and livestock owned by the Ontario farmers at the present time are worth in round numbers about $1,225,000,000, as compared with $950,000,000 ten years ago. In other words, the average value of the Ontario farm to-day is $8,000 as against $5,000 in 1901. It is true that prices of farm products have advanced nearly 60 per cent. in the past ten years, but the marked increases in the total values of the annual outputs and of actual property during that time can only be due to the fact the productivity of the farms has also increased. This greater yield of produce, is merely the result of improved methods and a gradual increase, during the last three years, of workers in the country.

The Stimulus to Production.

And the stimulus to all this improved agriculture with its increasing values, is the growing demand for food in Canada, as much in the Western Provinces as in the Ontario towns and cities. With the farmers in the great Western half of the Dominion producing to supply an export trade, it behooves the farmers of the other half to produce with a view to supplying the home market, and the statistics of the country's trade show that this is precisely what is being done.

THE CATHOLIC REGISTER

Deals Out Another Batch of Hot Stuff This Week.

John Knox, of Scotland, has lately been received into the Catholic Church.

• • • •

The Rev. George Lunn, the present Socialistic Mayor of Schenectady, N. Y., is a Congregationalist ex-preacher. Quite a few of the United States Socialistic leaders to-day formally occupied non-Catholic pulpits. And just watch the number grow.

• • • •

Toronto has now a bogus priest of its own and the Rev. C. O. Johnston is being given due credit for his enterprise in securing the "sacerdotal" impostor. It is altogether too bad to deprive the hopeless bigots of an expensive luxury of this character. We were going to say "religious luxury," but this would involve too great a straining of the word "religious."

• • • •

In referring to France, The Register goes on to say: The Government plunderbund will not release its hold until the nation has done condign penance for its persecution of the Church. The Grand Orient will step down and out only when Continental Masonry has clearly proved to the world that it is the enemy of God and man.

• • • •

At the present rate of progress the Warden of the Central Prison will be able to supply bigamists to fill Massey Hall respectably when Hincks, Hooken and Company hold their proposed demonstration against the "Ne Temere" decree. A gentleman of the name of Gold is one of the latest accessions to the Warden's group of practical protesters against the Church's tyrannical interference with those who wish to increase the parson's marriage business. If his "gold" were in his purse instead of in his name, he would be one of the select group of Torontonians now in Reno waiting for an accommodating divorce mill to give them the legal permit for bigamy or polygamy without the inconvenience of a honeymoon in the Central Prison.

ANAEMIC MOTHERS HERE IS RELIEF!

YOU CAN ENRICH YOUR WORN-OUT BLOOD AND QUICKLY RENEW YOUR HEALTH WITH DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS

Sufferer of Twenty Years States Dr. Hamilton's Pills Are a Real Cure.

"I can't remember any time during the past 20 years when my head wasn't aching. If I bent over, dark specks would come before my eyes, and it seemed as if all the blood in my body wanted to rush to the head." Thus opens the letter of Mrs. Enoch S. Spry, of Putnam P.O., and continuing her interesting statement she says 'Work or exertion made my heart beat terrible, and going up stairs caused such shortness of breath that it fairly frightened me. My doctor told me that if that was the cause Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest blood renewer on earth. I tell you how I feel today and you can understand what a great cure Dr. Hamilton's Pills have made.

I feel strong enough now to work like a man, as for going up stairs on the run, it doesn't bother me at all. I eat and sleep as any well person ought, and as for dizziness which used to frighten me so much, it has entirely disappeared. Dr. Hamilton's Pills are a wonderful woman's medicine. They helped me in other ways, too, and I know every woman that uses them will have comfort and good health.

THE MORNING TIMES

MONDAY, APRIL 8th, 1912.

SOCIALIST GOVERNMENT FAILED

Two years ago the people of Milwaukee, Wis., weary of the political intrigues and squabbling of the old parties in connection with the civic government, elected a complete Socialist ticket. It was the first time that a large American city had elected a Socialist mayor. Mayor Seidel was an ardent Socialist of national [illegible] irreproachable character. He had a free hand. There was nothing to hinder him from demonstrating what applied Socialism could do in the way of civic government. Well, after two years of Socialistic administration, the people of Milwaukee swept Seidel and his colleagues from power by a majority of 16,000. The high promises of the Socialists have been mostly unfulfilled. There have been some novel features introduced by way of experiment—chiefly of the nature of popular luxuries which have proved costly. But in the essential work of administracion the Seidel regime has been unsatisfactory. It has been both expensive and inefficient.

THE REPUBLICAN ROW IN NEW MEXICO.

The new state of New Mexico has begun its career with a bitter Republican quarrel. In spite of the fact that toe Republicans have a majority in the Legislature they have for some time been vainly balloting for a United States Senator. There are several candidates for the Senate, and, in view of the fact that already four Legislators have been arrested on charges of bribery, New Mexico appears to be thoroughly up to date.

The Legislature is a mixed body, and its members are classified as Americans and Mexicans. The latter hold the balance of power and they are very much dissatisfied with what has been done thus far. Neither of the two men chosen as New Mexico's representatives in Congress is a Mexican, and the Mexicans in the Legislature are now standing together with the view, if possible, of obtaining one of the United States senatorships.

Their avowed policy is to hold out and force the Republicans to give them a senatorship or run the risk of having a Democrat elected, because a union of the Democratic members and the Mexican members would command the situation. The supporters of two of the candidates have refused to go into a Republican senatorial caucus, hence outside leaders and interests are trying to force the Republicans in the Legislature together in order to postpone as long as possible the conversion of the present small Republican majority in the United States Senate into a Democratic majority.

Editorial Notes

In this issue appears a letter signed "Progress", in which the writer makes a very sensible suggestion. He asks that the banks of Peterborough light up their places of business at night. This would help materially to brighten at least two of our leading streets and give the city a better appearance.

A current contempaary has an editorial, advocating abolishment of the bar. By a typographical error, the article says the "heating" system is the chief incentive to consumption of liquor. Whilst the writer evidently wrote "treating", the word heating is not far wrong. Liquor heats man's brain, heats his passions and keeps his wife and family cold in the winter months.

Mr. Churchill's frank statement to Germany that Great Britain will double all the former's additions to the navy but would be glad to reduce in a corresponding way goes as far, perhaps, as any British statesman ought to go. But with Germany announcing enormous increases we wonder how the beginning of the end will come.

Not long ago New York city decided to pay female teachers the same salary as male. The men formerly started with $900, and the women with $600. Now all start with $720. A few weeks ago 77 men were appointed to the staff; 59 have sent word that they cannot accept the position. It looks as though the new move will mean the gradual elimination of male teachers.

Sir John A. Macdonald is alleged to have said that "An election is like a horse race, you never can foretell the result till it's over," in other words, politics are, in a sense, a gamble. Is it any wonder then that in Ottawa, a few days ago, one hundred people, in Ottawa, the headquarters of Canadian politics, were fined for taking chances in a barber shop lottery, operated by one, Irving Robinson. Robinson got a year in jail.

A lady living on Gilmour street, recently got a severe attack of 'Art.' She first tried painting, but when a cow, browsing through a meadow, was taken for an automobile, by a friendly critic, she dropped painting. Then she took up music. She hammered away on her piano, murdering Chopin and Mozart. After a time she secretly began to play rag time music. Her husband, a well-known George street merchant, happened to come in as the oozy doozy daisy waltz was being banged out. He remarked, "I thought my dear, that you were going in for Art? That stuff you are playing is not Art, it's rag time." The lady replied—"I am just playing that nonsensical stuff for exercise. I am going to devote my time and music to Art hereafter!" "Art nothing!" her husband replied, "It's not Art but Cold Feet you've got. You could not keep up with the High Art procession."

DON'T WASH YOUR HORSE

It Removes the Natural Oil From the Outer Skin

The practice of washing horses, as a rule, is injurious because it removes the natural oil from the outer skin and predisposes the animal to chill, writes a practical man in the Kentucky Stock Farm. The application of water to a horse's skin increases the heat conducting power of his coat and lowers the temperature of the surface by evaporation and also by conduction, in the event of the temperature of the water being cooler than that of the skin. Even in the tropics, washing a horse always takes the gloss off his coat, no matter how vigorously the subsequent grooming may be performed. This fact is certainly a [illegible] against the practice in question. If it is imperative to wash, and there is not sufficient help to have the horse rubbed dry, without loss of time, we may, after scraping and going over him with two or three dry rubbers, take him out and exercise him at a brisk pace until he gets dry. We should then walk him about until his circulation regains its normal condition before taking him in. If we can not give this exercise, we may, after scraping and driving him, put on him a good supply of warm clothing, bandage his legs, and leave him thus to dry under his rugs, which he will do in an hour or less. He should after that be exercised and well rubbed down, so as to prevent his gettin chilled. A good plan for getting horses to dry quickly and safely under clothing is to cover the animal's back and loins with straw before putting on a rug, so as to utilize the low heat conducting power of air and to give as little impediment as possible for the escape of moisture.

A MARVEL AT DANCING

Princess Radziwill Was in Forty-Four Dances in Five Hours.

Princess Albert Radziwill, who was Miss Dorothy Deacon, and who, since her reconciliation with her mother-in-law, has become a society star of the first magnitude, is in evidence at nearly every important function. The young princess has astonished people by her grace and endurance in dancing. Her friends have nick-named her "Betka," and the society journals chronicle the beauty of "Donna Betka" Radziwill and her grace in dancing.

At Princess George Radziwill's ball this week "Donna Betka" went through forty-four dances, round and square, between 10 p.m. and 3 a.m., after which she appeared at an afternoon function without the least trace of fatigue, and announced that she would be quite ready to repeat the performance that evening.

REMARKABLE WORK IN SAVING LIVES

When Ida Lewis passed away in the Newport lighthouse, one of the bravest women in the United States ended her career. Indeed, according to the official records of the American Society of the Cross of Honor, she was the bravest woman. Well was she called the "Grace Darling of America," and worthily did she sustain the resemblance to the great English heroine, for while her life-saving exploits were not as numerous, nor quite as sensational, they were frequent enough and thrilling enough to command the attention of the whole country. Between twenty and thirty people were saved from death in Ida Lewis' rowboat, and her faithful tending of the great lamps in the lighthouse made the sea safe for thousands more. Idawalley Zoranda Lewis was born in Newport in 1842, and when the Lime Rock lighthouse was built in 1860 her father was appointed keeper. Her father was a man well on in years, and when his health failed Ida used to do the work for him, besides rowing her younger brothers and sisters to Newport every day to attend school. Her first rescue was made when she was only 16 years old.

The title of "Grace Darling of America" was given to her in 1869, when she put out in a raging sea to the rescue of two soldiers and a boy who had capsized their sailboat. Although the men were unconscious when she got to them, she hauled them into her own frial boat and made her way back to the lighthouse, where they were revived. Her life was in peril every moment of the trip, for a fierce storm was blowing and the waves rose like mountains. For this exploit the young woman was thanked by Congress, and by the General Assembly of Rhode Island, and received a medal and $400 in cash. In January, 1867, she rescued three laborers who had taken to a boat in pusuit of a flock of frightened sheep that were swimming out to sea. The previous Winter she had saved three more soldiers, and a fortnight after her adventure with the laborers she rescued a man off the masthead of a sunken vessel. In 1881 she was pulled through the ice in the harbor by two soldiers whom she was rescuing, and when she brought them to safety finally she was near the point of death herself. From 1861 to 1896 she saved the lives of 18 people, and had formal recognition from a dozen bodies. Each Sunday she rowed ashore to attend the Methodist Church, no matter what the weather was like, for the sea could no more turn her from this duty than from her efforts to save life. Ida Lewis was married in the Fall of 1869, her husband being William H. Wilson, the skipper of a yacht. They did not get on well together, however, and in a couple of years he deserted her, and has not been heard of since. Had not Grace Darling preceded her, it would have been thought impossible for any woman to perform the feats of strength and skill and endurance that Ida Lewis accomplished on many occasions, feats that caused General U. S. Grant to declare, on one occasion, that he had never had a soldier under his command that matched her for daring and devotion to duty.

LARGE IRRIGATION PROJECT

Three Thousand Laborers at Work in Mesopotaminia.

Work has just been begun on the irrigation of the Mesopotamia desert, a long projected scheme, and the first 3,000 laborers are at work with the preliminary preparations. The British contracting engineer, Sir John Jackson, famous for dock works, has control of the contract, with Arthur Noel Whitley, another Britisher, who has been second in command on the railway construction work across the Andes, as a commander on the spot.

The work is a huge one, for it entails opening a gap through the mountains, building watercourses, dams and reservoirs. Three great barges will be built, the first at Hindia on the Euphrates, whence the first section, irrigating 600,000 acres at a cost of $7,500,000 will be worked. It will then match the work the British government has done in the lower Nile in consequence of the bluiding of the great Assouan dam. It is expected when a regular supply of water once more reaches the arid zone it will be worth at least $300,000,000.

A RAPID EDUCATION

Travellers Who Went Through School Very Quickly

When travelling some years ago in the Far West I met with an experience which happily does not fall to the lot of many people, says a correspondent. We were travelling on a special night train from Seattle to Tacoma. The train was going at high speed, when in the small hours of the morning the sleeping travellers were suddenly awakened by a terrific shock. Every one believed that there had been a collision, and rose up to see what was the matter. A collision there certainly had been, but of a most unusual nature. The train had run through a wooden schoolhouse which some workmen, in moving, had stupidly left on the line. I doubt if many people have passed through school so quickly before or since.

HER LOVE STORY

The Queen of Roumania's Own Description of Meeting the Prince

Here is the Queen of Roumania's charming account of her own love story. The Prince of Roumania (as he then was) came to woo her, and, although "Carmen Sylva" hesitated at first, her mother talked to her of the Prince's good qualities, and, finally, in her own words, "As my mother went on talking, my hesitation seemed to fade away, and it was not long before I said to her, 'Let him come. He is the right one.' In a very short time the Prince had returned, I was summoned to the room, and I remember going towards him with my hand outstretched, which he raised to his lips, and I remember, too, the words he spoke, but my words to him I do not recall, though my mother treasured them in her heart, and had them inscribed below my portrait she sent to him."

Now, the Queen's granddaughter, Princess Elizabeth of Roumania, is about to become engaged to Prince George of Greece, eldest son of the Crown Prince of Greece, whom she will meet for the first time at the Coronation in London.

KICKING

According to a report in the Winnipeg Free Press, March 19th, the President of the Edmonton, Dunvegan and Peace River Railway is kicking because the Canadian Steel Mills can't make Steel Rails fast enough for the Railroad building now under way to the PEACE RIVER COUNTRY with GROUARD as its commercial centre and big business centre.

Does not this indicate to you how anxious the railroad companies are to get their lines completed into that country, which will be the greatest farming country in Canada; and all these roads go to GROUARD where Rail and Watermeet

Think! Three Railroads heading for GROUARD, and one of them has taken part of this property for its terminals there.

GROUARD is established, has Churches, Stores municipal telephone system, telegraph, banks, doctors, offices, mills etc.

What a wonderful advance in GROUARD when the first railway reaches it.

FACTS ABOUT PEOPLE

Famous People in Brief Paragraphs Which Serve as Mirrors

The King of Norway is a capital oarsman.

The Duke of Buccleuch owns 460,000 acres of land.

Lord Morley is a great lover of music, his favorite composers being Wagner and Chopin.

The King of Spain's full name is Alfonso Leon Fernanda Maria Santiago Isadore Paschal Marcian.

The Mikado of Japan is a hunter and angler of no mean ability, as well as a good exponent of lawn tennis.

The Duke of Sutherland is a skilled locomotive engineer, and could earn a living at the work did he so desire.

Sir Edward Elgar, the famous composer, is an ardent naturalist, and at one time made a hobby of making and flying kites.

The Sultan of Turkey is one of the most enthusiastic chess-players in Europe. He will play the game for hours without intermission.

Lord Lonsdale is a magnificent shot, a rider to hounds without a superior, and has been termed the best driver of a four-in-hand in the world.

Lord Rosebery is a collector of small articles and knick-knacks in silver and china, the relics of great men appealing specially to his fancy.

The Emperor of Austria scarcely ever shakes hands, even with the most exalted visitors or privileged persons. His usual form of greeting is a courtly bow.

Queen Alexandra possesses a tea service of sixty pieces, each piece being decorated with a different photograph which she herself took in Scotland.

Lady Derby is a keen poultry fancier and noted for her black Orpingtons. It was not so very long ago that she sold a couple of birds for $500 apiece.

King George makes a hobby of collecting photographs of babies. It is said that the more comical are the faces of the babies the better he likes their photographs.

General Booth gives the following as his rules for long life: eat little, drink water, take exercise, have a system, take pleasures wisely, avoid excess of all kinds, aim high.

Amongst the most treasured possessions of Harry Lauder are a cheap watch which he won in a singing competition as a boy, and the old pick which he used as a "collier laddie."

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain first wore an eyeglass many years ago while acting in some theatricals in Birmingham. He found it suited his appearance and has continued to wear one ever since.

Mr. J. D. Rockefeller is forbidden by his physician to eat anything which has been cooked, not even bread or cakes. His diet is confined to uncooked meat, with eggs and vegetables.

No European ruler uses the telegraph so much as the Czar of Russia. He has a secret code both for his private and his official messages, and spends $25,000 a year on this kind of correspondence.

Lord Charles Beresford is so frequently asked for his autograph that he now demands the sum of half a crown from each autograph hunter. The money goes to naval charities in which he is interested.

Signor Caruso has a double in the manager of a West-end restaurant, and the resemblance is well-known to the singer. The manager is also an singer, and recently delighted a Monte Carlo audience with his rendering of one of Signor Caruso's favorite songs.

WHERE PROS. ARE NUMEROUS

No wonder they have champion oarsmen in Australia. The professionals are sufficiently numerous there to justify the formation of a professional scullers' league. The organization meeting was attended by three ex-champions of the world—William Beach George Towns and Peter Kemp—besides many other lesser lights. It does not always work out that way, though, England has a hundred entries in a professional handicap, but only one man approaching the first class.

1. Keep windows open day and night.
2. Do not spit.
3. Breathe through the nose by keeping the mouth shut.
4. Drink pure water.
5. Eat slowly, take well-cooked meals, and cultivate regular habits.
6. Wear loose clothing of seasonable material.
7. Take regular open-air exercise, in sunshine if possible.
8. Wash the whole body at least once a week.
9. Work but do not worry.

SHOCKED IN TRAIN SEAT

Passenger in an Electric Grip Burned While Crossing a Bridge

One of the most peculiar accidents ever recorded in the history of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company occurred when Abraham Mender, of East New York, a passenger in a train crossing the Williamsburg Bridge, was nearly shocked to death in his seat by electricity.

Mendor and Nelson Kentor boarded the train in Manhattan and took a seat in an open car. Mender's feet were on the iron top of a generator box beneath the seat in front of him. The train had reached the middle of the bridge, when Mender, in illustrating a story he was telling his friend placed his hands on the metal handle on the back of the seat in front of him. Suddenly his face grew pale, and he ceased talkingg and began to tremble like a man with palsy. He tried to take his hands from the seat, but could not dislodge them. His feet were also fastened to the generator box by the electric current. While making efforts to free himself he screamed in agony.

Kentor jumped from his seat and grabbed Mender about the waist, but the electricity held him, too, and he could not let go. The heavy current passing through Kentor made him dance involuntarily and pound the floor with his feet. Rushing to the aid of the two men, George Williams, conductor of the train, seized Kentor, and was also held in the electrical grip. Several passengers finally lined up as if in a tug-of-war, and they, too, were held fast. Then the train stopped and the policemen went about and pulled all the men free from their position, although they, too, felt the force of the shock.

Mender, who was barely conscious, was immediately taken to the Eastern District Hospital. His feet were found to be badly burned. Kenter was also in bad shape, but after being treated by Dr. Schwartz was able to go home. The doctors said that Mender would have died in his seat had he been there a few seconds longer.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

PENSIONS AND POLICEMEN.

"And now," he said, "we come to the important question. Have you ever been in receipt of parish relief?"

"Never!" answered the old lady emphatically.

Foiled, he turned to the last question on the list. "Tell me," he snarled, "have you ever been in the hands of the police?"

She hung her head.

"Come on, come on," he growled. "speak the truth."

"Well then," she said, "I don't see as its any business of the Government but in my young days I was cook, and, you know, girls will be girls, but still (proudly), he was a sergeant!"

LION AND BULL FIGHT

Not many people, outside Spain or [illegible] still fewer have seen the rather unusual spectacle of a lion and bull fight. Two magnificent lions, male and female, finer than any I ever saw in any menagerie or zoo (says one who was present) had been purchased by the Peruvian Government for the Botanical Gardens at Lima, and by order of the authorities the male lion was pitted against a bull on a fixed day in the bull-ring.

A large iron structure was erected in the centre of the bull-ring, and into this the male lion had been introduced. As he lay crouched on the ground at full length, looking up with half-shut eye at the sea of faces, and, no doubt, wondering what all the fuss was about, one could not help admiring his noble proportions. From the door of this iron structure a long boarded alleyway led to the pen where the bull was housed.

A great hush falls on the multitude as the doors of the pen are rolled back and out rushes a bull of large proportions, heading down the alley-way (there was no other road for him), straight into the lion's den. With a sharp roar the lion sprang to his feet, and, nimbly as a cat, vaulted in his first spring right over the back of the bull, missing him. The latter, instantly taking in the situation, backed and lowered his head to charge, but ere he could move the lion was upon him, seized his muzzle between his own enormous jaws, and encircled the bull's neck with his fore paws.

Thus locked in mortal embrace did the bull make frantic efforts to free himself, and at times almost lifted the lion bodily off the ground, such was his strength, but it was all in vain, for the lion held him as in a vice. The struggle lasted about three minutes, and so great was the tension among the spectators that one could have heard the proverbial pin drop. Then there was a perceptible tottering of the bull's hind legs, a swaying of both bodies from side to side that nearly overturned the structure, and finally a great lurch, in which both rolled over together. The bull lay stone dead.

Slowly relaxing his death grip, the lion rose, sniffed all around his prey, and, placing one of his fore paws on the bull's haunch, glared proudly round on the crowd, as if demanding approval.

CHEAPER CUTS OF MEAT

Butchers should endeavor to correct the impression of customers that only the high-priced meats are valuable as food. On the contrary, the cheaper cuts are often more highly flavored and fully as nutritious.

The chuck is one of the cheapest portions of the beef, but when cooked slowly in a small amount of water either with or without vegetables for seasoning, is a most excellent dish.

In stewing meat, if too high a temperature is used, it will toughen the fibre. Another mistake is to overcook the meat until it falls to shreds. The skirt steak sells for 2 to 3 cents a pound less than the others, but if properly cooked is just as good. Lay the steak on a meat board and score it well with a chopping knife. Then dredge with flour and put it into a smoking hot frying pan that has been greased enough to keep the meat from sticking to it. When well seared over on both sides, pour over it a little boiling water and allow it to simmer slowly for two hours. Season to suit the taste. A bit of carrot or onion or bay leaf and a little vinegar to soften the fibre will add to the flavor of the meat.

HOW TO WALK

An artist has lately been complaining that his chief objection to fashionable dress is that it reveals no [illegible] that most of us either slouch or strut, and he gives the following instructions on "how to walk":—

"The head should not be held erect as if by effort—a woman should not look like a soldier on parade. The steps should not be jerky—however quick, they should be 'smooth.' The movement should be from the hips and the knees bent as little as possible. A slight—a very slight—bend forward is graceful, if the walker be tall and slim. The arms should not swing noticeably, but should hang freely—elbow should be unobservable. The feet should turn out slightly, and walking should appear to be done chiefly on the toes—the heel down first style is unpardonable. But the chief feature and charms of a good carriage are its seemingly leisureliness, the absence of 'strut' and 'slouch,' and a certain air of unconscious grace."

The same critic recommends daily practice in front of a full-length mirror—exercises to be taken preferably in cycling knickers, as the movements of the limbs can then be better studied.

TO REMOVE STAINS

Coffee or cream stains may be removed from delicate silk or woollen fabrics by first of all brushing the stains with glycerine, and then well rinsing them in lukewarm water. But the stain should not be allowed to dry in. Later, press the material on the wrong side with a warm iron.

TO POLISH LINOLEUM

The following mixture is excellent for polishing linoleum: Mix together one gill of methylated spirit and one ounce of shellac. Let the shellac thoroughly dissolve, and then apply with a soft flannel. The polish will remain on the linoleum even after it has been washed.

ENTIRELY TOO MODEST

Mrs. De Plaine: "I am so delighted by my photograph that I have brought you a little present."

Photographer (modestly): "I really don't deserve such a testimonial, madam. Give it to that gentleman over there."

"Does he assist you?"

"Yes; he does the retouching."

A SAFE DELIVERY

Jones:—"Dear me! You say you often lay down the law to your wife. How do you go about it?"

Bones:—"Why, all you need is firmness. I usually go into my study, lock the door, and tell her through the keyhole."

TRIALS BY WATER

A Distinctly Unpleasant Way of Proving One's Innocence.

Throwing people into the water to let it determine their innocence or guilt was widely in use in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. A synod of West Prussia forbade its use in 1745. Sporadic cases, however occurred during the whole of the nineteenth century.

Professor E. P. Evans wrote in 1895 of its use in Dalmatia, where in some districts it was still customary to throw all the women into the water on a specified day to see whether they would sink or swim.

A rope was attached to each in order to save from drowning those who proved their innocence by sinking while those believed to be guilty because they floated were rescued and made to promise to forsake their evil ways on pain of being toned.

A traveller has described a modern survival of the ordeal used in detecting thieves in Southern Russia. All the servants of the household where a robbery occurred were assembled and as many balls of bread were made as there were suspected persons.

A sorceress then adressed each one of the number, saying that the particular ball of bread which she held in her hand would sink or swim as the party addressed was guilty or innocent. She then flung it into the water.

Boiling water was used in ordeals by the Persians, and it is referred to in the Avesta. It contained both the sacred elements, water and fire, suggesting the deluge past and the fiery doom of the future. In the simplest form of the hot-water test the bare arm was plunged to the wrist in trivial cases, and to the elbow in more serious trials, usually to bring out rings or coins thrown therein.

In Thibet plaintiff and defendant settle their cases judicially by plunging their arms into boiling water containing a black and white stone, when he who brings up the white stone wins the verdict. A king of the Goths in the seventh century, with the sanction of the Council of Toledo, recommended the boiling-water ordeal for crime.

CANNOT UPSET IT

Two Tests Made of New Lifeboat and Both are Successful

The new Harry Fisher lifeboat was successfully launched at Polson's Iron Works, Toronto. It was dropped from two heights, and demonstrated its self-righting principle in both. The first drop was made from an iron cradle ten feet from the water. Although the framework of the cradle broke just as the boat was being tipped, thus turning it nearly upside down, it righted itself in a few feet, and fell in the water right side up.

A rope was then let down from an overhead crane and fastened by an ordinary hook to the top of the boat. When the boat was raised a few feet from the water the hook snapped owing to the weight of the vessel, nearly four tons, and the boat dropped back into the water.

The boat was next raised to a height of twenty feet, suspended from the [illegible] was dropped into the water. It landed right side up.

The boat, which is of steel, is shaped somewhat like a cigar, and inside has a steel boat working on pivots, so that it is always in proper position.

It is claimed for the boat that it is fireproof, non-sinkable and non-capsizable. It has capacity for fifty persons, and with the aid of running-boards on the sides and top could, if necessary, carry another fifty. It is twenty-four feet long and seven feet wide, and is propelled by a screw operated by a crank.

Light is obtained through a number of glassed-in port holes, and air by special self-closing devices.

WATER POWERS ACQUIRED

To be Used in Connection with Electrification of C. P. R.

In connection with the probable ultimate electrification of a portion of its line in the Rocky Mountains, the Canadian Pacific Railway acquired a water power on the Adams River, which flows out of Adams Lake, and experts have reported that it is capable of developing a hundred thousand horse-power at two different points between the lake and its confluence with the South Thompson. It is in a heavily timbered country where extensive lumbering operations are now being carried on.

ELEPHANT PULLS TOOTH

Unusual Operation Witnessed by Visitors to Riverdale Zoo

The elephant at the Riverdale Zoo, Toronto, acts as his own dentist. A few days ago it pulled a tooth which had been bothering it, the operation being witnessed by a number of persons who were watching the animal at the time. It appeared to be in pain, and worked it strunk around in its mouth as though to dislodge something unpleasant. At last, after moving its trunk frantically, the animal drew something from its mouth. It cast the tooth thus extracted out of the enclosure. The molar was large, and had evidently broken off in the gum, as all the root did not come out. The crown was in a good state of preservation, but there were signs of decay lower down.

Highest Building in the World.

Plans have been filed for the construction at Broadway and Park Place, New York City, of the highest building in the world. From the curb to the apex of the tower it will stand 750 feet and contain 55 stories. The Metropolitan tower is 700 feet 3 inches and the Singer tower 612 feet.

Did Well in Prison

"Penal servitude must be a healthy state of things," remarked the Recorder of Birmingham to a prisoner, "or you would not look so well on it after thirty-six years of it." The man was ordered to be imprisoned for one day.

He Was Jilted

A man of 75, who sued a woman of 63 at Swaffham, Norfolk, for the return of $25 and some furniture, said that after he had entrusted the money and things to her, with the idea of getting married, she jilted him and married another.

"ORDER! ORDER!"

Commotions Caused in the Commons When Excitement has run High.

The almost unparalleled scene—or, perhaps, it would be more correct to say, series of scenes—which took place in the House of Commons a short time ago, suggest the question whether Parliament is not deteriorating.

Such scenes are not only discreditable, they lower the tone of our legislature, and give rise to doubts whether our law-makers are as level-headed to-day as they have had the reputation of being for so many centuries.

It is only fair to state, however, that, from the point of view of mere disorderliness, the recent "scene" was a much tamer affair than the one in the House of Commons in March, 1901.

The trouble on that occasion was created by some of the Irish members, and it was rightly described at the time as without parallel since the time of Cromwell, when soldiers cleared the House at the point of the bayonet.

As a matter of fact, most of the "scenes" which have taken place at Westminster must be laid at the door of the Irish members. There was a sensational incident in the last decade of the nineteenth century over the vexed question of Home Rule.

On that occasion members actually came to blows, but very little damage was done except to the prestige and dignity of the Mother of Parliaments. It must be said, too, that members were heartily ashamed of their conduct, and showed that they were when their hot blood had cooled down.

Thirty years ago there was an indescribable uproar in the House of Commons when thirty-five members of the Irish party were forcibly removed, in addition to being suspended from attendance.

That scene was almost paralleled in the following year, 1882, when the House sat at a stretch for the lengthy period of twenty-eight hours. As many as twenty-five Irish members were suspended on that occasion, most of them for refusing to leave when the House was about to be cleared for a division.

The name of the late Charles Bradlaugh is associated with more than one diorderly scene in Parliament, on account of his "conscientious objection" to take the oath. Perhaps the one that occasioned the most excitement was when he essayed to take his seat by sheer force.

On that memorable occasion the House was treated to the eddifying spectacle of the hon. member for Northampton struggling desperately with half a dozen burly policemen, who forcibly ejected him from the Chamber. It was a most painful scene to all who witnessed it.

The British Parliament is, however, "not in it" with foreign legislatures for the creation of scenes. The French Chamber has provided not a few, some of the worst being in connection with the Dreyfus question, which agitated the whole of France, not to say Europe, some thirteen years ago.

In the course of a "full-dress" debate on this question, one speaker called another "a liar and a coward," receiving the next moment a smashing blow in the face for his pains. Nothing more was needed to set the whole Chamber [illegible] quelled, not only police, but foot and mounted soldiers had to be called out.

Perhaps the Austrian Parliament is the most unruly of all the legislatures of Europe. There even Ministers, who were members of the same Cabinet, have hammered each other on the floor of the House, and day after day it has been the scene of rough-and-tumble encounters.

CANADA'S GREAT FUTURE

Former Vice-President of the U. S. Expresses His Admiration

Canada has an unparalleled future, according to former vice-president of the United States, Chas. W. Fairbanks. "Why, you people have just commenced to build a nation," he said, "and judging the future by the past and taking into consideration your marvellous resources, the greatest on earth, I have in my mind's eye the position Canada will occupy among the earth's great nations."

THAT NUMBER "13"

The Duke of Connaught is Apparently Not Afraid of It

It is to be presumed that His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, Governor-General of Canada, is not superstitious. If he were, or if Her Royal Highness, the Duchess, had any personal aversion to the much-maligned number "13," it is doubtful if their Excellencies would have consented to set foot on Canadian shores on Friday, the thirteenth day of October. For even royalties are human, and human frailty is at no time more visible than when old acquaintances, in the guise of time-honored superstitions, are brought to mind.

Apparently men are no more exempt from a dislike to the tabooed number than women; and in hotels the average between guests of both sexes who refuse to be placed in a room labelled "13," is struck pretty fairly. Cases have also come to the notice of hotel managers, in which new "bell-hops" have objected to wearing upon the surface of their spick and span liveries the little badge of metal by which they were expected to become known to the office as "No. 13."

In police circles the robust individuals who are known to the public as the "arms of the law" take the unhappy number as philosophically as they march the newest victim of funny water off to the cooler; but civilians who have found themselves inside the fast-locked door of Cell No. 13 have been known to consider themselves exceedingly unlucky

Great Britain's barley acreage has decreased by 139,731 acres this year.

"COULDN'T DO IT."

Little Jackie was receiving a lecture from his dad on the wickedness of stealing. Jackie being guilty of paying a sly visit to the pantry, and his mother catching him in the act advised his doting father to admonish him.

"What is the person called, Jack who steals?" he asked Jack.

But Jack was quiet, and no answer came.

"Now, Jack," continued his father "now suppose I were to put my hand your pocket and take a cent from it, what would you call me?"

Natura Cure for Catarrh Obviates Taking Drugs

IT HAS SUPERSEDED THE OLD-FASHIONED STOMACH-DOSING REMEDIES, AND INVARIABLY CURES QUICKLY.

It was their inability to reach the real source of catarrh and bronchitis that caused the medical profession to drop liquid cough medicines and adopt "Catarrhozone" instead. Catarrhozone provides a method of breathing right into the lungs certain rare medicinal vapors which are so healing and comforting as to entirely banish coughs, catarrh and throat trouble in a very short time

The most wonderful thing about Catarrhozone is, that no matter where the germs of bronchitis or catarrh are hidden, Catarrhozone will reach and destroy them.

"About five years ago I took a cold in the head and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds. I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, Catarrhozone, and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhozone to all who have catarrh, etc.

"(Signed) Everton L. Wasson,
"Blair P.O., Queen's Co., N.B."

Catarrhozone has made an astonishing record of cures. Its method is right; no drugs; just healing balsamic vapors, that bring instant relief to Catarrh and all throat, bronchial and chest colds. Get the large size, lasts months, is sure to cure

"EYES OF THE FLEET"

The Navy Department of the United States proposes to equip all the warships with aeroplanes, to be used as eyes of the fleet. They will be carried on deck, and will be fitted with pontoons, which will keep them afloat when forced to descend.

A VENERABLE OYSTER

Weighing 3 lb., and measuring 8 in. across the top of the shell, a petrified oyster has been dredged up from the Faversham fields. Experts estimate the age of the bivalve as thousands of years.

BRAINS IN THE HAND.

"What's that you have in your hand?" asked Mrs. Gimlet, of her husband, as he brought home a roll of manuscript.

"Brains, madam," retorted Mr. Gimlet, pompously. "Are you surprised at the fact?"

"Not in the least," she replied. "I knew you didn't carry them in your head."

NEW COOK'S PUDDING.

Wife: "This pudding is a sample of the new cook's work. What do you think of it?"

Husband: "I'd call it mediocre."

Wife: "No, dear; it's tapioca."

Mother: "No, darling. Father says not."

Mother (to father): "Oh, for goodness sake, [illegible]"

FEATHER GARMENTS

Make Their Reappearance in Quite an Original Way.

An interesting novelty is to be the substitution of feather garments in the place of furs. This does not mean a mere revival of the long-discarded feather boa and muff. Feathers are to make their reappearance in quite an original way. "Long feather stoles will be worn," a West End Modiste says, "and they will be composed of such myriads as tiny, uncurled feathers that in the case of black or white stoles they could easily be mistaken for the most exquisite skins.

"There will be large pillow-shaped muffs to match, and in Paris some coats and jackets of similarly 'materialised' feathers will be seen.

"Another striking innovation is that the spring feathers will be obtainable in every conceivable shade, so that a pink, blue, or green muff will be no unusual sight.

"Furs, of course, do not afford a very large choice of colour, and this is an advantage which the feathers will offer.

"Soft, downy trimming is to be used a good deal on evening dresses and, to some extent, also on costumes.

"The new fashion will doubtless be appreciated by most women as forming a transition between the heavy furs required for mid-winter and the lighter garments of the early summer."

A Flurry Over Peterborough's Bill.

When Peterborough's Bill was before the Private Bills Committee of the Legislature yesterday morning, was stated that the Peterborough Light and Power Company's distributing plant in the City of Peterborough is valued at three hundred thousand dollars. Hon. Adam Beck charged that exhorbitant rates were now being asked for powers in Peterborough. Mr. J. E. Carey, of Smith Carey and Chase, the consulting engineers of the Trent Valley Electric Merger, said: "Mr. Beck, you have been making absolute mis-statements with regard to our rates all along before this committee." Mr. Beck retorted by asking, "don't you charge a seven cent rate in Peterborough?" This was admitted. A sub-committee was appointed to go into the question of expropriation.

Lots of Wood For Peterborough.

As a coal strike is on, it is of interest to learn that a local coal company has got a large amount of wood purchased in the back country. The Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co., will have about 1500 cords to bring into the city from the district around Buckhorn Lake, Gannon's Narrows and other points in the North Country.

It seems that Peterborough is not the only place where the political axe is falling. At Beaverton, five lockmasters, five bridge tenders and one lighthouse tender on the Lake Simcoe and Balsam Lake division of the Trent Canal received word from Ottawa yesterday that their services would not be required after March 31st.

The Ontario Legislature, to simplify disposition of property, where no will is left, by a deceased person is considering the following amendment to the Surrogate Court Act, viz.: "Subject to subsection 2, where a person dies wholly intestate as to his property, or leaving a will affecting property but without having appointed an executor thereof, or an executor willing and competent to take probate and the persons entitled to administration, or a majority of such of them as are resident in Ontario, request that another person be appointed to be the administrator of the property of the deceased, or of any part of it, the right which such persons possessed to have administration granted to them in respect of it shall belong to such person.

QUEBEC'S WONDERFUL INDUSTRIAL RESOURCES

This Province Has the Greatest Water Power on the Continent of North America

The Eastern portion of Canada is equipped as no other portion of the Dominion, or the continent, is for the industrial race. It is not generally known, for instance, that Quebec has at its back a single waterfall of far vaster power than Niagara. The minimum at Niagara Falls is 3,818,000 horse power. At the Grand Falls on the Hamilton River, the minimum available is 9,000,000 horse power. These falls have been visited by Mr. A. P. Low, in his capacity of Director of the Geological Survey of the Dominion, and he has officially confirmed the estimate of the almost inconceivable force of nine million horse power, declaring that there can be little doubt that these Falls will some day supply the greater part of the Province of Quebec with power. The Falls have a sheer drop of 312 feet, and a total drop of over 700 feet, compared to a drop of 168 feet at Niagara.

The position that Quebec is bound to take, as the premier manufacturing region of the whole continent is best illustrated by the following comparison of her water powers with those of the other parts of the Dominion, taken from a report by Mr. J. B. Challies, C. E., of the Department of the Interior, on water powers in Canada:

Location	Min. Flow Dev.	Present Dev.
Yukon	470,000	....
British Columbia	2,065,500	78,000
Alberta	1,144,000	1,230
Saskatchewan	500,000	1,330
Manitoba	504,005	18,000
North-West Territ's	600,000	....
Ontario	3,129,163	331,187
Quebec	17,075,939	50,000
New Brunswick	150,000	....
Nova Scotia	54,300	13,300
Total	25,592,907	466,887

Is it any wonder that capital is pouring into Quebec for the establishment of every conceivable kind of manufactory? Is it any wonder that since Mr. Challies made the above computation a year or two ago, the development of water power in Quebec has more than quadrupled?

To-day along one single piece of car track on the island of Montreal, the track running from Montreal to the Lachine Rapids—there are no fewer than $80,000,000 of American money invested in industrial establishments. This is only an example of what is going on all over the East. Besides water powers the Province of Quebec has more forest wealth than any other region on the continent, and already employs in the lumber industry no fewer than 40,000 men, all of whom, like those in the factories must be numbered among the industrial and therefore consuming classes. Many huge pulp and paper mills are now either under construction or in [illegible] this industrial activity is attracting [illegible] speaking world, the consequence being that the population of Quebec is not made up, as many suppose, of French-Canadian farmers, but of a bi-lingual, cosmopolitan people who are rapidly building up huge industries.

WHAT WILL THE CENSUS SHOW

There are Indications of Great Development in the Maritime Provinces

It will probably take the best part of the next twelve months to classify the census taken this year of manufactories, but it may be taken for granted that the huge total shown in the census for the year 1905 will be far exceeded, in view of the tremendous strides which have been made during the past five years in industrial development. In the Maritime Provinces alone, one sees New Brunswick becoming more and more industrial, while Nova Scotia is affording a remarkable illustration of the industrial awakening of the East. From the great basic enterprises such as the iron and steel works at Sydney through all the ramifications of industrial enterprise, its towns and cities are rapidly forging to the front. It is true that the water powers of Nova Scotia are trifling compared with those of Quebec, but look at its coal fields. These comprise no fewer than 725 square miles, and the Dominion Coal Company alone, have to its certain knowledge enough coal in its holdings at Glace Bay to provide for an output of three and a half-million tons per year for 1,000 years.

At the census of manufactories in 1905 it was shown that Quebec had $351,730,182 invested in industrial enterprises, with 116,748 employes, producing products for the year to the value of $216,478,496. Nova Scotia had $74,599,538 invested, with an output of the value of $31,987,449. New Brunswick had $36,792,698 invested with an output value of $22,133,951.

These are big figures. They show a total production as far back as 1905 of $274,599,896, enough to buy up the whole of the 1911 wheat crop in Western Canada, and still leave one millions of dollars on hand.

WORLD'S BANK ACCOUNTS

The following table shows the amount on deposit in the savings banks of Great Britain and other countries:

Country	Year	Total Deps.	Ave. to Each Dep.
U. King.	1907	$1,043,265,260	$ [illegible]
Belgium	1906	165,739,160	65
France	1906-7	974,872,850	79
Italy	1906	616,183,030	92
Neth'l'ds	1905	92,551,665	58
Canada	1911	698,936,033	97.78

In these days of bi-lingual school controversy, just consider the absurdity, the undesirability, and the expense of printing all the government documents, on one side of the page like this: "The diligence with which you have applied yourselves to your public duties, calls for my warm acknowledgments." Whilst on the other side appears: "Le soin que vous avez apporte a vous acquitter de vos devoirs publics merite mes vives felicitations."

ROYAL SALUTES

The Much-Esteemed Greetings of Royalty—Interesting Side Lights on Court Etiquette

Of the various salutations that pass between Sovereign and people, the most popular is undoubtedly the handshake. It is pleasant to have felt the grip of a king—an experience to remember and make much of.

A North-country miner, whom the King had decorated and shaken hands with for some deed of heroism, was welcomed on returning home by a crowd of his friends. They were surprised, however, when he persistently ignored their hands, proffered in congratulation, and kept his own at the bottom of his trouser-pocket.

"How's this, mate?" said a friend. "Hast turned proud?"

The miner cautiously drew his right hand from his pocket, regarded it a moment in admiration, and then returned it decisively to the depths it came from.

"Na, na, lads!" he exclaimed, with a sly twinkle in his eye. "Ye canna expect it; I've shaken hands with the King!"

The value of the "big man's handshake" is thoroughly understood in America. A political "captain" will stand for hours shaking hands with the endless file of his supporters. The President himself is not exempt. On the occasion of the Inauguration Ball at Washington, Mr. Taft went through the ceremony, it was calculated, just 4,500 times.

To those unversed in Court Etiquette, another form of salutation, that of kissing the Royal hand, sometimes proves a veritable trap. The poet Longfellow, describing his presentation to Queen Victoria, tells how he unwittingly grasped the hand which the Queen held out to him. He noticed a look of surprise on her face, but did not realise till afterwards that her Majesty intended her hand to be kissed.

This rather formal mode of salutation, though it enters into many Court ceremonies, is not in this country carried to such an extreme as at Madrid, one of the most conservative Courts in Europe. When the second of the young Spanish princes was born, the little Prince of the Asturias was just twelve months old. But already he seems to have been instructed in Court etiquette, for on his baby brother being shown to him, he immediately held out his hand for the infant to kiss!

When king meets king, the usual greeting is a kiss on both cheeks. The two monarchs embrace by lightly holding each other's shoulders, and saluting first on one cheek and then immediately afterwards the other.

Queen Victoria never spared herself in this respect. Even in the Diamond Jubilee procession, when [illegible] almost continuously for by far the greater part of the route.

That the youngest members of the [illegible] very day. At the moment when the crowd round Buckingham Palace was thickest, the two eldest children of the present King appeared at the open nursery window. Prince Eddy, the elder, who was three years old within a day, in response to the cheers of the spectators gravely raised his hand to his forehead and saluted.

This action wrought the enthusiasm of the crowd to a high pitch, and the acclamations were so long continued that the little Prince concluded that something more was expected of him. Straightening himself, therefore, he again saluted, but this time with both hands at once!

BRAHMS AND THE SARDINES

Mme. Liza Lehmann is one of the world's leading composers, although she first achieved fame and popularity as a singer. Randegger was her teacher, but she received many useful hints from Jenny Lind in her earlier days. After her marriage in 1894 she devoted herself entirely to composition. Mme. Lehmann tells a quaint story of Brahms. She was staying with Mme. Schumann at the time at Frankfort, and while she was there Brahms came for a short visit. Naturally her excitement at the prospect of meeting one of the world's most famous masters was great. On the morning of the first day of his visit the breakfast menu included sardines, which were served in the tin containing them. Brahms devoured a number with gusto, and then, to his youthful worshipper's amazement and horror, coolly took up the tin and drank the oil!

THE GENTLE CYNIC

Hope springs as eternally as a woman from a mouse.

A man is apt to feel that his hands are tied if he hasn't a free foot.

Laurels that are rested upon soon wilt.

Silence is the sauce that softens the spice of life.

One good turn is apt to make us expect another.

THE SUPREMACY OF BRIDGE

Reviewers of the social "season" just closed agree that its outstanding feature is the conquest of German society by the seductive game of bridge. From a monopoly in the hands of a few privileged folk, who knew it from English visits, bridge has now become the property of German society generally. It has invaded all branches of the smart set, including royalty, the army, and the aristocracy. The theatres reveal unmistakable evidence of the bridge plague. Several of the season's plays introduce games, and the dialogues of a dozen others tell of it conspicuously. Henceforth the national game of "Skat" seems likely to have to fight for its existence with all-conquering bridge.

Mother Goose was a genuine personage originally known as Elizabeth Foster. She was born in old Charleston, S. C., and resided there until her marriage with Isaac Goose, when she became step-mother to ten children and went to live in Boston. To entertain her charges, Mrs. Goose used to invent stories in prose and verse, and these were, in course of time, collected by a Boston printer who married one of her stepdaughters. They were published in 1719 with the title "Songs for the Nursery, or Mother Goose's Melodies for Children." The book proved a huge success. Mrs. Goose died in 1757.

WILD DUCK PLENTIFUL

Large Quantities in England and the North of Ireland

Wild duck, which have entirely avoided many inland spots where a few are usually seen at this season, have appeared in very great quantities along some of their seaside haunts, especially on the east coasts of England and the north of Ireland.

The pursuers of the strange sport of punt gunning have had remarkable experiences. Slipping along in their punts at dawn they have come upon flocks so great that a single shot from the great swivel gun, which is almost a cannon, has bagged more than the longshore sportsman could get in a week. Fifty and sixty have been killed at a shot, though the manoeuvres of the shot may have taken a week or so.

Numbers of duck again have been killed in the more formal, artificial shoots of Lincolnshire, Bedfordshire, and other places where the birds are now bred almost as scientifically as pheasant.

A sportsman's bird that seems to increase in numbers and to widen its range is the golden plover, of which numbers are now to be seen in the poulterers' shops of the West End. These plover, which are held by some to be the best bird that comes to table, are seen frequently all over the country. They have been observed in swarms over grass fields in the home counties, as well as in their more normal haunts among the wild places of the coast.

Another bird that appeared at one moment in great quantity was the black duck, of which large numbers were shot over the coast of Norfolk from boats. But he is a brave or very hungry man who would dare to face the bird at table.—London Daily Mail.

FREAK SURGERY

The Vital Organs of Animals Transplanted by Americans.

Some remarkable experiments on the grafting of limbs on animals to which they did not originally belong, and the transference of vital organs, such as the kidney, from one animal to another, are reported, says the "Standard," from Harvard University. Most of them have been carried out by Dr. Carrel, under the direction of Dr. E. E. Tyzzer.

His first successful grafting—or, at any rate, the first that he placed on record—was for the benefit of a fox terrier. This he described before the American Philosophical Society. The terrier, owing to an accident, had to have its leg amputated. A small dog that had just died was pressed into service. Its leg was removed, and grafted on to the stump of the leg of the living dog. Arteries, veins, and nerves were connected by suitable means, and the bones were placed in juxtaposition. As the bones knit the other tissues grew together, and the dog remained perfectly healthy.

But this is only a minor triumph [illegible] grafting of limbs Dr. Carrel has [illegible] would appear that he can transplant and replace almost every organ in the body. He says himself:—

"A dog whose abdominal aorta was replaced by a human femoral artery is still alive in a normal state. The thoracic aorta of another animal was replaced about the same time by a large artery that had been kept several months in cold storage, and the operation was a complete sucess."

In the transplanting of kidneys Dr. Carrel has been attended with the greatest success in the case of cats, and he has said that possibly the results would have been much better in experimenting with dogs if he had used dogs of the same breed. While he has taken organs from one animal and replaced them in another, he has been uniformly fortunate in reversing the kidneys. In this work he has taken a cat, and, removing the kidneys, has replaced the left kidney in the cavity of the right side and the right kidney in the left cavity.

When one thinks of the complex structure of the kidney, with its nerve supply, its three great connecting vessels—vein, artery, and ureter—and its intimate relations with other organs of the body, such operations as these are truly amazing. Their value in the saving and preservation of human life, if such a thing as the renewal of a kidney should be found possible, will be enormous. The removal of a single kidney is a fairly common operation. After it has been performed the patient usually recovers his health, but sometimes in after life the increased demand made on the single remaining kidney may lead to serious trouble.

It is only a month since a wealthy widow, Mrs. Reginald Waldorf, of Philadelphia, offered a small fortune to anyone who would sell her an index finger to be grafted on to the stump whence hers has been removed. It would be curious if such advertisements as this went further, and public requests were made for the supply of kidneys, spleen, or even for a new liver. But it is difficult to see where the organs of which persons only possess one each are to come from.

BANK OF ENGLAND NOTES.

Interesting facts about the inside working of the Bank of England were explained by Mr. Frederick Huth. Rights of issuing notes, he said, is one of the most important functions of the Bank of England. One rarely sees a dirty Bank of England note. That is because the Bank never reissues a banknote. Even if anyone went into the Bank and demanded a five-pound note in exchange for five sovereigns, and then crossed to another counter and changed the same note back into gold, that note would be destroyed. The system is expensive, but by its means the Bank avoids many of the risks of forgery.

Barnardo Children in Rough Passage

We noted in our issue of Thursday that a large number of boys and girls, were, this week, brought out by the Dr. Barnardo Homes from England. About half of them were girls who were kept at Peterborough for distribution, at the Margaret Cox Home. Yesterday a Times representative had occasion to enter into conversation with one of the local Barnardo Homes Staff. This young lady said that the ship upon which this consignment of children were brought to their new homes in Canada, via St. John, N.B., was delayed by exceptionally severe storms and was 19 days on her passage.

FORTUNES MAY BE YOURS

How to Become as Rich as a Rothschild or a Rockefeller

There is no doubt that a fortune, and probably a large one, awaits the man who shall solve certain problems. Surgery, for instance, has made wonderful strides of late years, and its allied art of dentistry has become an almost exact science; but, though the dentist can furnish the mouth with new and wonderfully efficient instruments of mastication, yet the surgeon has hitherto entirely failed to replace the worn-out organs of digestion, says Tit-Bits.

He can remove, wholly or in part, almost every organ of the body, but he can do very little towards their artificial replacement. It is said that Mr Rockefeller has offered half a million dollars to anyone who will supply him with a new digestive apparatus, but up to the present we have not heard that anyone has drawn the cash.

The same gentleman is bald, and although he is probably less perturbed about his bald pate than about his dyspeptic stomach, yet doubtless he would be willing to endow that man with a pension for life who would rethatch his roof. Many hair-washes there are which have admirable qualities in the direction of stimulating the growth of the hair and preventing it from falling out, but even the manufacturer of those articles of the toilet would frankly admit that a real and infallible cure for baldness has not been discovered. The man who could rise up and demonstrate to the world that he can make hair spring up on a patch of pate as smooth as a billiard ball would be a millionaire in six months.

Many diseases, like leprosy, the plague, cholera, and smallpox, have been wholly or nearly eradicated from Western Europe, America, and the British Colonies, yet rheumatism continues to cripple tens of thousands, and is considered by most doctors as practically incurable. The man who can find a genuine cure is likely to be a millionaire in life and to have his statue in every city after he is dead.

The same remarks apply to cancer. Investigators are engaged on the problems involved in the cure of this disease in every quarter of the globe. It is no exaggeration to say that millions of pounds have been spent on research work in connection with it, and yet its ravages remain unabated.

So far as consumption is concerned all the above remarks apply; but in this case more rational treatment of the patients and their more careful isolation have done something to reduce its ravages. There are teeming thousands of men and women who would be willing to shower all their treasures at the feet of the man who one fine morning could step forth and say, "Here is a certain cure for consumption," or, "I hold in my hands the antidote to cancer." Aye, the world would beatify him.

No one has ever found a cure for sea-sickness, yet there is a fortune awaiting the man who will do so. Many famous men, of whom the [illegible] to embark upon the ocean. Yet nobody has ever found a remedy for it.

Just as, when you have a cold, every person you meet will give you a new and infallible cure, so, when you are going for a voyage, short or long, everyone will give you a simple panacea for sea-sickness. If the sea is as calm as a mill-pond the nostrum acts, but in the chops of the Channel it proves a tragical failure. There is a lot of money in an infallible cure for sea-sickness.

TURPENTINE NOW A LUXURY

No Longer the Cheapest Thing a Householder Can Buy

The time was when turpentine was about the cheapest thing a housekeeper could buy. The biggest bottle in the house was sent for five cents' worth of turpentine. Now your sewing-machine oil bottle is big enough for that much. Indeed, turpentine has so grown in value that unless when you call at the paint dealer's and do not specify that you want the genuine article he will hand you out a substitute made largely of crude gasoline. Some years ago turpentine retailed for 20 cents a gallon, and now sells for 10 cents a half pint.

Turpentine is a southern product, and, while the demand has largely increased, the output has largely fallen off. The value of the output in 1910, though much smaller than the previous year, was 40 per cent. greater than in 1909, all of which shows that the south has a very valuable industry and one that demands scientific and careful handling of the pine forests that produce the resin and the turpentine to prevent the destruction of the trees. The old forests are already giving out and new areas are being worked. The product is taken from the tree by chopping holes in the bark and sap, through which it oozes. The trees have been overworked, and many large areas that were valuable have been killed by the greed of the turpentine companies. The trees are natural growth and cannot be restored by replanting. Their value will steadily increase, and it would be the sheerest folly to keep up the old methods of destruction.

First British Woman to Fly

The distinction of being the first woman of purely British nationality to fly belongs to Miss Gertrude Bacon, daughter of the famous aeronaut who was really one of the pioneers of ballooning. Miss Bacon went up with Mr. Sommer in a Farman biplane during the Rheims aviation meeting of 1909, and in her book, "How Men Fly," which has recently been published, she provided a fascinating narrative of the sensations of flying. She quotes the unfortunate Mr. Rolls as saying that his "first impression of flying was like trying to drive a motor-car which was skidding in all directions at once."

Case Against City Postponed.

The case of Mr. D. W. Dumble vs. City of Peterborough, that was to have been heard in the Division Court here, yesterday, was postponed as his honor, Judge Huycke is indirectly interested. Judge Harding of Lindsay will likely hear it at a date to be decided upon. This case is a claim in connection with the registration for manhood suffrage in the last election. This case will likely determine the action of Judge Huycke and Mr. Morrow, who presented similar claims to the city in connection with the same work,

WHAT EUROPE THINKS OF PANAMA CANAL.

Senor E. A. Morales, Minister of Panama to Germany, Holland, and Belgium, who is on his way to Panama after several years' absence at his posts, gives an interesting statement concerning what Europeans think of the Panama canal. He had talked with men prominent in commercial life and found that Europe in general is getting ready to take advantage of the facilities which the canal will offer the trans-Atlantic trade.

In Holland he learned that steps had already been taken to establish a new steamship line to run from a port in that country to Portland, Oregon, by way of the canal, and that this was but one of many incidents showing how great is the interest in the waterway and how general is the expectation among Europeans in regard to its possibilities.

Senor Morales was convinced by the arrangements being made to use the canal that it will prove a paying investment for this country as well as a most important addition to the worlds facilities of traffic and travel. The desire and expectation of the Europeans, however, is that the use of the canal will be given to all ships, including those of America, on the same terms.

The prediction is made that the opening of the canal will mean a tremendous increase of the business of the Isthmus, especially in the fruit and cattle trade. The latter should be of particular interest to the consumers of this country in the face of the extortion to which they have so long been subjected by the Meat Trust.

CHINESE SUFFRAGETTES.

While the suffragettes in England are smashing windows and are being sent to prison, the parliament at Nanking, China, has granted equal suffrage to women under the same restrictions as men. They must be able to read and write, own property, and have arrived at the age of 20 years. Already Yik Yug Ying, a college graduate and the Mrs. Pankhurst of China, has been elected a member of the parliament from the Canton province. This marks a long step in advance in the Flowery Kingdom. This reform has been adopted by the good sense of the Chinese statesmen and was unaccompanied by any outbreak or foolish performance, such as has marked the course of the British advocates.

AN ARCTIC NIGHT

A Dark Curtain That Shuts Out Warmth and Light, and Depresses

We were at the foot of Humboldt Glacier when the sun bade us a final adieu for a long winter night, not to appear again for many months to come. As though to leave us with pleasant memory of his visit, his going was in an effulgence of glory, and, reluctant to go, he lingered for a little while below the horizon, lighting the sky with a mass of marvellous coloring—red, purple and orange, reaching upward from the white earth into the deep blue of the high heavens. For a time a prolonged twilight remained, but that, too, was presently lost behind the dark curtain that shut from our world all warmth and light.

No words can adequately describe the awful pall of the Arctic night. It is unreal and terrible. Even the moonlight is unnatural, casting on the snow and ice, the wind-swept rocks, and the people themselves, a shade of ghastly, indefinable greenish yellow. Shifting shadows flit among moving ice masses like wraiths of departed spirits. A death-like silence prevails, to be broken only by the startling and unexpected crackling of a glacier with a sound of mighty thunder clap, or the smashing together of great ice floes with a report like heavy cannon.

In spite of one, depression takes possession of the soul—a hopeless kind of unreasoning depression. Intense and severe as the cold may be any active man can stand it without serious suffering, when a little experience teaches how, for that acts only on the physical being, and can be guarded against; but the prolonged sunless night has a direct effect on the human mind which only exercise and diversion can counteract.—From "Hunting From the Eskimos," by Harry Whitney.

Light Water Craft

A Parisian inventor has devised a craft for getting over the water, which is so light and compact that it can be folded up and packed into a box no bigger than an ordinary suit-case. The case part unfolds and joins together to form the main framework or hull of the boat, which is of the catamaran order. The two cigar-shaped floats are made of waterproof canvas. When packed up they occupy little space, and when in use they are blown up with a bicycle pump. The framework is fastened between them by means of ribs and straps, and when you have fixed a three-jointed, double-bladed paddle together and put a folding seat in place you are all ready to set out on your marine travels.

THE FIRST CARPET-MAKING

Carpet-making, as a modern industry, was first developed in France. That country had large factories and a monopoly in Europe of the art of carpet weaving when a rush-strewn floor was the sole even in the Royal palaces of Britain. But the edict of Nantes, that great disperser of French artisans and artitry, caused many of [illegible] and other places in the south-west of England. From there the secrets of the industry spread to Glasgow, Kidderminster, and the towns of Yorkshire. These places are still the great carpet-weaving centres of Great Britain.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

Peterborough's Low Fire Record.

Peterborough's fire record, for a city of over eighteen thousand inhabitants, for the month of March last, had a most satisfactory record, and one that reflects great credit upon Chief Howard and his doughty men. The department had 16 calls during the month of March with a total of $35 damages.

Local Lawyer Wins His Case.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, of this city, represented Mrs. Bert Easton, whose husband was killed whilst employed by the Cordova Mines, Limited, and who sued for damages. The claim of the defendant was based on contributory negligence. A compromise was effected whereby the widow and her child get $900 damages. Mr. Willis, of Belleville, acted for the defence.

Minden Railway Directors.

It is proposed to build an electric or steam line from Lindsay to Mountain Lake, said road to operate boats on the lake. It will be known as the Minden Railway. The provisional directors are: Messrs. J. H. Delamere, M. Brown, J. J. Mortimer, Minden, Ont.; J. W. Wood, Lindsay, Ont.; S. F. Stinson, J. M. Delamere, Toronto.

Former Local Man Married.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Hotel Quinte, on Tuesday, March 26th. The contracting parties were Mr. Wm. L. Wheeler, of Ameliasburg, formerly of Peterborough, and Miss Madge Alfreta Hubbs, of Ameliasburg. After the ceremony the happy couple left for Peterborough to visit the parents of the groom together with other friends in the flower city, and on their return will take up their residence in Ameliasburg.

Special Services in Tabernacle.

Rev. Mr. Chandler, who has been attending the board of Christian and Missionary Alliance in New York, at their Easter convention, will speak in Bethany Tabernacle to-night. It will be remembered that the special series of meetings to be held in the Tabernacle, were postponed on account of Mr. Chandler's absence in New York. Services, beginning this evening, will be continued afternoon and evenings, throughout the present week.

Rival Undertakers at Law.

Only two cases will be tried at the Spring Assizes which opens here, under Judge Latchford to-morrow. James Irwin, an undertaker of Campbellford, is sueing, L. H. Stephens, of the same town, and in the same occupation for libel. The case was brought here from Cobourg on a change of venue. The trouble started over both men claiming the same corpse as a subject for interment. [illegible] This case was put off at the last assizes owing to the indisposition of the defendant, who was confined, in the hospital at the time.

Local Man Extends His Business.

Mr. J. M. Brooks, who has for some time conducted an agency on Water street, for the Royal Distillery, Hamilton, and Messrs. O'Keefe & Co., Toronto, has purchased a liquor store in Napanee, Ont., formerly conducted by Mr. Pryne. Whilst Mr. Brooks entered into possession of his new business a week ago today, he does not intend to leave Peterborough. The business he has purchased in Napanee will be operated by his son Louis, who has occupied a good position recently in Montreal. As both Mr. Brooks and his son are practical men in the business with extended experience, and have always adhered rigidly to the license laws, this new Napanee purchase will undoubtedly prove a great success.

Fine New Insurance Offices.

Mr. R. J. Kidd, who as a hustling and reliable insurance man, of years experience here with the Sun Life Co., has accepted the position of District Manager for the North American Life Assurance Co. Mr. Kidd has taken a fine suite of offices on the ground floor of the Green Music Company building, at 187 Charlotte street. The offices are bright and cheery, having plate glass throughout the whole broad front, the furnishings being of Georgia Pine. To the rear of the suite is Mr. Kidd's private office. With his long experience in Insurance, and in view of representing so strong a company as the North American, and also that Mr. Kidd intends to devote himself to life insurance exclusively, there is every reason to prophesy a large and rapidly growing business for the North American Life in this city and district.

HALF BILLION BUSHELS OF WHEAT IN TEN YEARS

Prediction of a Financial Writer Regarding the Harvest of the Prairie Provinces.

The Monetary Times, of Toronto, in a recent statistical article on the wheat producing capacity of Western Canada, undertakes to predict that the three prairie provinces will produce a wheat harvest of over half a billion bushels in the next ten years. The writer of the article, Mr. Fred W. Field in making his calculations says:

"In estimating the probable increase there are many important factors of which cognizance must be taken. In Manitoba it is said that there is still unoccupied land suitable for cultivation to the extent of over 20,000,000 acres. This will be increased when the area of the province is enlarged. In Saskatchewan, of an area of over 155,000,000 acres of wheat land, there are about 15,000,000 acres of unbroken prairie. Of the 162,000,000 acres in Alberta, it is estimated that 100,000,000 are fit for cultivation, while only about 2 per cent. are under cultivation. This estimate does not include the large area of excellent land in the Peace River country. There is less than 10 per cent. of the Western arable lands under cultivation, so that the field for labor in wheat growing is, comparatively speaking, unlimited.

In 1914, we shall have two more transcontinental railways, which will open much new land for settlement. The improvement in farming implements will mean the tilling of greater acreage in less time. These factors should compensate somewhat for the probability that mixed farming in the West will be engaged in more than hitherto, with consequently less attention to wheat, and for the fact that constant wheat growing makes the soil poorer. Assuming, after allowing for these factors, that the ratio of increase in the next ten years will be as great as in the past ten years there will be in 1920 in the three Western provinces wheat acreage of 34,321,000 acres and a wheat crop of 513,000,000 bushels. The accompanying chart gives an ideal of the estimated increase, which allows only a yield of per acre of 15 bushels. The average wheat yield per acre in the West during the past four years was 19.71 bushels. Accepting that figure as the yield of 1920, the 34,321,000 acres should yield 675,466,910 bushels."

The Man at Fault

While angling the other day a full size man was pulled overboard by a 12-lb. flounder, and narrowly escaped drowning. In fixing the blame a newspaper gravely points out that it should be clearly seen the man was at fault rather than the fish, for he could have let go, but the fish couldn't.

CITY TO PURCHASE 800 FEET OF NEW FIRE HOSE

DUNLOP PEOPLE AND GUTTA PERCHA CO. OF TORONTO SECURE THE CONTRACT.

Fire Brigade Will Also be Furnished With New Rubber Coats and Boots—Fire, Water and Light Committee Adhere Strictly to the Letter of City's Agreement in Regard to Deducting for Street Lights Not Burning—Chief Howard Reports Outages on an Equitable Basis.

The City Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night with Chairman Ald. Johnston presiding. There were also present, his worship Mayor W. H. Bradburn, and Aldermen Morgan, Graham, Gordon, Anderson, Brown and Buller.

TO BUY FIRE HOSE.

On motion of Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Anderson, the Committee will purchase from the Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Co., Toronto, 400 feet of fire hose, "Imperial" solid woven jacket brand, at $100 per foot coupling complete, F.O.B., Peterborough.

On motion of Aldermen Anderson and Brown, 400 feet of "Paragon" hose, coupling complete, will be purchased from the Gutta Percha Co., Toronto, at $1.00 per foot, F.O.B., at Peterborough.

APPROVED OF LIGHT.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Morgan,—That the placing of an incandescent light at the corner of London and Division streets be approved of as already installed.—Carried.

QUESTION OF LIGHT.

Regarding the Peterborough Light & Power Company's account for street lighting during the first quarter of this year, 95 lights were reported not burning on schedule [illegible] 16 2-3c per lamp, with an ad[illegible] fine of 25c each lamp, according to agreement with the company. But the company suggested that as they had been burning the lights on moonlight nights, amounting to the consumption of 3006 [illegible] of carbons which would not have been burned had they adhered to the terms of their original contract permitting of the lights not burning on moonlight nights, it would be only fair were no deduction made from their account for outages. The charges for outages during the last quarter, according to previous agreement outlined above, amounted to $39.58, and it was suggested that the 25c fine per lamp be deducted from this account. The Committee, however, decided that as Chief Howard, had in reporting outages been governed by the amount of carbon consumed the city's concession in this respect was equal to that of the company in regard to burning on moonlight nights. Heretofore, were a lamp reported not burning, the company were deducted the value of a full night's service irrespective of the actual time the lamp had been out. But last quarter the length of time a lamp had been out was estimated from the length of carbon consumed. In this way, in Chief Howard's report, that 95 lights were not burning in some cases two or even three lamps out were reported as one in respective of the number of hours required to make a night's service per light.

Moved by Ald. Morgan, seconded by Ald. Brown,—That the outages for the last quarter, amounting to $39.58 be deducted from the company's account in full.—Carried.

SEEKING CHIEF HOWARD'S HELP.

Sherbrooke, Que., municipality requested that Chief Howard be permitted to visit their town and offer suggestions as to re-organizing the Sherbrooke brigade. Also requesting an estimate of the expense for such service, together with information as to what it costs to run Peterborough's brigade.

It was decided to forward Sherbrooke municipality the information asked for, but not to permit the Chief's absence from the city in order to assist in reorganizing Sherbrooke's brigade.

[illegible] Ald [illegible] the matter of purchasing rubber coats and boots for the fire brigade was left in the hands of the Chairman and Chief Howard.

OLD WOMAN'S FIGHT WITH OWL BIRD INJURES GIRL'S HAND

Toronto, April 8.—At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon "the lady of the house," in a Sussex avenue residence, who is about eighty years of age, was roused from a nap by the noise of breaking glass. She called to the maid and together they investigated the cause. Their search brought them to the bathroom, and there on the floor was a large bird, and the floor and bathtub were littered with broken glass from the window. The aged woman determined to capture the owl herself, and told the maid to go out and shut the door. The girl objected to leaving her mistress alone in the room, but the latter insisted and the girl obeyed.

Then things started afresh. As soon as the bird felt the woman's hand it started on an aeroplane trip around the small room, but the lady soon stopped its flight by catching hold of its body. The maid thought it was time she should enter again, but when attempted to quiet the flapping wings her hands came in contact with the feet of the owl. Immediately the excited bird buried its talons in each of the girl's hands and hung on. The blood began to drip from the maid's hands, and with presence of mind the old lady warned, "don't pull your hands away or they will be torn. Wait and I will choke it until it lets go."

When the choking process was finished, Mr. Owl was dead, but the talons were still imbedded in the maid's hands, and they had to be removed by force.

The owl is of the species commonly seen in wooded places, and is very large. From tip to tip of the wings it measures over two feet, and its talons are over an inch long. It weighs about four pounds. A neighbor obtained the bird to have it stuffed.

The old lady is not in the least disturbed about the incident, her only regret being that she had to kill the bird. The girl's hands are badly gashed.

FORMER LOCAL MAN ON WESTERN CANADA

An old Peterborough boy, a brother of Mr. Jimmie Browne, the local singer, has given a strong recommend for the investment of capital in Western Canada. The gentleman giving this advice is Mr. Archie D. Browne, of Chicago, business manager of the British American and the Canadian American publications, Chicago. When interviewed in Chicago, after a trip through the West, Mr. Browne said: "If I possessed all of Rockefeller's wealth I would invest every cent of it in Western Canada. This is the land of opportunity. A man has fifty chances here to one in other parts of the continent. Americans are just beginning to wake up to the wonderful opportunities for profitable investment in Canada, and this year will see a greater number of Americans come to Canada than ever before. You know all Americans are really Britishers, and when they see what wonderful chances there are out here they are not slow to grasp them. "It is not always the old men that come from the United States to Canada. It is generally the young men. Their fathers buy them farms, or start them up in business out here, and they do well." Mr. Browne went on to tell of how some of his acquaintances from Chicago had made good in the West.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Times does not hold itself responsible for opinions of its correspondents.

WHY SOME NAMES ARE OMITTED

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I take your paper and like it first class. I don't see why all the Peterborough papers try to make fun of a poor man if he gets arrested for being drunk, but leave out the name of a rich man who gets drunk. There is lots of rich and tony people here that gets drunk. If one of them gets arrested, does the papers give his name? Not on your life. They just [illegible] warning, or a young man was fined $2. The working man pays the same for his drinks and his papers as the rich man. It's not a square deal.

—Workingman.

Reply—Names are neither reported or omitted because the accused is poor or rich. A certain amount of discretion must be used. Names are often omitted because members of a man's family, innocent of any wrong doing, would suffer by publishing his name. A few days ago, a poor man was fined for a trifling offence. Our reporter who wrote up the case ascertained that the man had several small children at school. Had his name been published the children would have been taunted by their schoolmates. His name was omitted.—Ed. Times.

THE SANITARY INSPECTORSHIP ADVOCATED.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—as the council seem to have been very closely divided on the selection of a Sanitary Inspector, possibly an expression of public opinion, through the press of Peterborough, may be of interest. I see that Policeman Meharry was an applicant for the position. I have nothing to say against Mr. Meharry as a man or a policeman. He is able to, and does walk the pavements as well as could anyone. Still, as remarked by Ald. Gordon "if Meharry is a good policeman the city wants him as a constable." Again, there is no denying the fact that Mr. Meharry, if he is a member of the firm operating the rink in Brock street, is helping to maintain a nuisance. The firm may be making lots of money, let us hope they have, but, Mr. Editor the noise from that rink is a nuisance, not only to those living nearby, but to passersby. Mr. Gordon claimed that Mr. Meharry, as a policeman, has no right, by law, to engage in outside work. This is a matter for the police commissioners, and, possibly, for the ratepayers whose taxes help to pay P. C. Meharry to consider. I will not speak of that.

As to the Sanitary Inspectorship, could many citizens of Peterborough conscientiously say that Mr. Meharry is qualified, in view of his past history on the police force, to attend to so important a position? If a policeman will help maintain what many people consider a nuisance, would he give the full, right and unbiased attention to such a job, that its importance demands? Now, as regards the appointment of Mr. Spence. I have not the pleasure of that gentleman's personal acquaintance. Judging by your report, however, he seems to have the qualifications and to have passed examinations, which eminently qualify him for the place. Simply because Mr. Spence has only lived in Peterborough for five or six years, should be no bar against his appointment. In such an important matter as sanitation, which practically means the public health, it should not matter if the man appointed as Sanitary Inspector, had just jumped off a train, for the first time in Peterborough yesterday.

BURNING SHIP ON THE REEFS OFF MONTAUK POINT—ALL SAVED

Ditch Plains Life Saving Station, L.I., April 8.—The steamer Ontario, 2,000 tons burden, from Baltimore to Boston with fifteen passengers and a crew of forty, was run on the rocks off Montauk Point by her captain early to-day with a growing fire in her hold. The passengers were transferred in lifeboats to the tug Tasco, from New London, Conn., which rushed to the scene in response to the Ontario's S.O.S. wireless signals, and after six hours' work the fire in the Ontario's hold was got under control. The vessel is hard aground with a light sea running and but little wind and there is little danger, apparently of her going to pieces. Life savers hovered near the vessel in their boats all morning in readiness to take off the crew, but Captain Bood when the fire was under control declared that there would be no need for their services.

THE FIRE CHECKED.

A breeches buoy was shot to the vessel from the shore when she first went on the rocks at 3 o'clock this morning, but the captain after transferring the passengers to a tug, sent word by life savers that his crew would remain aboard. Long before daylight they had chopped a dozen holes through the pilot house and deck and hundreds of gallons of sea water pumped by the vessels own engines were pouring into the hold. At six o'clock Capt. Bood sent word ashore that the progress of the fire had been checked.

PEOPLE HAVE TO FLEE IN BOATS ON ACCOUNT OF BIG FLOODS

Galt, Ont., April 8.—Freed from the winter bonds of ice, and augmented by a fall of rain on its upper reaches, the river Grand roaring down upon the busy manufacturing town of Galt burst from its limits at an early hour yesterday morning and subjected the town to the greatest water baptism of its history. One hundred thousand dollars will not cover the loss sustained by the citizens, and should the large 12-foot dam break, as it is yet feared, the damage will be increased enormously.

Four hundred inhabitants were driven from their homes by the rising tide, and for some time it was feared that loss of life had occurred. At present however, the town is removed from danger, for although the river still runs high, the waters are slowly leaving the streets and business is being resumed.

Town Aroused Early.

About 4.30 on Sunday morning a night constable noticed a perceptible rise in the water level. By six o'clock it had risen alarmingly, and he immediately sent in a call to the fire station and aroused the town. By this time the water had swelled far beyond its limits and was driving along with furious force bearing with it trees, county bridges, outhouses, and refuse of all description. The whole town turned out to offer relief to those in danger, and the exodus from the houses began.

EDITOR FOUND DEAD WITH STAB WOUNDS—WIFE ARRESTED

New York, April 8.—Walter J. Snyder, 37 years old, managing editor of the periodical, "Sports of the Times," was found dead in the bathtub of the apartments he occupied on St. Nicholas avenue yesterday, with four stab wounds near his heart. His death became known to the police after his wife, Mrs. Mary S. Snyder, called two bellboys into the rooms, and directed them to the bathroom. Mrs. Snyder was arrested and charged with homicide.

Mrs. Snyder said she was holding a pair of seven inch scissors in her hand when her husband attempted to embrace her, and the scissors accidently penetrated his body. Her story left the police with several points to clear up.

FORMER LOCAL MAN IS MADE A JUDGE

Another son of Peterborough has made good. An Ottawa dispatch says that Mr. Alexander Haggart, who was born in Peterborough in 1848, has been appointed an additional judge in the Manitoba Court of Appeal. He was educated in Victoria College, Cobourg. Then he studied law in Peterborough, afterwards entering the law office of the late Hon. Hector Cameron. After practising law in Toronto, he went to Winnipeg, Man., in 1880, and has since practised law there. In 1908 he stood as Conservative candidate in the Dominion election and secured a victory against so influential and popular candidate as the present Lieutenant-Governor. On that occasion he made a sworn return that his election expenses were "nil." At the Dominion election last year, Winnipeg re-elected him by a large majority, but he resigned to give his seat to the Hon. Robert Rogers, whom Mr. Borden desired to include in his cabinet. Mr. Haggart has been elected president of the Law Society of Manitoba and a bencher of the society for about 15 years. He has occupied every gift of honor in the gift of his fellow practitioners, and is King's Counsel.

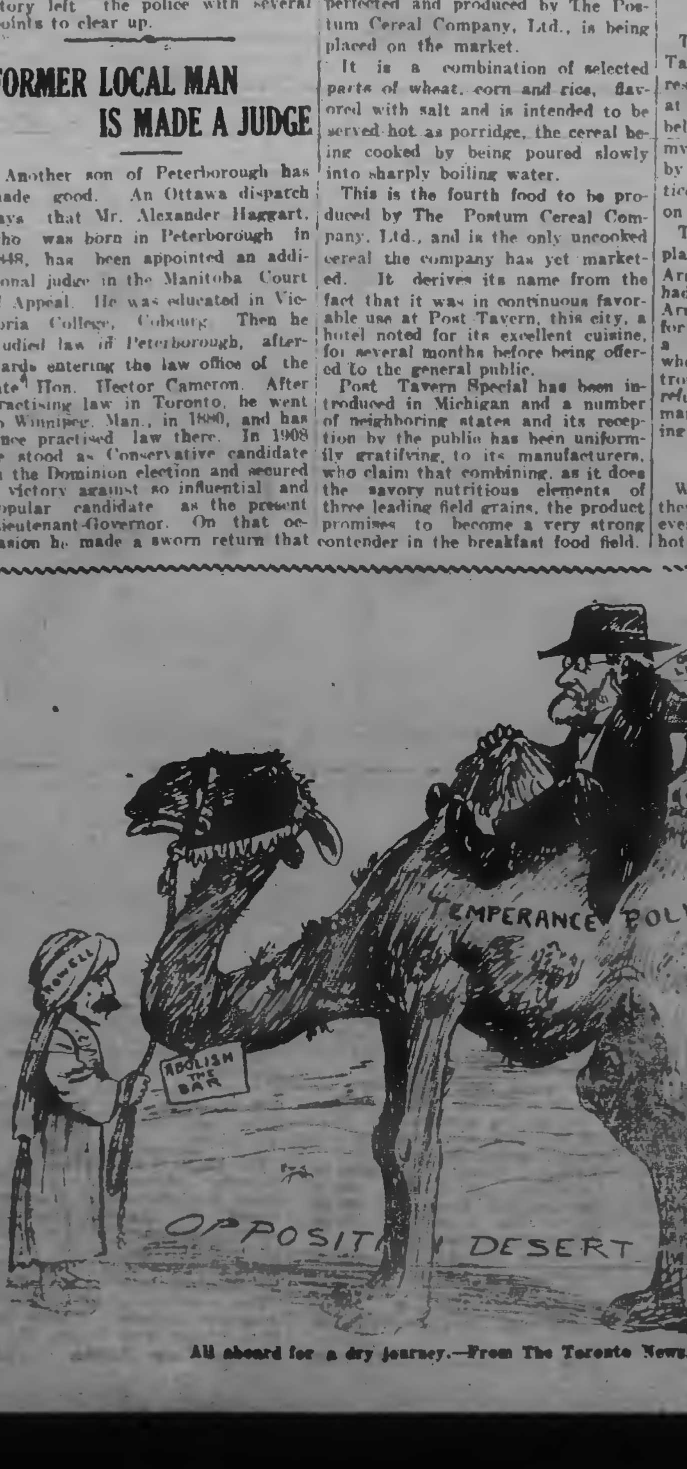
A NEW FOOD

Post Tavern Special, a new food perfected and produced by The Postum Cereal Company, Ltd., is being placed on the market.

It is a combination of selected parts of wheat, corn and rice, flavored with salt and is intended to be served hot as porridge, the cereal being cooked by being poured slowly into sharply boiling water.

This is the fourth food to be produced by The Postum Cereal Company, Ltd., and is the only uncooked cereal the company has yet marketed. It derives its name from the fact that it was in continuous favorable use at Post Tavern, this city, a hotel noted for its excellent cuisine, for several months before being offered to the general public.

Post Tavern Special has been introduced in Michigan and a number of neighboring states and its reception by the public has been uniformly gratifying, to its manufacturers, who claim that combining, as it does the savory nutritious elements of three leading field grains, the product promises to become a very strong contender in the breakfast food field.



All aboard for a dry journey.—From The Toronto News.

CITY PROPOSES PURCHASE OF REFUSE GROUND IN N. MONAGHAN

PROPERTY CONSISTS OF TEN ACRES OF GOOD SANDY LOAM.

The Deal Will be an Economical Measure Eventually Effecting a Saving of Hundreds of Dollars Yearly—Government Engineers to Visit Peterborough in Connection With New Steel Bridge at Hunter Street—Plans Also Under Way for a Bridge at Sherbrooke Street.

The City Council met in Committee of the Whole last night and Ald. Duncan reported that his Committee had an option on a 10 acre lot on the Drain Road, North Monaghan, this side of Crawford's Grove, very suitable for a refuse ground for the city. This property belongs to Mr. A. Jackson.

Ald. Gordon offered that the property is somewhat short of ten acres although more than nine acres.

The land is composed of good sandy loam and the purchase of same, would, it is conceded, save the city men $300 this year alone in consideration of the $500 rental asked by T. Williams for a refuse ground.

Moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Graham,—That the Committee's report be received and the City Trust Commissioners be requested to purchase the lot recommended, at the price of $2200, same to be used as a refuse ground. And that the Council pay 4½ per cent interest on the purchase price, as rental of the ground.—Carried.

THE BRIDGE QUESTION.

To Ald. Morgan, his worship replied, that Mr. Burnham, M.P., had the Dominion Government's engineers will visit Peterborough in connection with the proposition, that the City, Street Railway Co., and the Government unite in the erection of a new steel bridge at Hunter street. The Street Railway Co. is anxious for a structure that will carry their cars across the Otonabee and the Corporation recognizes the need of a modern bridge that will meet the requirements of increased traffic at this point.

Regarding a bridge at Sherbrooke street, the City Engineer has been delayed through illness, in preparing his plans for same. This year, however, will probably see a bridge thrown across the river at this point.

MINES IN ENGLAND BEGIN TO HUM WELSH MINERS TO STAY OUT

London, April 8.—General activity prevails in all the coal mining districts of Great Britain to-day. In Scotland and North Wales, this morning there was a large increase in the number of miners who descended the shafts, while in the English and Southern Welsh coalfields, where the Easter holiday is being observed, small gangs of men went down the pits in order to clear the roadways [illegible] with the orders of the Miners' Federation on Saturday.

The full contingent of men is working in North Wales and as the debris in most of the mines in that district was cleared away last week, thousands of tons of coal were raised this morning.

In Flintshire, 6,000 miners have started work again and in the Derbyshire pits the men are working in preparation for coal-getting time.

Fifeshire Men Stay Out.

In Fifeshire, Scotland, the men have decided not to return until the funds in the treasury of the union which amount to $150,000, have been exhausted, and as trouble is feared by the authorities between the strikers and the non-unionist men who have returned to work, a large force of police have been drafted into the county. In Southern Wales preparations have been made for a resumption, but the prospects there are not [illegible] their demands also have been conceded.

Householders Must Wait.

The first coal mined will be supplied to the railroads and mills, so that three weeks at least will pass before the householders in the cities will be able to secure full supplies for domestic purposes at the usual prices, and it is estimated that an even longer period will elapse before normal conditions in foreign trade will be reached.

MURDERED MAN SEEN ON FRIDAY NIGHT BY THE REV. MR. SINGER

Toronto, April 8.—When Detectives Taylor and Tipton effected the arrest of William T. Smith, a roomer at 95 Peter street this morning, they believed that their prisoner was the mysterious "Smith" who was named by the police as the man who had enticed Joseph Rosenthal to his death on the evening of Good Friday.

The man was arrested on the complaint of Hugh Byren, an Imperial Army reservist, who alleges that he had stolen a letter containing his Army papers and a pension cheque for $11. The cheque was cashed at a York street second-hand store, where Smith purchased a pair of trousers. The store-keeper however, refused to honor the cheque until the man had given him the accompanying pension papers.

Rosenthal a Guest Also.

When the Detectives arrested Smith they ascertained that on Thursday evening he had slept in a temperance hotel on York street, in room 16. On that same night, which was the one prior to the murder, Joseph Rosenthal, the victim, was also a guest at the hotel. The latter's room was No. 15, immediately adjacent to that occupied by the prisoner.

Impressed by the chain of coincidences, Detective Taylor sought out persons who had seen Smith when he called at the Dunkelman home, on Richmond street west, on Thursday afternoon. They came to headquarters, but failed to identify the man under arrest as their mysterious visitor. In the meanwhile, Smith, who is a young fellow in the twenties and comes from Belfast, will be held for police court.

Dunkelman Resting Easier.

With five others working on the case, the police are using every effort to locate the persons who took a hand in the affray which resulted in the murder of Rosenthal and the near murder of Eli Dunkelman.

Until the latter's recovery, however the officers fear that there is little hope of tracing the deed home. It was reported this morning that Dunkelman had passed a good night, and was slightly easier, but the doctors refuse to make a definite statement whether he will recover.

Seen at 8 P.M.

This morning it was ascertained that both men had been seen as late as eight o'clock on Friday evening. They were seen at the corner of Strachan avenue and King street by Rev. Henry Singer, who said that he had a conversation with the murdered man.

QUACKERY IN INDIA

Preparations and Remedies Imposed on the Unsuspecting Natives.

An Indian correspondent has sent to the "Lancet" some pages from a price list issued by a native saddler in Cawnpore. He remarks that it is an example of the extremes to which uncontrolled quackery can run, and that it shows the type of remedy for which there is a demand in India. The 450 or so preparations which are all compounded under the eye of "a very able doctor," are guaranteed to be infallible remedies for almost all the ailments and disabilities to which mankind is heir. A charm for removing snakes and scorpions can be bought for the same price as a specific for small pox marks which "removed the complexion." With reference to condensed milk, at 12 annas the tin, "the public is informed not to be deceived by buying cheap milk." Prophylactic bangles and lockets cost only two or three rupees each and effectually ward off "cholera weakness, cold, thinness, fever cough, inflammation of the eyes, erysipelas, indigestion, smallpox, impurity of the blood fits, and many other diseases to which children are subject. A plaster which has cured hopeless cases will "heal any old man of obstinate ulcer," while if tooth oil is used intelligently the user for the rest of his life, "will have a set of unshaken teeth." Jawahar Mohra, (or tone restorer), "makes a man patient," and Sukha cures "infants who pine away and ultimately die." Although "the inflammation of the kidney is fatal," there is a remedy which never fails to cure it, and the price of a box is two rupees.

TAX ON CATS

Bavaria is Probably Leading the World Against the Feline Tribe.

The people of Bavaria and especially of Munich are nothing if not original and they show their originality in a number of ways. They are for instance, about to put a tax of $1.25 a year on cats, probably the first tax of this kind in the world. Furthermore they have given up using matches and have gone back to the flint, steel and tinder, not because they consider this method of producing fire but to avoid paying a new imperial tax of 400 per cent. on the value of matches. As another way of showing their disapproval of the Imperial Government's way of putting on taxes the Bavarian Diet has permitted the soldiers of Bavarian regiments to use their spare hours to manufacture cigars for their own use, thus avoiding the internal revenue duty on manufactured cigars.

EXPOSED THE ALPS

The Heat of the Past Summer Affected The Ice Fields.

One of the [illegible] results of the intense heat and drought of the past summer and fall was its effect on the Alps due to the melting of vast snow and icefields. In many cases the altitude of certain ridges was actually lowered, and great stretches of rock were exposed for the first time for many years.

This has been especially true of the Matterhorn, where the snow and ice disappeared entirely, leaving the famous peak naked from top to base, and giving it a totally unfamiliar aspect.

ORIGINAL BURGLARS

How They Operate in the Stores in Paris.

The French have always prided themselves on their originality and inventiveness, and it would seem from the newspapers that these precious qualities are full shared by the national thieves. Some burglars hid themselves in the Rue du Temple, a busy street near the Halles, or central markets, Paris. It was easy enough to break open the door of a jeweller's workshop on the fifth floor and appropriate $750 worth of goods, but less resourceful people might have found it hard to get out of the house unseen, foreseeing this difficulty, had provided themselves with a rope 50 feet long. Having carefully greased it with a tallow candle, they let themselves down to the third-floor balcony, broke a window, forced a cash-box, and took $1000, after which they slid down to the first floor balcony, again made a burglarous entry with profitable results, and, once more using the rope, reached the street and decamped.

THE SMOTHER FLY

Great Damage by The Pest in Two English Counties.

Farmers in Notts and Lincolnshire lost quite $1,000,000 by the ravages of the aphis, known locally as the "smother fly," which ruined over 60,000 acres of turnips and other root crops. In addition to this, it is estimated that the sheep in the two counties, numbering over a million, have decreased in value owing to the shortage of roots, bringing the total loss to $3,500,000. The drought was blamed for the aphis plague.

Police Stop a Funeral.

A ship's fireman, Alfred Sharples was remanded at Preston on the charge of causing the death of his wife.

Mrs. Sharples died the previous Wednesday, and the funeral was fixed for Saturday afternoon, but in consequence of allegations by neighbors the police intervened and stopped the funeral, the body being removed to the mortuary. At the inquest on Monday night the jury returned a verdict of "Manslaughter" against the husband.

Sunday Shooting and Accidents.

Wm. McQuaid, of Belmont, a young man residing six miles north of Havelock was handling a 22 rifle a week ago Sunday afternoon, when he accidentally discharged the weapon, the bullet striking him in the right foot and injuring it badly.

Former Peterborough Printer Home.

Mr. John Perry, an old Peterborough boy, but now on the staff of the Montreal Witness, is in the city accompanied by his little son Charlie. Mr. Perry was called home by the illness of his mother, Mrs. Perry, of Stewart street. He is the guest of the latter during a few days visit.

PRINCE WILLIAM OF SWEDEN

And his consort, who will visit North America during the early part of 1912. Prince William, the third son of King Oscar of Sweden, is fifty years old and has three grown daughters.

POVERTY IN GERMANY

The High Cost of Living Causes Distress Among the Poor.

The high cost of living, general all over Europe, has made itself felt to such an extent in Germany that the various municipal authorities are doing their utmost to find means of alleviating the distress of the poorer masses. Some of these endeavors have been directed towards granting special increase of wages to municipal employes, policemen, postmen, street cleaners, etc., and this example has been followed by some of the larger [illegible] firms, one or two of the big [illegible] having granted their employes special "teurung" (high living cost) increases of salaries, a distinction being made between unmarried men and those who have a family to support. The first experiment in actually providing the masses with cheaper food has, however, been made by the Berlin City Council. This is to be accomplished by making Berlin a city of fish eaters. The authorities will buy sea fish in large quantities at the fishing harbors and sell at low prices through specially appointed fishmongers in the Berlin markets. It is a significant fact that, although fish is, of course, to be seen on the tables of the middle class and upper classes in Berlin, fish consumption, with the exception of the smoked and dried variety, is almost unknown among the working people. Municipal placards of the official red, surmounted with the picture of a fish, have been posted throughout the city calling attention to the new food, and indicating the different markets at which the fish may be obtained.

GAVE AWAY MILITARY SECRETS

A German Sentenced at Leipsic to Six Years in Prison.

A man, named Kreber, has been sentenced at Leipsic to six years' imprisonment, the loss of civil rights for ten years, and to police surveillance during this period, for attempting to deliver military secrets to a foreign Power. It is said that the accused who was a non-commissioned officer at Metz up to September last year, himself in need of money, he approached a French agent with a view to handing over to France the plans of two forts as well as the designs of the fortification's enclosure. His attempts to sell the plans were unsuccessful. As the accused had not shown any repentance for his act, but, on the contrary, had manifested regret because his project had failed, the court deemed it necessary to increase the punishment demanded by the public prosecutor.

Swindler and "Revivalist."

At Llangollen William Rowlands, a gentlemanly-looking young man, was sentenced to six months' hard labour for obtaining money, board and lodgings from the Waverley Hotel by false pretences. Margaret Jones, the proprietress of the hotel, said the prisoner took rooms there, saying his parents were to join him in a week. He gave the name of an Anglesey farm owned by his father, from which letters were returned "not known." A long list of previous convictions for similar offences, in some of which the prisoner had masqueraded as a woman, was quoted. During his stay at Llangollen, Rowlands appeared at Calvinistic Methodist chapels, announcing he had an inspired message to deliver, in one instance taking charge of the service and imitating revival methods.

Rival Undertakers at Law.

Only two cases will be tried at the Spring Assizes which opens here, under Judge Latchford to-morrow. James Irwin, an undertaker of Campbellford, is suing, L. H. Stephens, of the same town, and in the same occupation for libel. The case was brought here from Cobourg on a change of venue. The trouble started over both men claiming the same corpse as a subject for interment. The other case is a criminal one, viz. that of Samuel Newall, of Dummer, who is charged with criminal assault This case was put off at the last session owing to the indisposition of the defendant, who was confined in the hospital at the time.

QUICK CHANGE THIEF

How Starke Deceived the Watchman of a Building Broken Into.

How a thief played the part of quick change artist and thus escaped arrest when the odds seemed to be all against him is told in the story of a midnight raid on a large butchering establishment.

Ascertaining that a considerable amount of money was kept on the premises, a Berlin shopkeeper named Starke with two companions thought to effect a burglary. Starke entered the building through a window, but just as his companions were about to follow, they discovered they were detected by a street watchman, and decamped. Warned by the disappearance of his comrades that something unexpected had happened, Starke threw off his jacket, donned a butcher's blood-stained apron, and cap, switched on the electric light, and, seizing a butcher's knife, began to work furiously on the meat. When the watchman appeared and asked the supposed butcher if he had not observed the suspicious behaviour of the two men outside, Starke replied nonchalantly that he had seen the rascals, but that on catching sight of him they had run off. The watchman then withdrew, satisfied that everything was in order. A short time afterward, when he had robbed the cash-till and packed up some choice pieces of meats, Starke opened the door with a key which he had found on the premises and quietly departed.

MADMAN FOR COMPANY

A Lunatic in White Apparel Jumped on a Van Beside Driver.

A terrifying adventure befell the driver of the motor mail van which runs between Stirling and Bathgate, Scotland. While driving towards the former town at dead of night he was suddenly startled by the apparition of a white-clad figure rushing to and fro on the road in front of him. Impeded by the strange object, which paid no attention to his warning the driver was compelled to stop at Linlithgow Bridge. He had no sooner done so than the figure which proved to be a man clad in white shirt and trousers, stepped to the van. The intruder was carrying a heavy chain, and, realising that he was demented, the driver set the van in motion again, but failed to dislodge the madman who jumped on to the seat beside him. Roused to fury by his shadow on the glass screen the lunatic screamed and swung his chain round his head in a terrifying manner.

It was not until Falkirk was reached that a policeman was seen. The lunatic attempted to escape, but the constable, securing a horse, succeeded in capturing him and placing him under restraint.

STATUE OF FAMOUS BEAUTY

[illegible] to be "King's Mistress" in France.

A charming statue of the famous beauty, Marquise de Savigne, has been unveiled at Vitre and people are flocking to the place to see the statue of a woman who had the courage to refuse the honor of being the king's mistress at a time when such a refusal might easily mean incarceration for life. Those who follow the Woman's Rights Movement in France are proud of the honor done to a member of their sex, for statues have only, so far, been erected to Joan of Arc, Empresses or Queens. That a woman who became famous by the letters she wrote to her daughter should be immortalized in marble is flattering to women in general, but are there not women in the past who have a greater claim to that distinction? Mme. de Savigne, however, was undoubtedly feminine, for even, to-day, two centuries after her death, we fall under the charm of this graceful and delightful little woman. Her husband was killed in a duel seven years after his marriage, and was said to have been one of the lovers of the famous Ninon de Lenclos. Speaking of her scapegrace husband the Mme. de Savigne used to say: "The difference between us is that whilst I love him but do not respect him, he respects me but does not love me!"

After his death she lived for a long time in the pretty mansion where the Carnavalet Museum is now established, and many were the admirers who tried to win her, but in vain. She concentrated her affections on her daughter, who, according to Benserade, Louis the Fourteenth's official poet, was the belle of France. In fact, when Vallier's star was waning, Bussy and other courtiers tried to raise Mlle. de Savigne to the exalted rank of "King's Mistress," but her mother declined the honor of her, and promptly married her to M. de Grignan.

TWO AND TWO.

Tommy's mother had married again, and, though Tommy didn't in the least object to his new father, he was somewhat puzzled as to their relationship.

"Mamma," he said, "is this man my step-papa?"

"Yes, dear, he is your step-papa."

"Well, mamma," pursued thoughtful Thomas, "you call me your little lad, don't you?"

"Yes, dearie, you are mamma's little lad!"

"Then, mamma," concluded Tommy, "I suppose I must be my step-papa's little step-ladder."

BRANDY DOSES.

"Is the patient taking the tablespoonful of brandy I ordered regularly?" said the doctor, looking into the sick-room.

"Yes," replied the young nurse, "he's very particular about that. He's already seventy-four doses ahead, and you only prescribed it yesterday."

HOME HINTS

Information Which is Useful in the Household

Paraffin to moisten blacking makes boots and shoes very black.

When Polishing the Stove add a little sugar or syrup to the polish, and it will not burn off so quickly.

To Remove Stains on spoons caused by using them with boiled eggs, take a little common salt, moistened, between the thumb and finger, and briskly rub the stain, which will soon disappear.

When Soot Falls upon the carpet it may be removed by sprinkling on plenty of finely-powdered salt, and sweeping off in the direction of the fireplace. Repeat till the marks are all gone.

Put a Pinch of Borax in the water in which lettuces are washed, let them soak for half an hour, then shake them free from water, and you will be delighted with the crispness. Salted water softens them, but borax cleans and freshens them.

Milk Jugs, especially if too narrow to be washed and wiped dry inside, should have hot water and some salt put into them every day and allowed to stand for five minutes. They should then be thoroughly rinsed in cold water and turned upside down to drain as dry as possible.

After Doing Dirty Work, do not at once wash the hands in water. First rub a little grease well into the skin, more especially the dirty parts. Mutton fat is excellent. Then wash in the usual way. The grease loosens the dirt, and hands treated in this way will never become ingrained with dirt.

Keep Onions, celery, and strong-tasting vegetables apart from other vegetables or food. Herrings should also be kept where they cannot taint the household provisions, and fruit of all sorts should be laid separately on a shelf, if possible, as one piece coming in touch with another will quickly become spoiled.

Children who do not like castor-oil should have it prepared in the Paris fashion; the quantity of the oil prescribed is placed in a pan over a fire, and an egg is broken into and stirred up. When cooked, a little salt, or sugar, or currant jelly should be added. The youngsters cannot possibly detect the medicine, and will most likely cry for some more of the mixture.

Try Cleaning your cretonne chair covers in the following way: Put some clean bran into the oven and leave it until it is quite hot. Then take some on the palm of the hand, and rub it into the cretonne with a circular movement. Keep using fresh bran until the whole chair has been thoroughly gone over, and you will be delighted with the result.

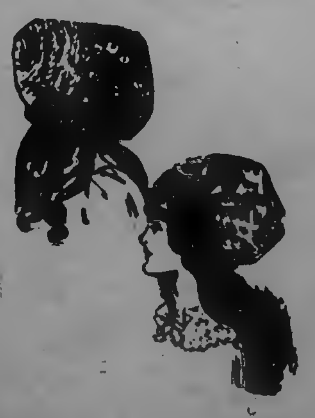
A Home-Made Strainer for the kitchen sink may be obtained by punching holes in the lower part of the sides of a preserved fruit can by means of a hammer and awl. Such a strainer, used as a temporary holder of waste matter like tea-leaves, coffee grounds, potato parings, etc., will help to keep the sink clean and the waste pipe clear, and may be easily emptied and cleaned.

The Burners in a gas stove and oven often get caked up with grease, etc. To [illegible] all the burners [illegible] and add a good handful of common salt. Allow to boil an hour or so, then dry thoroughly and replace in stove. This process should be repeated every few weeks so as to keep the stove in good condition, and will save both gas and time when cooking.

If the following Method for cleaning and renewing dirty wallpaper was followed every spring less paperhanging would be needed. Buy a packet of common whitening, and take a piece of rough blanket or flannel and thoroughly rub the paper by dipping the cloth in the whitening dry. After all the walls have been rubbed, take a clean piece of cloth and dust down, and the result will be a clean paper for a little cost.

Lemon Pie

Take one lemon, one cup of sugar and one of water, a tablespoonful of cornflour, two eggs, and enough short paste to line a soup-plate. Grate the lemon-rind and place it with the strained juice, yolks of eggs, and other ingredients in a bowl. Stand the bowl in a saucepan of boiling water and boil until the mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Line the plate with the paste, and bake until a very light brown. Pour in the mixture, beat the whites of the eggs as stiffly as possible, sweeten the froth slightly, and pile on the top. Put the pie back in the oven with the door open, and leave for a few minutes.



SMART HATS FOR THE LITTLE ONES

Two new hats are illustrated in the above sketch, and both are smart and unusual. The lower model is developed in cherry red, soft straw, with a turned back edge of shiny black straw, held by tiny black velvet bows. The other model is of cream straw, lined with pink crepe, and trimmed with a band and bow of black velvet and wreaths of small pink roses.

The Toronto hotels must copy the modus operandi of those in Peterborough. A member of the license commissioners of the Queen City, after having had a strict enquiry made, reports that the licensed places, shops and hotels, are keeping the law strictly.

The Easter Twilight Musicale, held Saturday afternoon in Charlotte street Methodist church, was well attended. A charming program was rendered and thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The musicale was held under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle of that church. Those contributing to the excellent program included: Miss Brock, Miss Pringle, Miss Choate, Mr. Treneer and Judge Huycke.

SHORT CIRCUIT CAUSES DEATH

Quebec, April 8.—Pierre Leviner, 41 years old, is dead; William Doyle, aged 60, is badly, if not fatally injured, and Eugene Nadeau, aged 22, is seriously injured as a result of a premature blast at the Bell Asbestos Mines, Thetford Mines. The explosion occurred at 5 o'clock yesterday evening while the wires were being connected. Leviner leaves a wife and six children.

The explosion was caused when J. Gilbert started to connect a battery. He was standing in a pool of water with one end of the wire submerged when he picked up the other end. It made a short circuit through his body, sending all the charge.

BY HER EYEBROWS

A Hint to Young Men as to Telling a Girl's Character

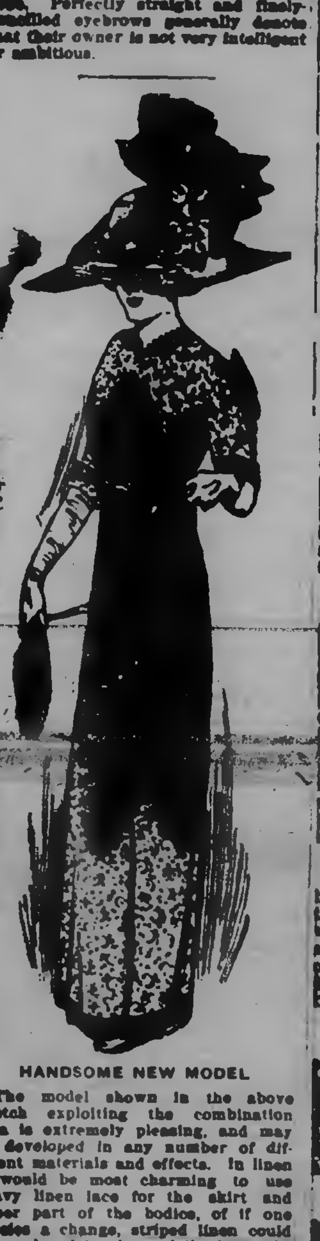
The latest advice for young men about to fall in love (they never take advice, still it doesn't matter) is: Examine your prospective sweetheart's eyebrows. By this means you will be able to tell whether or not she is all that you would desire her to be.

It is quite possible to tell a girl's character by her eyebrows. Sensitive, languid girls, who possess very little energy, generally have very fair eyebrows of a lighter shade than their hair.

The vivacious, energetic women, on the other hand, are those possessed of fiery-red eyebrows. These also show enthusiasm and great ambition, but are not always hasty-tempered, as is generally supposed. Girls with very black eyebrows have usually a passionate nature and are capable of loving or hating with equal fervor.

Very drooping eyebrows are bad in a girl, as they show that their owner is of an extremely inquisitive nature. She is generally shallow-minded and insincere also. The girl who is romantic and yet who has plenty of common-sense and a strong character has perfectly arched eyebrows. Very thick, dark eyebrows in a girl indicate that she is strong and muscular and that she has a robust constitution.

An indolent, lazy girl who always seems to lack energy generally has very scant eyebrows that are hardly discernible. The jolly girl, possessed of a keen sense of humor, usually has eyebrows that are arched near the ends. Perfectly straight and finely-pencilled eyebrows generally denote that their owner is not very intelligent or ambitious.



HANDSOME NEW MODEL

The model shown in the above sketch exploiting the combination idea is extremely pleasing, and may be developed in any number of different materials and effects. In linen it would be most charming to use heavy linen lace for the skirt and upper part of the bodice, or if one desires a change, striped linen could be employed in place of the lace. As shown in the sketch, foulard and lace dyed to match developed the costume. The edges are finished with silk ball fringe.

MEDITATIONS OF A MEAN MAN

What He Has to Ask or Say About Matrimony

"This is the way of it: A woman begins promising nothing and ends by giving all. A man begins by promising everything and ends by giving nothing."

"An affinity may be described as a woman who doesn't cook your dinner, but cooks your goose!"

"A girl's heart is like an umbrella. Sooner or later some fellow is bound to steal it."

"Before marriage, a woman is 'absolutely perfect.' After marriage, she is perfectly absolute!"

"She who marries her puppy love is apt to lead him a dog's life."

"Dead widows tell no tales. Their friends do that for them!"

"Here's an acrobatic axiom for you: A fellow no sooner gets a girl's hand than he is under her thumb."

"Love is never too blind to see what there is in the pocket-book."

"Is it sowing one's wild oats to reap a grass widow?"

"A vegetarian widower and a grass widow should be well-mated."

"It is useless to try and drown your sorrows in the flowing cup. Sorrows are expert swimmers."

"Nature study is ever fashionable. We are forever looking up somebody's family tree."—"Meditations of a Mean Man," by Walter Pulitzer.

People Who Take Cold after washing their hair should put spirits of [illegible] at the back of the ears, along [illegible] and at the back of the [illegible] the hair is dried, and should take a few drops on a lump of sugar at the same time.

BITS OF NEWS OVER THE SEAS

Death of Man Over 100 years of Age. Remarkable Shoal of Whales. Boom on the Clyde.

The death has occurred of Mr. John Kelly, Lough, Portarlington, who had reached the remarkable age of 107 years. He could talk with facility of the miseries which characterized the Famine year of "Black '47."

Woman Weighed 320 lbs.

At an inquest in the Cork Workhouse on Kate M'Carthy, spinster, aged fifty-eight, it was stated that she weighed 320 pounds. She was about to be treated in the Protestant Women and Children's Hospital for her affliction, and was placed in a mechanically moved chair in the operating room, when the cogs of the chair gave way, throwing the deceased violently to the floor, cutting her head.

New Kind of Outrage.

The residents of Dundalk were surprised by finding themselves practically deprived of water supply. During the night some person had gained access to the reservoir enclosure, and opened the scour valves in the bottom of the reservoir, draining away not only all the water stored there, but all that came in subsequently from the mountain storage.

Clyde Shipping Boom.

Clyde shipbuilders launched twenty-four vessels of 60,000 tons gross during October, bringing the output for the year so far to almost half a million tons, a total that has only been exceeded by the full year's output of 1907—620,000 tons.

Whales on Tour.

An extraordinary sight was witnessed in the Kyle, Loch Alsh. From daybreak until after nine o'clock an unending stream of whales, large and small, passed northward, and at times the sea, which was calm, was for a great distance a mass of foam. Many of them passed within a few feet of the railway pier.

Strangled in Toy Cart.

An extraordinary fatality was investigated at Hartlepool. The two-year-old son of a laborer named Gallagher was being wheeled by another child in a mailcart improvised from a box and a couple of old perambulator wheels, the axle passing through the sides of the box. The child's pinafore became wound round the axle, and before assistance could be rendered he was strangled

"Wake" Results in Fire.

While the remains of an old woman named Jane Houghton were being "waked" at her residence, Rheban, Co. Kildare, a fire broke out, and the house which was a thatched one, was gutted. The neighbors made heroic efforts to rescue the corpse, but the flames spread with such rapidity that they were unsuccessful. At the time the relatives were in Athy making the funeral arrangements. It is thought that the fire was caused by the candles burning some drapery in the room.

Burglar's Warning.

A burglar who entered the Mint public house, Kingswood, left pinned to the wall a piece of paper on which was written a warning to the publican for not keeping his windows fastened. Upon Joseph Walker, who was remanded at Reigate, was found a portion of the stolen property, and a revolver.

The Tramp's Revenge

George Clark, a wheelwright, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude at the Essex Assizes for setting fire to a stack at Thaxted and causing damage amounting to $4,000 because he was not allowed to sleep at a farm. All the farm buildings, two horses, and [illegible] pigs were burned.

Municipal Training College.

Lord Sheffield opened the Brighton Municipal Day Training College, towards the equipment of which the Board of Education has contributed [illegible]0,000. The college is undenominational, and already has forty male and forty-four female students representative of all parts of the country.

To Push Home-Made Steel.

A plan for granting a rebate of 4s. a ton to consumers who purchase only from the signatories is outlined in a circular issued on Wednesday by twenty-three of the principal British steel-making firms. The arrangement does not apply to material sold for export. The object is ostensibly to shut out foreign steel which is being sold here on very cheap terms.

Taught to Play.

The Rev. J. Harry Miller, of the New College Settlement, Edinburgh, in a lecture on "The Educative Value of Play," said they could no more confine a child's learning to his school than his soul to the schoolroom. If there were any inherent rights of childhood, the right to play must be considered one. Rough play, unguided, undisciplined, had no educative value. There was in regulated and co-operative play something of a redemptive power for society.

Organ Grinder and Donkey.

Pietro Daislo, organ grinder, residing in Edinburgh, was sentenced to a month's imprisonment for having cruelly ill-treated a donkey by repeatedly striking it with a piece of wood. Upon the first day he had had it at work, and he found it had been "faked up" and was difficult to manage. He then lost his temper.

Historical Church Site.

The Parish Church of Cadder, has an interesting history. For at least [illegible] years a church has stood practically on the same spot. About the middle of the twelfth century Malcolm IV. made a grant of the lands of Conclud, Cader, and Badermonoc—the latter being the ancient name of Old and New Monkland—to the See of Glasgow, and this was confirmed by his successor, William the Lion.

MIXED MARRIAGES WERE NUMEROUS

Surprising Statistics for the Past Year---Some Curious Matches

The report of the Registrar-General for Ontario for the past year shows, among other interesting facts, that inter-marriage between persons of different religions is very much more frequent than is popularly supposed. Methodists married Roman Catholics, Jews married Gentiles, and Church of England adherents allied themselves in matrimony with persons of Salvation Army persuasion.

Last year there were 7,351 Roman Catholics married in Ontario. Of these 1,509 married out of their own denomination. Of these, again, 665 Roman Catholic grooms married Protestant brides, and 844 Roman Catholic women became wives of non-Catholic men. The greater number of these marriages were between Roman Catholics and members of the Anglican Church. The next denominations with which most Roman Catholic persons allied themselves were the Presbyterians, the Baptists and the Lutherans, in the order named. It is remarkable to observe that there were no marriages between Roman Catholics and members of the Salvation Army, while on the other hand two Roman Catholic grooms took unto themselves Hebrew brides, and five Roman Catholic girls threw in their lot with Jewish young men.

How the Hebrews Married.

Two Jews married Anglicans; two, Presbyterians; six, Methodists; two, Baptists; one, a Congregationalist, and four married persons who are described as having no particular religious convictions. Hebrew women, apparently, had a tendency to fall in love with Anglicans, for of the seven Jewesses married out of their faith five went to Anglicans and two to Roman Catholics.

Upon further investigation of the blue book it appears that 631 Presbyterian women married Anglicans, 341 married Methodists, 126 married Roman Catholics, 41 married Congregationalists, 55 married Lutherans and seventy-four married persons whose religious beliefs were not set down.

Of the Methodist brides 678 took Anglican husbands, 910 took Presbyterians, 157 accepted Roman Catholics, 290 favored Baptists, 57 fell to Congregationalists, 88 picked Lutherans, six consented to cook for Salvation Army members and 98 took husbands whose faith was not classified. Of these, it is said, 26 had no religion. Among the Baptist women 809 chose mates from the Anglican Church, 319 from the Presbyterians 362 from the Methodists, 68 from Roman Catholics, 21 from Congregationalists, 36 from [illegible] denominations [illegible] unattached. Fifty-seven Lutherans secured Anglican husbands, 71 Presbyterians, 78 Methodists, 85 Roman Catholics, one a Hebrew and one a Salvationist. Of the Salvation Army lassies 87 found affinities in the "Army"; three married Anglicans; one, a Presbyterian; seven, Methodists; five, Baptists, and one an unclassified.

It is of interest to observe that, so far as Ontario is concerned, men do not to any great extent marry later than women, although it is popularly thought otherwise. Last year 8,168 grooms, or about one-third of the total number (24,036), married between the ages of twenty and twenty-four. Forty-seven per cent. of the brides were between those ages. In the case of both sexes the next greatest number married between the ages of twenty-five and twenty-nine, and after that the large classifications are between thirty and thirty-four for grooms and between fifteen and nineteen for brides.

Just 452 men were married under the age of twenty. One of these took a 32-year-old bride; another took a 38-year-old; two men between twenty and twenty-four married brides of between forty and forty-four; one married a lady of the discreet age of 70, while two grooms of forty and forty-four married women of the same ages. Fifteen women between the ages of fifteen and nineteen married men between forty and forty-four; two married men between forty-five and forty-nine; one took a man over 55, and one a man over 60. Three women between twenty and twenty-four married men over 55, two married men over sixty and one a man over 70. One woman of twenty-seven married a man of 70.

June is still the month for brides. There were 3,555 out of the 24,036 marriages celebrated in June. September and December folowed with 2,653 and 2,304 marriages respectively.

DEER IN NEW ZEALAND

Mr. F. W. Godsal, one of the Provincial Fire Guardians stationed at Cowley, Alta., has a photograph of the head and antlers of a red deer stag, the interest being greatly heightened by the fact that this particular stag was sent from Windsor Park to New Zealand in 1867 by the late Prince Consort. At this time the stag was three years old and ten years later was shot, by request, by Major Campbell, as he was becoming dangerous. It will interest Canadian readers to know that in 1908 no less than 2,000 deer were killed at one station in order to reduce their numbers. The deer indeed have increased in New Zealand until they have become a nuisance and their horns grow to a size unknown in Great Britain. A further item of interest is found in the fact that trout introduced from England grow to an enormous size and increase rapidly in the virgin streams of New Zealand.

In this issue appears a letter signed "Progress", in which the writer makes a very sensible suggestion. He asks that the banks of Peterborough light up their places of business at night. This would help materially to brighten at least two of our leading streets and give the city a better appearance.

A current contemporary has an editorial, advocating abolishment of the bar. By a typographical error, the article says the "heating" system is the chief incentive to consumption of liquor. Whilst the writer evidently wrote "treating", the word heating is not far wrong. Liquor heats man's brain, heats his passions and keeps his wife and family cold in the winter months.

Mr. Churchill's frank statement to Germany that Great Britain will double all the former's additions to the navy but would be glad to reduce in a corresponding way goes as far, perhaps, as any British statesman ought to go. But with Germany announcing enormous increases we wonder how the beginning of the end will come.

Former Local Banker for Millbrook.

Millbrook Reporter: The Union Bank opened for business yesterday in the former Bank of Montreal premises with C. C. Keele, late manager at Ayr, as manager, and Mr. A. J. Miecampbell of Barrie, late of Peterborough, teller. Their offices have been fitted up very handsomely.

Men Who Don't Excercise

SUFFER FROM INDIGESTION, HEADACHES, POOR APPETITE, SLEEPLESSNESS.

Nothing so Sure to "Set Up" a Man Make Him Feel Brisk and Vigorous as Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Lack of exercise and overwork were the causes that combined to almost kill Samuel S. Stephens, Jr., one of the best known citizens in Woodstock.

In his convincing letter Mr. Stephens says:—

"A year ago I returned home after a long trip, completely worn out. I was so badly affected by chronic biliousness, so much overcome by constant headaches, dizziness, that I despaired of ever getting well. I was always tired and languid, had no energy and spirit, found it difficult to sleep for more than five hours. My appetite was so fickle that I ate next to nothing, and in consequence lost weight and strength. I was pale and had dark rings under my eyes that made me look like a shadow.

"It was a blessing that I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. In one week I felt like a new man. The feeling of weight and nausea in my stomach disappeared. My eyes looked brighter, color grew better, and, best of all, I began to enjoy my meals. The dizziness, languor and feeling of depression passed away, and I fast regained my old-time vigor and spirits To-day I am well—thanks to Dr. Hamilton's Pills."

For health, strength, comfort and good spirits there is no medicine like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Beware of substitutes, and don't let any dealer palm off some other pill on which he can make more money. 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00, by mail from The Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ontario.

THE MORNING TIMES

TUESDAY, APRIL 9,1912.

ENGLAND VS. U. S.

The presence of a large United States army on the Mexican frontier is [illegible] of smuggling supplies, and of using foreign soil as a temporary harbour of refuge by one or other of the combatants.

Great Britain has vast interests in Mexico also, and it might not suit the Empire to allow the United States a free hand in settling all the international difficulties which might arise. As was shown in the case of the intervention of the British Foreign Office in a threatening complication over a branch bank, in which other parts of North America, as well as the United States were seen to have interests in Mexico, it is clearly to be seen that the United States, Munroe doctrine or not, will not run things with too high a hand.

TROUBLE FROM MEXICO'S HONESTY.

It is well not to lose sight of the fact that trouble which may yet prove to be serious from the international point of view, is brewing in Mexico. It is pretty clear to most observers that the dislike to President Diaz, which inspired the late revolution, was based, not upon his governmental methods, but upon his determination to rule Mexico firmly, but honestly, and never allow the State to deviate from her obligations to capital upon which the prosperity and the future of the Republic depended. To assert that "graft" was unknown in Mexico under the Diaz regime would be absurd, but while the policy of plunder had a sort of vogue, it was never permitted to become rampant on the lines unpleasantly familiar to those who have acquaintance with the financial methods of certain South American Republics. At any rate, no one in office during the days of Diaz grew abnormally rich at the expense of the Commonwealth.

INSPECTION OF ARDENT LIQUORS.

There are a great many people who maintain that spirituous or fermented liquors of any kind, are bad. Again there are those who do not take so radical a view, but will heartily agree with the Kingston Standard in its contention that license inspectors should take samples of liquor from the bars and have them tested. Not much attention is being paid in this country to the prevention of the sale of adulterated liquor over the bar; and yet bad liquor is one of the greatest curses in connection with the liquor traffic. In England an inspector in plain clothes, drops into a bar, asks for a drink, puts it in a small flask, and carries it off with him to be tested. If it is adulterated, the seller is mulcted in a heavy fine. Why should not every license inspector in Ontario have the power to appoint a man from time to time for a similar purpose—a man unknown to the bar-tenders? Half the evil that results from drinking is caused by adulterated whiskey. The working men who reel home after having had three or four drinks and begin to smash up the furniture and beat their wives have been [illegible]

Editorial Notes

The best feature of the British coal strike is the ending of it.

Bobcaygeon Independent: Ottawa should be grateful to Mr. Borden for proroguing Parliament that the one spring cleaning and fumigation will be sufficient.

The Ontario Legislature is considering an act whereby soldiers in uniform people going to or returning from a funeral, shall not be called on to pay toll on any road, where such tolls are collected.

Judging by the photograph of the new nurses' residence, in connection with the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, contained in the Ontario Legislatures annual report on hospitals and charities, there is an opening for some Peterborough philanthropist or philanthropists. That the little town of Lindsay should have so fine an adjunct to their hospital, is enough to make Peterborough break the tenth commandment.

Colonel, the Hon. Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, is certainly taking an active interest, not only in the actual routine work of his department, but in working up a general and natural sense of loyalty, honor and patriotism. He has just had issued a pamphlet, or memorandum on Cadet Corps training. This very interesting and instructive paper is an appeal to Canada for the Cadet movement. He explains fully and lucidly the benefit that would accrue to the country at large, but particularly to the Cadets, as a result of the training received by the latter. No one but the most rabid socialist zealous disciple of the late John Bright.

The Department of Militia and Defence has issued a pamphlet entitled, "Two Classes of Training in Canada." The booklet gives full details and statistics of two kinds of training of the youth of our beloved Dominion. On the one hand, is the positive or upbuilding, among other things contributing to this class are schools, churches, and the militia, including permanent corps, active militia, cadets, boy scouts, and rifle associations. In the demoralizing or negative causes, among other things, may be classed the intemperate use of liquors and tobaccos. In this respect, one important factor in the demoralizing causes is omitted, viz. the pool room. This item may have been omitted, as the pamphlet gives full figures of expenses for military purposes, and for tobacco and liquors. Of course, in such a comparison, the pool-room, vicious as it most undoubtedly is, would not be included, as no figures of the thousands of dollars, not spent, but "blown in" by callow youths and boys are not available. To epitomize, this booklet shows that the net cost per head for Canada [illegible] thereto, is less than that for liquor and tobacco.

Despatches from Oklahoma City, state that "Crazy Snake" is dead. Were it not that Crazy Snake were an Indian, some of Canada's topers would rejoice.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is half gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then, again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again. As soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh, of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him, and in a few months it cured him. To-day, over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured, and has had no trace of any return of the eczema!

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

OVERHEARD AT A STATION.

Just as the train was about to start, a youth ran up to the ticket inspector and said.

"Sir, there are two men travelling first and they have no tickets."

Off went the inspector and searched all the cars and could not find one that had not had his ticket punched. Seeing the youth standing, he said.

"Where are the men without tickets?"

"On the engine, of course!"

HIS WIFE AT CHURCH.

The Clergyman: "Do you mean to say that your wife goes to church every Sunday without you?"

Husband: "Well, it isn't my fault I can't persuade her to stay at home."

KILLED BY AN AIRSHIP

Workman's Plight Not Discovered by His Fellows

A man was carried up 700 feet into the air hanging to a rope far below the level of the gondola of the Parseval airship the other night. The airship had been out on a cruise in the neighborhood of Berlin, and was being hauled into the shed when a sudden gust of wind siezed it. The workmen relaxed their hold of the ropes, but one was not quick enough and was carried up with the ship. The crew of the gondola heard his cries, but thought they came from the workmen on the ground. The wretched man meanwhile was being slowly strangled far below the gondola, having been caught in a tangle of rope and being unable to attract their attention. The ship descended rapidly and the man still swinging at the end of the rope was dashed against a tree and killed.

FAMOUS CHILD RULERS

Infants in Europe Who Have Had the Title Sovereign.

There have been a remarkably large number of young sovereigns in European history who commenced their reigns when mere boys, often when little more than infants. Louis XIV. and Louis XV. of France, for instance, were each but five years old when they succeeded to the throne, and Louis XIII. was only nine. Ten child monarchs are prominent in British history. They include Henry III., who began to reign at the age of ten, Edward II., Richard II., Henry VIII., and Edward VI. Henry VI. was scarcely eight when he was made King, and Queen Victoria was a girl of eighteen when the news was brought her that she was ruler of the British dominions.

WELLS AND McFARLAND

They Did Not Meet Though Agreements Had Been Made.

Matt Wells, the idol of England, will not meet Packy McFarland. A match had been arranged for the pair, and it would have been one of the best drawing cards of the year, as both men are game little fighters and both have fine records; but the law stepped in and as the Madison Square Garden had lost its license, the bout was called off. A later agreement was annulled by Wells' manager, who found his man was not at his best in the ring at 135 pounds, at which weight the bout had been agreed upon. Wells' trip to North America was a success financially.

NEW CIGARET CARDS DISEASE CARRIERS?

Health Officer Traces Sore Mouths to Boys Playing With Them

Germ infection through cigarette cards is the latest danger to health. Dr. Hastings, Medical Health Officer Toronto, tells the following remarkable incident:

"In one of the city schools recently it was noticed that a large number of children had sores around their mouths and on their faces. Those affected were all boys; no girls were infected.

"A lady at the noon hour noticed a number of boys on the way home from school playing with cigarette cards in the following manner: One of the boys would take the cigarette picture card, put it between his teeth, then smartly snap it with his finger and try to strike another boy with the spinning card. The card would fall to the dirty pavement, would then be picked up by the other boy, and put into his mouth. As the lady watched she saw the same card pass into seven different mouths, some of them with sores upon them. Finally she picked up the card, and found it so absolutely filthy that neither the picture nor the writing could be seen for dirt.

"The homes of some of the boys with the sore faces were visited, and the mothers of some complained that their boys had been playing this game around the house, until they had been driven almost frantic.

"This is a concrete case of contact infection which has happened, and is happening right now, in Toronto; as contact infection by means of a very simple game, the effect of which can be seen by anyone."

RECORD CASKET FOR BIG MAN

It is 40 Inches Wide and 30 Inches Deep, and Heavily Built.

The largest casket ever built in Ontario was shipped to Louisville from Chatham for the burial of Alvin Merritt, the 610-pound shopkeeper. The casket is so large that the outside rough box would scarcely pass through the freight car doors.

The coffin was 6 feet in Length, 2 feet 4 inches in width, and its depth 2 feet 6 inches. There were eight heavy handles on the coffin, and under it were four heavy oak cross-bars, each braced with stout steel braces. A draped dray had to be used as a hearse.

The grave is 7 feet 6 inches long by 5 feet in width.

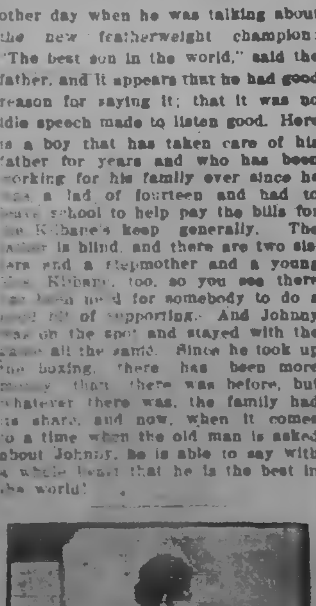
KILBANE A GOOD SON

"The Best in the World," Says Johnny's Father

A pretty good thing that Johnny Kilbane's father said about his son the other day when he was talking about the new featherweight champion: "The best son in the world," said the father, and it appears that he had good reason for saying it; that it was no idle speech made to listen good. Here is a boy that has taken care of his father for years and who has been working for his family ever since he was a lad of fourteen and had to leave school to help pay the bills for the Kilbane's keep generally. The father is blind, and there are two sisters and a stepmother and a young [illegible] Kilbane, too, so you see there has been need for somebody to do a good bit of supporting. And Johnny was on the spot and stayed with the game all the same. Since he took up the boxing, there has been more money than there was before, but whatever there was, the family had its share, and now, when it comes to a time when the old man is asked about Johnny, he is able to say with a whole heart that he is the best in the world."



BACHMAN
the Leaf pitcher, who, it is expected will be one of the consistent winners this season.

DIRECT FROM AMATEURS

Rapid Rise of H. Grover, Major League Pitcher

It is seldom that Major League pitcher goes direct from an amateur nine, but Pittsburg has such a one in Harold Grover, of Rockport, Mass., who is a "southpaw" of ability according to Murray, the scout of the Pirates. Grover was pitcher for the Rockport amateurs last year, and wone every game he pitched against nines from nearby towns and teams from various warships. Doe, manager of the New Bedfords, heard of him, and went to watch him at work. After the game was over Doe concluded that Grover was too good for him, and sent word to President Dreyfus that he should waste no time in securing the remakable pitcher, so Murray went to Rockport at once, and Grover is a member of the Pittsburg nine. He has made friends with the squad, neither smokes nor drinks, is twenty years old, and says he has never been sick a day. He is well built, has heavy shoulders and has a deceptive cross-fire delivery which resembles that of Marquard.

NEW TENNIS STAR

Hal Braly of Los Angeles Shows Excellent Form

A new lawn tennis star has come to light in California, which has produced many a champion. The "comer" is Hal Braly of Los Angeles, who has developed into a player of high calibre and is preparing for a tennis campaign in the East. Braly created a sensation in a tornament at Long Beach, when he forced Maurice McLoughlin, the mainstay of the American team that went to Australia to go twenty-four games to win a set. Braly showed excellent form, and with a little more confidence would have done even better than 13—11.

The new star is of ideal physique for a tennis player. He has the strength, agility and height. His friends say that he will enter the national championship tourney at Newport.

THE TRUTH ABOUT CIGARETTE PAPER.

Of the great army of cigarette smokers there is probably not more than one in a hundred who knows that rice paper, in which the tobacco is wrapped, has nothing to do with rice, but is made from the membranes of the breadfruit tree, or, more commonly, of fine new trimmings of flax and hemp. So light is this paper that 500 of the tiny sheets go to make an ounce (says "Science Siftings"). They are perfectly combustible, and give off the minimum of smoke.

IMPERIAL SCENE AT DELHI DURBAR

That Which Will Greet King Geoge and Queen Mary is Without Parallel

An English correspondent described the preparations for the Coronation Durbar at Delhi as follows:

"The vast encampment lies below me as I write, visible almost in its entirety. All the more important the Emperor's camp, which is placed immediately below the Flagstaff Tower and lies at the west of Ridge, with only a roadway between it and the famous red sandstone outcrop, which has seen the building of so many Delhis and the rise and fall of so many dynasties.

"In the centre of the King's camp rises the Circuit House, built by Lord Curzon for the 1903 Durbar. This is a building of some size and importance, and has not been altered, nor enlarged for the Imperial visit, as both the Emperor and Empress prefer to live in tents.

"Its room however have been thoroughly overhauled, decorated, and furnished, in order that it may serve as a comfortable resort in the event of bad weather, during the Durbar. Lady Hardinge has devoted much time and attention to this work, and painteres and plasterers are hard at work—a rather anomalous sight in this canvas metropolis, for there are no other solidly-built structures in the whole extent of the encampment, except the telegraph and post offices.

"In front of the Circuit House, which has been painted a dazzling white for the occasion, the Emperor's and Empress's own tents have been pitched. Externally, except for their greater size, they are not markedly different from the others in the vicinity. But Lady Hardinge is sparing no effort to furnish them throughout with every comfort. Carpet and rugs have been specially woven for the entire suite, and many valuable hangings, pictures and ornaments have been lent for their adornment. Besides the private Imperial tents rise great canvas halls, to be used for official receptions and dinners. In front is the huge Shamiana, behind it a long-closed-in tent, which, when required, can be opened into the Shamiana. It may give some idea of the scale on which the preparations are being made at Delhi to mention that the space thus covered is between 24,000 and 25,000 square feet. The dome of St. Peter's at Rome covers a little more than 15,000 square feet, and that of St. Paul's less than 9,000.

"On the other side of the Shamiara are the Viceroy's tents, and in front of the whole is a wide lawn, with well-filled flowerbeds. The entire extent of the Emperor's Camp is 250,300 square yards. It is, of course, the largest single camp here, but it takes up an infinitesimal proportion of the entire encampment, which stretches out a white wilderness to the horizon slashed and dotted with green lawns [illegible] their way.

"The Shamiana, at which the Emperor will alight, and under which he will receive the homage of the official and greater ruling chiefs will be supported on richly-chased gold pillars. The velvet hangings are of a peculiarly rich shade, between cardinal and crimson, heavily embroidered with gold. Here the first part of the ceremony will take place, their Majesties afterwards proceeding to the central marble pavilion, which is also magnificently draped with velvet of a similar color. It may safely be prophesied that the scene when the Emperor and Empress present themselves to the peoples, of India, gathered at Delhi on Dec. 12, will surpass not only other Royal or imperial scenes that live in English history, but will have no parallel even in the most splendid days of the mogul emperors."

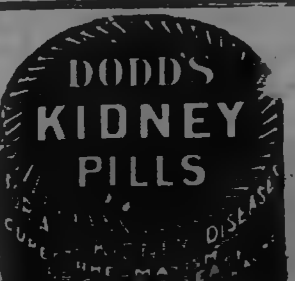
LAUGHING AT IMPURITY

No Chance Will be Taken With the Water in the Chateau Laurier.

In connection with the "Chateau Trunk Hotel at Ottawa, it has been decided to establish an ice freezing plant and the Forbes System of sterilization. This means that every drop of water that comes into the hotel for any purpose is first filtered twice, then sterilized and cooled, rendering it not only absolutely pure from all sanitary standpoints, but clear and free from any coloration. As regards ice, the water from which it is made will be first filtered twice, then converted into steam, then condensed and frozen, rendering the ice not only absolutely pure but a beautiful clear transparent crystal.



CURIOUS MEDLEY IN IN DEAD LETTER OFFICE

Accumulation Includes Cheques for $632,398 and $21,713 in Money.

A great collection of valuables and curiosities was made by the dead letter office at Ottawa during the year. Almost everything under the sun that could get through a slot failed to find an owner and landed safe, but unclaimed, at Ottawa

No fewer than 2,963,117 letters cards, packages, and enclosures of various kinds came in. Among them were cheques to the value of $632,398, money amounting to $21,713, drafts amounting to $104,181, money orders totaling over eighty thousand dollars, promissory notes of the face value of $133,151, stock certificates, $30,550.

There were 45 aprons, 6 bonnets, 6 prayer books, 8 bibles, a bill of divorce, 3 stuffed birds, 270 blouses, 108 boots, 355 brooches, 8 butterflies, 238 cakes, 6 certificates of character, 5 certificates of death, 26 marriage certificates, 1 cheese, 7 packages of chewing gum, 22 cigars, 4 cobs of corn, 31 collars, 4 corsets, 1 bust developer, 7 garters, 121 gold rings, 6 hair switches, 15 knives, 1 lady's companion, 30 pieces of machinery, 1 mince pie, 15 pedigrees, 3 plum puddings, 1 shaving mug, 1 spine supporter, 39 stockings, 5 teddy bears, 132 watches, and 7 wigs.

THE DUKE OF CONNAUGHT

The Duke of Connaught is of a very different type from any that may be found in this country. In material things he has, of course, every reward. He is a man of wealth. Money considerations are apart from his existence. And this is all the greater a reason why such a man might be expected to long for reward in the shape of public credit or even a modicum of glory. The Duke of Connaught has worked, without hope, and without desire, for any other reward than the knowledge that his duty has been done, that he has played the game. The Duke of Connaught was an instrument in his brother's hands. He is to-day an instrument in the hands of the British Government and of his nephew, the King. He commands almost everything that man can ask. The only appetite that might remain unsatisfied is that very human appetite for publicity, but even this, the new Governor-General avoids. If he does a thing which is accounted good, it is sufficient for him to know it, and as few other as possible. The Duke of Connaught lacks some of the qualities which made his late brother so truly Parisian. He is inclined to be precise, and to be very rigid in the matter of details. There is, in his opinion, a right way and a wrong way, for the doing of all things, and he insists upon the right way. He knows how every officer should wear his uniform. He knows how decorations should be worn, and he is quite apt to [illegible] medal, if occasion should arise.

The telling would not, of course, be done in a manner that would embarrass the officer, nor that would humiliate him even to himself, but with the tact which distinguishes Connaught, and which marks him everywhere as the brother of the late King Edward. Officially he is a figurehead with a great amount of theoretical power which he would scarcely dare to use. But unofficially he is one of the most influential men in the British Empire. So much weight attaches to his advice when he gives it, or to his recommendations, that Canada may well look to see results of his governor-generalship in the relations between this country and the Mother Country. He is a keen student of men and affairs. No one will have a better conception of Canada and Canadian needs than will the Duke of Connaught at the end of his term, and no one will have greater influence in the shaping of suitable imperial policies.

A MAGNIFICENT COUNTRY

A letter received from one of the prominent artists of New York, who has just returned from a trip to the Canadian Rockies, contains the following: "I went out to the end of steel on the Grand Trunk Pacific, then took the trail over to Maligne Lake, which I found to be the most beautiful lake I ever saw in my life. I had a delightful trip, and made several sketches. Returning I stopped off at Wainwright, and from there went out duck shooting in different directions, and had a most delightful time. Next year I hope to be able to get away earlier and see more of your magnificent country."

SHOT A LARGE BIRD

A large bird, supposed to be an eagle, was shot by James Ferguson on his farm near Plattsville, Ontario. The bird, which measured seven feet one inch from tip to tip, was shot while carrying off a goose. The beak of the bird shot was found to be more like that of a falcon, a still rarer bird in the neighborhood.

Bear Near Ottawa

Bears hase been troubling the nerves of the people of Chelsea, near Ottawa, and talks of organizing a hunting posse have been heard. Mr. A. Thibeault stated that he saw four in the vicinity of the Canadian Pacific Railway station at one day.

You May Have Catarrh And Not Know

HEAD AND THROAT BECOME DISEASED WITH CATARRH FROM NEGLECTING COLDS AND COUGHS.

Catarrh is Treacherous—When Fully Developed is a Horror—Note Its Symptoms.

"Is your breath bad?"
"Is your throat sore?"
"Do you cough at night?"
"Is your voice raspy?"
"Does your nose stop up?"
"Have you nasal discharge?"
"Do you spit up phlegm?"
"Has your nose an itchy feeling?"
"Have you pain across the eyes?"
"Is your throat irritable, weak?"
"Do you sleep with mouth open?"
"Are you subject to sneezing fits?"
"Do your ears roar and buzz?"
"Are you hard of hearing?"

If you have any of these indications of Catarrh, cure the trouble now—stop it before it gets into the lungs or bronchial tubes—then it may be too late. The remedy is "Catarrhozone", a direct breathable cure that places antiseptic balsams and healing medication on every spot that's tainted by catarrhal germs.

There can be no failure with Catarrhozone—for years it has successfully cured cases that resisted other remedies. "No one can know better than I the enormous benefit one gets from the very first day's use of Catarrhozone," writes T. T. Hopkins, of Westvale, P.Q. "I had for years a stubborn case of Bronchial Catarrh ear noises, headache, sore eyes, stopped-up nose and throat. It affected my appetite and made my breath rank. Catarrhozone cured quickly."

Get Catarrhozone, use it, and you are sure of cure—beware of imitations and substitutes. Large size Catarrhozone, with hard rubber inhaler lasts two months, and is guaranteed. Price $1.00, at all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

Caught a Huge Bass

On the Senaca River, Philip Fisher, of Syracuse, hooked a black bass weighing four and three-quarter pounds. He had plenty of delicate work to do before he landed this beauty. Four others, good ones though smaller than the one mentioned, were brought in at the same place shortly afterwards.

PRINCESS PATRICIA

England is loath to part with her, for she is young, pretty, witty—a charming English girl, possessing a most unroyal sense of humor and an extraordinary amount of brains.

Possibly some of these admirable qualities are due to her love of outdoor sports. As a child she played cricket like an expert, handling bat and ball with equal dexterity. So eager was she and so fearless of everything that she had many narrow escapes, and her mother was in constant expectation of having her brought home on a stretcher. Now, however, Princess Patricia can ride, play golf, and tennis, or sail a boat with the best sportsmen.

And the lovable qualities are very evident. The Royal children think it a red-letter day when their big, fun-loving cousin comes to stay with them. King Edward used to tell how one day he came upon Princess Patricia in the gardens at Sandringham, little Prince Henry on her back, and Prince Albert gravely leading her with a string. She was laughing and happy, and not at all disconcerted at being discovered. At dances which are given especially for her she does not select her partners and then send them word that they may have the honor of dancing with her, after the traditional Royal fashion, but she takes her chances along with all the other pretty women in the room, and it is not altogether because she is a Princess that she is never a wallflower.

[illegible] used to urge her to give imitations of her friends and relatives, and then laugh at her skill. As she grew older she exacted from him a promise not to use his Royal prerogative to force her into any marriage she did not wish. Thus she has been able to keep her freedom, even though not permitted to marry the man of her choice.

A pretty little story is told of one of Princess Patricia's visits as a child to Queen Victoria. The little girl had been running gleefully about on the lawn, when the Queen summoned her and made her sit down, saying: "Little girls should not run about so." The Princess obediently seated herself, crossed her legs, and began to rock to and fro.

"Little girls should not cross their legs," said the Queen severely, whereupon Patricia sighed and uncrossed them; then, after a few moments of thought, she asked gently: "What do little girls have legs at all for, grandma?" History does not relate Queen Victoria's answer.

SALMON NURSERY

From the Fisheries Department of the Dominion Government, whose duty it is to replenish the Canadian rivers with the commercial varieties of fish, come some interesting facts concerning fish-hatching. The work is carried out by a series of points both on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts and on the Great Lakes.

The largest of these—indeed, it is said to be the largest of its kind in the world—is the hatchery at Harrison Lake, drained by the Fraser River in British Columbia, which deals exclusively with the hatching of salmon. There are always 10,000,000 fish in the building—7,000,000 sockeye salmon eggs and fry (the fish principally used for canning purposes), and 3,000,000 spring salmon.

The building contains 160 hatching troughs, each averaging 50,000 fish. During September and October the eggs of the female are expressed into a pan and the fertilizing "milt" of the male thoroughly mixed with them. The eggs are then carried to the hatchery and placed in troughs set in flowing water.

When ready to be liberated the fry are placed in a specially constructed semi-submerged boat. This is towed to a chosen spot, and when in position is allowed to sink below the water.

SCOTSMEN IN CANADA

Least Likely to be Discouraged by Hardships in Canada

In an article discussing types of settlers in Canada, the Victoria Daily Colonist thus sums up its views of the various nationalities in the United Kingdom. "Experience with settlers from Scotland in the eastern provinces shows that of all newcomers they are the least likely to become discouraged by hardships and disappointments. Instances could be cited where settlers from Scotland, who were by no means well placed in respect to locality in Canada, have persevered against very adverse conditions and achieved success. They do not readily give up and they are not willing to sacrifice the result of their work, the latter quality leading them to stick out against conditions which would discourage people of almost every other nationality. When the Irish can be induced to go upon the land they exhibit excellent qualities, but again speaking from experience in the past, they are somewhat inclined to drift to the cities and work for wages in preference to becoming farmers. There are many conspicuous exceptions, and it would not be difficult to mention localities settled wholly by immigrants from Ireland, which are now very prosperous. There are Englishmen and Englishmen, when it comes to speaking of their fitness for pioneer work in a country like British Columbia. Here again eastern experience serves as a guide. A resourceful Englishman makes an admirable settler, but for [illegible] are not as many of this type as could be desired. The facts seem to show that almost any Scotsman can make a success [illegible] under pioneer conditions, that [illegible] Irishmen will do the same if the lure of the city has not drawn them away, and that a certain type of Englishman will also do so. We are speaking now of the pioneers only, the men who go out into the wilds and make a farm out of the rough. When it comes to the purchase of improved farms, we do not know that there is any difference to be noted between the people of the three kingdoms."

CANADIAN OSTRICH FARM

Wardner, British Columbia, has been selected as the site of the first Canadian ostrich farm. The experiment will be watched with much interest. Success has attended similar efforts not only in South Africa but also in some parts of the States as well, and it is believed that the peculiar climatic conditions required for success in such farming are to be found in the neighborhood of Wardner.

THE HOME LIFE OF THE WELSH

Some Glimpses of the Subjects of the Prince of Wales—Influence of Mr. Lloyd-George

Mr. Frank Elias has a very informative article about the Welsh people in T. P.'s Magazine.

"The student of Welsh life and character who encounters almost any village in North Wales, will be able to acquire a full knowledge of his subject without travelling a mile farther. For Welsh life has a certain quality of uniformity which is not found in the other constituent peoples of the Empire.

"The centre of the Welshman's life is the Chapel. On it his hopes are set, and in its light every fact of his character illuminates itself. He spends his leisure in its service, and even his relaxations are taken within its walls. The characteristic entertainment of the Welshman is the annual Chapel 'Tea Party and Grand Concert.' The 'grandeur' of the concert is taken for granted. The table spread before the purchaser of the tea-party ticket is not, perhaps, one to charm an eclectic taste. Bread and butter and bun loaf are the chief dishes. But there is abundance, there is an effervescing spirit of friendliness, and—thought dear to the passionate musician in every Welshman—there is the prospect of the concert.

"But the significance of the Chapel to the heart of the Welsh villager rests upon surer foundations than the social: Wales is a deeply religious nation, and the history of Wales is a religious history. Through the character of the Welshman there runs a strong strain of poetry and mysticism; he feels, with a special urgency, the appeal of the unseen. From his childhood he has breathed in the religious fervor of his fathers. The magnificent services of the Welsh Sunday-school to the national life have never been properly acknowledged. Nearly all the achievements of the Principality have had their foundation in this school.

"No form is more characteristically Welsh than that of the minister. He is mainly a son of the people. Indeed, every man who has moved the mind of Wales during the past two hundred years was born poor. Moreover, with the exception of Mr. Lloyd George, nearly every Welshman who wields an influence over his people has remained poor. Any obscure Englishman of modest prosperity going daily to the City and live in a $300 house, could have bought up most of the great Welshmen of the past. They had always to keep their wants humble. From inspiring their people they had to face an empty larder. But poor, these men were not despised. Theirs were the names their country celebrated. And so it is to-day.

"They have small means to buy [illegible] one of them has his library—a library [illegible] English literature. That this is so becomes obvious when, as they often do in their journeys, they preach in the Saxon tongue.

"But not only are these men readers; they are writers and they are poets. Indeed, the greater number of the national bards are ministers of religion.

"The Welsh minister is not, however, wholly a self-trained man. He has his denominational college and his National University. But, more than this, many Welsh preachers are Oxford men. No Nonconformist ministry, probably, has a larger number of its younger men holding Oxford degrees. Jesus College is the recognized home of Welsh culture, and it was among a notable set of Oxford men of the late eighties that the Young Wales Movement, of which Tom Ellis was leader, had its rise.

"The influence which Mr. Lloyd George wields in Wales is not, perhaps fully understood. It is true that he attracts the admiration and enthusiasm which are the due of the national leader. So, however, did Gladstone in England and Parnell in Ireland. Between the popular attitude towards Mr. Lloyd George there is this difference, that Gladstone and Parnell, loved though they were by the common people, were regarded not only with affection, but with a certain element of awe. They were felt to stand upon another plane than that of their followers. There is very little of this feeling among the men who follow Lloyd George.

"Mr. Lloyd George has an enormous moral and political influence in Wales. But he exercises, in a curious degree, an influence of quite another kind. Not only is he moulding Welsh opinion: he is even affecting Welsh psychology. The minor note in Welsh character has been observed. But the emergence of a Welshman, in every sense typical of his countrymen, upon the platform of world-history, has quickened the Welsh pulse and widened the Welsh outlook."

HOW TO KNIT A MAN'S TIE

You will need half an ounce each of white and colored knitting silk or cotton, and four needles.

Begin at the wide end by casting on 36 stitches; arrange 12 on each needle. Knit 12 rounds in colored, take up the white silk and knit six rounds, with the colored silk knit two rounds (the silk is not broken off, but passed up inside), six rounds in white, two rounds in colored, six rounds in white; repeat five times, and decrease thus: Knit the two first stitches together and the two last together of the round in every alternate round six times, so reducing the stitches to 24; repeat the stripes nine more times—this makes the tie one and a quarter yards in length—and cast off.

Lay the tie flat, letting the ends of the rows where the silks are changed come exactly in the centre of the back, sew the ends neatly together, place the tie between the folds of a damp cloth and press with a hot iron.

Local trappers are polishing up their traps preparatory to the spring season.

Norwood is to hold a big celebration on May 24th, under the auspices of the band.

The music at St. Luke's church was particularly good and reflected great credit upon the choir.

The services held in St. John's and other Anglican churches of the city, were well attended and very impressive.

ON OTHER WORLDS

Lick Observatory Astronomer Doubts If any of the Planets Could Sustain Intelligent Life.

Under the heading "Life in Other Worlds" Prof. Robert Grant Aitken of the Lick Observatory discusses in the current Journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada the probability as to the habitation of the planets. He summarizes all of the latest researches.

His conclusions are as follows:

The Moon—It may be that low forms of vegetable life are sustained by water vapor exuding through crevices from the moon's interior. But even if this proves true the moon must still be regarded as practically a dead world.

Jupiter, the largest of the planets—it is a semi-sun, probably gaseous throughout, with matter [illegible] as on the sun. Jupiter has no well defined surface or crust. The conditions there are chaotic. Obviously, in such a world there can be no question of life.

Saturn, the outermost planet known to the ancients—it resembles Jupiter, but is probably not so far advanced and is even less fitted than its larger neighbor to be the abode of life.

Uranus and Neptune—because of their great distance they are only minute disks in the largest telescopes. They present vague markings and they are so far from the sun that its heat and light can hardly be effective in protecting life upon these two planets even should life in any way originate there.

Satellites of Jupiter and Saturn—It is possible some of them may have water and an atmosphere dense enough for life. This is more conjectural and not probable.

Mercury—It apparently always keeps the same face toward the sun. It gets seven times as much heat as the earth and neither its eternal nor its everlasting roasting day is suitable for any form of life. It seems to have no atmosphere.

Venus—In size, mass, density and surface gravity it greatly resembles the earth. It has a dense, cloud-filled atmosphere. The whole question as to life on Venus turns on the problem as to the length of Venus's day. If its day equals its year that planet must be utterly desolate. The question is still an open one, though the evidence favors the belief that the day and the year on Venus are of equal length.

Mars—There undoubtedly are strong markings on Mars, but astronomers are not agreed as to whether the markings are natural or artificial, canals or mere earthquake cracks. The Martian atmosphere is rare and there are no permanent bodies of water on the planet. There is not enough water on the whole of Mars to fill one of the Great Lakes on the earth. The so-called polar ice caps and "frost" on Mars may be deposits of carbon-dioxide. The best that can be said is that while the [illegible] limited extent the conditions [illegible] probably only vegetable and animal life, but no beings of intelligence.

A ROUSING STRUGGLE

A Hard Game Between England and Scotland in Soccer Final

From the cabled reports it must have been a most exciting contest between Scotland and England for the International Soccer Championship, which resulted in a draw, the two countries, therefore holding the championship jointly for 1911 and 1912. The attendance was 150,000. There seems not to have been a dull moment and the huge crowd was kept in continuous excitement by the stirring efforts of the respective sides to gain the mastery. England appears to have been superior forward and this is what was expected owing to the five's knowledge of each other's play and individually all were stars. Scotland's attack was too much mixed up and individual instead of cohesive effort would be a feature of their play. It is worthy of note that Bobby Walker is mentioned as being the hero. This was the tenth time he had played for his country against England. The Scottish defence is credited with the draw and from this we may conclude that Brownlee, and Co., had more to do than Williamson, Crompton and Co.

The following shows the winners of the international championship since 1884, which was the first year all the countries played each other.

DERBY DAY IN BERMUDA

Racing a Much Cherished Institution in the Island

Derby day is the big day in Bermuda [illegible] March in connection with a half-dozen other races under the auspices of the Bermuda Hunt Club. Everybody goes to the Derby and it is considered the gala day of the season. The Maiden Stakes is run off promptly at 12 o'clock. This is for horses that have never won a race in Bermuda, but as most of the entries are from North America this is not a serious restriction. At 12.30 o'clock a five-furlong pony race is scheduled, which is merely a prelude to the great event of the day. Between 1 and 2 o'clock the paddocks, lawns and boxes are turned into picture grounds. The distance for this race is one mile and the horses make their getaway directly in front of the grandstand. The horses are ridden by members of the Bermuda Hunt Club or by jockeys licensed by the Club.

Bookmaking is allowed, but the popular form of betting is through the Pari-mutuel, which is run by the club. After the Derby comes a race called the Shaft Stakes, which gives the old reliables a chance to show what they can do. Next comes a Galloway stake for horses 15 hands and under, and then the visitors' cup. There is nothing commercial in the atmosphere and the scene resembles a country fair or a big picnic more than anything else.

PREFERS THE AMATEUR

There is no question but that lovers of athletics prefer to enthuse over and support amateur sport, in its purity, as against professionalism, writes M. J. Shea in The Winnipeg Free Press. There is something in the atmosphere that surrounds the amateur that makes his efforts more strongly appeal to the enthusiast than the more finished article that the paid player is supposed to advance.

WILD GOOSE RAISING

Toronto Man Has Wild Ducks, too, at Farm Near the City

Farming wild animals! What with the rapid decrease in all kinds of game, and especially of the fur-bearing quadruped, it really begins to look as though this might be a sound commercial proposition. That is what the Canadian Government is doing with the last remnant of the big buffalo herds. There will be an addition of two hundred calves in the huge park at Wainwright, Sask.

Not so very long ago some enterprising gentlemen in Minnesota bred wolves. When the pups had grown to big, ugly fellows with an insatiable appetite for dead horse, they were shot and their heads taken to the State authorities for the bounty. A fifteen-dollar per was quite a profitable game until the law found out.

Others go in for foxes or skunks, while in an application just come to hand from an American, a request is made for a tract of rough land in Northern Ontario whereon the grantee may farm everything from bears to weasels.

When the Belgian hare craze was rife here some twelve years ago, many Torontonians had hutches in their back yards. Of course these last-named animals can hardly be termed wild, but purchasers of the rodents at $25 a pair were wild enough when they found out what an unprofitable business they had embarked in.

A well-known citizen, a great sportsman with a farm on the Credit, has had wonderful success in raising wild geese and ducks. He is a member of a duck-shooting club, with large leases on Lake Scugog, and here in the fall of the year the wild ducks bred in captivity are made useful for decoying their roving brethren.

Painted wooden imposters are usually anchored out to tempt the wild ducks within range of the blind which the hunters hide. Oftentimes the keen eyes of the birds will detect something wrong in even the best of these decoys. But when a live duck 'quacks' and flaps its wings, even the most skeptical of the breed are prone to think all is right. One of these tethered black ducks is a very deadly bait, and the wild ducks very seldom fail to answer his lusty call.

Similarly the wild geese are used in the spring of the year. Just as the ice is breaking up and the warm days of April make one long for outdoors the gray Canada goose in thousands come into the feeding grounds at Lake Scugog to fill their crops with the remnants of last year's wild rice. It is then that Toronto hunters make their bags. Impossible to approach in any other way, the wary wild goose is inveigled to within gunshot of the blind by the blandishments of the tethered captives whose importunate honkings are not to be resisted.

IMPROVE JUAREZ TRACK

Racing Popular in Mexican City, and No Expense Will be Spared

Encouraged by the success of the race meeting, [illegible] associated with him in the management of Jockey Club Juarez are undertaking extensive improvements. The directors of the club are optimistic over the future of the sport in the Mexican city and have given Col. Winn carte blanche to expend any amount necessary for the improvement and embellishment of the plant. The contemplated improvements will cost approximately $50,000, and when the work is completed Col. Winn believes that the course will be one of the beauty spots on this continent. The improvements include the abandonment of the chutes at one mile and one mile and a sixteenth, and the placing of the starting posts for these distances on the main track, where the starts can be better viewed from the stand. The double railing separating the promenade and the track proper, will give way to rows of hedges and the space between the rows will be planted in clover. Two thousand pear trees will be planted in the space north of the paddock and field. The trees have already been contracted for. The infield will be sown in wheat in winter and oats in the summer. For the protection of the patrons against the sharp winds that are prevalent at certain periods of the year, an adobe wall, twenty feet high, will be constructed around the track at the most effective locations. A ladies' room will be installed under the stand, where the restaurant and kitchen are at present located. The two last named will be moved close to the betting ring.

NEW RACING REGULATION

In introducing his bill to prevent the indiscriminate establishment of race-courses throughout the country, the Minister of Justice made the announcement that the charters applied for two years ago for Thorncliffe Park and the London Jockey Club had been granted, and the act would not apply to them. It provides that the protection of the Miller bill will not apply to new courses established under the easy, and practically secret, method of incorporation under the joint stock companies act. The bill is not retroactive, but it means that in future there can be no legal speculation on the courses of associations which receive their authority by act of Parliament.

REGULATING AIR TRAFFIC

According to the new regulations, all airmen in France must be provided with navigation certificates and with permits for their air-craft. Flights over cities or crowds are prohibited. No explosives, cameras, or wireless apparatus may be carried without special permission. In the near future all air-craft will be expected to carry three lights—a white one in front, a green one on the right and a red one on the left. A horn must be carried for use in foggy weather. Air-craft are expected never to pass within 400 feet of each other.

HAS ATTAINED TO AGE OF 105

Alexander Renau, of Haileybury, was Born During the Reign of King George III.

Erect, hale and hearty, Alexander Renau, of Haileybury, is a living advertisement of the virtues that exist in the non-observance of the maxims of our grandfathers. He celebrates his 106th birthday in December, and has made a constant use of tobacco, both smoking and chewing it since he was 11 years old. He also was a moderate drinker of alcoholic beverages until within seven years or so ago when he was seized with the idea that as he had come to live in close proximity to places where liquor could be obtained with ease, he had better cut it out as a too great facility for obtaining beverages might lead him to over-indulge in them. Alexander was born in St. Paul, Quebec, Dec. 10, 1805, when Napoleon was the dictator and when George the third was on the throne of the only country in Europe that was able to offer any serious opposition to Napoleon's conquering march.

From his earliest youth, Alexander Renau was habituated to a life of rough work and as he himself states, was almost born with an axe in his hand. Lumbering was the one industry apart from trapping and the small amount of elementary farming that was pursued in those remote days in Quebec. Lumbering and farming have been the chief occupations of his life, and yet the feel of an axe is pleasant to his hands and his great age does not prevent him from wishing to be out again at the timber. Schooling of a formal nature never came his way, but the deeper schooling that comes of a lifetime of shrewd observation of his fellow men carried on for over a century, has made a thoroughly educated man of Alexander Renau, who is able to relate endless strings of entertaining reminiscences, although he was never taught to commit them to paper.

After the manner of his countrymen he married young, and was blessed with 12 children, who in turn have brought him nearly 40 grandchildren and already there are half a score of great grand children who can claim a living ancestor in Alexander Renau. Mr. Renau is still in perfect health and has all his faculties, his eyesight and hearing being unimpaired.

How to Boil a Ham

Soak the ham for twelve hours in cold water, then take it out and scrape it well. Put it into a large saucepan, cover with cold water, and boil gently for three hours. Let it get cold in the water, then take off the skin carefully. Place a sheet of white paper over the ham, rub the paper, then take a fresh piece of paper and repeat. This smooths the ham and absorbs the grease. Sprinkle over browned breadcrumbs.

Veal Jelly

Cut up one pound of lean veal, and let it simmer for half an hour in white stock, well seasoned. Dissolve a small quantity of leaf gelatine to solidify the stock, and pour the whole into a mould. Add small pieces of lean, cooked ham, one egg, boiled hard and cut in slices, and a little parsley. This will make a pretty dish when turned out, and should be garnished with the hearts of lettuces and thin slices of cucumber.

To Wash Silk Handkerchiefs

To prevent white silk handkerchiefs from turning yellow when washed, use bath water that is not very hot. Put the handkerchiefs into a good lather, and squeeze them until the dirt is all out. Do not rub them. Rinse two or three times in warm water, and lastly in cold water. They should always be ironed the day they are washed, after they have been laid aside in a towel for an hour. The iron must not be too hot, and the handkerchiefs must be well dried by the fire. All silks should be washed this way.

HOUSE WRINKLES

These Hints if Followed Will Produce Many a Good Result

On dry, windy days the door of your house often gets very dusty. To save labor, get an old stocking, put on it a little paraffin oil, and rub it all over the door. This method makes the door look nice and clean, and the dust does not settle so quickly.

Barley Porridge

Barley makes a delicious variety in porridge. For four or five persons, soak three ounces of pearl barley overnight, stew all the next day in rather less than a quart of water, and the next morning warm it up with two or three teaspoonfuls of lemon-juice.

Collar Hint

Starched collars often get the button hole broken before they are half worn out. To make them wear longer take a piece of tape and sew neatly across the hole, and work a new hole in the tape. If this is done before sending to the laundry they will look quite neat when they come back.

Hot Water Marks on Tables

The best way to remove marks and rings made by hot water jugs, etc., being put upon polished trays or tables, is to make a thin paste of salad oil and salt, leave it on the mark or ring for an hour; then polish with a dry cloth, and the mark will have disappeared.

Little Gooseberry Pies

Stew some gooseberries till soft, but not broken. Line some patty-pans with short paste, fill them with gooseberries, add sufficient sugar, and cover with paste as for mince-pies. Bake in a good oven. Before sending to table sift castor sugar over the pies.

Rhubarb Tarts

A rhubarb tart can be greatly improved by putting a small cupful of raw tapioca in the dish with the rhubarb, etc. When the tart is cooked the juice will be found to be of a thick jelly-like substance, but the tapioca cannot be seen. The tapioca also keeps the juice from bubbling over the oven.

When Ironing Sheets

Instead of spreading out the sheet to iron, fold it in half, then quarter, and lay it on the ironing-board. Iron the rest of the clothes on top of the sheet, turn it occasionally, so as to reach every part, then fold it and begin on another sheet. In this way the sheets are ironed with very little trouble.

When Potatoes Boil Black

When potatoes are inclined to go black after boiling, the following is a good plan to improve the color and make them floury: Peel them an hour before cooking, and put into cold water to cover, and place in fresh cold water with a little salt, and a tablespoonful of milk. Let them come to a boil, then simmer for the rest of the time till cooked.

Remedy for Heavy Pastry

Housewives who have a heavy hand for pastry should try beating their lard with a fork and bringing it to a cream, and then adding their flour and stirring a little in gradually. [illegible] instead of crumbling the [illegible] and adding the sugar required with the flour. [illegible] require only one-third of the lard generally used, and a lighter crust will be the result.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

St. John's Church Wardens Appointed.

Last night St. John's Church Vestry meeting was held. As usual, it was short, being adjourned for two weeks. The Churchwardens were appointed, viz., Rector's Warden, Mr. H. W. Morphet; People's Warden, Mr. A. H. Stratton.

Death of Mrs. J. H. McCarrell.

Mrs. J. H. McCarrell, Wolsley street, has passed away very suddenly in her 45th year. The deceased has lived in the city for the past five years. Mrs. McCarrell leaves to mourn her loss her husband, and one son. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Service at the house at 1.30.

Former Local Man Staunch Tory.

Mr. Geo. Ingle, who lived in this city for ten years, coming here in 1843, and in 1853 went to Lindsay, where he is proprietor of a successful planing mill. Mr. Ingle is the oldest Conservative voter in Lindsay. He was born in Port Hope. Mr. Ingle assisted in building the first brick building erected in this city, on George street.

Stole Buggy and Bought a Jag.

As Dr. McCullough of Lindsay was starting from his office to perform an operation, a few days ago, he found his horse and buggy gone. Chief Chilton found Dan O'Keefe, with the outfit and also a bad attack of G. & W. or Seagram's extract. He arrested O'Keefe and locked him up. O'Keefe is evidently of a lively disposition, as he broke every window in his cell.

Got Too Much Lindsay Booze.

A Peterborough cooper, fire-ranger and all round mechanic, a few days ago was in Lindsay. He did not understand the amount of ozone in the Lindsay atmosphere, nor the lack of Scugog water in the Lindsay booze. He became so overcome that medical advice had to be summoned. $7 and costs or 21 days. He was allowed to go and, took the first train for Peterborough.

English Farm Hands Wanted.

The local Immigration Office is inundated with applications for farm hands. Whilst about thirty English immigrants arrived here recently, they only filled about ten per cent of the demand for such help. A party of about 150 immigrants who are booked to leave London about the 17th of this month will come to Peterborough, and thus help to remove the present demand.

To Investors.

Messrs. Steele & Large, of Calgary, are giving the people of the East a chance to get in on the Edmonton boom by selling a subdivision on the easiest terms, only $10 down and $5 a month. Their subdivision is situated south of High Level Bridge and Alberta University, and is about two miles south of Burrows Street (White [illegible] portion of this paper.

Enquiries made yesterday as to the condition of Mrs. Lambert, still in the hospital showed she was just about the same. It will be remembered that Mrs. Lambert last Friday evening was calling at the residence of Mrs. Hunter, 467 Water street. Whilst leaving Mrs. Lambert, missing one of the outside steps fell heavily, breaking an arm and her hip bone. She was taken in Comstock's ambulance to Nicholls Hospital.

When the City Was Young.

Referring to our report of the address given by Judge Huycke, under auspices of the Women's Art Association, it might be noted that Mr. F. H. Dobbin, has consented to give an address under the same auspices. His subject will be "When the City Was Young." The address, to which members and their friends are invited will be given Friday, April 12th, in the studio of the association, Public Library.

The Clocks Keep Good Time.

A family living on Brock street, well known in local society, have five or six clocks. These clocks have always kept their own time, irrespective of the sun's movements or the big city time piece. Last week the clocks were all taken to a George street jeweller for repairs, and returned Saturday. Yesterday morning, Mrs. —— proudly pointing to the French clock, remarked, "All the clocks in our house are right, now, do you know, my dear, they are all exactly the same time."

Local Plumber Honored.

On Good Friday, Mr. R. G. Sturgeon of this city was appointed chairman of the Sanitation Committee of the Ontario Society of Domestic Sanitary and Heating Engineers, at their meeting held in Toronto. Mr. Sturgeon was given authority to appoint two other members. He was the only Peterborough representative present, and was granted a diploma. The meeting was well attended, representatives being present from as far West as Port Arthur and from Ottawa on the east.

Death of Former Local Resident.

Word has been received here of the death, at Milwaukee, Wis., of a former Peterborough man, Mr. Thos. Derry of McDonnel street. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, his mother, five sisters and two brothers, all of whom reside in Peterborough, excepting one brother in Dundas. The remains will arrive here on the 9.15 train this evening. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 465 McDonnel street, to-morrow afternoon (Wednesday) at 2.30, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

Local Oddfellows at Lindsay.

Several local oddfellows, and members of the Peterborough Encampment, visited Lindsay on Good Friday and put on a lodge of instruction for Guiding Star Encampment, No. 22, I.O.O.F. of that town. Grand Patriarch Thompson of the town of Windsor, was present and addressed the brethren. The brethren from Hiawatha Encampment, No. 66, Peterborough conferred the R.P. Degree, Bro. G. F. Cairns, captain. Mount Hebron Encampment No. 56, conferred the P. Degree and the G. [illegible] Degree, Bro. Thos. [illegible] being the captain. The Peterborough visitors [illegible] the following brethren Geo. J. Johnston, J. Buchanan, H. Barrett, J. Juby, R. Murduff, C. Gould, G. F. Cairns, George Baird, Geo. Sachern, John Richardson, J. Fred Reed, J. S. Londerwith, Kent Throop, E. Wand, Geo. C. Carruthers, R. E. Harding, B. M. Frederick, M. J. Kirn, W. J. Hooper and R. J. Craig. Refreshments were served in the Royal Hotel.

Homeseekers' and Settlers' Special Trains to Western Canada.

Via Chicago and St. Paul, April 16th, 23rd, and 30th, and every second Tuesday thereafter until Sept. 17th, inclusive. Tickets will also be on sale certain dates via Sarnia and Northern Navigation Company. Special train will leave Toronto at 10.30 p.m. on above dates for Edmonton and points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, stopping at all points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg. Through coaches and Pullman Tourist Sleepers will be carried fully equipped with bedding and porter in charge. Berths may be secured in sleepers at a low rate. This is an exceptional opportunity for those wishing to take advantage of the remarkably low one-way Settlers' rates or round trip Homeseekers' excursions through the American cities. No change of cars. Secure tickets and berth reservations from any Grand Trunk Agent, or write A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto.

Rescued the Dog.

On Saturday evening, a dog of the hound species belonging to Mr. Wm. G. Westlake, 570 Bethune street, which was chained in the cellar, came nearly losing its life. Mr. Westlake's house is situated in the flooded district, and when the water began to raise in the cellar on the night above referred to, the dog became very much excited and "gave tongue" in loud and prolonged wails. Mr. Westlake was unfortunately from home, and the family not being aware of the flood, naturally became very much alarmed, thinking that burglars were at work. Upon investigation it was found that the dog was in imminent danger of drowning, as he was chained in a distant room in the cellar. In the emergency a rescue party was hastily formed, headed by a well known lawyer who lives nearby, and the outside cellar door was battered in and the dog released. It is said the animal had been swimming for some time, and the rising water would soon have ended his existence. It was a brave rescue. The neighbors are all of the opinion that a Carnegie hero medal should come to Peterborough.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

Lindsay is going to reduce its license fees on roller skating rinks and moving picture houses.

The Knights of Columbus of Lindsay, arrived in the city yesterday at noon in a special train.

The West End Athletic Club will henceforth be known as the Marlboro Club.

The three days' convention in Gospel Hall will end Sunday night, after a successful series of meeings.

Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong and family wish to thank their many friends for their kindness during the illness and death of their daughter Winnie.

It looks as though the dog poisoners are at work again. Mr. Thomas Lucas has lost a valuable collie dog by that route.

The average cost of maintenance per patient daily, during 1911, in Nicholls Hospital was $1.94; in St. Joseph's Hospital 90 cents.

Lindsay is to have a new garage. A permit for a fire proof structure has been issued, the tender let, and work begun.

The 6th anniversary of Knox church will be celebrated on April 14th, when Rev. Thos. Mitchell, of London, Ont., will preach.

The Peterborough Canoe Co., are shipping a 35 foot speed launch to Toronto for the Harbour Commissioners.

The train bringing the Knights of Columbus from Orillia and Lindsay, yesterday morning, per G.T.R. special, was somewhat delayed by spring freshets.

Attention is directed to the Ad. of Messrs. Steele & Large of Calgary, who are handling a subdivision in Edmonton on very easy terms. Since Messrs. Steele & Large put this subdivision on market lots have advanced $60, each, which speaks for itself.

Cheer up, ye taxpayers of Peterborough! the Canadian Journal of Commerce says that Woodstock, Ont. is to vote on $60,000 city hall debentures. Think of our magnificent City Hall! Still our local palace is paid for.

The North American Life Assurance Co. issues policies second to none. The profits given to policyholders are equal to those of the very best. Insure your life in the North American Life Assurance Co. Office, 167 Charlotte Street. (6t-A6t18)

Peterborough is lucky, with its immense downfall of snow, that it has not, like London, Ont., a flood this spring. Of course some inconvenience was caused Sunday by the creeks overflow, but if the river is kept under control, we shall be lucky.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Frank Pope, Quebec, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. Albert Martin, of the Toronto News, was here yesterday.

Mrs. S. F. Robins, of Claremont, is visiting her home on George street

Mr. J. W. Kearns is spending the Easter holidays with his family here.

Miss Ellen Garrard, of 544 Bethune street, spent Easter with Mrs. McRay, at Wellesley, Ont.

Walter Perks, who is with the Royal Trust Company, Montreal, is in the city visiting his parents.

Mr. Kenneth MacKenzie, Toronto, is the guest of Mr. Frank H. Dawson, 463 Donegal street.

Miss Bessie Cook, of Detroit, Mich. is visiting at the home of her mother, 711 Harvey street.

Lindsay Post: Mr. Sid Crowe, of the Electric City was in Lindsay for Good Friday.

Mr. Walter Byers, Toronto, is the guest of his parents at Byersville.

Miss Panton, Oshawa, formerly teacher in the P.C.I. of this city, is here on a visit.

Mr. Bert Miller was home for the Easter vacation from McGill College, Montreal.

Among other Peterborough citizens who visited Lindsay on Good Friday, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams of this city.

Messrs. Albert Duncan, and John Murphy of the Peterborough Business College, visited Lindsay last week.

Miss Mattie B. Robertson, B.A., has returned from Kingston where she attended a meeting of the Levana Society.

Dr. MacPherson is confined to Nicholls Hospital. His many friends will hope for a speedy recovery. In response to enquiries made by The Times yesterday, he was reported as "doing nicely."

Word was received here yesterday from Mr. Geo. V. Clementi, Palatka, Florida. Mr. Clementi, an old Peterborough boy, known to his many friends as "Dod," has been ill for some time, but is now convalescent, and expects to leave for Chicago in a few days.

Mr. W. Grant Paton, business Manager, of the United Alkali Co., Limited, Greenbank Works, St. Helens, England, is in the city. Mr. Paton leaves this evening for Toronto, where he will spend a few days previous to starting for Winnipeg and Vancouver.

MARRIED.

Unionist Leaders Review Monster Anti-Home Rule Procession in the City of Belfast

BELFAST SHOWS THAT ULSTER WILL NOT HAVE HOME RULE

Bonar Law Says We Unionists Regard Your Cause as the Cause of the Empire if we Defeat Home Rule Now it Will be Defeated for all Time

Belfast April 9.—That the opposition of the Province of Ulster, on which the Irish Unionists mainly base their hopes of ultimately defeating the forthcoming Home Rule bill, remains as virile as in 1886 and 1893, the years in which William E. Gladstone introduced his two Home Rule bills for Ireland, seems to have been fairly demonstrated by the vast throngs of Orangemen and Unionists who to-day again registered their "unaltered and unalterable opposition to a separate Parliament for Ireland in any form."

A demonstration of 150,000 enthusiasts this morning passed in procession before Andrew Bonar Law and other prominent Unionist leaders at the Royal Ulster Agricultural Society Grounds.

Police Were Alert.

The police nervously patrolled the streets, in momentary fear of a bloody riot. The Nationalist leaders had urged their followers not to interfere with the meeting, but it was feared that, under stress, the excitable Home Rulers would cause an outbreak and attempt reprisals for the treatment of Orangemen accorded First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill, when he made his great Home Rule speech here two months ago. Fearing that the sight of troops might precipitate trouble, Col. Count Gleichen, in charge of the Belfast military, kept his soldiers in readiness at Curragh camp, prepared to be rushed into Belfast at a moment's notice.

Prominent Speakers.

Excitement was at a high pitch when Law began a bitter attack on the measure which will be introduced on Thursday. He declared that the Liberals were now endeavoring to force Home Rule through a single chamber Parliament.

From three other platforms, Lord Charles Beresford, Walter Hume Long, Lord Hugh Cecil, Sir Robert Finlay, Lord Castlereagh, and other prominent Unionists leaders, urged the excited Orangemen to resist Home Rule to the end.

Sold the Constitution.

Mr. Law, during his speech said "We do not know the nature of the bill to be introduced on Thursday. It is part of the plot to keep the country in ignorance as long as possible. I do not believe one in a hundred of the British people regards Home Rule as good for Britain or Ireland. You say, and I think you mean it, you will not submit to Home Rule.

Extreme Measures Justified.

At the Ulster Reform Club yesterday an address was presented to Mr. Law which accused Mr. Asquith of forcing Home Rule on Ireland without a mandate, and postponing the promised restitution of the House of Lords until the policy of the dismemberment of the Empire had been effected. The address ended by demanding the maintenance of the constitution, and claiming that Ulster was justified in resorting to the most extreme measures in resisting Home Rule.

SPRING ASSIZES WERE OPENED YESTERDAY

The Spring Assizes opened here yesterday, with his Lordship, Judge Latchford presiding. The Grand Jury was composed of the following: J. Turner, foreman, Messrs. R. Hill, R. Sheehan, S. A. Oke, G. Patterson W. G. Read, M. Whitney, A. Prest, J. Harrison, C. Thompson, S. Ray and A. McIntyre.

The following members of the bar were present: Mr. F. M. Fields, K. C., Cobourg; Mr. E. G. Porter, K. C., Belleville; Messrs. D. J. Lynch, and A. B. Colville, Campbellford; Crown Attorney R. E. Wood, Mr. D. O'Connell, Mr. G. N. Gordon.

Gentlemen of the Jury,—You will be glad to know that there are no criminal cases. Therefore, your only duty will be to visit the goal, court house and other institutions of the county receiving aid from the Government, and report to me as to the fitness of these institutions for the work they are supposed to do, and also make such recommendations for improvement which, in your judgement, should be made. You will first visit the court house and the gaol.

A prison should be a suitable place for confinement of those unfortunate or criminal enough to be incarcerated there. I find in the report of the gaol that there are a number of inmates confined therein who cannot be classified as criminals, but are awaiting removal to some other institution where they will receive the care and treatment especially adapted to their case. Two of those who are confined in the gaol are insane and have been incarcerated for some months, pending their removal elsewhere. These are not criminals, but there are some criminals responsible for the detention of these unfortunates. The responsibility lies with us for the conditions that exist as regards this matter. This is a condition which should not be tolerated. There is another matter that calls for observation at your hands and that is the detention [illegible] these are incarcerated in the gaol, whose ages run from 65 upwards and are classed as vagrants. The gaol is no place for these people. The fact that they are poor is the only offence that they are known to have committed upon civilization. There should be some other place besides the common gaol, which is only a place for criminals, for the housing of these unfortunates. What recommendations you may make in this respect, is for you to decide.

After this you may visit the hospitals. As a rule the hospitals are splendidly conducted. But it would do no harm for you to exercise your right to inspect these institutions.

As the court is not likely to last over to-morrow morning, I would ask you to be expeditious as possible in the discharge of your duties as consistent with proper judgment.

The first case called was that of Samuel Newall of Dummer, who was charged with criminal assault. Newall, it will be remembered, was to have been tried at the Assizes last Fall, but was not in physical condition to stand the strain. Yesterday he seemed little improved. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defence.

The following jury were sworn in: Messrs. F. Mann, A. McEwen, T. Davis, S. Miller, R. D. Short, W. Puffer, G. Fitzgerald, J. C. Fowler, H. C. Robertson, D. Philips, J. Blewett and T. Petrie.

The Crown Prosecutor made special reference to the seriousness of the charge with which they would have to deal. The prisoner entered a plea of not guilty. The first witness called was the plaintiff, Miss Maggie Moore. She related the circumstances leading to the committing of the crime.

The jury retired and quickly brought in a verdict of guilty. Sentence was deferred until this morning.

The next case tried was that of Stephens vs. Wright. The principals in the case, are two Campbellford undertakers. It seems that a man who died in Kingston had two sons; one living West and one at Kingston. The two sons sent, it is said, telegrams, individually to rival undertakers in Campbellford, where the deceased was to be interred. One of them, the first to arrive got hold of the coffin containing the body on its arrival by G.T.R. and was taking it to his hearse. Just then the other undertaker stepped up and demanded the corpse, saying he had orders for the funeral. Now, the undertaker first getting the body, whose name (the undertaker's) is Stephens, gave up the deceased to Mr Wright. Thus the trial to see who had the rights of sepulture. The case began in the afternoon, and will be continued this morning.

WILL BE BROUGHT BACK TO TORONTO FOR HIS TRIAL

Toronto, April 9.—Edward Elmer McIntosh, whom the Provincial police have been seeking up and down America for the alleged theft of $20,000 worth of Traders Bank bills taken from a safe on the train between Ottawa and Toronto has been identified by Superintendent Rogers at Syracuse, New York, and will be brought back to Toronto for his trial.

Mr. Rogers received a telegram this morning from Judge Ray, of Syracuse, stating that the Attorney-General of the United States had given his permission for the deportation of McIntosh. He is being held at Syracuse on a charge laid by the American Customs officers of smuggling horses and an automobile across the river from Cornwall.

The adventures of McIntosh, according to a story told by the Provincial police this morning, include some of the most daring and picturesque acts in defiance of the law, with a long series of successful getaways marking his trail from Toronto to Montreal, thence south through New Hampshire and New York States and finally back to the international border where he fell into the hands of the customs officers.

Has Toronto Car.

McIntosh had in his possession at the time of his arrest an automobile which is supposed to belong to F. A. Rolph, of Toronto, and was stolen from the Lambton Golf Links about the time of the suspect's disappearance.

EDUCATIONAL MATTERS ARE DISCUSSED IN CITY OF TORONTO

Toronto, April 9.—A host of teachers from all parts of the Province took the University by storm this morning, the largest delegation yet known for a first day, appearing at the introductory meetings of the 51st annual gathering of the Ontario Educational Association. The machinery of the eighteen different departments were set in motion in as many different rooms of the University, and the course of instruction for the three days' session promises to be most complete and adequate.

Of primary importance and interest were the addresses given by President Falconer on the Standard of Matriculation, [illegible] [illegible]ional Committee to the Government on the investigation of Teachers' Superanuation, and the programme of the Teachers Training Department.

Standard Matriculation.

President Falconer speaking in connection with the college and high school department discussed the standards of matriculation.

"Each year the increasing pressure of the large classes in University raises anew the question whether in justice to the work of the University an entrance standard equivalent to our senior matriculation should not be introduced very soon," he began.

The work of the grade of the first year could be taught equally well by specialists in the High School. Thus the B.A. degree could be secured in three years.

Post graduate study and research [illegible]

The high matriculation standard would also aid the High School of the Province.

SCHOOL TEACHERS AT HOME OF CHICAGO BEEF TRUST MAGNATES

Chicago, April 9.—Scenes and sounds of slaughter, bellowing of the death-doomed bovines, spilling of the blood of swine. This provided the excitement of to-day for the Toronto school teachers. They visited the Armour Packing Plant, a guide conducting the party through the various departments and showing them the processes.

Some of the women wanted to faint at the sight of so much gore, but managed to get through. This is a trip not usually given to large bodies, but John Milne, leading the party in Inspector Hughes' absence, secured permission through the influence of Chicago friends.

This is election day in Chicago. Their primaries are voting and stores and schools are closed. Suffrogettes are manning the polls to see how the voting is being conducted.

Yesterday and to-day many of the teachers spent the day visiting Marshall Field's big store, guides being provided by the firm, and every part of the big store plant was shown the Canadians.

Honor was done the Canadian actor last night when a large party of the teachers went to the Illinois Theatre, where William Courtleigh of Guelph made a real hit in "When I Comes Home," a new play by Augustus Thomas. The audience went wild over it and over Courtleigh's acting of the leading role.

MOVED THAT REWARD BE OFFERED FOR MURDERER

Toronto Controller, at a Session of Board of Control Said $2,000 Reward Would Not be Too Much

Toronto, April 9.—At this morning's session of the Board of Control Controller Church moved that the Mayor take steps for the offering of a proper reward for the arrest of the murderer of Joseph Rosenthal.

The motion was as follows:

"That the Mayor be requested to confer with the Police Commissioners and have a proper reward offered at once for the apprehension of the murderer of Joseph Rosenthal, also that negotiations be held with the Police Commissioners and the Honourable, the Attorney-General of Ontario for the future to provide for the joint and immediate offer of rewards in such cases, with a view to the safety and proper protection of the public."

On the Increase.

Controller Church argued that murders were getting altogether too numerous, and that steps should be taken immediately for a campaign against crime.

He pointed out that, in spite of well lighted streets, a large number of murders had occurred recently and the offenders were escaping.

"It is getting to be worse than New York," remarked the Controller.

Would Offer $2,000.

Controller Church told the Mayor that he did not think a reward of $2000 would be too much to offer for information for the arrest of Rosenthal murderers.

No New Developments.

The veil of mystery surrounding the circumstances in which Rosenthal was beaten to death and Eli Dunkelman into unconsciousness, so far as could be ascertained this morning, has not been penetrated by any of the five officers at present working on the case. In the absence of Inspector W. Duncan in Hamilton, no information was forthcoming on the matter, but it was stated by an official that the detectives were still following up the slight clues left by the murderers.

Dunkelman Will Recover.

Dunkelman is still in a precarious condition at the General Hospital, though this afternoon it was declared that unless unforseen complications arose, he would recover. On his description of the murderers depends their ultimate apprehension, as with the little tangible evidence on which they now have to use their case, the officers have but slight hope of getting their men.

TEACHERS WHO BEAT UP A JAMAICAIN PUPIL NOT GUILTY

Woodstock, Ont., April 9.—The "not guilty," case [illegible] against A. T. McDonald, Leon McCrimmon, and Vincent Price, assistant masters at Woodstock College (Baptist), who it was alleged, assaulted a Jamaician student, H. V. Hoppwood, by cruelly beating him on his bare back while holding him over the vaulting horse, was given out this morning, and was [illegible] Ball pointed out that the charge was not laid by the boy, and that the punishment was not excessive, and, therefore, not against the law. The only fault he found was with the method of administering the punishment. The magistrate strongly urged that in the future corporal punishment be only administered under the specific order of the principal and under his supervision.

AGREEMENT BETWEEN CANADA AND WEST INDIES ALL READY

Ottawa, Ont., April 9.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster announced at the conclusion of the conference with the West Indian delegates in the department this morning, that a treaty between the West Indies and Canada will be signed at two or three o'clock this afternoon.

It is not expected that any thing definite concerning the terms of the treaty will be announced for some time to come, as the schedules have to be submitted to the several Legislatures and Governments involved for ratification. Mr. Foster said that this will necessarily mean a delay of several weeks.

"You may say," said Mr. Foster, "that a treaty has been arranged. We will be able to supply further information later in the day, but you will not be satisfied with it. To give out at the present moment any definite information would result in incalculable trouble."

Has to Be Ratified.

In addition to the West Indian Legislatures, the treaty will have to be considered by the Colonial Secretary and the full Cabinet Council of the Dominion Government.

COLLISION BETWEEN BOATS CAUSES DEATH OF TWO HUNDRED

Cairo, Egypt, April 9.—A large number of passengers, estimated by some at 200, were drowned last evening by the sinking of a Nile excursion steamer after a collision with another steamer in the vicinity of the great dam on the river about 15 miles to the northwest of Cairo, and a few miles from Kalyub.

The steamer had 300 passengers on board, who had taken advantage of the Easter holiday to take a trip to the river dam. On the return journey upstream, and not far from the dam, the excursion boat collided with another steamer and sank almost immediately.

All on board were thrown into the river, but many lives were saved by the vessel with which the excursion boat had collided.

Another passenger steamer and a number of boats from the shore hastened to the rescue, and picked up many of those struggling in the water. It is not yet known how many lives were lost, and the identity of the bodies has not been ascertained.

The boat was overloaded. The big lumbering vessel was in centre of the stream when she collided head-on with another vessel. The ferry turned completely over.

Many Bodies Have Been Recovered.

The bodies of seventeen victims of the collision had been recovered up to an early hour this morning. The Government authorities have organized a systematic dragging of the river bed.

PRAISE FOR THE TIMES.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I have only been a subscriber to your bright paper about two months. In that time, however, I have read enough to convince me that you and your editorial staff, are on the right track. I see that your paper has the courage of its convictions, and that the muzzle of Rome, which has wrecked countries in both Europe and South America, cannot stop your opinions being given vent. The Times is evidently penned from a British point of view and thought. Now, that the younger generation is growing up, is the time to teach the doctrine that England and Canada can and must control their own affairs and destiny, without interference or dictation from Monsignor or Cardinal from Rome. Let the Vatican get all it can, whether in Peter's pence or otherwise, from her rich adherents, or the poor servant girl. That is the business of the donor; but, Mr. Editor, Rome pays nothing towards Canadian taxes, and without taxation there should be no representation.

CHARGE AGAINST MILLIONAIRE

Aiken, S C., April 9.—Excitement over the mysterious assault several weeks ago on Mrs. F. O. Beach, a prominent New York woman, who spent the winter here, was increased late yesterday when a warrant was issued for the arrest of her millionaire husband charging him with slashing her throat.

It was generally believed that Mrs. Beach's assailant was a negro.

Mr. Beach was married in November 29th, 1899, in this city. William K. Vanderbilt was best man. His bride was the widow of Chas. F. Havemeyer, to whom she was married in October, 1890, and who died suddenly in May, 1898. She later became acquainted and closely attached to Beach on account of their mutual fondness for outdoor sports,

Walter Thorogood, Charged With Killing Joseph Solina With Billiard Cue, Surrenders

True to his promise to his counsel Mr. W. A. Henderson, and communicated by the latter to the police, Walter Thorogood, who has been wanted on a charge of murder for his connection in the affray in the billiard parlours at 319 Yonge street, Toronto, on Friday night, when Joseph Solina, the young Italian shoe-cleaner was fatally beaten with a billiard cue, surrendered to the authorities at the City Hall this morning.

He was arraigned in the police court on the charge of murder and remanded to the 17th inst.

According to the prisoner's story of the affair, the deed was committed in self defence. He says that he was ordered from the billiard room by Solina. When he refused to go the latter came towards him and menaced with a billiard cue. Some persons who were present in the room warned Thorogood to be careful of Solina, as the latter "would get him."

Fearing that the Italian was about to assault him Thorogood seized a cue also and threw it at Solina.

He denies emphatically that the cue was in his hand at the time Solina received his injuries.

To-night at the Morgue, Coroner Dr. Graham will continue the inquiry into the circumstances surrounding Solina's death, and it is believed that Thorogood will be present and tell the jury his version of the affair.

SHOPLIFTERS REMANDED

Toronto, April 9.—Mary Callaghan and Bell Freeman, both of 333 Carlton street, who were arrested in the T. Eaton Company's store on a charge of shop-lifting, appeared in the police court this morning. Both pleaded guilty to thefts from the Robert Simpson Company and were remanded until the 17th.

When the premises at 333 Carlton street were searched by the police a quantity of stolen stuff, valued at over $2,000, was found packed in trunks. Most of the goods had the price tags attached.

SONG BY MR. BARTON
"Under the Orange Blossom Tree"

PATIENCE IS A VIRTUE.

For three and a half hours Miss Portly had been sitting on the lap of the somewhat puny Mr. Weak, but the little fellow had not murmured. The sun gradually sank into the horizon and the twilight faded into night, but he bore his weightly burden like a martyr.

"Darling," gushed the damsel at length, transferring her sixteen stone to his other knee, "arn't you tired?"

Mr. Weak groaned and looked distinctly unhappy.

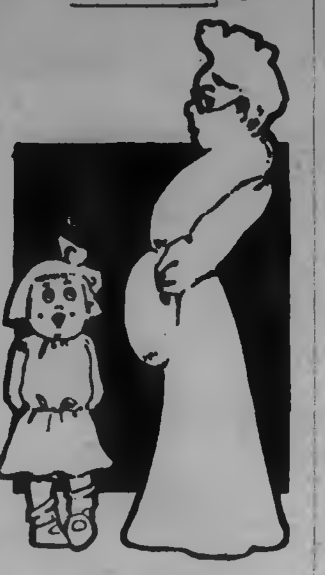
"No Christabel," he falt-red, "if you had asked me three hours ago I should have said, 'yes,' but now (pathetically) I'm paralysed!"

RULED BY FASHION.

"My wife was to meet me here at this hour. Have you seen anything of her?"

"Is she a small woman with golden hair?"

"She is a small woman, but I don't know about her hair. She wasn't up when I left home this morning."



NEAR ENOUGH.

Lady—Little girl, have you any near relatives?

Little Mary—Yes'm. My Aunt Mary lives just around the corner.

A GILBERT STORY.

On the late Sir W. S. Gilbert's incisive comment and criticising repartee, a story is told of a popular actor, who happened to be laboring in the part of Falstaff. Gilbert met him behind the scenes, in all the enormity of a prodigious make-up, redundant and panting. Gilbert gazed upon a handkerchief and a streaming brow. "Your skin acts well," he remarked.

THE IRISH AND ITALIAN.

Inspector (in desk): "What's your name?"

Prisoner: "Patrick McSweeny."

"What countryman are you?"

"What's your business?"

"An Italian organ-grinder."

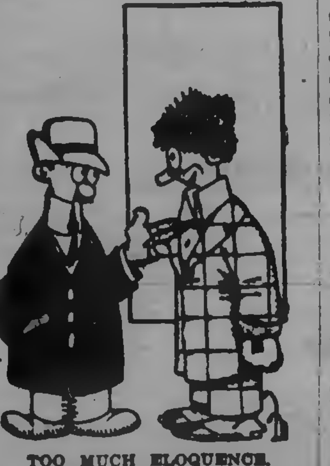
A WOMAN'S HEART.

"Does he offer any proofs of his affection?" asked a father.

"Proof!" exclaimed the beautiful girl. "Well, I should say so. Why, he says that I have set his heart afire, and it has been burning so that it has lit the cigars he carries in his vest pocket."

"But the proof?"

"He showed me the half-burned cigars."



TOO MUCH ELOQUENCE.

"So Miss Smart got no damages in her breach of promise case?"

"No, her lawyer proved the man to be such a low down, contemptible specimen of humanity that the jury decided he hadn't any value and congratulated her on losing him."

IT HAD LOST ITS SPRING.

"Had a puncture, my friend?" asked the passer-by with an air of interest. The chauffeur looked up, swallowed his feelings with a huge gulp.

"No, sir," he replied. "I'm just changing the air in the tires. The other lot's worn out, you know!"

Lawyer: "Have you told me the facts precisely as they occurred?"

Irishman: "That Oi 'av, yer honor. Oi thought it best to tell ye the deliberate truth—ye can put all the rest in yourself."

A MARKSMAN.

Sportsman (to Snobson, who hasn't shot a single bird all day): "Do you know Lord Peckham?"

Snobson: "Oh, dear, yes! I have often shot at his house."

Sportsman: "Did you ever hit it?"

THE SAFER WAY.

He (tired of dodging): "Would you marry a one-eyed man?"

She: "Gracious, no!"

He: "Then let me carry your umbrella."

DEER KICKED TO DEATH

A farmer residing one mile west of Clyde, near Kingston, discovered a deer weighing one hundred and fifty pounds caught by the horns on the wire fence of one of his fields. Investigation showed that the deer had been kicked to death by horses pasturing in the field.

TOWER OF PISA THREATENED

The leaning tower of Pisa is in great danger of falling. So imminent is the danger that the authorities have ordered that the bells in its cupola shall keep silence until its foundations have been made secure, it being feared that the vibration caused by their ringing might shake the architectural marvel down.

"Love, Laughter and Life"

CHOOSING A FRIEND

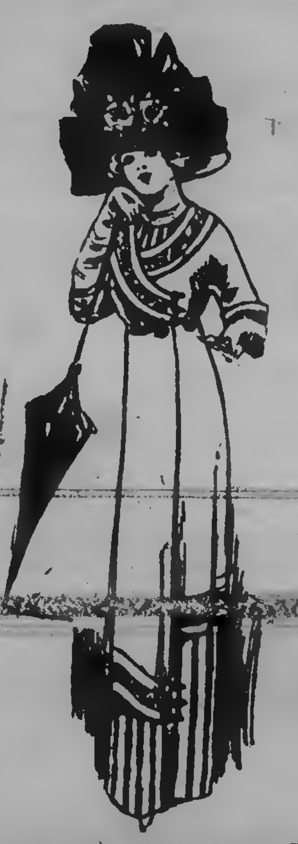
One has one's relations thrust upon one, so to speak. Uncles and aunts, cousins, brothers and sisters, even parents, must be accepted with what grace one can muster and make the best of. But one is free at least to choose one's friends. From all the world one can pick out those who will most minister to our happiness. And since the companionship of these about one does mean so much to happiness, one should go about this precious choosing of friends warily, says Woman's World.

A constant procession of people pass us and touch our lives in business, in the church, in neighborly fashion, in the social world. From these, which shall we select as the ones who will enrich our lives, whose lives possibly, too, we may make brighter and happier?

Shall we choose the woman who gossips, whose conversation is one long recital of the doings of the neighborhood and of friends? What is there in such a friendship that is helpful, inspiring, or, after a time, really enjoyable?

Choose for your friend the one who will bring those things into your life worth while; one with whom there is true congenial companionship over a broad area of interests. Gossip is not worth while, nor fashion, nor mere frivolous diversion. Choose the friend who cheers and inspires, who comforts when troubled, who gives helpful advice when perplexed, whose coming is sunshine, whose departure a regret. Choose one who can enter into your joys and help you bear your sorrows; one light-hearted enough to stand ready to help if help is needed.

Such a friendship is a joy. It is one of the golden treasures of life. There are men and women within touch of us every day who will make such friends. But we must be worthy of them to win them. Such friendship is not given lightly.



COLOR COMBINATION COSTUME

A costume where there is no limit tot he color combinations possible is illustrated in the above sketch, and is one of the season's prettiest and smartest models. Black and white striped silk, with tunic of lovely old blue cachemire de soie, trimmed with insertions of fancy braid in a lighter tint, which are outlined with curved bands of the cachemire soie.

HOLIDAYS AT HOME

"Want a week's holiday," said the doctor to the casual caller. "What! Can't spare the time? Um! Better try the rest cure.

"As a matter of fact, twenty-four or thirty-six hours in bed will probably do you more good than a week's holiday. That is, of course, if it's overwork that's troubling you. There's no better remedy if your nervous system is playing you up.

"Go to bed, and have all the blinds carefully drawn, so that throughout the following day the room will be dark, and see that you do stay in bed for at least twenty-four hours. While you are there take no solid food, and think only of one thing—sleep. When you feel wakeful, call for some hot milk, and sip it slowly. Then turn over and go to sleep again.

"Oh [illegible] You won't find any trouble in [illegible]ping through the following night. Staying in bed will make you sleepy, besides calming your mind. You get away home now and sleep!"

The Care of Stoves

Keep the stove very clean, and when any grease is spilled wash it off while the stove is hot. Gas and oil stoves should be blackleaded like an ordinary grate. Keep oil and spirit stoves well filled; never let the oil or spirit burn out, so that the wick is charred. For portable stoves get a sheet of tin or iron, on which to stand them. Remember that the flame is rarely, if ever, wanted at its highest; the flame is so steady that it keeps up a great heat. An asbestos mat laid over a gas-stove is useful when slow cooking is required.

Damp Cupboards

If any of your cupboards are damp, try placing a jar of unslaked lime in them. The lime absorbs the damp, and keeps the air dry and pure. But remember that it should be renewed fairly often, as it quickly loses its power.

WHERE WOMEN PREVAIL

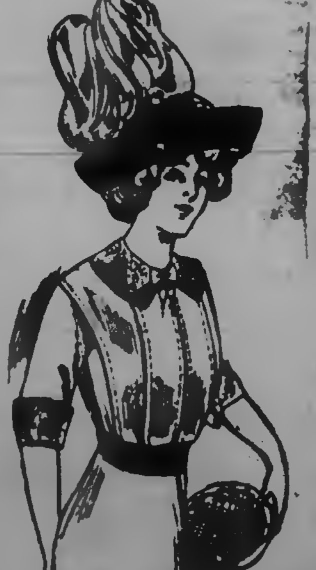
In Finland Only the Church and Army Closed to Them

"There is little doubt that politically and economically, the women of Finland hold a better position than those of any other country in Europe. Only two professions—the Church and the Army—are closed to them; and if they determined to enter either I have no doubt they would succeed. It is said that the captain of one of the coasting steamers is a woman. From street-cleaning to the law, all other trades are open to women, with certain restrictions about the higher branches. For instance, no woman has yet been appointed judge. They are specially successful in architecture, and particularly in demand in banking. As the saying goes, the chief cashier of a bank should always be a woman, for she is much less likely to run away with the funds than a man!"—Rosalind Travers.

WHEN YOU IRON

You Will Save Your Strength by Sitting Down

Sit in a low rocker with the board placed on two chairs or something that will bring the board just high enough to allow the knees to slide under easily. Don't have it any higher or there will not be room enough for pressure from your arms. The rocker will give with every motion you make and is altogether better than an ordinary chair. Just plan where to put your board and get into the habit of using it so and you will save your strength wonderfully. In this way, you can iron when too tired to stand up, and for those who are troubled with sore and aching feet, especially in hot weather, it is a wonderful help.



DAINTY SUMMER DRESS

Rescued the Dog.

On Saturday evening, a dog of the hound species belonging to Mr. Wm. G. Westlake, 570 Bethune street, which was chained in the cellar, came nearly losing its life. Mr. Westlake's house is situated in the flooded district, and when the water began to raise in the cellar on the night above referred to, the dog became very much excited and "gave tongue" in loud and prolonged wails. Mr. Westlake was unfortunately from home, and the family not being aware of the flood, naturally became very much alarmed, thinking that burglars were at work. Upon investigation it was found that the dog was in imminent danger of drowning, as he was chained in a distant room in the cellar. In the emergency a rescue party was hastily formed, headed by a well known lawyer who lives nearby, and the outside cellar door was battered in and the dog released. It is said the animal had been swimming for some time, and the rising water would soon have ended his existence. It was a brave rescue. The neighbors are all of the opinion that a Carnegie hero medal should come to Peterborough.

HOME HINTS

Information Which is Useful in the Household

Paraffin to moisten blacking makes boots and shoes very black.

When Polishing the Stove add a little sugar or syrup to the polish, and it will not burn off so quickly.

To Remove Stains on spoons caused by using them with boiled eggs, take a little common salt, moistened, between the thumb and finger, and briskly rub the stain, which will soon disappear.

When Soot Falls upon the carpet it may be removed by sprinkling on plenty of finely-powdered salt, and sweeping off in the direction of the fireplace. Repeat till the marks are all gone.

Put a Pinch of Borax in the water in which lettuces are washed, let them soak for half an hour, then shake them free from water, and you will be delighted with the crispness. Salted water softens them, but borax cleans and freshens them.

Milk Jugs, especially if too narrow to be washed and wiped dry inside, should have hot water and some salt put into them every day and allowed to stand for five minutes. They should then be thoroughly rinsed in cold water and turned upside down to drain as dry as possible.

After Doing Dirty Work, do not at once wash the hands in water. First rub a little grease well into the skin, more especially the dirty parts. Mutton fat is excellent. Then wash in the usual way. The grease loosens the dirt, and hands treated in this way will never become ingrained with dirt.

Keep Onions, celery, and strong-tasting vegetables apart from other vegetables or food. Herrings should also be kept where they cannot taint the household provisions, and fruit of all sorts should be laid separately on a shelf, if possible, as one piece coming in touch with another will quickly become spoiled.

Children who do not like caster-oil should have it prepared in the Paris fashion; the quantity of the oil prescribed is placed in a pan over a fire, and an egg is broken into and stirred up. When cooked, a little salt, or sugar, or currant jelly should be added. The youngsters cannot possibly detect the medicine, and will most likely cry for some more of the mixture.

Try Cleaning your cretonne chair covers in the following way: Put some clean bran into the oven and leave it until it is quite hot. Then take some on the palm of the hand, and rub it into the cretonne with a circular movement. Keep using fresh bran until the whole chair has been thoroughly gone over, and you will be delighted with the result.

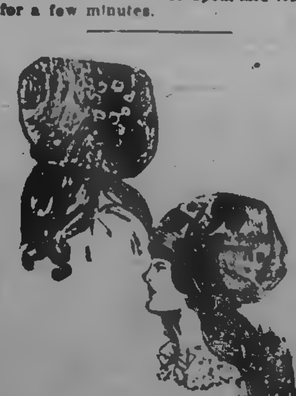
A Home-Made Strainer for the kitchen sink may be obtained by punching holes in the lower part of the sides of a preserved fruit can by means of a hammer and awl. Such a strainer, used as a temporary holder of waste matter like tea-leaves, coffee grounds, potato parings, etc., will help to keep the sink clean and the waste pipe clear, and may be easily emptied and cleaned.

The Burners in a gas stove and oven often get choked up with grease, etc. [illegible] ers and place in the copper full of suds (after washing is done), and add a good handful of common salt. Allow to boil an hour or so, then dry thoroughly and replace in stove. This process should be repeated every few weeks so as to keep the stove in good condition, and will save both gas and time when cooking.

If the following Method for cleaning and renewing dirty wallpaper was followed every spring less paperhanging would be needed. Buy a packet of common whitening, and take a piece of rough blanket or flannel and thoroughly rub the paper by dipping the cloth in the whitening dry. After all the walls have been rubbed, take a clean piece of cloth and dust down, and the result will be a clean paper for a little cost.

Lemon Pie

Take one lemon, one cup of sugar and one of water, a tablespoonful of cornflour, two eggs, and enough abort paste to line a soup-plate. Grate the lemon-rind and place it with the strained juice, yolks of eggs, and other ingredients in a bowl. Stand the bowl in a saucepan of boiling water and boil until the mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Line the plate with the paste, and bake until a very light brown. Pour in the mixture, beat the whites of the eggs as stiffly as possible, sweeten the froth slightly, and pile on the top. Put the pie back in the oven with the door open, and leave for a few minutes.



SMART HATS FOR THE LITTLE ONES

Two new hats are illustrated in the above sketch, and both are smart and unusual. The lower model is developed in cherry red, soft straw, with a turned back edge of shiny black straw, held by tiny black velvet bows. The other model is of cream straw, lined with pink crepe, and trimmed with a band and bow of black velvet and wreaths of small pink roses.

On Good Friday, Mr. R. G. Sturgeon of this city was appointed chairman of the Sanitation Committee of the Ontario Society of Domestic Sanitary and Heating Engineers, at their meeting held in Toronto. Mr. Sturgeon was given authority to appoint two other members. He was the only Peterborough representative present, and was granted a diploma. The meeting was well attended, representatives being present from as far West as Port Arthur and from Ottawa on the east.

Peterborough is lucky, with its immense downfall of snow, that it has not, like London, Ont., a flood this spring. Of course some inconvenience was caused Sunday by the creeks overflow, but if the river is kept under control, we shall be lucky.

ENGLAND VS. U. S.

The presence of a large United States army on the Mexican frontier is intended to act as a preventive of unauthorised forays from sympathisers, of smuggling supplies, and of using foreign soil as a temporary harbour of refuge by one or other of the combatants.

Great Britain has vast interests in Mexico also, and it might not suit the Empire to allow the United States a free hand in settling all the international difficulties which might arise. As was shown in the case of the intervention of the British Foreign Office in a threatening complication over a branch bank, in which other parts of North America, as well as the United States were seen to have interests in Mexico, it is clearly to be seen that the United States, Monroe doctrine or not, will not run things with too high a hand.

TROUBLE FROM MEXICO'S HONESTY.

It is well not to lose sight of the fact that trouble which may yet prove to be serious from the international point of view, is brewing in Mexico. It is pretty clear to most observers that the dislike to President Diaz, which inspired the late revolution, was based, not upon his governmental methods, but upon his determination to rule Mexico firmly, but honestly, and never allow the State to deviate from her obligations to capital upon which the prosperity and the future of the Republic depended. To assert that "graft" was unknown in Mexico under the Diaz regime would be absurd, but while the policy of plunder had a sort of vogue, it was never permitted to become rampant on the lines unpleasantly familiar to those who have acquaintance with the financial methods of certain South American Republics. At any rate, no one in office during the days of Diaz grew abnormally rich at the expense of the Commonwealth.

HUMORS OF CLERICAL LIFE

Some Quaint Stories Told by a Country Vicar.

During a ministry extending over twenty years I have heard some very strange remarks by parishioners (says a country vicar).

I knew very well in my first curacy, in a village in Lincolnshire, a woman whose daughter had been to the infirmary for a slight operation. On her return home I saw the daughter standing at the garden-gate with her mother.

"How do you do, Mrs. S——?" I said. "And how is your daughter?"

"Good-morning, sir!" she said "Mary's a sight better, and she can breathe all right now, since the 'polyanthus' was taken out of her nose."

The vicar at that time was a very old man. He had been in the parish forty-two years. During my last year there I was practically in charge of the services; but now and then, when he was able, he occupied the pulpit. His eye-sight was bad, and he was altogether unfit to compose fresh sermons, so had to fall back on old ones.

One Sunday morning we were alarmed with a discourse, as nearly as I can remember, as follows:

"We are standing to-day," he said, "face to face with a great Power in the East. We are on the verge of war." (Long pause.) "We are, are—we are—er— we are on the brink of war with Russia. I—er—well, I mean—we will now proceed to consider the next point."

In the vestry, after service, I asked him about this projected war, as I had seen nothing about it in the papers.

"That sermon," he said to me, with a very far-off look in his eyes, and a slight suspicion of a smile—"that sermon I wrote in 1854!"

On a certain occasion when the ring would not go on easily, the bridegroom said:

"Suck yer finger, lass; yer 'and's swelled!"

"I plight thee my troth" is very often transposed to "I plight thee my truth."

I am not answerable for the following, but it was told me:

A very haughty and dignified archdeacon was marrying his butler to his cook.

"Wilt thou have this woman to be thy wedded wife?" he said.

"Thank you, sir!" he replied, touching his forehead with his forefinger. "Thank you, sir! After you, sir!"

A very rapid extempore preacher was discoursing on the subject of Jonah in the whale's belly; but his tongue got tied up, and he said "in the bale's whelly."

Instantly correcting himself, he said.

"Of course, I mean in the whel'y of the bale!"

I was once guilty of making a horrible blunder in reading the First Lesson on the night when the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah is related. The words are that the Lord rained down "brimstone and fire" from [illegible] "spectacle" from heaven. It is always best to go straight on when you make these slips, as possibly not a dozen people would detect the mistake.

There is a story told of a Cambridge undergraduate who had to read the lessons in chapel. He was young and nervous. The lesson was Gad's interview with David, and David's reply to Gad was partly on the bottom of one page and partly on the top over the leaf. It was printed thus:

"And David said unto"—then, turning over the leaf—"Gad, I am in a great strait."

In his confusion he added the word "him" as he turned over the leaf, and he read the sentence thus:

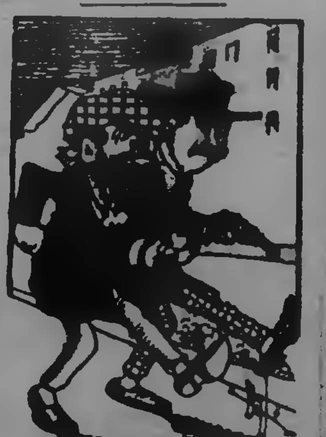
"And David said unto him, 'Gad, I am in a great strait!"

One Saturday, in a certain cemetery, I had to bury a man who evidently belonged to some club, as a large number of men followed the remains.

On the way to the grave a man stepped up to me and asked me to "say a few words" after I had read the burial service. "He was a great pal of ours," he said, "and a right-down good sort."

I did say a few words. I reminded the assembly, which was very much moved, the women crying bitterly, of the great loss they had sustained in the death of our dear brother. I said he had no doubt lived a beautiful life, and although he was unknown to me personally, and unknown to the world at large, I trusted that all would "imitate him in his life and conduct."

I found out afterwards that he had left the wife, and, after turning her out and selling up the home, he had taken to excessive drinking, and died in the infirmary from delirium tremens!



COULDN'T PART FROM HIM.

Detective—How do you like me for a travelling companion?

Prisoner—(handcuffed) Oh, I'm very much attached to you.

INCREASING THE HEIGHT

The Proper Exercise for the Would-be Slim and Tall

Fashion is doing a good thing for womanhood by dictating that the ideal figure must be slim and tall. The point is that Fashion here sets an ideal something which anyone can strive to attain, and in attaining this ideal the general health is bound to be improved. Of course, the really stocky, five-foot-nothing girl cannot hope to convert herself into a willowy Juno of statuesque proportions by any exercises. She can, however, if she has not passed the growing age—that is, up to twenty-five—add at least a little to her stature, and a great deal to her symmetry and grace.

Walking is the best means of adding an inch or two to the stature of the young woman in her teens who fears she is going to be undersized. Remember, though, that the walking must be done regularly and correctly. If your digestion will allow it, try walking before breakfast, when all the joints are supple and loose after their night's rest. Hold the chin up, the shoulders back, the chest out, and the abdomen in. Walk briskly, from the hips, not the knees, swing the arms as you go, and rise on the ball of the foot with each step. Try a ten-minute walk the first day, and gradually increase it up to half an hour. When you get back to breakfast that feeling of boredom and lack of interest with which one usually views the morning meal will have been replaced by a hearty appetite, which will allow you to digest and enjoy all manner of nourishing and body-building foods.

This mere difference between a very skimpy morning meal, quite unrelished, and a hearty breakfast, thoroughly enjoyed, will be the first step towards your goal, a more rapid laying down of new bone tissue.

Exercise of the joints leads to a more rapid growth. The following movement not only exercises the hip-joints, but also every single one of the little discs of bone which makes up the spinal column, and therefore it is most valuable in increasing the height.

In the morning, when you are half dressed, with only a few loose garments on, stand with feet together and the arms straight out in front of you, palms downward with the thumbs touching. Holding the head up and keeping the arms perfectly straight, slowly raise them until they are straight above the head. Then, bending from the hips alone as much as possible, slowly sweep the arms downwards until the fingers almost touch the toes. Then gradually rise up again into the first position. The movement must be slow and gradual, and the knees must be kept perfectly stiff.

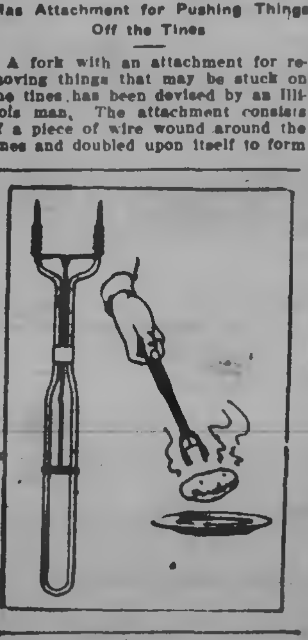
At the start, this movement, which will be found very tiring, should be done only two or three times. Later, as the back becomes more supple, increase the number and the amount of bending until you can put your palms flat on the floor without bending the knees.

A few minutes of this exercise, combined with a brisk daily walk before breakfast, will have a sufficiently [illegible] ing end [illegible] small [illegible] one's rate of growth up to the highest possible maximum Nature will allow for any particular individual.

A USEFUL FORK

Has Attachment for Pushing Things Off the Tines

A fork with an attachment for removing things that may be stuck on the tines has been devised by an Illinois man. The attachment consists of a piece of wire wound around the tines and doubled upon itself to form a long shaft that runs up the handle of the fork. By pushing this device down the wires scrape off anything that may be clinging to the points of the fork. Only the cook will appreciate the usefulness of this implement, but there are many occasions in the kitchen when it will come in handy. For instance, in transferring a piece of meat from the dish to the pan, or vice versa, the clean cook does not touch the meat with her hands but lifts it with a fork. Sometimes it sticks to the fork and then the attachment here shown comes in handy, as it can be pushed off without looking around for some other implement.



Quickly-Made Soup

If you want soup in a hurry, try this [illegible]. Put into a saucepan one pound of shin of beef, two ounces of bacon, a carrot and an onion, all cut in small pieces. Add three tablespoonfuls of [illegible], put the lid on the saucepan, and let the meat simmer until it begins to [illegible] to the pan, which will be in [illegible] a quarter of an hour. Then [illegible] a [illegible] of boiling water, and [illegible] for three-quarters of an [illegible] through a sieve, pressing the [illegible] with a wooden spoon; [illegible] and serve with squares of [illegible] bread. The meat may be [illegible] again for soup.

GERMAN'S DEADLY NEW SIEGE GUN

Fires Huge Bomb Which Does Not Enter Bore—A Destructive Weapon

A destructive new type of siege gun has just yielded satisfactory results to experiments conducted by the German military authorities.

The new gun was constructed by the firm of Krupp. It is an improvement on an idea much used by the Japanese in the siege of Port Arthur, and is designed to aid the advance of infantry storming an entrenched position. At the same tiem, experiments have been carried out with a new form of hand grenade, which effects much the same purpose.

For long military experts in Germany have been puzzling over the problem of how the long range artillery of an army could render efficient support to its own advancing infantry right up to the trenches of a fortified position. According to present "siege technique" the artillery of an attacking army has to cease bombarding the enemy's entrenchments as soon as the storming infantry gets to close quarters, otherwise the stormers are likely to be shot down by their own guns from the rear.

This cessation of the attackers' bombardment enables the besieged to emerge from their entrenchments and pour a devastating fire at close quarters into the ranks of the attacking force, which is thus deprived of the support of its own artillery just at the moment when it most stands in need of it. The new gun has been devised to overcome this difficulty.

It has an extremely narrow, unrifled bore, and is of very light construction, easily capable of being carried by two men, and is intended to be carried in the front lines of the advancing infantry. Its most remarkable feature is its projectile, which consists of a round bomb of great diameter loaded with a very powerful explosive mixture. The bomb is of far greater diameter than the bore of the gun which throws it, and is provided with a long stick-like tail which is loaded into the barrel of the gun, its lower end, which is enlarged to a wad or piston-like form, resting on the guncharge att he bottom of the barrel. The bomb itself merely lies on the gun muzzle, quite outside the bore.

On being fired, the trailing stick-like tail serves to keep the bomb in its proper direction of flight, and only detaches itself and falls to earth after a certain distance has been covered, leaving the bomb to pursue its course alone.

The experiments have shown that a reasonable precision can be obtained with the new missile up to a distance of 300 to 4[illegible] yards, and the bomb itself, which, owing to its large capacity, is capable of great destruction, [illegible] also to make great breaches in the entrenchments or fortifications.

CAULIFLOWER SEED

A Woman on Puget Sound Island Grows a Huge Quantity of It

Nine-tenths of the world's supply of Cauliflower seed is grown by a woman on a Puget Sound island. Startling as this statement may seem, the fact remains that it is not due altogether to any supremacy of knowledge or skill that has enabled Mrs. Anne Archibault to achieve what thousands of first rank gardeners hopelessly abandoned. It is due to the peculiar climatic conditions of Whidby island. Outside of Holland no other section affords the climatic requisites for maturing the seed pods of cauliflower plants.

It was an accident, this discovery of Mrs. Archibault, that has made it possible for her to own 1,000 acres of fertile land and to enjoy a business of $100,000 annually. Cauliflower seed will not mature except under certain favorable conditions. One is dampness, humidity, which gives the tiny seeds the plumpness so essential to development. Another is water—not irrigation, rain, nor the wet, boggy mush of a marsh, but a continuous moist soil beneath which a hardpan subsoil acts as a floor to a reservoir. The land of Whidby Island is ideal for this culture.

Cauliflower plants are transplanted like cabbage in rows. The usual cultivation is continued until the seed pods form. Then even the wind should be kept from the fields, for even the flutter of a tiny bird over a cluster of the seed pods will mar the perfect development of the seed. Harvest consists in gathering the dry pods, artificial drying in the sun, a clover-seed separator and a fanning mill.

Mrs. Archibault's first crop amounted to a handful of seed. About this time she read in a bulletin issued by the department of agriculture that the supply of this seed was short, and limited to a few hundred pounds. This was five years ago. Like a flash Mrs. Archibault saw her longed for independence. She grew 400 pounds of seed in 1907. Communication with some well-known seedmen brought orders for her supply at $3 a pound. Every year since she has increased the yield of seed until the present world's supply of 30,000 pounds is practically all grown by her.

Farmers all over Whidby island grow this seed and sell their product to Mrs. Archibault, who markets it through her eastern sales agencies.

The cauliflower fields are beautiful at flowering time, the immaculate snow-white blossoms being alive with white butterflies. The mistress does not interfere with these cabbage moths, believing they aid in scattering the pollen from flower to flower.—Gail H. Fickle.

Among other Peterborough citizens who visited Lindsay on Good Friday, were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adams of this city.

DIZZY HEADACHES CURED IN ONE NIGHT

IF TROUBLED WITH HEAD-FULLNESS, RINGING NOISES, SPECS BEFORE THE EYES, THE STOMACH IS AT FAULT.

"I had terrible pains in my head. My appetite faded away and when I did eat anything it disagreed and made me very sick for hours after each meal. The active pains in my stomach and the dizzy headaches I had to endure almost set one wild. Sometimes attacks came on so severely that I had to go to bed. I would feel so worn, depressed and utterly miserable that for hours I wouldn't speak to my family. My system was poisoned with wastes and nothing helped me till I used Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Without this grand system-cleaning remedy I would be sick, but each day brought me better health and spirits. I was cured and made strong, ruddy and healthy looking as one could wish, and will always use and recommend Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

"MRS. B. C. CURRAN,
"Westport, P.O."

Thousands who are in an ailing, low state of health need nothing else but Dr. Hamilton's Pills. They cure blood disorders, pimples, rashes, bad color, biliousness, liver, stomach and kidney troubles. Mild, certain and safe. Beware of imitations and substitutes. 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont.

THE MORNING TIMES

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 9th, 1912

TO ELIMINATE WEEDS.

Chatham, Ont., has taken a sensible way to get rid of the weed nuisance. We all know how unsightly the rank growth of weeds, in vacant lots and along many of our streets, is. The man who has a garden in Peterborough, into whose garden the seeds from these weeds blow, may not use cuss words as he hoes, but he certainly does some tall thinking. Now Chatham has taken up a scheme to eliminate the weeds there. The town council has instituted a civic beauty campaign. Vacant lots will be advertised as garden plots [illegible] for them from gardeners. Prizes will be offered for the best flower gardens in front of all vacant lots and street corners. The Scenic Committee will also have charge of the tree-cutting and trimming in the city limits and an effort will be made to save the mutilating of maple trees that has been going on in the city of late.

STRIKE QUESTION CONSIDERED.

The Montreal Star in giving its opinion on the English coal strike touches the whole question of strikes in general. The vote by the British coal miners shows, as the heads of the unions expect, that a majority of the miners are in favor of continuing the strike, it can hardly be expected that there will be permanence in the arrangements by which the troubles are brought to an end." It is, at best, taking advantage of a technicality to assume that, because a two-thirds vote of the men is required to call a strike, a mere majority vote is not sufficient to continue it. At the present juncture, the existence of such a technicality is very fortunate, and the decision to take advantage of it an eminently wise one. A temporary resumption of coal-mining activities is much to be preferred to another fortnight of idle mills, empty cars and the steady advance of the spectre of starvation in all the working-class districts of England. Nevertheless, should a majority of the miners themselves vote to reject the terms of settlement, it would be a truce and not peace that was declared.

It is a matter of record, however, that inertia must be overcome before an industrial disturbance can be settled as well as before one can be started. A strike tends to maintain itself once it is in full operation for the same reason that labor leaders often find it difficult to get one going when all circumstances would seem to indicate the opposite. It is easily possible that the habit of being on strike will be responsible for a good part of the votes which are polled in England to-day against the acceptance of the agreement with the operators.

NECESSITY OF WATER CONSERVATION.

The people of Peterborough are fortunate in having the waters of the back lakes conserved so well. This answers two purposes: The water is bottled up, when it is high, in the Spring time. This prevents bad freshets. By letting the water off, under control, in the dry season, power is furnished, that would not be available otherwise. It also helps the steamboat men and lumberman. A Times representative, yesterday, called on Mr. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, and asked if the Northern lakes are in shape to control the surplus water this spring. His reply was that, unless we have unusually heavy spring rains, and very warm weather, Peterborough would encounter no danger from high water, although lately, it looked as though we might have floods. Still we will have enough water for all.

After seven years' practical control of the Trent waters as Superintendent of the Canal, Mr. McClellan deserves great credit for the way he has performed his duties. Of course there are fault-finders concerning the acts of every man in a public or prominent position, and the responsible position of Superintendent of the T. V. C. is no bed of roses. The duties are onerous and complex, and Mr. McClellan has done the most good for the most people. Efficiency in maintaining a proper control of water, such as are in our northern lakes, is no less the characteristic of good engineering than originality and boldness in handling the water. When a city like Peterborough [illegible] an abundant and regular supply of water for power, our citizens and factories should give all credit to the manner in which the water has been conserved. On power, which practically means a steady supply of water, depends, in large part, the future growth of Peterborough. Let us hope that, in the future, Peterborough will have as well-managed a system of water for power, as she has in the past. We all see, in the daily papers, that such places as London, Paris, Ottawa, Chatham, and Beaverton, and Toronto, by the Credit River, have suffered this spring by floods. Had such control of the respective rivers and lakes near them been controlled as have the waters of the Trent Canal, thousands of dollars of loss might have been saved.

Editorial Notes

Scientific sharps agree that man has been on earth about 300,000 years. That makes the Garden of Eden a thing of yesterday.

Although the New York Italian woman sent to jail for slander was named Parlagreeco, what she said was not Greek to her enemy.

With proceeds from her lecture tour, and from renting her castle to an American, the Countess of Warwick need have no quarrel with American haste to spend money.

Germany is going to put a tax on cats. To help support the dogs of war? If Emperor Bill gets too fresh with his warlike ambitions, he may get into the dog-gonest cat-astrophy of the present century.

There is proof that a vast majority of the people are honest, not only the well-to-do, but the very poor people. The Hebrew Free Loan Association of New York has in five years lent $2,500,000 to 91,566 people. This society was organized to help men and women without regard to race or creed, who were in pressing need of temporary assistance. All the money lent has been returned except $3500, hence the losses are less than 5 per cent. of the whole, and due, it is said, in all but a few cases to the inability, not the dishonesty, of the borrowers.

On March 30th last, a New York jury, trying Willis Vernon Cole, a Christian Scientist, for practicing medicine without a license, returned a verdict of guilty after forty-five minutes deliberation. Justice Seabury fined Cole $100. This is not only a well-deserved punishment, and a sound decision, but worth serious consideration right in this city. We, or most of us, remember how a man in this city, for so many dirty dollars a week, kept a poor young man in his home, and would not allow a physician to be called in until the sick man took a hemorrhage. The sight of actual blood evidently frightened this man, working under the name of Christ, for so much "per." Then a doctor was called in, but too late. The same man gave "absent treatment," to a child that died under his grasping care. In court he had to admit that when the man mentioned above, died in his house, he grabbed the money of the deceased. It is time as plainly stated in court, by the late Coroner of this County, that laws should be passed whereby such fakers and their weak-chinned followers, should be prevented from keeping the sick or dying from medical aid, when they are sequestrated from such treatment, for money paid.

Terrible Night on Mountain.

A young farm servant, Thomas Owen, of Caeglas, Merioneth, [illegible] Moelwyn Mountain to look round [illegible] sheep. As he did not return it was thought he had stayed with some relations at Croesor Village for the night. A party went in search, and found the young man in a sad plight. It appears that he tried to climb a wall, which fell upon him, and he passed the night imprisoned in the debris

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is half gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

Do not wait—act now—this very minute.

DUKE'S PRIVATE INCOME

In Addition to Salary He Has Annual Income of $125,000.

There are only a few wealthier men in the Dominion at the present time than His Royal Highness, the new Governor-General. In addition to the salary Canada will pay him, the Duke enjoys a yearly income of $125,000, which was settled on him for life by the British Parliament because of his being one of the younger sons of the late Queen Victoria. Nor does this exhaust the amount of his income from official sources, for he also draws some $25,000 annually as Field Marshal in the British Army.

Besides his revenue from official sources, the Duke of Connaught enjoys the returns from his share of the estate left by his mother, Queen Victoria, the total value of which has never become known to the general public. That the whole estate was very large is common belief, rumor estimating the Duke's share at varying amounts from five to fifteen million dollars. It is said in well-informed circles that his income is greater than that of King George.

At Dead Man's Bay near Kingston Kenneth McMahon landed a twelve pound pike on the troll. This is the largest fish caught in the Bay for several years.

WHAT HE EXPECTED.

The other day, while a minister was walking down the street, his attention was attracted to a boy who was very anxiously eyeing one of the large melons which were in a fruiterer's window. It seemed a good opportunity to sow some good seed in the lad's mind, so, motioning the boy to him, he said:

"My lad, wouldn't you like to steal one of those melons and run off?"

"Yes, sir!" was the prompt reply.

"I am sorry to hear that," said the good man.

The boy scratched his head, and then said:

"Well, I'spect the thing 'ud be green all the way through, so's I couldn't eat it."

A GORGEOUS CAFE

New Restaurant in Berlin Where There Will be Continual Music.

Berlin, the city of cafes and music is shortly to have another palatial establishment in which visitors may sip their coffee or light German beer and listen to the music of well trained orchestras any hour in the twenty-four. The new popular palace, situated in the Potsdamer Platz, in the heart of the city, is to be called the Piccadilly, and some idea of its gigantic size is is afforded by the fact that the proprietor will pay a yearly rental of $80,000 for his premises. The interior furnishings will be of the most luxurious description. Each single chair, of which there will be hundreds in the building will cost $15.00 and will be modelled after the furniture of a well-known royal castle. No fewer than 160,000 electric lamps will illuminate the great building at night and four orchestras, playing in relays of six hours each, will render never ceasing music for the enjoyment of patrons.

STATUE OF SIR WILFRID

Mr. Paul Chevre Will Carve One for Chateau Laurier.

Mr. Paul Chevre, the Parisian sculptor, who designed the Champlain monument on Dufferin terrace, Quebec, and the Mercier monument to be unveiled next spring in the Ancient Capital has just booked the order from the G. T. R. for a statue of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to adorn the centre piece in the lobby of the Chateau Laurier in Ottawa.

The statue will be marble, along the lines of the bust of Sir Wilfrid Laurier made by the same artist and presented to the ex-Premier in 1901. The bust will slightly exceed the natural size, and will be supported by a single column, adorned with appropriate allegories. It will be ready in the spring and will cost $5,000.

BEAVER IN THE ADIRONDACKS

Reports from the Adirondacks are to the effect that under preservation the beaver has increased so rapidly as to threaten serious danger to the poplar timber. The busy little fellows are cutting too much down for their dams and supplies. The remedy surely is to thin out the numbers by the officials, as has been done in Algonquin National Park. This is better than declaring an open season and will go some way towards reimbursing the State for its expenditures upon preservation.

WHEN SPORT IS POPULAR

An Insight Into the Value Placed Upon it in Hungary

Two occurrences of which the Budapest correspondent of an English sporting journal tells give an insight into the high value with which sport is regarded in Hungary. Firstly, Mr. Huzsa, Chairman of the Hungarian Olympic Association, has been honored by the King with a decoration of no little merit in recognition of his important services on behalf of the Olympic Games. Secondly, Mr. Stankovits, Chairman of the athletic section of the Hungarian Athletic Association, has been nominated by the Mayor of Budapest as chief of the sports and entertainment section of the Corporation of the city. All sports matters connected with the city, including grounds, school sports, etc., will in future be under his direction. It is interesting in this connection to mention that the Mayor of Budapest (Mr. Barcl) was once an active sportsman, and he is now Chairman of the Hungarian Athletic Association and takes a keen interest in all the sports of Budapest. The representatives of the different sporting associations waited upon the Prime Minister in the Houses of Parliament by appointment and strongly urged him that it was desirable the tax upon all totalisator receipts should be increased from 12 per cent. to 15 per cent., and that the additional 3 per cent. should be earmarked for sporting purposes. The Prime Minister was attended by a large number of members of Parliament, who are interested in sport, and the Ministers of Agriculture, Commerce and the War Office were also present.

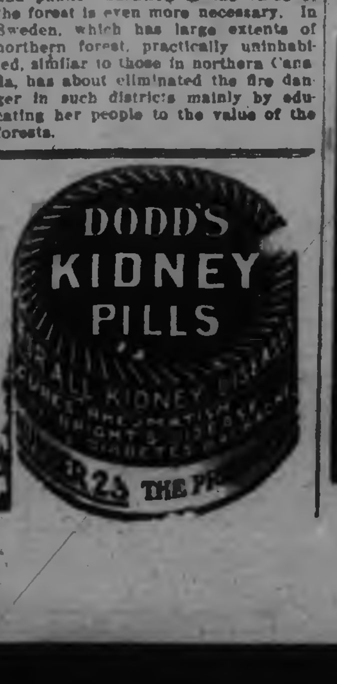
PRESERVE THE TREE

Reports of Untold Timber Wealth in the Far North are Exaggerations.

An interview with an engineer given recently in a western paper to the effect that there is abundant timber on the line of the Hudson Bay Railway is an illustration of the misapprehension in regard to this matter that exists in the public mind. Because there are large areas of land in the north on which there is timber of some kind, the conclusion is reached that it is all of present value and that the country has an unlimited supply. As a matter of fact a careful inspection of the timber along the line of the Hudson Bay Railway of the Department of the Interior, shows that there is not enough mature timber along the line of that railway to build the road. There are no prairie districts of any extent along the route, there are trees everywhere, but owing to repeated fires the forest is, except on the merest fraction of the area, too small for commercial purposes and unless it can be protected from fire until it reaches maturity, will never be of any use to the country. Explorations in other parts of the northern forested districts tell the same tale. Everywhere fire has worked havoc, and the forest is a mere wreck of what it might have been if fires could be prevented. And unless adequate measures are taken now to protect the young and immature forests which form the major part of the stand, the outlook for the future is none too good. If the northern forests are to continue to be a permanent source of wealth to the country, it is absolutely necessary that the fire ranging system should be extended and that proper methods of management of the forest should be applied, and public education to the value of the forest is even more necessary. In Sweden, which has large extents of northern forest, practically uninhabited, similar to those in northern Canada, has about eliminated the fire danger in such districts mainly by educating her people to the value of the forests.



SHOULD BE RAISING SHEEP

To the Tune of Eighty Millions, Whereas We Have Less Than Two Millions

Canada should be carrying 80,000,000 sheep. Instead, the figures are less than 2,000,000, that number being 1,000,000 less than twelve years ago. Mr. W. T. Ritch, special commissioner to the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, with Mr. W. A. Dryden, have been conducting an inquiry into the causes of comparative failure of the sheep raising industry in the Dominion. As an instance of the varying conditions of different countries, it is shown that, whereas in Australia sheep are principally raised for their wool, the value of the sheep apart from its wool is no more on an average than 10 shillings, or about $2.50, while here it is a poor sheep that will not fetch $6 at least. There is a great demand for mutton-sheep in New England, so that last year 24,000 sheep were exported to Boston from Prince Edward Island alone, and many more from the other Maritime Provinces. Yet all the time the Canadian farmer has been neglecting the certain revenue that awaited him to raise wool rather than mutton. The following instance of the prevailing ignorance among sheep farmers is given to show how much must be done before better results can be hoped for. In Ontario wool is sold for from 14 to 15 cents a pound. In the Maritime Provinces they still follow the custom that obtained in England in the days of handloom weaving. The wool is first shorn and then tub-washed, after which it is sold for 23 to 24 cents a pound. The farmers openly boast of the superiority of their wool to that grown further west, forgetful that it has shrunk in the process of tub-washing quite 40 per cent., so that Ontario wool is really the more profitable. Other important matters on which the report will touch are the better administration of the dog laws, and the improvement of fencing in the eastern provinces, to obviate the heavy losses that now take place from dogs worrying the sheep; and last though not least, the necessity for the proper classification of wool, at which the farmers too often laugh as a fad, forgetful that in Australia an expert wool-classer often makes $5,000 a year. In Canada the farmers are obtaining no more for the first fleeces than for subsequent shearings, or for fine wool than they do for coarse.

A NEW MOUNTAIN WORLD

Remarkable Grandeur of the Scenery Along the Grand Trunk Pacific

Mr. A. O. Wheeler, director of the Canadian Alpine Club, states in his last report that the territory in the vicinity of the head waters of the Athabasca and Whirlpool rivers offers a field for exploration and research, mountaineering and camping, that is absolutely new, and of which practically nothing is known. This group of mountains, through which the Grand Trunk Pacific railway will pass, is magnificent. It rises approximately to 12,000 feet above sea level, and shows contours of the wildest and boldest possible forms. Immense snowfields and huge glaciers are everywhere. Boldest and most inaccessible rise the awful black precipices of Mount Geikie, the central point of the group. Again to the south are an endless array of peaks, towers, pyramids, domes, castles and ramparts, in bewildering confusion. An attempt was made to identify the much talked of giants, — Columbia, Bryce, Lyall, Forbes, etc.,—but in the chaotic whole it could not be done with any certainty. The Grand Trunk Pacific station formerly known as Fiddle Creek, mile 997.8 west of Winnipeg, has been changed to Mietto Hot Springs. It will be in this locality that the first of the Grand Trunk Pacific mountain hotels will be erected, and is within seven or eight miles of the famous Hot Springs that are situated just beyond the famous Roche Mietto Mountain which looms up to the west of this station.

AN EASY CATCH

New Brunswick is not going to be behind in the fish jumping contests. A motor boat with three men was approaching the wharf at Westfield when a salmon, in one of his jumps, lost his bearings, and landed in the boat. As the salmon weighed twenty pounds, he made a great fuss until one of the three succeeded in killing him. The men were elated with their easy catch, and the salmon was good eating despite the singular method of his capture. The previous record in New Brunswick was a ten pounder which flopped into a dugout a fisherman was poling up the Matapedia River.

FOR CLEAN MEAT

Decrease in Sales Said to be Due to Insanitary Handling

Constant criticism in the press is impressing the men in charge of the London slaughter houses and meat markets and as there has been a considerable and growing decrease in the sale of meat, meetings are to be held to consider what may be done to provide the people of London with cleaner and more wholesome meat. The first actual improvement is to be introduced at one of the great London docks where an automatic apparatus is being constructed for the conveyance of frozen quarters of beef direct from the refrigerating rooms on shipboard to the vans without any intermediate handling. The apparatus, which is the first of its kind in Britain, is really a kind of overhead cable road, a chain driven by electricity pulling small trucks or carriers along the rails to the vans. The only handling necessary, therefore, is the hooking of meat on the carriers and the unhooking of the meat to place it in the vans. The ship comes along side the quay beside the shed, the meat is hoisted out of the hold and hooked on the carriers which then run it into the shed. There by a system it is directed along the runways to the waiting vans or to the cold storage rooms. Under the old system the beef is unhooked by hand, placed in slings transferred from the slings to [illegible] to the vans of railroad trucks and sent either into the country or to Smithfield market. Under the new system quay work will be obviated, and a considerable part of the handling rendered unnecessary. The carrier is designed to deal with 8,000 quarters of beef every ten hours.

DRURY LANE MUSIC HALL

Hereafter in Its Rebuilt Form It Will Have a New Name.

Familiar to the passing generation of Londoners as the "Old Mo," the Drury Lane music hall, widely known as the Middlesex, has just been reopened. During the summer the house was rebuilt, and the New Middlesex Empire as it will be called accommodates an audience of 3,000 with comfort, and will stage productions of nearly every kind. Extending 155 ft one way and 115 ft. another, the new "Old Mo" has a larger frontage than any theatre in London. The auditorium has been built without columns on the Acel cantilever principle, and the features of the house will be saloons on each tier, bars, and a tea room.

Throat Becomes Diseased from Neglecting Colds

THEN CATARRH SETS IN, MUCOUS DROPS INTO THE STOMACH, COUGHING, HEADACHES AND DEBILITY FOLLOW.

That the best method of curing catarrhal disease consists in using Catarrhozone is now freely admitted. Catarrhozone is infinitely superior to cough medicines, tablets, sprays and emulsions, which for the most part are of no practical value except to ease the cough for the time being. Often liquid cough remedies contain opium, morphine and cocaine. With Catarrhozone you take no drugs—you employ Nature's way—just inhale Catarrhozone's soothing healing vapor and relief and cure follows promptly.

Weak Throat, Racking Cough Cured.

"For five years I suffered from a severe bronchitis. A harsh, dry, racking cough kept my throat in a raw condition from one year's end to another. Before going to sleep at night I always had a bad attack, and in the morning before each breakfast I suffered greatly. My voice was harsh and raspy, and sometimes I found it difficult to make myself understood. Catarrhozone seemed to soothe and heal from the first day. It cured me, and now I wouldn't think of being without a Catarrhozone Inhaler—it means life to me."

The above experience is related by Mr. Alexander P. Savary of Hamilton, Pa., and proves the effectiveness of Catarrhozone, which will cure every cough, cold, bronchial or catarrhal attack. The dollar size of Catarrhozone contains two months' treatment and is guaranteed. Smaller size 50c, sample size 25c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

FORESTRY IN SOUTH AFRICA

Conservation is spreading in South Africa, and tree planting is to be commenced around Bloemfontein. The Council of that city recommends all other councils and village management boards to follow their example. It is believed that all South Africa was formerly covered with forests, and the denudation of the forest area was contemporaneous with the appearance of the Bantu races from the north of the Zambesi. A forestry department of the Union Government has now been organized, and it is hoped to carry out extensive work of afforestation in the immediate future.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Machinery for 3½ Yard Dipper Dredge" will be received at this office until 4.00 p.m., on Tuesday, April 9th, 1912, for the construction of machinery for a 3½ Yard Dipper Dredge.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at this Department and at the offices of [illegible], Esq., District Engineer, [illegible] Bank Building, Montreal, Que., and J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto Ont.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation and place of residence of each members of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

Plans, specification and form of contract can be seen and forms of tender obtained at the office of H. J. Lamb, Esq., District Engineer, Windsor, Ont., J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Sarnia, Ont.

Persons tendering are notified the tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque on a chartered bank, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works, equal to ten per cent (10 p.c.) of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the person tendering decline to enter into a contract when called upon to do so, or fail to complete the work contracted for. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

TRIALS BY WATER

A Distinctly Unpleasant Way of Proving One's Innocence.

Throwing people into the water to let it determine their innocence or guilt was widely in use in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries. A synod of West Prussia forbade its use in 1745. Sporadic cases, however, occurred during the whole of the nineteenth century.

Professor F. P. Evans wrote in 1895 of its use in Dalmatia, where in some districts it was still customary to throw all the women into the water on a specified day to see whether they would sink or swim.

A rope was attached to each in order to save from drowning those who proved their innocence by sinking, while those believed to be guilty because they floated were rescued and made to promise to forsake their evil ways on pain of being stoned.

A traveller has described a modern survival of the ordeal used in detecting thieves in Southern Russia. All the servants of the household where a robbery occurred were assembled and as many balls of bread were made as there were suspected persons.

A sorceress then addressed each one of the number, saying that the particular ball of bread which she held in her hand would sink or swim as the party addressed was guilty or innocent. She then flung it into the water.

Boiling water was used in ordeals by the Persians, and it is referred to in the Avesta. It contained both the sacred elements, water and fire, suggesting the deluge past and the fiery doom of the future. In the simplest form of the hot-water test the bare arm was plunged to the wrist in trivial cases, and to the elbow in more serious trials, usually to bring out rings [illegible] settle their cases judicially by plunging their arms into boiling water containing a black and white stone, when he who brings up the white stone wins the verdict. A king of the Goths in the seventh century, with the sanction of the Council of Toledo, recommended the boiling-water ordeal for crime.

CANNOT UPSET IT

Two Tests Made of New Lifeboat and Both are Successful

The new Harry Fisher lifeboat was successfully launched at Polson's Iron Works, Toronto. It was dropped from two heights, and demonstrated its self-righting principle in both. The first drop was made from an iron cradle ten feet from the water. Although the framework of the cradle broke just as the boat was being tipped, throwing it nearly upside down, it righted itself in a few feet, and fell in the water right side up.

A rope was then let down from an overhead crane and fastened by an ordinary hook to the top of the boat. When the boat was raised a few feet from the water the hook slipped owing to the weight of the vessel, nearly four tons, and the boat dropped back into the water.

The boat was next raised to a height of twenty feet, suspended from the overhead crane, and at a given signal was dropped to the water. It landed right side up.

The boat, which is of steel, is shaped somewhat like a cigar, and inside has a steel boat working on pivots, so that it is always in proper position.

It is claimed for the boat that it is fireproof, non-sinkable and non-capsizable. It has capacity for fifty persons, and with the aid of running-boards on the sides and top could, if necessary, carry another fifty. It is twenty-four feet long and seven feet wide, and is propelled by a screw operated by a crank.

Light is obtained through a number of glassed-in port holes, and air by special self-closing devices.

WATER POWERS ACQUIRED

To be Used in Connection with Electrification of C. P. R.

In connection with the probable ultimate electrification of a portion of its line in the Rocky Mountains, the Canadian Pacific Railway acquired a water power on the Adams River, which flows out of Adams Lake, and experts have reported that it is capable of developing a hundred thousand horse-power at two different points between the lake and its confluence with the South Thompson. It is in a heavily timbered country where extensive lumbering operations are now being carried on.

ELEPHANT PULLS TOOTH

Unusual Operation Witnessed by Visitors to Riverdale Zoo

The elephant at the Riverdale Zoo, Toronto, acts as his own dentist. A few days ago it pulled a tooth which had been bothering it, the operation being witnessed by a number of persons who were watching the animal at the time. It appeared to be in pain, and worked it strunk around in its mouth as though to dislodge something unpleasant. At last, after moving its trunk frantically, the animal drew something from its mouth. It cast the tooth [illegible] out of the enclosure. The molar was large, [illegible] evidently broken off in the gum, as all the root did not come out. The crown was in a good state of preservation, but there were signs of decay lower down.

Highest Building in the World.

Plans have been filed for the construction at Broadway and Park Place, New York City, of the highest building in the world. From the curb to the apex of the tower it will stand 750 feet and contain 55 stories. The Metropolitan tower is 700 feet 3 inches, and the Singer tower 612 feet.

OVERHEARD AT A STATION.

Just as the train was about to start, a youth ran up to the ticket inspector and said,

"Sir, there are two men travelling first and they have no tickets."

Off went the inspector and searched all the cars and could not find one that had not had his ticket punched. Seeing the youth standing, he said.

"Where are the men without the tickets?"

"On the engine, of course!"

"ORDER! ORDER!"

Commotions Caused in the Commons When Excitement has run High.

The almost unparalleled scene—or, perhaps, it would be more correct to say, series of scenes—which took place in the House of Commons a short time ago, suggest the question whether Parliament is not deteriorating.

Such scenes are not only discreditable, they lower the tone of our legislature, and give rise to doubts whether our lawmakers are as level-headed [illegible]

It is only fair to state, however, that, from the point of view of mere disorderliness, the recent "scene" was a much tamer affair than the one in the House of Commons in March, 1901. The trouble on that occasion was created by some of the Irish members, and it was rightly described at the time as without parallel since the time of Cromwell, when soldiers cleared the House at the point of the bayonet.

As a matter of fact, most of the "scenes" which have taken place at Westminster must be laid at the door of the Irish members. There was a sensational incident in the last decade of the nineteenth century over the vexed question of Home Rule.

On that occasion Members actually came to blows, but very little damage was done except to the prestige and dignity of the Mother of Parliaments. It must be said, too, that members were heartily ashamed of their conduct, and showed that they were when their hot blood had cooled down.

Thirty years ago there was an indescribable uproar in the House of Commons when thirty-five members of the Irish party were forcibly removed, in addition to being suspended from attendance.

That scene was almost paralleled in the following year, 1882, when the House sat at a stretch for the lengthy period of twenty-eight hours. As many as twenty-five Irish members were suspended on that occasion, most of them for refusing to leave when the House was about to be cleared for a division.

The name of the late Charles Bradlaugh is associated with more than one disorderly scene in Parliament, on account of his "conscientious objection" to take the oath. Perhaps the one that occasioned the most excitement was when he essayed to take his seat by sheer force.

On that memorable occasion the House was treated to the eddifying spectacle of the hon. member for Northampton struggling desperately with half a dozen burly policemen, who forcibly ejected him from the Chamber. It was a most painful scene to all who witnessed it.

The British Parliament is, however, "not in it" with foreign legislatures for the creation of scenes. The French Chamber has provided not a few, some of the worst being in connection with the Dreyfus question, which agitated the whole of France, not to say Europe, some thirteen years ago.

In the course of a "full-dress" debate on this question, one speaker called another "a liar and a coward," receiving the next moment a smashing blow in the face for his pains. Nothing more was needed to set the whole Chamber in an uproar, and free fights became the order of the day. Before the disturbance could be quelled, not only police, but foot and mounted soldiers had to be called out.

Perhaps the Austrian Parliament is the most un[illegible] of all the legislatures of Europe. There even Ministers who were members of the same Cabinet, have hammered each other on the floor of the House, and day after day it has been the scene of rough-and-tumble encounters.

CANADA'S GREAT FUTURE

Former Vice-President of the U. S Expresses His Admiration

Canada has an unparalleled future, according to former vice-president of the United States, Chas. W. Fairbanks. "Why, you people have just commenced to build a nation," he said "and judging the future by the past and taking into consideration your marvellous resources, the greatest on earth, I have in my mind's eye the position Canada will occupy among the earth's great nations."

SAD FOR THE COLLECTION.

"Are you fond of autographs, Mrs. Simpkins?" asked the young lady of the practical visitor.

"No, I don't think much of 'em; but my son, who's away at college, has a big collection of the handwritin' of celebrated people. I fancy I'll surprise him a bit when he gets home again."

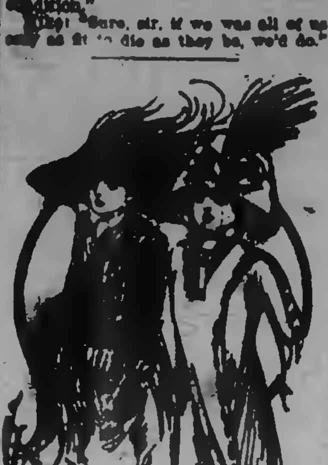
"In what way?"

"Well, you see, some of those great people write such poor writin' that I had all the names copied in a neat hand into a big book. You have no idea how much better they look. That other rubbish, which nobody could read, I just burned in the fire."

GOOD EXAMPLES.

Parson: "The pigs do you credit, Michael; I never saw any in better condition."

Mike: "Sure, sir, if we was all of us only as fit to die as they be, we'd do."



WOW!

Ella—He says that I am the light of his life.

Stella—That's gas.

PLACING THE BLAME.

Little Bertie's mother overheard him using some very strong language. She promptly took him to task, explaining the wickedness as well as the vulgarity of such speech. She asked him where he had learned all those dreadful words. Bertie announced that Charlie, one of his playmates had taught him.

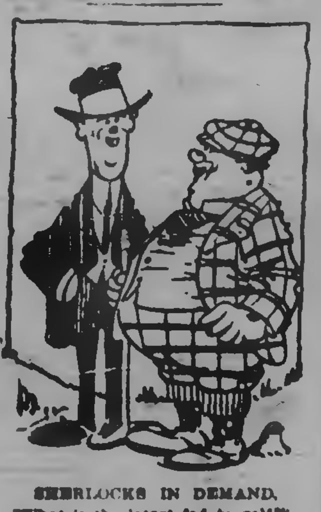
Charlie's mother was straightway brought to book. He vigorously denied having instructed Bertie, and neither threats nor tears could make him confess.

At last he burst out: "I didn't teach Bertie any bad words. Why should I know them better than he does? Hasn't his father got a motor-car, too?"

SAVED.

Shoeless he climbed the stairway, opened the door of the room, entered, and closed it after him without being detected. Just as he was about to get into bed his wife, half aroused [illegible]

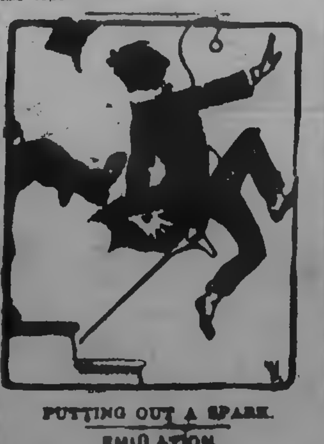
The husband telling the rest of the story, said. "For once in my life I had real presence of mind. I licked her hand."



SHERLOCKS IN DEMAND.

"What is the latest fad in golf?"

"Having real detectives track up the lost balls."



PUTTING OUT A SPARK.

EMULATION.

He was one of those sour-visaged [illegible], who are never so happy as when they are endeavoring to foist their doleful doctrines on their suffering fellow creatures.

He had got into a crowded compartment of a business men's morning train, and was thoroughly enjoying [illegible].

[illegible] round at the closed eyes, [illegible] and smiles of [illegible], he thundered:

"And what would you say, gentlemen, if I were to tell you that ere [illegible] the rivers [illegible] this country [illegible] up."

"[illegible] would say," chirped a small man [illegible] the other end of the carriage, "[illegible] and do them likewise."

Bobcaygeon Independent: Ottawa should be grateful to Mr. Borden for proroging Parliament that the one spring cleaning and fumigation will be sufficient.

The Ontario Legislature is considering an act whereby soldiers in uniform people going to or returning from a funeral, shall not be called on to pay toll on any road, where such tolls are collected.

THE HOME LIFE OF THE WELSH

Some Glimpses of the Subjects of the Prince of Wales—Influence of Mr. Lloyd-George

Mr. Frank Elias has a very informative article about the Welsh people in T. P.'s Magazine.

"The student of Welsh life and character who encounters almost any village in North Wales, will be able to acquire a full knowledge of his subject without travelling a mile farther. For Welsh life has a certain quality of uniformity which is not found in the other constituent peoples of the Empire.

"The centre of the Welshman's life is the Chapel. On it his hopes are set, and in its light every fact of his character illuminates itself. He spends his leisure in its service, and even his relaxations are taken within its walls. The characteristic entertainment of the Welshman is the annual Chapel 'Tea Party and Grand Concert.' The 'grandeur' of the concert is taken for granted. The table spread before the purchaser of the tea-party ticket is not, perhaps, one to charm an eclectic taste. Bread and butter and bun loaf are the chief dishes. But there is abundance, there is an effervescing spirit of friendliness, and—thought dear to the passionate musician in every Welshman—there is the prospect of the concert.

"But the significance of the Chapel to the heart of the Welsh villager rests upon surer foundations than the social: Wales is a deeply religious nation, and the history of Wales is a religious history. Through the character of the Welshman there runs a strong strain of poetry and mysticism; he feels, with a special urgency, the appeal of the unseen. From his childhood he has breathed in the religious fervor of his fathers. The magnificent services of the Welsh Sunday-school to the national life have never been properly acknowledged. Nearly all the achievements of the Principality have had their foundation in this school.

"No form is more characteristically Welsh than that of the minister. He is plainly a son of the people. Indeed, every man who has moved the mind of Wales during the past two hundred years was born poor. Moreover, with the exception of Mr. Lloyd George, nearly every Welshman who wields an influence over his people has remained poor. Any obscure Englishman of modest prosperity going daily to the City and live in a $300 house, could have bought up most of the great Welshmen of the past. They had always to keep their wants humble. From inspiring their people they had to face an empty larder. But poor, these men were not despised. Theirs were the names their country celebrated. And so it is to-day.

"They have small means to buy books—these men—yet nearly every [illegible] English literature. That this is so becomes obvious when, as they often do in their journeys, they preach in the Saxon tongue.

"But not only are these men readers; they are writers and they are poets. Indeed, the greater number of the national bards are ministers of religion.

"The Welsh minister is not, however, wholly a self-trained man. He has his denominational college and his National University. But, more than this, many Welsh preachers are Oxford men. No Nonconformist ministry, probably, has a larger number of its younger men holding Oxford degrees. Jesus College is the recognized home of Welsh culture, and it was among a notable set of Oxford men of the late eighties that the Young Wales Movement of which Tom Ellis was leader, had its rise.

"The influence which Mr. Lloyd George wields in Wales is not, perhaps fully understood. It is true that he attracts the admiration and enthusiasm which are the due of the national leader. So, however, did Gladstone in England and Parnell in Ireland. Between the popular attitude towards Mr. Lloyd George there is this difference, that Gladstone and Parnell, loved though they were by the common people, were regarded not only with affection, but with a certain element of awe. They were felt to stand upon another plane than that of their followers. There is very little of this feeling among the men who follow Lloyd George.

"Mr. Lloyd George has an enormous moral and political influence in Wales. But he exercises, in a curious degree, an influence of quite another kind. Not only is he moulding Welsh opinion: he is even affecting Welsh psychology. The minor note in Welsh character has been observed. But the emergence of a Welshman, in every sense typical of his countrymen, upon the platform of world-history, has quickened the Welsh pulse and widened the Welsh outlook."

HOW TO KNIT A MAN'S TIE

You will need half an ounce each of white and colored knitting silk or cotton, and four needles.

Begin at the wide end by casting on 36 stitches; arrange 12 on each needle. Knit 12 rounds in colored, take up the white silk and knit six rounds, with the colored silk knit two rounds (the silk is not broken off, but passed up inside), six rounds in white, two rounds in colored, six rounds in white; repeat five times, and decrease thus: Knit the two first stitches together and the two last together of the round in every alternate round six times, so reducing the stitches to 24; repeat the stripes nine more times—this makes the tie one and a quarter yards in length—and cast off.

Lay the tie flat, letting the ends of the rows where the silks are changed come exactly in the centre of the back, sew the ends neatly together, place the tie between the folds of a damp cloth and press with a hot iron.

Judging by the photograph of the new nurses' residence, in connection with the Ross Memorial Hospital, Lindsay, contained in the Ontario Legislature annual report on hospitals and charities, there is an opening for some Peterborough philanthropist or philanthropists. That the little town of Lindsay should have so fine an adjunct to their hospital, is enough to make Peterborough break the tenth commandment.

WILD GOOSE RAISING

Toronto Man Has Wild Ducks, too, at Farm Near the City

Farming wild animals! What with the rapid decrease in all kinds of game, and especially of the fur-bearing quadruped, it really begins to look as though this might be a sound commercial proposition. That is what the Canadian Government is doing with the last remnant of the big buffalo herd. There will be an addition [illegible] hundred calves in the huge [illegible] Wainwright, Sask.

[illegible] long ago some enterprising [illegible] in Minnesota bred [illegible]. When the pups had grown [illegible] fellows with an insatiable [illegible] dead horse, they were [illegible] their heads taken to the [illegible] authorities for the bounty. A [illegible] dollar per was quite a profitable [illegible] until the law found out.

Others go in for foxes or skunks. [illegible] an application just come [illegible] from an American, a request is made for a tract of rough land in Northern Ontario whereon the grantee [illegible] farm everything from bears to weasels.

When the Belgian hare craze was rife here some twelve years ago, many Torontonians had hutches in their back yards. Of course these last-named animals can hardly be termed wild, but purchasers of the rodents at $25 a pair were wild enough when they found out what an unprofitable business they had embarked in.

A well-known citizen, a great sportsman with a farm on the Credit, has had wonderful success in raising wild geese and ducks. He is a member of a duck-shooting club, with large leases on Lake Scugog, and here in the fall of the year the wild ducks bred in captivity are made useful for decoying their roving brethren.

Painted wooden imposters are usually anchored out to tempt the wild ducks within range of the blind which the hunters hide. Oftentimes the keen eyes of the birds will detect something wrong in even the best of these decoys. But when a live duck "quacks" and flaps its wings, even the most skeptical of the breed are prone to think all is right. One of these tethered black ducks is a very deadly bait, and the wild ducks very seldom fail to answer his lusty call.

Similarly the wild geese are used in the spring of the year. Just as the ice is breaking up and the warm days of April make one long for outdoors the grey Canada goose in thousands come into the feeding grounds at Lake Scugog to fill their crops with the remnants of last year's wild rice. It is then that Toronto hunters make their bags. Impossible to approach in any other way, the wary wild goose is inveigled to within gunshot of the blind by the blandishments of the tethered captives whose importunate honkings are not to be resisted.

IMPROVE JUAREZ TRACK

Racing Popular in Mexican City, and No Expense Will be Spared

[illegible] race meeting, Matt Winn and those associated with him in the management of Jockey Club Juarez are undertaking extensive improvements. The directors of the club are optomistic over the future of the sport in the Mexican city and have given Col. Winn carte blanche to expend any amount necessary for the improvement and embellishment of the plant. The contemplated improvements will cost approximately $50,000, and when the work is completed Col. Winn believes that the course will be one of the beauty spots on this continent. The improvements include the abandonment of the chutes at one mile and one mile and a sixteenth, and the placing of the starting posts for these distances on the main track, where the starts can be better viewed from the stand. The double railing, separating the promenade and the track proper, will give way to rows of hedges and the space between the rows will be planted in clover. Two thousand pear trees will be planted in the space north of the paddock and field. The trees have already been contracted for. The infield will be sown in wheat in winter and oats in the summer. For the protection of the patrons against the sharp winds that are prevalent at certain periods of the year, an adobe wall, twenty feet high, will be constructed around the track at the most effective locations. A ladies' room will be installed under the stand, where the restaurant and kitchen are at present located. The two last named will be moved close to the betting ring.

NEW RACING REGULATION

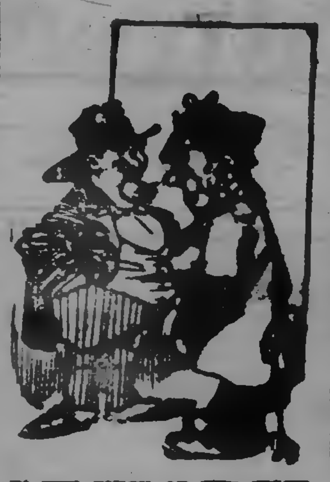
In introducing his bill to prevent the indiscriminate establishment of race-courses throughout the country, the Minister of Justice made the announcement that the charters applied for two years ago for Thorncliffe Park and the London Jockey Club had been granted, and the act would not apply to them. It provides that the protection of the Miller bill will not apply to new courses established under the easy, and practically secret, method of incorporation under the joint stock companies act. The bill is not retroactive, but it means that in future there can be no legal speculation on the courses of associations which receive their authority by act of Parliament.

REGULATING AIR TRAFFIC

According to the new regulations, all airmen in France must be provided with navigation certificates and with permits for their air-craft. Flights over cities or crowds are prohibited. No explosives, cameras, or wireless apparatus may be carried without special permission. In the near future all air-craft will be expected to carry three lights—a white one in front, a green one on the right and a red one on the left. A horn must be carried for use in foggy weather. Air-craft are expected never to pass within 400 feet of each other.

Local Oddfellows at Lindsay.

Several local oddfellows, and members of the Peterborough Encampment, visited Lindsay on Good Friday and put on a lodge of instruction for Guiding Star Encampment, No. 22, I.O.O.F., of that town. Grand Patriarch Thompson of the town of Windsor, was present and addressed the brethren. The brethren from Hiawatha Encampment, No 66, Peterborough conferred the R.P. Degree, Bro. G. F. Cairns, captain. Mount Hebron Encampment No. 56, conferred the P. Degree and the G. R. Degree, Bro. Thos. Duncan being the captain. The Peterborough visitors included the following: Brethren Geo. J. Johnston, J. Buchanan, H. Barrett, J. Juby, R. Murduff, C. Gould, G. F. Cairns, George Baird, Geo. Sachers, John Richardson, J. Fred Reed, J. S. Londerwith, Kent Throop, E. Wand, Geo. C. Carruthers, R. E. Harding, B. M. Frederick, M. J. Kirs, W. J. Hooper and R. J. Craig. Refreshments were served in the Royal Hotel.



IN THE THICK OF THE FIGHT.

First Veteran—So you fought all through the war, did you?

Second Veteran—Yes.

First Veteran—I didn't know you were in the war.

Second Veteran—Neither was I. I was at home with my wife.

BEARING FRUIT.

The Sunday School teacher was possessed of the praiseworthy desire to promote thrift among his class of lads. He had given Bill and Johnny ten cents each for doing some work for him.

"I hope to hear, when we meet again," he said, "that you have used the money to some real advantage."

The next time they met, Bill produced two dimes.

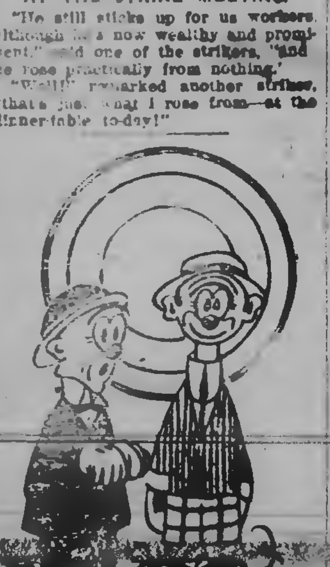
"Well done, my lad," said the delighted teacher, "I am pleased to see my lessons are bearing their fruits. But what of your dime, Johnny?" said he to the other hopeful.

"Please, sir, I lost it tossin' wi' Bill."

AT THE STRIKE MEETING.

"He still sticks up for us workers, although he's now wealthy and prominent," said one of the strikers, "and he rose practically from nothing."

"Well!" remarked another striker, "that's just what I rose from—at the dinner-table to-day!"



HOUSE CLEANING.

Willy—A spinster at our boarding house found a man under her bed!

Billy—With a revolver and burglar's kit, I suppose?

Willy—No, with a hose and vacuum cleaner.

NERVE-DESTROYING TONIC.

Jones: "I see Brown, that you have got a new dog. What's his name?"

Brown: "Tonic."

Brown: "Well, you see, I call him Tonic, because he's a mixture of bark, steel, and whine."

SAVED BY THE DOG.

"Yes," said the grizzled mountaineer reminiscently, "that dog saved my life."

"Wonderfully sagacious dogs," said the audience. "How did it happen?"

"Years ago I was wandering through the mountains——"

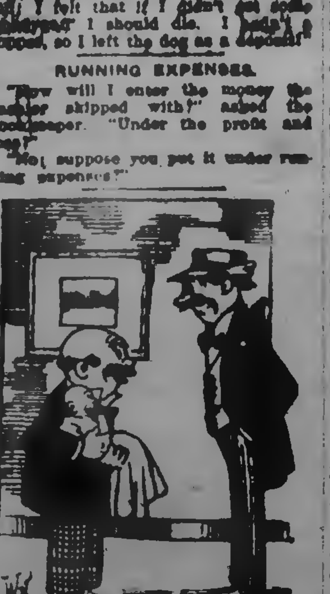
"And fell into a snowdrift and he pulled you out?" interrupted [illegible].

"No, not precisely that. It was a tremendously hot day. I came to an inn. I felt that if I didn't get some whiskey I should die. I hadn't a copper, so I left the dog as a deposit."

RUNNING EXPENSES.

"How will I enter the money the cashier skipped with?" asked the bookkeeper. "Under the profit and loss?"

"No, suppose you put it under running expenses?"



NOT A BOY.

"So that's the baby, eh? Well, I hope you will bring it up to be a conscientious, good young man."

"I am afraid that is rather difficult."

"Pshaw! As the twig is bent the tree's inclined."

"I know, but this twig is bent on being a girl, and we are inclined to let it go at that."

INSPECTION OF ARDENT LIQUORS.

There are a great many people who maintain that spirituous or fermented liquors of any kind, are bad. Again there are those who do not take so radical a view, but will heartily agree with the Kingston Standard in its contention that license inspectors should take samples of liquor from the bars and have them tested. Not much attention is being paid in this country to the prevention of the sale of adulterated liquor over the bar; and yet bad liquor is one of the greatest curses in connection with the liquor traffic. In England an inspector in plain clothes, drops into a bar, asks for a drink, puts it in a small flask, and carries it off with him to be tested. If it is adulterated the seller is mulcted in a heavy fine. Why should not every license inspector in Ontario have the power to appoint a man from time to time for a similar purpose—a man unknown to the bar-tenders? Half the evil that results from drinking is caused by adulterated whiskey. The working men who reel home after having had three or four drinks and begin to smash up the furniture and beat their wives have been drinking squirrel whiskey.

The Department of Militia and Defence has issued a pamphlet entitled, "Two Classes of Training in Canada." The booklet gives full details and statistics of two kinds of training of the youth of our beloved Dominion. On the one hand, is the positive or upbuilding, among other things contributing to this class are schools, churches, and the militia, including permanent corps, active militia, cadets, boy scouts, and rifle associations. In the demoralizing or negative causes, among other things, may be classed the intemperate use of liquors and tobacco. In this respect, one important factor in the demoralizing causes is omitted, viz. the pool room. This item may have been omitted, as the pamphlet gives full figures of expenses for military purposes, and for tobacco and liquors. Of course, in such a comparison, the pool-room, vicious as it most undoubtedly is, would not be included, as no figures of the thousands of dollars, not spent, but "blown in" by callow youths and boys are not available. To epitomize, this booklet shows that the net cost per head for Canada for all her militia, of all branches, boy scouts and all appurtenances belonging thereto, is less than that for liquor and tobacco.

Cheer up, ye taxpayers of Peterborough! the Canadian Journal of Commerce says that Woodstock, Ont. is to vote on $60,000 city hall debentures. Think of our magnificent City Hall! Still our local palace is paid for.

HOUSE WRINKLES

These Hints If Followed Will Produce Many a Good Result

On dry, windy days the door of your house often gets very dusty. To save labor, get an old stocking, put on it a little paraffin oil, and rub it all over the door. This method makes the door look nice and clean, and the dust does not settle so quickly.

Barley Porridge

Barley makes a delicious variety in porridge. For four or five persons, soak three ounces of pearl barley overnight, stew all the next day in rather less than a quart of water, and the next morning warm it up with two or three teaspoonfuls of lemon-juice.

Collar Hint

Starched collars often get the button hole broken before they are half worn out. To make them wear longer take a piece of tape and sew neatly across the hole, and work a new hole in the tape. If this is done before sending to the laundry they will look quite neat when they come back.

Hot Water Marks on Tables

The best way to remove marks and rings made by hot water jugs, etc., being put upon polished trays or tables, is to make a thin paste of salad oil and salt, leave it on the mark or ring for an hour; then polish with a dry cloth, and the mark will have disappeared.

Little Gooseberry Pies

Stew some gooseberries till soft, but not broken. Line some patty-pans with short paste, fill them with gooseberries, add sufficient sugar, and cover with paste as for mince-pies. Bake in a good oven. Before sending to table sift castor sugar over the pies.

Rhubarb Tarts

A rhubarb tart can be greatly improved by putting a small cupful of raw tapioca in the dish with the rhubarb, etc. When the tart is cooked the juice will be found to be of a thick jelly-like substance, but the tapioca cannot be seen. The tapioca also keeps the juice from bubbling over the oven.

When Ironing Sheets

Instead of spreading out the sheet to iron, fold it in half, then quarter, and lay it on the ironing-board. Iron the rest of the clothes on top of the sheet, turn it occasionally, so as to reach every part, then fold it and begin on another sheet. In this way the sheets are ironed with very little trouble.

When Potatoes Boil Black

When potatoes are inclined to go black after boiling, the following is a good plan to improve the color and make them floury: Peel them an hour before cooking, and put into cold water to cover, and place in fresh cold water with a little salt, and a tablespoonful of milk. Let them come to a boil, then simmer for the rest of the time till cooked.

Remedy for Heavy Pastry

Housewives who have a heavy hand for pastry should try beating their lard with a fork and bringing it to a cream, and then adding their flour and stirring a little in gradually. This also is a good way of mixing cakes, instead of creaming the butter [illegible] require only one-third of the lard generally used, and a lighter crust will be the result.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

Referring to our report of the address given by Judge Huycke, under auspices of the Women's Art Association, it might be noted that Mr. F. H. Dobbin, has consented to give an address under the same auspices. His subject will be "When the City Was Young." The address, to which members and their friends are invited will be given Friday, April 12th, in the studio of the association, Public Library.

Death of Former Local Resident.

Word has been received here of the death, at Milwaukee, Wis., of a former Peterborough man, Mr. Thos. Derry of McDonnel street. He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife, his mother, five sisters and two brothers, all of whom reside in Peterborough, excepting one brother in Dundas. The remains will arrive here on the 9.15 train this evening. The funeral will take place from the family residence, 465 McDonnel street, to-morrow afternoon (Wednesday) at 2.30, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

Accident to Clarence Davidson.

As Mr. Clarence Davidson, Munro avenue, was going to work at the office of the Wm. Scott Produce Co., he had the misfortune to slip on the pavement and dislocate his ankle, as he was passing along Rogers street. The dislocation was reduced by Dr. Brown, and Mr. Davidson is feeling as well as possible under the circumstances.

Collision Patients Recover.

Among the people injured in the collision near Fraserville, Monday night were three Peterborough citizens, Messrs. Stanley Cooper, badly cut about the face; Conductor Ballantyne, cut about the head, and Harry Cressman badly shaken up. They, with Mr. Pilling, of Port Hope, were taken to Nicholls Hospital. Enquiries made at the hospital last night, showed that all but Conductor Ballantyne have left, and he was doing nicely.

Police Court Case Over 70 Cents.

At yesterday's police court Harry Cook was charged with using grossly insulting language in a Charlotte street store. The proprietor swore that Cook had come to his store last Saturday and bought three blinds for seventy cents. The proprietor claimed that a mistake had been made in the price charged for the goods, by his wife. He said he would "call his wife down" for the blunder. He told Cook to leave the place, and Cook threatened to "trim" him. The case was dismissed.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy
ALWAYS CURES
And is Pleasant and Safe.

Mr. W. J. Young to Live in City.

Mr. W. J. Young, of Smith, who about a year and a half ago purchased the farm of the late William Simpson, has disposed of his farm, farm stock, implements, and everything on the farm to Mr. Herbert Darling, eldest son of Mr. Jas. Darling, of Smith, and is removing to 556 Charlotte street, Peterborough. This is one of the best farms in the township of Smith and contains 125 acres.

J. L. Dunsford Heard From.

Word was received here yesterday from Mr. John L. Dunsford, formerly of Lindsay, and who has many friends in the city. Mr. Dunsford, who is a cousin of the manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in this city, is now holding a responsible position in Palatka, Fla. For the information of his friends, we might say that Jack is the same old boy, he was when so many used to grab his hand, when he blew in from Lindsay.

A Big Expenditure in Lindsay.

It seems that the Seymour Power Co. is going to spend a large amount of money in Lindsay, in brief $600,000, on the installation of a plant there, that will have a generating capacity sufficient to supply all the needs of Lindsay and Oshawa. The company has purchased land for this purpose, adjoining their present substation. The plant will have a capacity of 5000 horse power. The proposed expenditure will be made so that additional units may be added as required.

A Canard About Tom Eastwood.

One of those ridiculous canards that seem to spring from nowhere, but quickly spread throughout the city, was current on the streets yesterday morning. It was to the effect that Mr. Tom. Eastwood, the genial boniface of Buckhorn had suddenly dropped dead. The Times quickly made enquiries and was gratified to find that Mr. Eastwood was not only in the land of the living, but hale and hearty, and preparing for next summer's business.

A Valuable Horse Drowned.

Mr. Peter Hawkins, of Raeboro, last Saturday, was taking in his conveyance a load of passengers. He had at 7 p.m. passed across the creek on the second quarter line, between Reed's farm and the C.P.R. tracks. At eight o'clock, he had, as noted, a number of people in his rig. Whilst the water had risen somewhat, having recently crossed the creek in safety, he decided to recross. The bridge gave way, and his horses were cast into the water. Attempts were made by cutting the traces to get the horses out. However, before this [illegible] was drowned.

Another Local Policeman.

The Police Commissioners have added another man to the local force in the person of Mr. John Kane, whose duties commence April 15th. Mr. Kane has been a resident of Peterborough for a little more than a year and was associated with Mr. John Watt, as fishery inspector. Dr. McClelland, of Brock street, was present and complained of the noise, etc. of the Brock street roller rink. After hearing what the Doctor said, the Commissioners asked him to place his charges before them in writing. Mr. Meharry was present, and said that Dr. McClelland had been misinformed with regard to many of his statements.

Antithesis of the Widow's Cruise.

It is related of a former Peterborough pastor, who had several boys, that he objected to the inordinate appetite of the oldest child. Finding one day that the boy had eaten a big dish of jelly, intended for the family desert, the good clergyman stood aghast. Words of anger came to his mind, but remembering the cloth, he repressed them. Then he was about to say, "you glutton!" but such expressions he refrained from using. He simply roared at his son, "You antithesis of Widow's Cruse! There was no emptying it, and there's no filling you!" Then the pastor's slipper got busy on that boy's north promontory.

Lecture at Murray St. Church.

Last night the Women's Mission Circle of the Murray street Baptist church held their annual meeting. Miss Nicholls made a very acceptable chairman. Mr. H. D. Robertson gave a most interesting and instructive lecture on the recent rebellion in China. His address depicted in a lucid manner the trials that missionaries in China, and such half civilized countries have to contend with. Mr. and Mrs. Robertson, who were sent to China by the Methodist Missionary Board, reside at Shantu China. They are at present guests of Mrs. Robertson's mother, Mrs. Hunter, of Gilmour street. Mrs. Robertson, we regret to say, is ill.

Departing Man Honored.

About 50 of his fellow workmen, in the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., tendered a banquet to Mr. R. A. Stockdale, who is leaving for Toronto. The banquet was held in the Oriental, so it is superfluous to state that the menu was all that could be desired. After the good cheer had been attended to, Mr. Stockdale was the recipient of a handsome illuminated address, which was read by Mr. H. Robertson. Mr. Stockdale suitably responded. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and singing. Messrs. Lee and Cairns furnished some excellent vocal selections, and the banjo solos of Mr. George Clarke proved an acceptable diversion.

S.S. Officers Elected.

At the annual meeting of the County of Peterborough Sunday School Association, at which representatives from Otonabee, Lakefield, Smith and Asphodel were present, the following officers were elected, Messrs. and Mesdames: President, J. A. Finley, Norwood; Vice-Pres., H. S. Bissell, Lakefield; Secretary, R. Lees, Peterborough; Treasurer, A. J. Johnston. Superintendents, Rev. D. A. Thompson, Hastings; Home Department, A. E. Kennedy, Lakefield; Elementary Grades, Miss E. L. Waters, Norwood; Adult Bible class, Percy Udy, Bridgenorth; Delegates to Provincial convention, the President and the Secretary.

Death of Former C.G.E. Co. Student

Mr. Patrick John Meagher, a former student at the C.G.E. Co., died last Saturday, in Joliette, Que., and his body was taken by special train to Lindsay for interment at Kirkfield. The late Mr. Meagher's death was the result of an accident sustained a fortnight ago.

The late Mr. Meagher is survived by his mother, father, two brothers, Messrs. William and Fergus, and two sisters, Mrs. Martin J. Kenny, of Port Arthur and Miss Mabel, of Toronto. Mrs. Meagher, mother of the deceased, Messrs. William and Fergus Meagher and Miss Muriel Steers, of Montreal, were on the special train, and proceeded to Kirkfield for the interment, while Lady MacKenzie, of Toronto, and other relatives of the deceased, arrived in Kirkfield on Sunday via special train.

Homeseekers' and Settlers' Special Trains to Western Canada.

Via Chicago and St. Paul, April 16th, 23rd, and 30th, and every second Tuesday thereafter until Sept. 17th, inclusive. Tickets will also be on sale on certain dates via Sarnia and Northern Navigation Company. Special train will leave Toronto at 10.30 p.m. on above dates for Edmonton and points in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, stopping at all points on Grand Trunk Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg. Through coaches and Pullman Tourist Sleepers will be carried fully equipped with bedding and porter in charge. Berths may be secured in sleepers at a low rate. This is an exceptional opportunity for those wishing to take advantage of the remarkably low oneway Settlers' rates or round trip Homeseekers' excursions through the American cities. No change of cars. Secure tickets and berth reservations from any Grand Trunk Agent, or write A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Union Station, Toronto.

Rev. Canon Davidson Appreciated.

The appended letter has been received by the church wardens of St. John's church, and speaks for itself:

Church Wardens,
St. John's Church,
Peterborough, Ont.,

Dear Sirs,—As chairman of the committee in charge of the noon-day Lenten services held under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, I am writing you to tell how much we enjoyed and profited by the visit of your Rector, Canon Davidson.

I learned after he arrived that he came, under considerable difficulty, owing to the death of one of the prominent members of your parish, which made us doubly appreciative of his visit. He made a great many friends here and has left an impression which will last.

Should you ever happen to be in Buffalo on a Sunday I hope you will be sure to visit St. Paul's church, where the services were held and make yourself known to some of the Brotherhood men there.

Yours very truly,
JOHN K. WALKER,
77 to 83 Pearl St., Buffalo.

LITTLE LOCAL LINES

The 57th Regiment Band met last night.

Mr. T. Cavanagh yesterday shipped twenty-seven fine horses to Toronto.

The Scugog river has risen in its protest against those disfiguring stumps. The latter are submerged.

Thank Providence, and incidentally the weather sharp, because the latter prophisies milder and fair weather, for to-day.

Lindsay butchers have raised their prices for meat, two cents a pound. Don't mention this, however, lest the local purveyors follow suit.

A Lindsay contemporary, describing the loss of a horse by drowning, says, "The team with its jolly load of passengers." We have heard of a man carrying "a load," but this Lindsay description is new to us.

No, Mr. Reader, it was not an oriole warbling in the tree tops, you heard yesterday. It was the man out with his snow shovel giving his opinions about the present spring weather.

Peterborough is not the only place troubled with minor floods. On Sunday the cellar of the Baptist church, Lindsay, was flooded and the furnace put "hors de combat." The congregation had to hold services in the Sunday school.

Local citizens know what the fly pest is in this city. At least, the bald-headed man and the housewife do. The Dominion Government has decided to prevent the importation of fruit from the Hawaiian Islands to Canada to prevent importation of the Mediterranean fly.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. Tom Allen of Millbrook, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. W. H. Dayman, is laid up at his home ill. His many friends will hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. J. W. Ridpath, of the Lakefield News, was in the city yesterday and paid The Times a fraternal visit.

Mrs. Jas. Rollins has been elected vice-president of the Alumnae Association at Kingston.

Mr. W. E. Brooks of Young's Point was in the city yesterday and gave The Times a friendly call.

Miss Violet Teevins of the Normal School this city, is the guest of her parents, Mr and Mrs. J. J. Teevins, Lindsay.

Mr. W. Blanchette, formerly of the Trent Valley Canal staff, now living in Ottawa, has been in the city for several days on business.

Dr. Griffiths, who some years ago preached in the Charlotte street Methodist church, died last Sunday, in Toronto.

Mrs. (Hon.) Robt. Hamilton, who is ill in Nicholls Hospital, we are pleased to say, was reported yesterday as "doing nicely."

Mr. Alex Gibbs, the Water street real estate agent, has been confined to his house for a couple of days through illness.

THE PRICE OF EGGS.

The Chief Statistican at Ottawa has dug up Government reports showing that eggs sold for seven cents a dozen in April 1897. This must be taken from an average price throughout the Dominion. Hen fruit was never sold in Peterborough for the past thrity years at that price. Anyhow that C.S. should be put in a good cold dark puddle for tantalizing people by comparing present prices of that commodity, with the alleged seven cents per dozen.

INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION NOW GETTING READY FOR THE FALL

Last night the directors of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition held a meeting in Hooper's Palm gardens. After the inner man had had his cravings satisfied, and that is easy under Mr. Hooper's catering those present got down to business. Mr. J. H. Garbutt, the president was in the chair. Among those attending were Messrs. Geo. Gillespie, vice-president, Fred Hall, Secretary, Rolly Denne, Frank Wise, T. Cruikshank, Jas. Story, J. J. Turner, C. E. Moore, Robert Neill John Cox, J. T. C. Lang and Roland Glover. It was decided to hold a Spring Stallion Show on May 4th. The date of the big show was arranged for September 12, 13 and 14. From the tone of the directors they feel every confidence that next Fall's exhibition will surpass all past records.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE APPEAL AGAINST NEW MEDICAL BILL

Toronto, April 10.—That those practitioners who bring about cure through "appeals to Almighty God" should not be forced to qualify under the Ontario Medical Council's new Act is a widely supported request made to the special committee of the Legislature by the Christian Science Church.

Dr. Jamieson, M.P.P., who has fathered the several changes in the Medical Act to provide for the admission of osteopaths under certain restrictions, explained that a special meeting of the committee will be held on Thursday next to consider the objections of the chiropractors and the Christian Science healers and others who assert that the bill debars them from the right to practise in Ontario.

"It will probably be found," he said, "that the measure only restrict them from the professional recognition in the courts of law should they attempt to sue for unpaid fees. I do not suppose that they could be prohibited from practising their various methods of cure."

It was hinted, however, that when the committee meets, there will be suggestions made that the Christian Scientists be permitted to engage in cure through mental suggestion, but that the bill should make no provision for their right to compensation.

GRAND SALVATION ARMY MAN CELEBRATES 83RD BIRTHDAY

London, April 10.—"General" William Booth, Chief of the Salvation Army, has received world-wide congratulations to-day on his attainment of his 83rd birthday. The "General" is in better health than he was last year, and says he believes his sight will be largely restored by an operation for cataract which he is to undergo in May. He is looking forward to another visit to Canada and the United States during the coming year.

He has sent a message to the newspapers in which he says: "At the end of eighty-three years of my pilgrimage, I testify to the faithfulness of God, to the true happiness of a life spent in seeking the benefit of others, to the grand possibility of goodness which are ever the hope of humanity."

FIREPROOF WOOD.

Fire! Fire! Fire! This is a cry that brings terror to the minds of householder, merchant and manufacturer. A fire is the easiest thing in the world to start, but its finish may be appaling. Human lives may be sacrificed and thousands of dollars of property go up in smoke in a few minutes. The first thing, and the most important is to prevent fire; the next thing to consider is the extinguishing of fire. Now the first consideration is by far the most important. The Canadian Fire-proofing Impregnation Co., Ltd., of Winnipeg, has been formed to place on the market a new invention, by which wood can be made fireproof. This is a chemical compound called "Antignol." Lumber of any kind can be immersed in it, or wood in buildings already erected, painted with Antignol and the wood is fireproof. This means safety to life and property and cheaper insurance. With such a splendid article to place on the market, there will be a great demand for it and consequently an equivalent raise in value of stock of the company. The Canadian Fireproof Impregnation Co., are offering stock in their company for a limited time at $12 per share, par value $10. A rapid advance is confidently expected. For full particulars see the large adv. in this issue or address the Company at 211½ Pacific Avenue, Johnston Block, Winnipeg, Man.

SAM NEWHALL SENT DOWN FOR 7 YEARS

The Campbellford Undertakers' Squabble, and Consequent Libel Suit, the Next Case Heard.

As noted in yesterday's paper, Samuel Newall was found guilty at the Spring Assizes, on a charge of criminal assault. Mr. G. N. Gordon, counsel for the defence, requested that his Lordship defer sentence until a report could be made as to the prisoner's physical condition. His Lordship also ruled that the report would have to be to hand at the opening of the court at nine o'clock in the morning. Newall is a wreck physically and since his committal has had to undergo a severe operation. He presented a dejected looking appearance in court.

When the court opened yesterday morning, his Lordship said, in part:

"The women of our country must be protected and held as a holy heritage. A reputable physician of the city has reported to me as to your physical condition and this circumstance alone has caused me to withhold the added infliction of the lash in connection with the sentence which I propose to pass upon you. While in prison you will have the benefit of the best surgical and medical attention, and will not be subjected to temptations which otherwise might guide you life. I will impose a sentence of seven years in prison for the crime which you have committed."

The physician's report which was produced in court showed that Newall is suffering from the effects of an abscess of the chest near the region of the heart and unless a change for the better takes place, he cannot live over six months.

The next case called was that of James Irwin vs. Louis Stephens, both undertakers of Campbellford, for $5000 damages. The jury in the case was composed of Messrs. W. H. Taylor, S. Harrison, W. Adams, W. C. Tully, Alex. Mahood, J. H. Savigny, J. McFarlane, J. Miller, M. White, T. Crawford, R. Bayne, H. Stinson.

Mr. E. G. Porter, K.C., Belleville and Mr. A. B. Colville, Campbellford represented James Irwin, the plaintiff. Mr. D. J. Lynch of Campbell[illegible] Stephens, the defendant.

The action is based on a letter to the Campbellford Herald, in which it is alleged that the defendant stated that he had went to Campbellford station with his hearse to get a corpse shipped from Kingston. He claimed the plaintiff rushed to the platform and disputed his right to run the funeral. Defendant claimed to having been engaged by Father Casey. Plaintiff wanted to know what Father Casey had to do with the matter. A son of the deceased asked to withdraw, stating he would make it all right with him.

Mr. McGuire, editor of the Campbellford Herald, first witness, admitted having published a letter from Stephens. The plaintiff, Irwin told about the station incident, and denied many of the statements in the letter which caused all the trouble.

WILL MILITARY ENFORCE HOME RULE IN IRELAND?

London Times Asks if Englishmen and Scotchmen Are Prepared to Employ Force Against Men Who Saved Ireland

New York, April 10.—A London cable says: The great demonstration in Belfast yesterday to mark the unswerving loyalty of Ulster to the Union passed without disturbance.

In an editorial article on the situation in Ulster The London Times says: "Enlightened Liberalism may smile at the beliefs and passions of the Ulster Protestants, but it was those same beliefs and passions of the forefathers of the men who have gathered in Belfast which saved Ireland from the British Crown and freed the cause of civil and religious liberty in these islands from its last dangerous foes.

"The spirit which animates the Ulster Protestants of all communions is the spirit which animated the men who held Derry to the last extremity against the Irish Jacobites and their foreign allies.

"They firmly believe that in essentials the same great issue is at stake. They hold that their faith, their civil rights and their property are in peril.

Will Never Submit.

"It is useless to argue that they are mistaken. They have reasons, never answered yesterday for believing that they are not mistaken. No eloquence will shake them in their conviction that they are fighting for their all as truly as though they were confronted by a foreign invader. Their temperament is the ultimate fact which British statesmen and British citizens have to face.

"These men cannot be persuaded to submit to home rule. Are Englishmen and Scotchmen prepared to fasten it upon them by military force? That is the real Ulster question."

SAY THAT THOROGOOD STARTED THE FATAL FIGHT

Contradictory Evidence Given at Inquest Into Death of Joseph Solina

Toronto, April 10.—Evidence of a highly conflicting character was forthcoming at the inquest last night into the death of Joseph Solina, who was fatally injured in the fracas in Callcutt and Finnigan's pool room, 319 Yonge street, on Good Friday night. In all twelve witnesses told [illegible] adjourn the hearing until this afternoon.

A. Annobello swore that the fight was started by Walter Thorogood, who, he said, acted on the offensive throughout. The quarrel commenced in the cigar store in front of the pool room into which, he said, both he and the dead man were chased by Thorogood. It was while Solina was endeavoring to escape that he was struck down.

James McLean's evidence contradicted that of the previous witness on every material detail. He said that Annobello was the first to pick up a cue with which he struck the prisoner.

Solina then grabbed a cue and broke it over Thorogood's back with [illegible] possessed himself of another.

Mr. John Callcutt, one of the proprietors of the pool room, corroborated McLean's evidence, as did several other witnesses.

Dr. J. M. Cotton, Dr. O'Reilly and Dr. Wallace Scott were of the opinion that the blow on Solina's head was struck from the side, not from behind.

ONTARIO REQUIRES TEACHERS PRESENT CONDITIONS A CRIME

Toronto, April 10.—Without doubt the most serious problem which faces the Ontario Educational Association in this, the most successful session of its history is that of the supply of teachers and the improvement of conditions in connection with the rural school system of the Province.

Teachers and inspectors unite in agreeing that special inducements must be offered and special privileges granted if the newly graduated teacher is to be asked to take charge of schools in the outlying part of the Province.

No less than four addresses in different departments were delivered at this morning's sitting with this reform in view.

1,400 Teachers Needed.

"We need immediately 1,400 teachers," declared Mr. Willis C. Froats, before the Inspector's Department, "and from 500 to 800 more yearly than the present output.

The Normal schools must weed out yearly at least 15 per cent, of attendance simply as an educational protection. We are far behind where we should be and as a people are the cause of this."

Immediate remedy or permanent suffering he warned as the result.

Schools are Feminized.

"Our schools are feminized," he declared. "Our age is materialistic. A salary of $550 to-day equals one of only $350 a few years ago. Progressive men will not enter the service. People will not recognize teaching as "expert service."

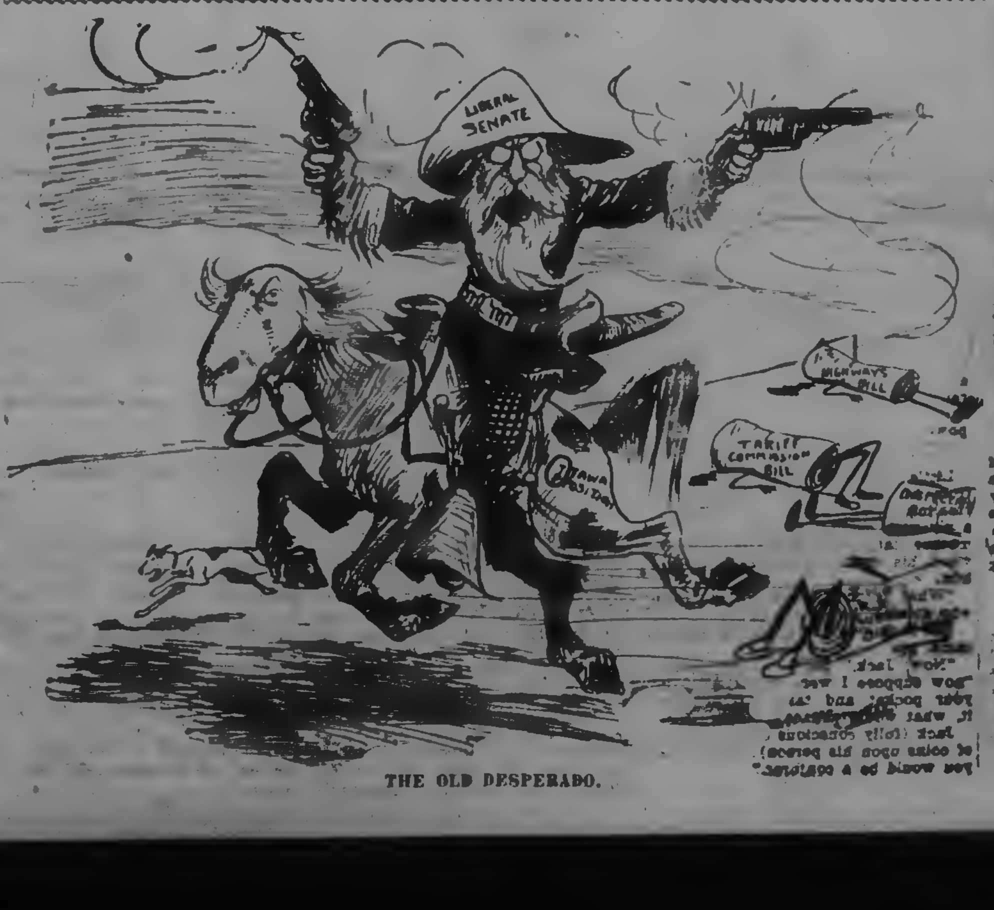
Put Teaching in Civil Service.

To remedy this, teaching must be recognized as a civil service branch; salaries must be more adequate. The service must be rescued from the arena of party debate and contention and State-established township schools should be formed.

Mr. A. L. Campbell, M.A., P.S.I., suggested some radical reforms in this regard.

THE WEATHER.

Mostly fair and milder.



THE OLD DESPERADO.

POLICE LEAVE DUNKLEMAN ALONE SINCE HE BECAME CONSCIOUS

Toronto, April 10.—Dunkelman is conscious, but not in a condition to be spoken to in regard to the tragedy in which he figured so conspicuously, Eli Dunkelman is gradually nearing recovery and if his progress continues he will in the course of a few days, be allowed by the doctors to tell what he knows of the slaying of his friend and business associate, Joseph Rosenthal and the murderous assault upon himself in the Hydro-Electric yards on Strachan avenue, during Good Friday night.

The Best of Care.

Dunkelman is receiving the best of attention the General Hospital affords and is guarded with the greatest care from any intrusion that might set him back. He is in a private ward, No. 73, known as the Cockshutt Ward, on the ground floor in the eastern portion of the building.

The only visitors who have been allowed to see him since shortly after his admission to the institution on Saturday are his two sons. As far as can be learned no one else has requested to see him. He volunteers no statement in regard to the tragedy and his injury is of such a nature that the doctors say it would be extremely dangerous to broach it to him.

What Did He Tell?

From the fact that the detectives have not been back to see him after their one visit on Saturday, there is ground for the impression that they gleaned something from his incoherent statements then that made it unnecessary for them to get more detail from him, for the time being.

If this was not the case it is certainly reasonable to think that they would have endeavored to see him again just as soon as he fully recovered consciousness, especially as the case is apparently so deeply shrouded in mystery.

CANNOT TRUST THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Halifax, April 10.—Bishop Worrell, in his charge to the diocesan synod yesterday, referring to the Ne Temere decree, said Roman Catholics had sought to make people believe that it had no reference to the Protestant world and some Anglican brethren had aided this by accepting the Roman Catholic contention in regard to the French law in Quebec.

"Allow this Ne Temere thing," he said, "and before long a similar claim will be made in other matters, and gradually the old oppressions, from which the British nation freed itself at the time of the reformation settlement will be introduced. The magnificent organization of the Church of Rome and its loyal membership may be admired, but cannot be trusted. Neither can the divided counsels and internal jealousies of the Protestant churches can be trusted or admired."

He hoped that in this case, where the rights of all were affected, there would be united action.

BETTER SERVICE NOW ARRANGED BY CABLE?

Toronto. April 10.—Accompanied by the Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and the Hon. J. D. Reid, Minister of Customs, the members of the West Indies Trade Commission arrived in Toronto this morning from Ottawa, where the negotiation for reciprocal trade between Canada and the West Indian colonies yesterday resulted in the signing of a treaty satisfactory to the representatives of both Governments. The members of the Commission, fourteen in number, are guests at the King Edward Hotel, as are also Hon. Mr. Foster, Hon. Dr. Reid and Mr. Thos. P. Owen, of the Ottawa Hansard staff, secretary of the conference.

The final meeting of the conference was held at 11 o'clock this morning in the King Edward Hotel. At this meeting the all-important question of improved cable and steamship communication between Canada and the West Indies was carefully considered. The aim of both parties to the conference was to effect an up-to-date and adequate cable and steamship connection, based upon the operation of the West Indian Colonies, the Dominion of Canada and the Government of Great Britain.

POLICE DOGS MAY BE USED IN CITY OF TORONTO

Toronto, April 10.—At the meeting of the Police Commissioners yesterday afternoon, Ambulance Driver Arthur Scott was appointed Patrol Sergeant to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of patrol sergeant William Hunt, who goes back to duty as constable at the Union Station.

After the meeting Chief Grasett stated that the employment of police dogs had been discussed by the Commissioners, and while no definite action had been taken, it was possible that they might be introduced into Toronto.

"I have been studying the matter for some time," he said, "and have no doubt that the innovation of dogs in cases such as the police are endeavoring to unravel at the present time would be attended with good results. The police dogs of Germany have done excellent work and it is really astonishing what [illegible] a highly trained canine can give to the police."

London, April 10.—Every seat in the House of Commons available to the public has been booked for to-morrow, when Premier Asquith will inaugurate the third attempt to establish Home Rule in Ireland. Mr. Asquith is expected to rise at about four o'clock and will probably speak for two hours. Andrew Bonar Law, the leader of the Opposition, will follow, and then John Redmond, the Nationalist leader, will speak.

Why Should a Chicken Lay a Soft-Shelled Egg?

Because, Willie, the chicken don't know how to create a HARD-SHELLED egg unless it has some food with lime in it.

So chicken-raisers often provide limestone gravel, broken oyster shells or some other form of lime.

Let the chicken wander free and it finds its own food and behaves sensibly.

Shut it up and feed stuff lacking lime and the eggs are soft-shelled.

Let's step from chickens to human beings.

Why is a child "backward" and why does a man or woman have nervous prostration or brain-fag? There may be a variety of reasons but one thing is certain.

If the food is deficient in Phosphate of Potash the gray matter in the nerve centres and brain cannot be rebuilt each day to make good the cells broken down by the activities of yesterday.

Phosphate of Potash is the most important element Nature demands to unite albumin and water to make gray matter.

GRAPE-NUTS food is heavy in Phosphate of Potash in a digestible form.

A chicken can't always select its own food, but a thoughtful man can select suitable food for his children, wife and himself.

A Hint to Young Men as to Telling a Girl's Character

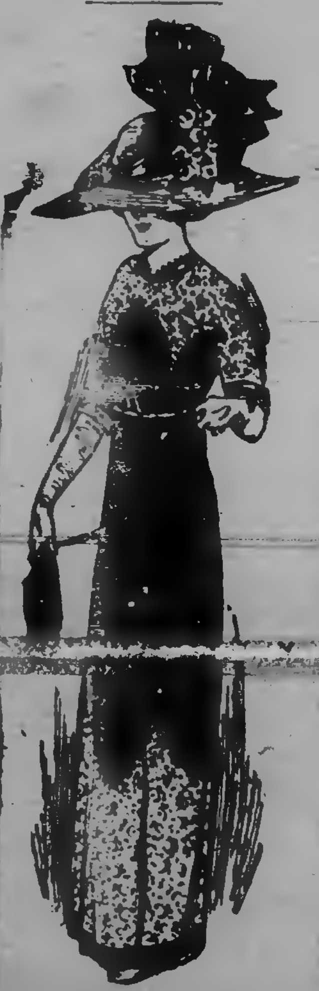
The latest advice for young men about to fall in love (they never take advice, still it doesn't matter) is: Examine your prospective sweetheart's eyebrows. By this means you will be able to tell whether or not she is all that you would desire her to be.

It is quite possible to tell a girl's character by her eyebrows. Sensitive, languid girls, who possess very little energy, generally have very fair eyebrows of a lighter shade than their hair.

The vivacious, energetic women, on the other hand, are those possessed of fiery-red eyebrows. These also show enthusiasm and great ambition, but are not always hasty-tempered, as is generally supposed. Girls with very dark eyebrows have usually a passionate nature and are capable of loving or hating with equal fervor.

Very drooping eyebrows are bad in a girl, as they show that their owner is of an exeremely inquisitive nature. She is generally shallow-minded and insincere also. The girl who is romantic and yet who has plenty of common-sense and a strong character has perfectly arched eyebrows. Very thick, dark eyebrows in a girl indicate that she is strong and muscular and that she has a robust constitution.

An indolent, lazy girl who always seems to lack energy generally has very scant eyebrows that are hardly discernible. The jolly girl, possessed of a keen sense of humor, usually has eyebrows that are arched near the nose. Perfectly straight and finely-pencilled eyebrows generally denote that their owner is not very intelligent or ambitious.



HANDSOME NEW MODEL

The model shown in the above sketch exploiting the combination idea is extremely pleasing, and may be developed in any number of different materials and effects. In linen it would be most charming to use heavy linen lace for the skirt and upper part of the bodice, of if one fancies a change, striped linen could be employed in place of the lace. As shown in the sketch, foulard and lace dyed to match developed the costume. The edges are finished with silk ball fringe.

MEDITATIONS OF A MEAN MAN

What He Has to Ask or Say About Matrimony

"This is the way of it: A woman begins promising nothing and ends by giving all. A man begins by promising everything and ends by giving nothing!"

"An affinity may be described as a woman who doesn't cook your dinner, but cooks your goose!"

"A girl's heart is like an umbrella. Sooner or later some fellow is bound to steal it."

"Before marriage, a woman is 'absolutely perfect.' After marriage, she is perfectly absolute!"

"She who marries her puppy love is apt to lead him a dog's life."

"Dead widows tell no tales. Their friends do that for them!"

"Here's an acrobatic axiom for you: A fellow no sooner gets a girl's hand than he is under her thumb."

"Love is never too blind to see what there is in the pocket-book."

"Is it sowing one's wild oats to reap a grass widow?"

"A vegetarian widower and a grass widow should be well-mated."

"It is useless to try and drown your sorrows in the flowing cup. Sorrows are expert swimmers."

"Nature study is ever fashionable. We are forever looking up somebody's family tree!"—"Meditations of a Mean Man," by Walter Pulitzer.

People Who Take Cold after washing their hair should put spirits of camphor at the back of the ears, along the temple, and at the back of the neck after the hair is dried, and should take a few drops on a lump of sugar at the same time.

DEER KICKED TO DEATH

A farmer residing one mile west of Clyde, near Kingston, discovered a deer weighing one hundred and fifty pounds caught by the horns on the wire fence of one of his fields. Investigation showed that the deer had been kicked to death by horses pasturing in the field.

TOWER OF PISA THREATENED

The leaning tower of Pisa is in great danger of falling. So imminent is the danger that the authorities have ordered that the bells in its cupola shall keep silence until its foundations have been made secure, it being feared that the vibration caused by their ringing might shake the architectural marvel down.

FROM A SOUTH WINDOW IN CANADA

"Love, Laughter and Life"

CHOOSING A FRIEND

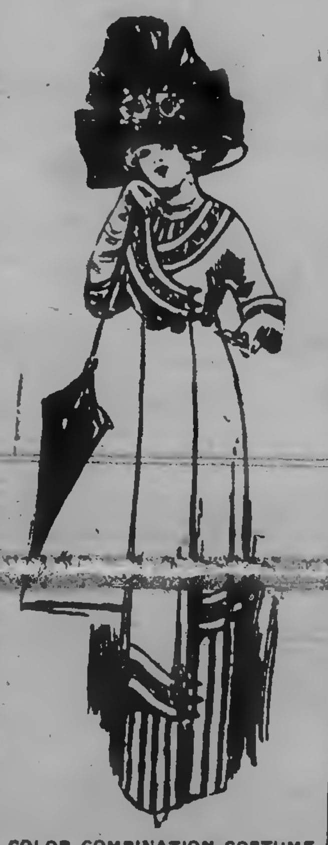
One has one's relations thrust upon one, so to speak. Uncles and aunts, cousins, brothers and sisters, even parents, must be accepted with what grace one can muster and make the best of. But one is free at least to choose one's friends. From all the world one can pick out those who will most minister to our happiness. And since the companionship of those about one does mean so much to happiness, one should go about this precious choosing of friends warily, says Woman's World.

A constant procession of people pass us and touch our lives in business, in the church, in neighborly fashion, in the social world. From these, which shall we select as the ones who will enrich our lives, whose lives possibly, too, we may make brighter and happier?

Shall we choose the woman who gossips, whose conversation is one long recital of the doings of the neighborhood and of friends? What is there in such a friendship that is helpful, inspiring, or, after a time, really enjoyable?

Choose for your friend the one who will bring those things into your life worth while; one with whom there is true congenial companionship over a broad area of interests. Gossip is not worth while, nor fashion, nor mere frivolous diversion. Choose the friend who cheers and inspires, who comforts when troubled, who gives helpful advice when perplexed, whose coming is sunshine, whose departure a regret. Choose one who can enter into your joys and help you bear your sorrows; one light-hearted enough to stand ready to help if help is needed.

Such a friendship is a joy. It is one of the golden treasures of life. There are men and women within touch of us every day who will make such friends. But we must be worthy of them to win them. Such friendship is not given lightly.



COLOR COMBINATION COSTUME

A costume where there is no limit tot he color combinations possible is illustrated in the above sketch, and is one of the season's prettiest and smartest models. Black and white striped silk, with tunic of lovely old blue cachemire de soie, trimmed with insertions of fancy braid in a lighter tint, which are outlined with curved bands of the cachemire soie.

HOLIDAYS AT HOME

"Want a week's holiday," said the doctor to the casual caller. "What! Can't spare the time? Um! Better try the rest cure.

"As a matter of fact, twenty-four or thirty-six hours in bed will probably do you more good than a week's holiday. That is, of course, if it's overwork that's troubling you. There's no better remedy if your nervous system is playing you up.

"Go to bed, and have all the blinds carefully drawn, so that throughout the following day the room will be dark, and see that you do stay in bed for at least twenty-four hours. While you are there take no solid food, and think only of one thing—sleep. When you feel wakeful, call for some hot milk, and sip it slowly. Then turn over and go to sleep again.

"Oh, You won't find any trouble in sleeping through the following night. Staying in bed will make you sleepy, besides calming your mind. You get away home now and sleep!"

The Care of Stoves

Keep the stove very clean, and when any grease is spilled wash it off while the stove is hot. Gas and oil stoves should be blackleaded like an ordinary grate. Keep oil and spirit stoves well filled; never let the oil or spirit burn out, so that the wick is charred. For portable stoves get a sheet of tin or iron, on which to stand them. Remember that the flame is rarely, if ever, wanted at its highest; the flame is so steady that it keeps up a great heat. An asbestos mat laid over a gas-stove is useful when slow cooking is required.

Damp Cupboards

If any of your cupboards are damp, try placing a jar of unslaked lime in them. The lime absorbs the damp, and keeps the air dry and pure. But remember that it should be renewed fairly often, as it quickly loses its power.

"COULDN'T DO IT."

Little Jackie was receiving a lecture from his dad on the wickedness of stealing, Jackie being guilty of paying a sly visit to the pantry, and his mother catching him in the act advised his doting father to admonish him.

"What is the person called, Jack, who steals?" he asked Jack.

But Jack was quiet, and no answer came.

"Now, Jack," continued his father, "now suppose I were to put my hand your pocket and take a cent from it, what would you call me?"

Jack (fully conscious of the scarcity of coins upon his person): "Why, dad, you would be a centaur."

WHERE WOMEN PREVAIL

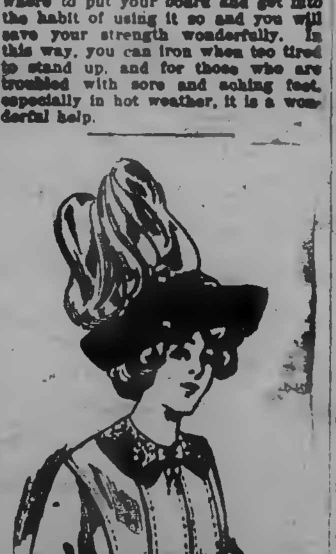
In Finland Only the Church and Army Closed to Them

"There is little doubt that politically and economically, the women of Finland hold a better position than those of any other country in Europe. Only two professions—the Church and the Army—are closed to them; and if they determined to enter either I have no doubt they would succeed. It is said that the captain of one of the coasting steamers is a woman. From street-cleaning to the law, all other trades are open to women, with certain restrictions about the higher branches. For instance, no woman has yet been appointed judge. They are specially successful in architecture, and particularly in demand in banking. As the saying goes, the chief cashier of a bank should always be a woman, for she is much less likely to run away with the funds than a man!"—Rosalind Travers.

WHEN YOU IRON

You Will Save Your Strength by Sitting Down

Sit in a low rocker with the board placed on two chairs or something that will bring the board just high enough to allow the knees to slide under easily. Don't have it any higher or there will not be room enough for pressure from your arms. The rocker will give with every motion you make and is altogether better than an ordinary chair. Just plan where to put your board and get into the habit of using it so and you will save your strength wonderfully. In this way, you can iron when too tired to stand up, and for those who are troubled with sore and aching feet, especially in hot weather, it is a wonderful help.



DAINTY SUMMER DRESS

One of the pretty styles of the season is the white linen dress, made with a simple collar and cuffs of some dainty color. A little dress designed in this way is illustrated in the above sketch, and shows a development of white linen with collar and cuffs of green linen overlaid with a heavy white linen lace. The effect is unusually dainty and the idea would develop in any number of color combinations. A hat faced with the color introduced in the dress and a girdle also of the same tint would prove effective.

Departing Man Honored.

About 50 of his fellow workmen, in the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co., tendered a banquet to Mr. R. A. Stockdale, who is leaving for Toronto. The banquet was held in the Oriental, so it is superfluous to state that the menu was all that could be desired. After the good cheer had been attended to, Mr. Stockdale was the recipient of a handsome illuminated address, which was read by Mr. H. Robertson. Mr. Stockdale suitably responded. The remainder of the evening was spent in music and singing. Messrs. Lee and Cairns furnished some excellent vocal selections, and the banjo solos of Mr. George Clarke proved an acceptable

WHY NOT?

Gerald—Papa, are two mouses mice?

Papa—Yes, my boy.

Gerald—Then why don't they call a pair of trousers trice?

WHAT'S IN A NAME.

The diner supped his soup, made a grimace, and called the waiter.

"I ordered turtle soup," he snapped.

"Well, sir," said the waiter.

"Well," returned the diner, "there isn't even a morsel of turtle flavour in this!"

The waiter drew himself up.

"Of course not, sir," he said, haughtily. "What do you expect? Shakespeare said there was nothing in a name. If you ordered college pudding would you expect a college in it? In a Manchester pudding would you expect a ship canal? In a cabinet pudding would you look for Winston among the plums? No, sir, nor would you find Scilly Island in a Cornish dumpling. Any turbot? sir."

THE YAWNING ABYSS.

The young man who had travelled began: "And there I stood with the abyss yawning at my feet."

"Was it yawning before you got there, or did it begin after you arrived?" asked the young woman who has never been away, and then the young man found that he had just time to catch the last car.

IN CASE HE BACKED OUT.

Dashaway—Miss Summit, I would suggest that your brother be asked to leave the room, as I have something of the utmost importance to say to you.

Miss Summit—I am afraid he will have to stay. In affairs of this kind I find that George's services as a shorthand writer are absolutely indispensable.

POOR FELLOW

"Why are you wandering about the country instead of looking after your wife and children at home," inquired the lady of the tattered tramp.

"Well, ma'am, it's like this," explained the tramp. "My wife has a very fine servant. A perfect treasure. I don't believe there ever was such a girl. There is only one, ma'am, and my wife's got her."

"Good gracious! She's a very lucky woman."

She is, ma'am. But the trouble is that girl didn't like me."

"Well!'

"She didn't like me, and she told my wife she must either discharge me or her, so my wife discharged me, ma'am."

"Oh, I see. Poor fellow! There's something for you."

OH!

"The little son of the hostess is mighty ugly, isn't he?"

"Do you think so?"

"He certainly doesn't take after his mother. Must look like his father."

"His mother says he does. I'm his father."

TRUE.

"I know a man who is always 'up against it.'"

"Who is he?"

"The paper hanger when he has to do a new wall."

Antithesis of the Widow's Cruse.

"It is related of a former Peterborough pastor, who had several boys, that he objected to the inordinate appetite of the oldest child. Finding one day that the boy had eaten a big dish of jelly, intended for the family desert, the good clergyman stood aghast. Words of anger came to his mind, but remembering the cloth, he repressed them. Then he was about to say, "you glutton!" but such expressions he refrained from using. He simply roared at his son, "You antithesis of Widow's Cruse! There was no emptying it, and there's no filling you!". Then the pastor's slipper got busy on that boy's north promontory.

A ROUSING STRUGGLE

A Hard Game Between England and Scotland in Soccer Final

From the cabled reports it must have been a most exciting contest between Scotland and England for the International Soccer Championship which resulted in a draw, the two countries, therefore holding the championship jointly for 1911 and 1912. The attendance was 150,000. There seems not to have been a dull moment and the huge crowd was kept in continuous excitement by the stirring efforts of the respective sides to gain the mastery. England appears to have been superior forward and this is what was expected owing to the five's knowledge of each other's play and individually all were stars. Scotland's attack was too much mixed up and individual instead of cohesive effort would be a feature of their play. It is worthy of note that Bobby Walker is mentioned as being the hero. This was the tenth time he had played for his country against England. The Scottish defence is credited with the draw and from this we may conclude that Brownlee, and Co., had more to do than Williamson, Crompton and Co.

The following shows the winners of the international championship since 1884, which was the first year all the countries played each other.

DERBY DAY IN BERMUDA

Racing, a Much Cherished Institution in the Island

Derby day is the big day in Bermuda, and furthermore it is a legal holiday. The Bermuda Derby is run in March, in connection with a half-dozen other races under the auspices of the [illegible] gala day of the season. The Maiden Stakes is run off promptly at 12 o'clock. This is for horses that have never won a race in Bermuda, but as most of the entries are from North America this is not a serious restriction. At 12.30 o'clock a five-furlong pony race is scheduled, which is merely a prelude to the great event of the day. Between 1 and 2 o'clock the paddocks, lawns and boxes are turned into picture grounds. The distance for this race is one mile and the horses make their getaway directly in front of the grandstand. The horses are ridden by members of the Bermuda Hunt Club or by jockeys licensed by the Club.

Bookmaking is allowed, but the popular form of betting is through the Pari-mutuel, which is run by the club. After the Derby comes a race called the Shaft Stakes, which gives the old reliables a chance to show what they can do. Next comes a Galloway stake for horses 15 hands and under, and then the visitors' cup. There is nothing commercial in the atmosphere and the scene resembles a country fair or a big picnic more than anything else.

E. J. WHITE

PREFERS THE AMATEUR

There is no question but that lovers of athletics prefer to enthuse over and support amateur sport, in its purity, as against professionalism, writes K. J. Shea in The Winnipeg Free Press. There is something in the atmosphere that surrounds the amateur that makes his efforts more strongly appeal to the enthusiast than the more finished article that the paid player is supposed to advance.

MET A TERRIBLE DEATH

Augusta, Me., April 9.—Miss Mary D. McDavid, an assistant in the city library, died to-day from the effect of burns self inflicted last night. The young woman poured kerosene out over her head and shoulders and then thrust her head in the furnace. Miss McDavid was 36 years of age, and was well known in musical circles of the State.

BITS OF NEWS OVER THE SEAS

Death of Man Over 100 years of Age. Remarkable Shoal of Whales. Boom on the Clyde.

The death has occurred of Mr. John Kelly, Lough, Portarlington, who had reached the remarkable age of 107 years. He could talk with facility of the miseries which characterised the Famine year of "Black '47."

Woman Weighed 329 lbs.

At an inquest in the Cork Workhouse on Kate M'Carthy, spinster, aged fifty-eight, it was stated that she weighed 329 pounds. She was about to be treated in the Protestant Women and Children's Hospital for her fat condition, and was placed in a mechanically moved chair in the operating room, when the cogs of the chair gave way, throwing the deceased violently to the floor, cutting her head

New Kind of Outrage.

The residents of Dundalk were surprised by finding themselves practically deprived of water supply. During the night some person had gained access to the reservoir enclosure, and opened the scour valves in the bottom of the reservoir, draining away not only all the water stored there, but all that came in subsequently from the mountain storage.

Clyde Shipping Boom.

Clyde shipbuilders launched twenty-four vessels of 60,000 tons gross during October, bringing the output for the year so far to almost half a million tons, a total that has only been exceeded by the full year's output of 1907—620,000 tons.

Whales on Tour.

An extraordinary sight was witnessed in the Kyle, Loch Alsh. From daybreak until after nine o'clock an unending stream of whales, large and small, passed northward, and at times the sea, which was calm, was for a great distance a mass of foam. Many of them passed within a few feet of the railway pier.

Strangled in Toy Cart.

An extraordinary fatality was investigated at Hartlepool. The two-year-old son of a laborer named Gallagher was being wheeled by another child in a mailcart improvised from a box and a couple of old perambulator wheels, the axle passing through the sides of the box. The child's pinafore became wound round the axle, and before assistance could be rendered he was strangled

"Wake" Results in Fire.

While the remains of an old woman named Jane Houghton were being "waked" at her residence, Rheban, Co. Kildare, a fire broke out, and the house which was a thatched one, was gutted. The neighbors made heroic efforts to rescue the corpse, but the flames spread with such rapidity that they were unsuccessful. At the time the relatives were in Athy making the funeral arrangements. It is [illegible] the room.

Burglar's Warning.

A burglar who entered the Mint public house, Kingswood, left pinned to the wall a piece of paper on which was written a warning to the publican for not keeping his windows fastened. Upon Joseph Walker, who was remanded at Reigate, was found a portion of the stolen property, and a revolver.

The Tramp's Revenge

George Clark, a wheelwright, was sentenced to five years' penal servitude at the Essex Assizes for setting fire to a stack at Thaxted and causing damage amounting to $4,000 because he was not allowed to sleep at a farm. All the farm buildings, two horses, and nineteen pigs were burned.

Municipal Training College.

Lord Sheffield opened the Brighton Municipal Day Training College, towards the equipment of which the Board of Education has contributed 30,000. The college is undenominational, and already has forty male and forty-four female students representative of all parts of the country.

To Push Home-Made Steel.

A plan for granting a rebate of 4s. a ton to consumers who purchase only from the signatories is outlined in a circular issued on Wednesday by twenty-three of the principal British steel-making firms. The arrangement does not apply to material sold for export. The object is ostensibly to shut out foreign steel which is being sold here on very cheap terms.

Taught to Play.

The Rev. J. Harry Miller, of the New College Settlement, Edinburgh, in a lecture on "The Educative Value of Play," said they could no more confine a child's learning to his school than his soul to the schoolroom. If there were any inherent rights of childhood, the right to play must be considered one. Rough play, unguided, undisciplined, had no educative value. There was in regulated and co-operative play something of a redemptive power for society.

Organ Grinder and Donkey.

Pierto Dalsio, organ grinder, residing in Edinburgh, was sentenced to one month's imprisonment for having greatly ill-treated a donkey by repeatedly striking it with a piece of wood. It was the first day he had had it at work, and he found it had been "faked up" and was difficult to manage. He then lost his temper.

Historical Church Site.

The Parish Church of Cadder, has an interesting history. For at least 800 years a church has stood practically on the same spot. About the middle of the twelfth century Malcolm IV. made a grant of the lands of Conclud, Cader, and Badermonoc—the latter being the ancient name of Old and New Monkland—to the See of Glasgow, and this was confirmed by his successor, William the Lion.

A Big Expenditure in Lindsay.

It seems that the Seymour Power Co. is going to spend a large amount of money in Lindsay, in brief $600,000, on the installation of a plant there, that will have a generating capacity sufficient to supply all the needs of Lindsay and Oshawa. The company has purchased land for this purpose, adjoining their present substation. The plant will have a capacity of 5000 horse power. The proposed expenditure will be made so that additional units may be added as required.

MIXED MARRIAGES WERE NUMEROUS

Surprising Statistics for the Past Year---Some Curious Matches

The report of the Registrar-General for Ontario for the past year shows, among other interesting facts, that inter-marriage between persons of different religions is very much more frequent than is popularly supposed. Methodists married Roman Catholics, Jews married Gentiles, and Church of England adherents allied themselves in matrimony with persons of Salvation Army persuasion.

Last year there were 7,351 Roman Catholics married in Ontario. Of these 1,569 married out of their own denomination. Of these, again, 665 Roman Catholic grooms married Protestant brides, and 844 Roman Catholic women became wives of non-Catholic men. The greater number of these marriages were between Roman Catholics and members of the Anglican Church. The next denominations with which most Roman Catholic persons allied themselves were the Presbyterians, the Baptists and the Lutherans, in the order named. It is remarkable to observe that there were no marriages between Roman Catholics and members of the Salvation Army, while on the other hand two Roman Catholic grooms took unto themselves Hebrew brides, and five Roman Catholic girls threw in their lot with Jewish young men.

How the Hebrews Married.

Two Jews married Anglicans; two, Presbyterians; six, Methodists; two, Baptists; one, a Congregationalist, and four married persons who are described as having no particular religious convictions. Hebrew women, apparently had a tendency to fall in love with Anglicans, for of the seven Jewesses married out of their faith five went to Anglicans and two to Roman Catholics.

Upon further investigation of the blue book it appears that 631 Presbyterian women married Anglicans, 841 married Methodists, 126 married Roman Catholics, 41 married Congregationalists, 55 married Lutherans and seventy-four married persons whose religious beliefs were not set down.

Of the Methodist brides 678 took Anglican husbands, 910 took Presbyterians, 157 accepted Roman Catholics, 290 favored Baptists, 57 fell to Congregationalists, 88 picked Lutherans, six consented to cook for Salvation Army members and 98 took husbands whose faith was not classified. Of these, it is said, 25 had no religion. Among the Baptist women 200 chose mates from the Anglican Church, 219 from the Presbyterians 362 from the Methodists, [illegible] from Roman Catholics, 21 from Congregationalists, 36, from the Lutherans [illegible] nominations unattached. Forty-seven Lutherans secured Anglican husbands, [illegible] Presbyterians, 72 Methodists, 85 Roman Catholics, one a Hebrew and one a Salvationist. Of the Salvation Army lassies 87 found affinities in the "Army"; three married Anglicans; one a Presbyterian; seven, Methodists; five, Baptists, and one an unclassified.

It is of interest to observe that, so far as Ontario is concerned, men do not to any great extent marry later than women, although it is popularly thought otherwise. Last year 8,168 grooms, or about one-third of the total number (24,036), married between the ages of twenty and twenty-four. Forty-seven per cent. of the brides were between those ages. In the case of both sexes the next greatest number married between the ages of twenty five and twenty-nine and after that the large classifications are between thirty and thirty-four for grooms and between fifteen and nineteen for brides.

Just 453 men were married under the age of twenty. One of these took a [illegible]-year-old bride; another took a 38-year old; two men between twenty and twenty-four married brides of between forty and forty-four; one married a lady of the discreet age of 70, while two grooms of forty and forty-four married women of the same ages. Fifteen women between the ages of fifteen and nineteen married men between forty and forty-four; two married men between forty-five and forty-nine; one took a man over [illegible] and one a man over 60. Three women between twenty and twenty-four married men over 55, two married men over sixty and one a man over [illegible]. One woman of twenty-seven married a man of 70.

June is still the month for brides. There were 3,555 out of the 24,036 marriages celebrated in June. September and December folowed with 2,652 and 2,304 marriages respectively.

DEER IN NEW ZEALAND

Mr. F. W. Godsal, one of the Provincial Fire Guardians stationed at Cowley, Alta., has a photograph of the head and antlers of a red deer stag, the interest being greatly heightened by the fact that this particular stag was sent from Windsor Park to New Zealand in [illegible] by the late Prince Consort. At this time the stag was three years old and ten years later was shot, by request, by Major Campbell, as he was becoming dangerous. It will interest Canadian readers to know that in 1908 no less than 2,000 deer were killed at one station in order to reduce their numbers. The deer indeed have increased in New Zealand until they have become a nuisance and their horns grow to a size unknown in Great Britain. A further item of interest is found in the fact that trout introduced from England grow to an enormous size and increase rapidly in the virgin streams of New Zealand.

J. L. Dunsford Heard From.

Word was received here yesterday from Mr. John L. Dunsford, formerly of Lindsay, and who has many friends in the city. Mr. Dunsford, who is a cousin of the manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce in this city, is now holding a responsible position in Palatka, Fla. For the information of his friends, we might say that Jack is the same old boy, he was when so many used to grab his hand, when he blew in from Lindsay.

COULDN'T GET STRONG

SEEMED TO HAVE LOST ALL AMBITION, WAS PALE AND ANAEMIC.

Made Wonderful Recovery When Dr. Hamilton's Pills Were Used.

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. La Pierre, wife of a well-known resident of Labeniene, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow blood rich and red I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well — she told me her health had been made by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. They do good to parts in ways I need not mention in this letter, but I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used at regular intervals by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

No medicine invigorates a woman like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, all dealers, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

VOTING BY A MACHINE.

Chicago is having the same trouble with voting machines that has been experienced in other cities where the apparatus has been tried. In addition to the protests of the voters that they are unable to understand exactly which lever to pull and how to manipulate the closing rods, the length of the ballot is causing trouble.

Six hundred and thirty different spaces are provided by the machines for candidates' names, yet in several Chicago districts the total number of candidates has reached six hundred and thirty-five. What to do with the extra five names is a puzzle that the election commissioners are now trying [illegible]

The names of these candidates, it appears, can not be denoted by the lever, and there is no authority for voting them on a supplementary paper ballot. The situation, therefore, furnishes an argument to those who are opposed to mechanical voting because it shows that the long ballot and the voting machine can not work well together.

It would be interesting to know what New York would have done if that State had used such machines in the recent primary, where it required fourteen feet of paper to carry all the names upon which a voter was supposed to pass on the two minutes allowed him in the polling booth.

GREEK OR LATIN PLAYS?

The controversy between the classicists and the non-classicists over the question of whether Greek and Latin are, or are not, necessary in education, has continued so long that the task of settling it might well be added to the Herculean labors. Whatever may be the merits of the case, however, and evidently they are more or less possessed by each side, it would seem that one would desire, at least, some knowledge of Greek and Latin literature.

This is by way of introductory to a comment upon the presentation at the Greenwall of the Odyssey in motion pictures, by Dr. Edwin Boone Craighead, president of Tulane University. In a recently published letter, President Craighead, decried the tendency of modern education to forego Greek, and indorsed the Homeric pictures at the Greenwall as a presentation of the story of Ulysses that should be seen not only by students but by all who "have the slightest interest in the literature of the world. I wish it were possible for every boy and girl in our city schools to see these pictures."

In another place in his letter, President Craighead said that "it would be a sorry day when Greek finds no place in our colleges," and again that "it is a shame for a boy to pass out of high school without having read the Iliad and the Odyssey."

Whether President Craighead is correct or not, may be left to the classicists and their opponents, but it would seem at any rate that there is good ground for his plea that the school boy and the school girl should at least know the stories that are told in the Homeric epics. The pictures of the Odyssey are to be shown again Easter week. Priests and others in charge of the education of the children of the city, have arranged to have their pupils witness some of the performances.

Editorial Notes

A loyal Conservative who manufactures whisky sent a telegram to the Tariff Reform League of England saying that he would contribute to the cause (that is to the members of the league) 2,000 bottles of whisky yearly for five years if Bonar Law were elected party leader. The [illegible] somewhat confused when it was received, and it was understood amid great rejoicing that the contribution was 2,000 pounds. When the offer was correctly interpreted it was not refused.

Eastern cooks find it impossible to use their favorite cake receipts in high altitudes, as in the Rocky mountains. To surmount this difficulty and also to enable any one to use the ordinary magazine or Eastern cook book receipts for cake baking in the highest altitudes, follow this formula of modification: Use one-half the amount of shortening, two-thirds of sugar, one-half of baking powder, but add one-fourth to the amount of flour and eggs. The result is successful.

An American paper, with a great flare of trumpets, and much editorial gush, says: In proportion to its population, the United States has much greater transportation facilities than Great Britain. The area of this country is twenty-four times that of the United Kingdom, while the density of population is less than one-twelfth. Yet, in proportion to area, this country has over two-fifths the miles of line and one-fourth the miles of track of the United Kingdom. In proportion to the population, the United States has over five times the miles of line and three and one-third times the miles of track of the United Kingdom.

Since the world was young, a mother's love for her child has been the deepest seated and most admirable trait in human nature. This "mother's love" was exemplified yesterday, right in this city, in a homely, but convincing way. A lady living on Bethune street had a daughter married a little over a year ago. The Bethune street lady, a short time ago became a grandmother, for the first time. She packed up a few things to send to New York to the new grandchild. Among them were a silver rattle, and, it being Easter season, one of those fuzzy Easter chickens, sold by confectioners. The packet was securely tied up and addressed ready for the mail. She also had several letters to post. Shortly after her return from the post office, she remarked to her son, "I'm afraid ——'s (her daughter) baby might pull the fuzzy wool off that chicken and swallow it. The poor little baby would choke. I'm going right back to the post office and get that package back." She was told that once posted, that would be impossible. However, back she went, determined to save her daughter's baby. As she got near the post office, she remembered that she had posted her letters, but had forgotten to take the packet. It was still on the top of her escritoire!

Home Treatment for Sallow, Wrinkled Skin

A. C. F. asks: "What should I do for my sallow complexion, and how can I get rid of my wrinkles?"

Sallowness is best removed by removing the skin itself. This is effectually accomplished by the use of ordinary mercolized wax, which causes the offensive outer skin gradually to peel off, in fine particles scarcely noticeable to the naked eye. Within a week or so you will have an enviable complexion, the new skin exhibiting a healthful, youthful tint incomparable with artificial coloring. Get an ounce of this wax at your drug store, apply at night like cold cream, only don't rub it in. Wash it off in the morning with warm water.

For your wrinkles try a solution of saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in a half pint witch hazel. Bathe your face in this every morning for awhile. The result will surprise you.

Homeseekers' and Settlers' Special Trains to Western Canada.

NEWSBOY TO OPERA SINGER

Plenty of romance has been crowded into the twenty-seven years of the life of Mr. H. Nevada Landino, who ten years ago was a New York newsboy, and is now a grand opera tenor singer. Mr. Landino has said that at Cleveland he filled up his spare time by shoe-blacking, while later on he worked side by side at cigarette-making with Rosa Pastor, of Whitechapel, who afterwards married a millionaire. To be slapped on the back by Mascagni, who said "Bravo!" is another incident that the tenor recalls with pride. Landino speaks four languages—German, French and Italian, in addition to English; he has a repertoire of two hundred songs and knows twenty operas, twelve of which he can sing without rehearsing.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is half gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. PEER'S ODD WAGER

Lord Tweedmouth Crosses Street on His Hands

The strange sight of a British peer walking on his hands across a San Francisco street was witnessed recently.

The peer was Lord Tweedmouth, and the feat was to decide a singular wager with Mr. William Dupee, a wealthy owner of a large estate near San Diego, California, who makes a specialty or raising horses and an especially fine breed of polo ponies.

Lord Tweedmouth and a group of friends including Mr. Dupee, were discussing polo ponies at the former's hotel, and, having seen a pony which he recently bred at Mr. Dupee's ranch, Lord Tweedmouth made an offer for it. The breeder refused to sell it, but he said, "I will make you a wager. If you will walk on your hands from this hotel doorway to the middle of the street the pony is yours."

With scarcely an instant hesitation, Lord Tweedmouth dropped on to his hands and raised his heels over his head, and walked the distance indicated on his hands without once touching his feet to the ground.

It was thirty steps, and he accomplished it amidst the cheers of a large crowd of onlookers in the hotel and in the street.

Exactly a year previous Lord Tweedmouth won a similar wager with Mr. Dupee, in which he took two polo ponies as prize. On that occasion Mr. Dupee bet the peer that he would not make his appearance on the stage at Los Angeles in a play called "The Deserts," in a scene depicting slumming in the lower quarters of a city. Lord Tweedmouth carried out his part, and duly won his bet.

FAMOUS CHILD RULERS

Infants in Europe Who Have Had the Title Sovereign.

There have been a remarkably large number of young sovereigns in European history, who commenced their reigns when mere boys, often when little more than infants. Louis XIV. and Louis XV. of France, for instance, were each but five years old when they succeeded to the throne, and Louis XIII. was only nine. Ten child monarchs are prominent in British history. They include Henry III., who began to reign at the age of ten, Edward II., Richard II., Henry VIII., and Edward VI. Henry VI. was scarcely eight when he was made King, and Queen Victoria was a girl of eighteen when the news was brought her that she was ruler of the British dominions.

DRURY LANE MUSIC HALL

Hereafter in its Rebuilt Form It Will Have a New Name.

Familiar to the passing generation of Londoners as the "Old Mo.," the Drury Lane music hall, widely known as the Middlesex, has just been reopened. During the summer the house was rebuilt, and the New Middlesex Empire as it will be called accommodates an audience of 3,000 with comfort, and will stage productions of nearly every kind. Extending 135 ft one way and 115 ft. another, the new "Old Mo." has a larger frontage than any theatre in London. The auditorium has been built without columns on the Acel can lever principle, and the features of the house will be saloons on each tier, bars, and a tea room.

AT YANKEE COLLEGES

Lacrosse Instructors Include Several Former Canadian Stars

Quite a number of prominent Canadian athletes are picking up a little change as lacrosse coaches in the United States. Lacrosse is taking well and the Inter-Collegiate won by Harvard, is a pretty solid body. The teams are becoming better acquainted with the finer points of the game, owing to the introduction of Canadian coaches, and it will not be long before lacrosse will become one of the leading college sports. This list of Canadians now holding positions with American colleges includes George Finlayson of Montreal, who has again gone to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis; Art Warwick, Toronto, with Harvard; "Cabby" Grimes, Ottawa, with John Hopkins; Lawson Whitehead, Toronto, with Swarthmore; O'Neill, Cornwall, with Carlisle; Jimmy Byrne, Toronto, with Cornell.

RACING IN THE ARGENTINE

Ten Leading Stallions Have Big Sums to Their Credit

The statistics relative to the win- [illegible]

Of course, the figures cover the whole of last year, as there is no "close" season at Buenos Aires. Nevertheless, it is apparent that the totals appearing against the names of the two leaders, Pietermaritzburg and Jardy, are enormous, for the former is more than $56,000 and the latter is upwards of $35,000 in front of the English champion, Sundridge, whose total was not approached by any other stallion either on the continent or in the colonies.

The following are the records of the leading ten stallions in the Argentine in 1911, from which readers may draw their own conclusions. It is significant that the aggregate amassed by the product of these ten sires should have exceeded more than one-half of the amount offered in prizes on the British turf in 1911:—

*Pietermaritzburg by St. Simon	62	$320,895
Jardy by Flying Fox	70	209,280
Diamond Jubilee by St. Simon	53½	153,155
Orange by Orbit	59½	141,585
Old Man by Orbit	36½	106,650
Val d'Or by Flying Fox	40½	96,655
Sargento by Orbit	38	88,730
Ovacion by Orbit	41	87,710
Kendal by Bend Or	33½	82,025
Valero by Gay Hermit.	33	78,715

*Dead.

The leading winning stable last year was the Haras D. Alvear, whose animals captured 278,072 dollars (£25, 240) in 48 races.

STAR IN VARSITY GAMES

Dual Oxford-Cambridge Meet Results in Tie

Oxford and Cambridge Universities tied in the annual athletic sports, with five events each. No records were made. W. O. Zeigler of Iowa, an Oxford student, won the weight putting event, hurling the missile forty feet ten inches. Zeigler also won the hammer throw with a total distance of 139 feet, four inches. D. L. Lange of Oklahoma, like Zeigler, a Rhodes student, ran in the 100-yard event, but the best he could do was third. Duncan MacMillan, England's reliance in the coming Olympic Games at Stockholm, did the 100 in ten seconds flat, despite the fact that the track was wet with a heavy rain prevailing at the time. In the weight throw, won by Zeigler, E. P. Hubble of Chicago got third honors.

STOPPING DIRTY WORK

The Montreal basketball teams decided to stamp out dirty work in games, and two players, Peter Cameron and E. McGloughlin, guilty of having roughed it in a game have been expelled.

SHOT A LARGE BIRD

A large bird, supposed to be an eagle, was shot by James Ferguson on his farm near Plattsville, Ontario. The bird, which measured seven feet one inch from tip to tip, was shot while carrying off a goose. The beak of the bird shot was found to be more like that of a falcon, a still rarer bird in the neighborhood.

Bear Near Ottawa

Bears have been troubling the nerves of the people of Chelsea, near Ottawa, and talks of organizing a hunting posse have been heard. Mr. A. Thibeault stated that he saw four in the vicinity of the Canadian Pacific Railway station on one day.

DO ATHLETICS KILL

Important Statistics Have Been Gathered by Dr. Anderson of Yale

A very important question, not only for all college men, but for all parents who have or propose to have sons in college, is the one frequently debated whether or not athletics are good for the health in after life, says the Montreal Star. It is maintained by many that the strain put upon the body by the strenuous work indulged in by college athletes, so burns up their vitality or so strains their organs that they do not live as long as those who exercise more moderately. No one enters for this competition the stupid and joyless student who imagines that he can get along without any exercise.

Dr. Anderson, of the Yale Gymnasium, has been collecting statistics as to the subsequent careers of the major athletes of that university from 1855 to 1905. He finds that fifty-eight have died, or 7.2 per cent., which contrasts favorably with the 12.9 per cent. of deaths among all the graduates in that period. This looks like a good score for the athlete; but it ought to be remembered that the athletes are drawn from the hardiest and strongest members of their classes, and that their percentage of mortality should be much lower than the average, if the effect of their various forms of exercise has been the same.

Dr. Anderson finds, however, that certain diseases play especial havoc among these ex-athletes. Thus, consumption caused twelve of the fifty eight deaths in question, or slightly above one in five, while in the country at large for the census year 1900, it caused about one in ten. Heart disease was responsible for four of the deaths, or one in 14.7, while in the United States the proportion was one to 14.9. Typhoid caused five, or one in 11.6, as against one in 29 throughout the country. The question put by the New York World from which we quote these figures—is—"Does severe athletics training, though it may fortify the constitution against disease in oher forms, predispose to consumption and typhoid?" This is a question which can hardly be answered on so narrow a basis of data; but it is a subject worth looking into by all college authorities. Athletics would probably still survive, even if it were found that they killed; but they might not be "gone in for" by every young man who now rushes joyously to the fray. After all, few of us really want to class ourselves with the "good who die young."

TWO FAMOUS GRAYS

The Eel, 2.02¼ and Earl Junior, 2.02½

Canada is the home of the two greatest gray horses living to-day. The Eel 2.02¼, and Earl Jr. 2.02½, have gained reputations on the turf that stamp them two of the fastest and gamest pacing stallions ever foaled.

Both are United States bred horses, and Earl Jr. has received all his development and raced entirely in that country. He is a product of Illinois while the Eel, his speedy rival was bred in Michigan, but has received [illegible]

"Earl Jr and The Eel resemble each other in a great many ways, although they are not built alike. The Eel, as nearly all horsemen know, is of the erect rangy sort, and very handsome while Earl Jr. is of the direct opposite build. He is what we would call a chubby built horse. He is shortly coupled, stands well leaned forward on short front legs; has a straight neck and carries his nose well out and tilted up. As race horses these two famous stallions are much alike. They both have the best of manners, terrific speed and will race all day. Both made their debut on the turf in 1908. The Eel is owned by Frank Entricken, of Tavistock, Ontario, and was driven to his record by Danny McEwen, while Earl Jr. is the property of P. M. Murphy of the Enderby, British Columbia, and was driven to his record by W. R. Cox.

TWO PEOPLE, ONE INSAN

Man Financially Better off With Wife Than Without One

A young husband was interested in the story of a girl who was supposed to require a big income to live upon. His experience had been that marriage had improved his financial position and he and his wife very kindly wrote down their ideas on the subject which are as follows:

Granted that a man is financially better off with a wife than without one!

Taking for granted that the man gets a salary of fifteen hundred dollars, we consider it wise for him to marry. Most girls are willing to do a little economizing at first and to try and help instead of hinder their husbands in their efforts to save money.

At first the outlay of furnishing a house looks alarming, but a thoughtful man realizes that the money he formerly spent in taking girls to the theatre or concert, sending them flowers or candy, and in indulging his own tastes to an excessive degree, he now puts into something tangible and lasting. Besides, he probably helped to support a boarding-house keeper and her family, and his board money now supports his wife.

Of course, there are extravagant young wives, too, so that it is dangerous to generalize on this subject and advise anyone what course to pursue. However, we believe that a sensible girl will increase her husband's assets instead of diminishing them. She looks after his clothes and makes them last longer. She creates a cheerful atmosphere at home which makes him find his pleasure there in stead of spending money in amusements elsewhere, and in countless other ways she increases his worth.

FORESTRY IN SOUTH AFRICA

Conservation is spreading in South Africa, and tree planting is to be commenced ahround Bloemfontein. The Council of that city recommends all other councils and village management boards to follow their example. It is believed that all South Africa was formerly covered with forests, and the reaudation of the forest area was contemporaneous with the appearance of the Bantu races from the north of the Zambesi. A forestry department of the Union Government has now been organized, and it is hoped to carry out extensive work of afforestation in the immediate future.

Why Sniftle and Sneeze With Catarrhal Cold

BY BREATHING THE HEALING VAPOR OF CATARRHOZONE YOU GET RELIEF IN TEN MINUTES.

Every second person that you meet seems to have a sneeze and stuffed feeling in the forehead and nostrils. To cure promptly, say, in half an hour, there is nothing worth using except Catarrhozone. You inhale its balsamic vapor, and feel as if you were among the Norway pines. This is because Catarrhozone contains a healing medicine, light as pine air, which is breathed straight into the lungs and bronchial tubes. Away goes the cold, sneezing and catarrhal cough cease, bronchial irritation stops; in short, you are cured of catarrh by a pleasant, simple remedy, free from sedatives and irritants.

That Catarrhozone is a swift, certain means of destroying colds and catarrh is proved by the following statement of Mr. Pulos, one of Brockville's best known merchants:

"In the fall of 1908," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910, "I contracted a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians, who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhozone. I bought the dollar outfit, and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhozone, and have used it since to check a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence, and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

(Signed) George Pulos.

An ideal protection for the chest, lungs, nose, and throat is the frequent use of Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment (the large size) costs $1.00, medium sizes 50c; at all dealers or the Catarrhozone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Belgium's Population

Belgium, with 642 inhabitants to the square mile, is the most thickly populated country in Europe; England's figure is 557, Germany's 306, France's 302, Russia's 194, and Spain's 101.

Storm of Long Ago

In the great English storm of 1703, which lasted two days, 8,000 people were drowned, 20,000 trees were uprooted in Kent, and two million pounds' worth of damage was done in London alone.

ANCIENT BULLION

Portion of Soudan Treasure Trove for Ontario Museum

Charles T. Currelley, director of the new museum of Toronto University, has received word that a good sample of the treasure trove of royal bullion, brought to light recently by Professor Garstang, of Liverpool University, England, in the course of his excavations at the ancient City of Meroe, in the Soudan, Africa, which existed about the time of Christ, was on its way to the museum. The bullion belonged to the ancient kings. Mr. Currelley related the very interesting circumstances associated with this sensational find. "Shortly after the time of Christ," he said, "the Soudan had a sudden burst of energy and greatness that those who have followed the Mahdi and Khalifa in recent times can understand at least to some extent. The great centre of this period was the town of Meroe, in the Soudan. Here great monuments were built and work was done that is surprisingly skilful and beautiful, though, of course, it is impossible to say how much of it was actually done by the Ethiopians, or the Soudanese themselves, or how far it was the result of imported slave or free labor from Northern Africa, or, in fact, from anywhere on the Mediterranean. For some time Professor Garstang, of Liverpool, has been carrying on most sucessful excavations at Meroe, and last year the Royal Ontario Museum received, through the kindness of Mr. Robert Mond, of London, England, who is partially financing the expedition, some exquisite pieces of the ceramics of this period. This last winter Professor Garstang discovered the ancient treasure house of the Kings of Meroe, and there was still in the place a quantity of the royal bullion in gold nug- [illegible] Mr. Mond.

"One is apt to speculate as to what happened to that ancient Minister of Finance and to the whole staff of clerical and manual helpers, or in any way why a large mass of such portable treasure should have been left for nearly 2,000 years. At any rate, we are very glad that a part of it will find a home in Toronto"

Mr. Currelley added that the records of ancient history threw very little light on the existence of the City of Meroe. There is a script at the ancient site of the once great city, and two men have been working on it, but so far have not been able to make head or tail out of it.

ECONOMY OF GOOD ROADS

The Cost of Haulage is Enormously Decreased

The value of good roads becomes evident when we look at the financial side of the problem. The cost of hauling one ton one mile is nine cents in Germany and twenty-five cents in the United States; the difference is largely one of road bed. If we apply these figures to hauling, say, 5,000 bushels of wheat five miles, the cost in Europe would be $67.50, in the United States $187.50, or $120 more. It will be safe to say that where 5,000 bushels of wheat is raised, as much more hauling will be done which would represent another $120, or $240, the extra outlay caused by poor roads. This is only one item. Good roads increase the value of the land—$5 an acre is putting it too low, but at that it amounts to $1,600 for a half section—then the convenience and the ability to market at any time, so that advantage can be taken of the highest prices. The man in town realizes the value of good roads, and he gets them. He paves the sidewalks and streets. He knows that they will increase his business, his comforts and social advantages, but no more so than in the country for the farmer.—North Dakota Agricultural College.

THE HIGHEST DIGNITY

There joined the police force of London a young Scotchman but recently arrived from his native land. Being detailed one day to block the traffic on a certain thoroughfare where members of royalty were expected to pass, he was accosted by a lady hurrying to keep an appointment who thrust her head from the carriage window to remonstrate with him over the delay. "I canna let you pass, ma'am," answered the man of the baton. "But, sir, do you know who I am. I am the wife of a Cabinet Minister." "It disna mak no difference, ma'am," he answered. "I couldn'a let you pass if you were the wife of a Presbyterian minister."—Presbyterian Standard.

SAYINGS PAST AND PRESENT

Beauty may be an accident—but what woman ever took out a policy against it?—Warwick Price.

You ought to cut unmercifully all people who have smoky chimneys. You should refuse their invitations to dinner, saying: "I have seen black smoke ascending from your kitchen chimney."—G. B. Shaw.

"ORDER! ORDER!"

Commotions Caused in the Commons When Excitement has run High.

The almost unparalleled scene—or, perhaps, it would be more correct to say, series of scenes—which took place in the House of Commons a short time ago, suggest the question whether Parliament is not deteriorating.

Such scenes are not only discreditable, they lower the tone of our legislature, and give rise to doubts whether our law-makers are as level-headed to-day as they have had the reputation of being for so many centuries.

It is only fair to state, however, that, from the point of view of mere disorderliness, the recent "scene" was a much tamer affair than the one in the House of Commons in March, 1901. The trouble on that occasion was created by some of the Irish members, and it was rightly described at the time as without parallel since the time of Cromwell, when soldiers cleared the House at the point of the bayonet.

As a matter of fact, most of the "scenes" which have taken place at [illegible] the vexed question of Home Rule.

On that occasion members actually came to blows, but very little damage was done except to the prestige and dignity of the Mother of Parliaments. It must be said, too, that members were heartily ashamed of their conduct, and showed that they were when their hot blood had cooled down.

Thirty years ago there was an indescribable uproar in the House of Commons when thirty-five members of the Irish party were forcibly removed, in addition to being suspended from attendance.

That scene was almost paralleled in the following year, 1882, when the House sat at a stretch for the lengthy period of twenty-eight hours. As many as twenty-five Irish members were suspended on that occasion, most of them for refusing to leave when the House was about to be cleared for a division.

The name of the late Charles Bradlaugh is associated with more than one disorderly scene in Parliament, on account of his "conscientious objection" to take the oath. Perhaps the one that occasioned the most excitement was when he essayed to take his seat by sheer force.

On that memorable occasion the House was treated to the edifying spectacle of the hon. member for Northampton struggling desperately with half a dozen burly policemen who forcibly ejected him from the Chamber. It was a most painful scene to all who witnessed it.

The British Parliament is, however, "not in it" with foreign legislatures for the creation of scenes. The French Chamber has provided not a few, some of the worst being in connection with the Dreyfus question which agitated the whole of France, not to say Europe, some thirteen years ago.

In the course of a "full-dress" debate on this question, one speaker called another "a liar and a coward," receiving the next moment a smashing blow in the face for his pains. Nothing more was needed to set the whole Chamber in an uproar, and free fights became the order of the day. Before the disturbance could be quelled, not only police, but foot and mounted soldiers had to be called out.

Perhaps the Austrian Parliament is the most unruly of all the legislatures of Europe. There even Ministers, who were members of the same Cabinet, have hammered each other on the floor of the House, and day after day it has been the scene of rough-and-tumble encounters.

CANADA'S GREAT FUTURE

Former Vice-President of the U. S. Expresses His Admiration

Canada has an unparalleled future according to former vice-president of the United States, Chas. W. Fairbanks. "Why, you people have just commenced to build a nation," he said "and judging the future by the past and taking into consideration your marvellous resources, the greatest on earth, I have in my mind's eye the position Canada will occupy among the earth's great nations."

Highest Building in the World.

Plans have been filed for the construction at Broadway and Park Place, New York City, of the highest building in the world. From the curb to the apex of the tower it will stand 750 feet and contain 55 stories. The Metropolitan tower is 700 feet 3 inches and the Singer tower 612 feet.

POVERTY IN GERMANY

The High Cost of Living Causes Distress Among the Poor.

The high cost of living, general all over Europe, has made itself felt to such an extent in Germany that the various municipal authorities are doing their utmost to find means of alleviating the distress of the poorer classes. Some of these endeavors have been directed towards granting special increase of wages to municipal employes, policemen, postmen, street cleaners, etc., and this example has been followed by some of the larger large firms, one or two of the big German banks having granted their employes special [illegible] in actually providing the masses with cheaper food has, however, been made by the Berlin City Council. This is to be accomplished by making Berlin a city of fish eaters. The authorities will buy sea fish in large quantities at the fishing harbors and sell at low prices through specially appointed fishmongers in the Berlin markets. It is a significant fact that, although fish is, of course, to be seen on the tables of the middle class and upper classes in Berlin, fish consumption, with the exception of the smoked and dried variety, is almost unknown among the working people. Municipal placards of the official red, surmounted with the picture of a fish, have been posted throughout the city calling attention to the new food, and indicating the different markets at which the fish may be obtained.

GAVE AWAY MILITARY SECRETS

A German Sentenced at Leipsic to Six Years in Prison.

A man, named Kreber, has been sentenced at Leipsic to six years' imprisonment, the loss of civil rights for ten years, and to police surveillance during this period, for attempting to deliver military secrets to a foreign Power. It is said that the accused who was a non-commissioned officer at Metz up to September last year, himself in need of money, he approached a French agent with a view to handing over to France the plans of two forts as well as the designs of the fortification's enclosure. His attempts to sell the plans were unsuccessful. As the accused had not shown any repentance for his act, but, on the contrary, had manifested regret because his project had failed, the court deemed it necessary to increase the punishment demanded by the public prosecutor.

Swindler and "Revivalist."

At Llangollen William Rowlands, a gentlemanly-looking young man, was sentenced to six months' hard labour for obtaining money, board and lodgings from the Waverley Hotel by false pretences. Margaret Jones, the proprietress of the hotel, said the prisoner took rooms there, saying his parents were to join him in a week. He gave the name of an Anglesey farm owned by his father, from which letters were returned "not known." A long list of previous convictions for similar offences, in some of which the prisoner had masqueraded as a woman, was quoted. During his stay at Llangollen, Rowlands appeared at Calvinistic Methodist chapels, announcing he had an inspired message to deliver, in one instance taking charge of the service and imitating revival methods.

The Scugog river has risen in its protest against those disfiguring stumps. The latter are submerged.

Thank Providence, and incidentally the weather sharp, because the latter prophisies milder and fair weather, for to-day.

QUACKERY IN INDIA

Preparations and Remedies Imposed on the Unsuspecting Natives.

An Indian correspondent has sent to the "Lancet" some pages from a price list issued by a native [illegible] in Cawnpore. He remarks that it is an example of the extremes to which uncontrolled quackery can run, and that it shows the type of remedy for which there is a demand in India. The 480 or so preparations which are all compounded under the eye of a very able doctor," are guaranteed to be infallible remedies for almost all the ailments and disabilities to which mankind is heir. A charm for rendering snakes and scorpions [illegible] is bought for the same price as a specific for small pox marks which "removed the complexion." With reference to condensed milk, at 12 annas the tin, the public is informed not to be deceived by buying cheap milk." Prophylactic bangles and lockets cost only two or three rupees each and [illegible]ally ward off "cholera weakness, [illegible] thinness, fever cough, inflammation of the eyes, erysipelas, indigestion, smallness, impurity of the blood fits, and many other diseases to which children are subject. A plaster which has cured hopeless cases will "heal any old man of obstinate ulcer," while if tooth oil is used intelligently the user for the rest of his life, "will have a set of unshaken teeth." Jawahar Mohra, (or tone restorer), "makes a man patient," and Sukha cures "infants who pine away and ultimately die." Although "the inflammation of the kidney is fatal," there is a remedy which never fails to cure it, and the price of a box is two rupees.

TAX ON CATS

Bavaria is Probably Leading the World Against the Feline Tribe.

The people of Bavaria and especially of Munich are nothing if not original and they show their originality in a number of ways. They are for instance, about to put a tax of $1.25 a year on cats, probably the first tax of this kind in the world. Furthermore they have given up using matches and have gone back to the flint, steel and tinder, not because they consider this method of producing fire but to avoid paying a new imperial tax of 400 per cent. on the value of matches. As another way of showing their disapproval of the Imperial government's way of putting on taxes the Bavarian Diet has permitted the soldiers of Bavarian regiments to use their spare hours to manufacture cigars for their own use, thus avoiding the internal revenue duty on manufactured cigars.

EXPOSED THE ALPS

The Heat of the Past Summer Affected The Ice Fields.

One of the most remarkable results of the intense heat and drought of [illegible] stretches of rock were exposed for the first time for many years.

This has been especially true of the Matterhorn, where the snow and ice disappeared entirely, leaving the famous peak naked from top to base, and giving it a totally unfamiliar aspect.

ORIGINAL BURGLARS

How They Operate in the Stores in Paris.

The French have always prided themselves on their originality and inventiveness, and it would seem from the newspapers that these precious qualities are full shared by the national thieves. Some burglars hid themselves in the Rue du Temple, a busy street near the Halles, or central markets, Paris. It was easy enough to break open the door of a jeweller's workshop on the fifth floor and appropriate $750 worth of goods, but less resourceful people might have found it hard to get out of the house unseen. But, foreseeing this difficulty, had provided themselves with a rope 80 feet long. Having carefully greased it with a tallow candle, they let themselves down to the third-floor balcony, broke a window, forced a cash-box, and took $1600, after which they slid down to the first floor balcony, again made a burglarous entry with profitable results, and, once more using the rope, reached the street and decamped.

THE SMOTHER FLY

Great Damage by The Pest in Two English Counties.

Farmers in Notts and Lincolnshire lost quite $1,000,000 by the ravages of the aphis, known locally as the "smother fly," which ruined over 40,000 acres of turnips and other root crops. In addition to this, it is estimated that the sheep in the two counties, numbering over a million, have decreased in value owing to the shortage of roots, bringing the total loss to $5,500,000. The drought was blamed for the aphis plague.

Police Stop a Funeral.

A ship's fireman, Alfred Sharples, was remanded at Preston on the charge of causing the death of his wife.

Mrs. Sharples died the previous Wednesday, and the funeral was fixed for Saturday afternoon, but in consequence of allegations by neighbors the police intervened and stopped the funeral, the body being removed to the mortuary. At the inquest on Monday night the jury returned a verdict of "Manslaughter" against the husband.

A Lindsay contemporary, describing the loss of a horse by drowning, says, "The team with its jolly load of passengers." We have heard of a man carrying "a load," but this Lindsay description is new to us.

No, Mr. Reader, it was not an oriole warbling in the tree tops, you heard yesterday. It was the man out with his snow shovel giving his opinions about the present spring weather.

QUICK CHANGE THIEF

How Starke Deceived the Watchman of a Building Broken Into.

How a thief played the part of quick change artist and thus escaped arrest when the odds seemed to be all against him is told in the story of a midnight raid on a large butchering establishment.

Ascertaining that a considerable amount of money was kept on the premises, a Berlin shopkeeper named Starke with two companions thought to effect a burglary. Starke entered the building through a window, but just as his companions were about to follow, they discovered they were detected by a street watchman, and decamped. Warned by the disappearance of his comrades that something unexpected had happened, Starke threw off his jacket, donned a butcher's blood-stained apron, and cap, switched on the electric light, and, seizing a butcher's knife, began to work furiously on the meat. When the watchman appeared and asked the supposed butcher if he had not observed the suspicious behaviour of the two men outside, Starke replied nonchalantly that he had seen the rascals, but that on catching sight of him they had run off. The watchman then withdrew, satisfied that everything was in order. A short time afterward, when he had robbed the cash-till and packed up some choice pieces of meats, Starke opened the door, with a key which he had found on the premises and quietly departed.

MADMAN FOR COMPANY

A Lunatic in White Apparel Jumped on a Van Beside Driver.

A terrifying adventure befell the driver of the motor mail van which runs between Stirling and Bathgate, Scotland. While driving towards the former town at dead of night he was suddenly startled by the apparition of a white-clad figure rushing to and fro on the road in front of him. Impeded by the strange object, which paid no attention to his warning the driver was compelled to stop at Linlithgow Bridge. He had no sooner done so than the figure which proved to be a man clad in white shirt and trousers, stepped to the van. The intruder was carrying a heavy chain, and, realising that he was demented, the driver set the van in motion again, but failed to dislodge the madman who jumped on to the seat beside him. Roused to fury by his shadow on the glass screen the lunatic screamed and swung his chain round his head in a terrifying manner.

It was not until Falkirk was reached that a policeman was seen. The lunatic attempted to escape, but the constable, securing a horse, succeeded in capturing him and placing him under restraint.

STATUE OF FAMOUS BEAUTY

Honor to the Women Who Refused to be King's Mistress [illegible]

[illegible] unveiled at Vitre and people are flocking to the place to see the statue of a woman who had the courage to refuse the honor of being the king's mistress at a time when such a refusal might easily mean incarceration for life. Those who follow the Woman's Rights Movement in France are proud of the honor done to a member of their sex, for statues have only, so far, been erected to Joan of Arc, Empresses or Queens. That a woman who became famous by the letters she wrote to her daughter should be immortalized in marble is flattering to women in general, but are there not women in the past who have a greater claim to that distinction? Mme. de Savigne, however, was undoubtedly feminine, for even, to-day, two centuries after her death, we fall under the charm of this graceful and delightful little woman. Her husband was killed in a duel seven years after his marriage, and was said to have been one of the lovers of the famous Ninon de Lenclos. Speaking of her scapegrace husband the Mme. de Savigne used to say: "The difference between us is that whilst I love him but do not respect him, he respects me but does not love me!"

After his death she lived for a long time in the pretty mansion where the Carnavalet Museum is now established, and many were the admirers who tried to win her, but in vain. She concentrated her affections on her daughter, who, according to Benserade, Louis the Fourteenth's official poet, was the belle of France. In fact, when Vallier's star was waning, Bussy and other courtiers tried to raise Mlle. de Savigne to the exalted rank of "King's Mistress," but her mother declined the honor of her, and promptly married her to M. de Grigban.

TWO AND TWO.

Tommy's mother had married again, and, though Tommy didn't in the least object to his new father, he was somewhat puzzled as to their relationship.

"Mamma," he said, is this man my step-papa?"

"Yes, dear, he is your step-papa."

"Well, mamma," pursued thoughtful Thomas, "you call me your little lad, don't you?"

"Yes, dearie, you are mamma's little lad!"

"Then, mamma," concluded Tommy, "I suppose I must be my step-papa's little step-ladder."

BRANDY DOSES.

"Is the patient taking the tablespoonful of brandy I ordered regularly?" said the doctor, looking into the sick-room.

"Yes," replied the young nurse, "He's very particular about that. He's already seventy-four doses ahead, and you only prescribed it yesterday."

Peterborough is not the only place troubled with minor floods. On Sunday the cellar of the Baptist church, Lindsay, was flooded and the furnace put "hors de combat." The congregation had to hold services in the Sunday school.

During the G.T.R. collision at Fraserville yesterday morning, a passenger on the train was wearing a pair of pinch-nose glasses. After the accident he found that both glasses were gone, whilst the gold frame still stuck to his nose.

ON OTHER WORLDS

Lick Observatory Astronomer Doubts If any of the Planets Could Sustain Intelligent Life.

Under the heading "Life in Other Worlds" Prof. Robert Grant Aitken of the Lick Observatory discusses in the current Journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada the probability as to the habitation of the planets. He summarises all of the latest researches

His conclusions are as follows:

The Moon—It may be that low forms of vegetable life are sustained by water vapor exuding through crevices from the moon's interior. But even if this proves true the moon must still be regarded as practically a dead world.

Jupiter, the largest of the planets—It is a semi-sun, probably gaseous throughout, with matter distributed as on the sun. Jupiter has no well defined surface or crust. The conditions there are chaotic. Oviously, in such a world there can be no question of life.

Saturn, the outermost planet known to the ancients—It resembles Jupiter, but is probably not so far advanced and is even less fitted than its larger neighbor to be the abode of life.

Uranus and Neptune—because of their great distance they are only minute disks in the largest telescopes. They present vague markings and they are so far from the sun that is its heat and light can hardly be effective in protecting life upon those two planets even should life in any way originate there.

Satellites of Jupiter and Saturn—It is possible some of them may have water and an atmosphere dense enough for life. This is mere conjectural and not probable.

Mercury—It is apparently always keeps the same face toward the sun, it gets seven times as much heat as the earth and neither its eternal nor its everlasting roasting day is suitable for any form of life. It seems to have no atmosphere.

Venus—In size, mass, density and surface gravity it greatly resembles the earth. It has a dense, cloud-filled atmosphere. The whole question as to life on Venus turns on the problem as to the length of Venus's day. If its day equals its year that planet must be utterly desolate. The question is still an open one, though the evidence favors the belief that the day and the year on Venus are of equal length.

Mars—There undoubtedly are strong markings on Mars, but astronomers are not agreed as to whether the markings are natural or artificial, canals or mere earthquake cracks. The Martian atmosphere is rare and there are no permanent bodies of water on the planet. There is not enough water on the whole of Mars to fill one of the Great Lakes on the earth. The so-called polar ice caps and "frost" on Mars may be deposits of carbon-dioxide. The best that can be said is that while the temperature on Mars is very low, there may be on that planet, to a limited extent, the conditions essential to life—probably only vegetable and animal life, but no beings of in[illegible]

THE PRICE OF EGGS.

The Chief Statistican at Ottawa has dug up Government reports showing that eggs sold for seven cents a dozen in April 1897. This must be taken from an average price throughout the Dominion. Hen fruit was never sold in Peterborough for the past thrity years at that price. Anyhow that C.S. should be put in a good cold dark puddle for tantalizing people by comparing present prices of that commodity, with the alleged seven cents per dozen.

Two Tests Made of New Lifeboat and Both are Successful

The new Harry Fisher lifeboat was successfully launched at Polson's Iron Works, Toronto. It was dropped from two heights and demonstrated its self-righting principle in both. The first drop was made from an iron cradle ten feet from the water. Although the framework of the cradle broke just as the boat was being tipped, thus turning it nearly upside down, it righted itself in a few feet, and fell in the water right side up.

A rope was then let down from an overhead crane and fastened by an ordinary hook to the top of the boat. When the boat was raised a few feet from the water the hook snapped owing to the weight of the vessel, nearly four tons, and the boat dropped back into the water.

The boat was next raised to a height of twenty feet, suspended from the overhead crane, and at a given signal, was dropped to the water. It landed right side up.

The boat, which is of steel, is shaped somewhat like a cigar, and inside has a steel boat working on pivots, so that it is always in proper position.

It is claimed for the boat that it is fireproof, non-sinkable and non-capsizable. It has capacity for fifty persons, and with the aid of running-boards on the sides and top could, if necessary, carry another fifty. It is twenty-four feet long and seven feet wide, and is propelled by a screw operated by a crank.

Light is obtained through a number of glassed-in port holes, and air by special self-closing devices.

WATER POWERS ACQUIRED

To be Used in Connection with Electrification of C. P. R.

In connection with the probable ultimate electrification of a portion of its line in the Rocky Mountains, the Canadian Pacific Railway acquired a water power on the Adams River, which flows out of Adams Lake, and experts have reported that it is capable of developing a hundred thousand horse-power at two different points between the lake and its confluence with the South Thompson. It is in a heavily timbered country where extensive lumbering operations are now being carried on.

NECESSITY OF WATER CONSERVATION.

The people of Peterborough are fortunate in having the waters of the back lakes conserved so well. This answers two purposes: The water is bottled up, when it is high, in the Spring time. This prevents bad freshets. By letting the water off, under control, in the dry season, power is furnished, that would not be available otherwise. It also helps the steamboat men and lumberman. A Times representative, yesterday, called on Mr. McClellan, superintendent of the Trent Valley Canal, and asked if the Northern lakes are in shape to control the surplus water this spring. His reply was that, unless we have unusually heavy spring rains, and very warm weather, Peterborough would encounter no danger from high water, although lately, it looked as though we might have floods. Still we will have enough water for all.

After seven years' practical control of the Trent waters as Superintendent of the Canal, Mr. McClellan deserves great credit for the way he has performed his duties. Of course there are fault-finders concerning the acts of every man in a public or prominent position, and the responsible position of Superintendent of the T. V. C. is no bed of roses. The duties are onerous and complex, and Mr. McClellan has done the most good for the most people. Efficiency in maintaining a proper control of water, such as are in our northern lakes, is no less the characteristic of good engineering than originality and boldness in handling the same. When a city like Peterborough is practically dependent upon her constant and regular supply of water for power, our citizens and factories should give all credit to the manner in which the water has been conserved. On power, which practically means a steady supply of water, depends, in large part, the future growth of Peterborough. Let us hope that, in the future, Peterborough will have as well-managed a system of water for power, as she has in the past. We all see, in the daily papers, that such places as London, Paris, Ottawa, Chatham, and Beaverton, and Toronto, by the Credit River, have suffered this spring by floods. Had such control of the respective rivers and lakes near them been controlled as have the waters of the Trent Canal, thousands of dollars of loss might have been saved.

Scientific sharps agree that man has been on earth about 300,000 years. That makes the Garden of Eden a thing of yesterday.

Germany is going to put a tax on cats. To help support the dogs of war? If Emperor Bill gets too fresh with his warlike ambitions, he may get into the dog-gonest cat-astrophy of the present century.

There is proof that a vast majority of the people are honest, not only the well-to-do, but the very poor people. The Hebrew Free Loan Association of New York has in five years lent $2,500,000 to 91,566 people. This society was organized to help men and women without regard to race or creed, who [illegible] assistance. All the money lent has been returned except $[illegible] the losses are less than 5 per cent. of the whole, and due, it is said, in all but a few cases to the inability, not the dishonesty, of the borrowers.

STRIKE QUESTION CONSIDERED.

The Montreal Star in giving its opinion on the English coal strike touches the whole question of strikes in general. The vote by the British coal miners shows, as the heads of the unions expect, that a majority of the miners are in favor of continuing the strike, it can hardly be expected that there will be permanence in the arrangements by which the troubles are brought to an end. It is, at best, taking advantage of a technicality to assume that, because a two-thirds vote of the men is required to call a strike, a mere majority vote is not sufficient to continue it. At the present juncture, the existence of such a technicality is very fortunate, and the decision to take advantage of it an eminently wise one. A temporary resumption of coal-mining activities is much to be preferred to another fortnight of idle mills, empty cars and the steady advance of the spectre of starvation in all the working-class districts of England. Nevertheless, should a majority of the miners themselves vote to reject the terms of settlement, it would be a truce and not peace that was declared.

It is a matter of record, however, that inertia must be overcome before an industrial disturbance can be settled as well as before one can be started. A strike tends to maintain itself once it is in full operation for the same reason that labor leaders often find it difficult to get one going when all circumstances would seem to indicate the opposite. It is easily possible that the habit of being on strike will be responsible for a good part of the votes which are polled in England to-day against the acceptance of the agreement with the operators.

Ungava Exploration Company

Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

CANADIAN FIREPROOFING IMPREGNATION CO. LTD.

Authorized Capital: $200.000

Divided Into 20.000 Shares, Par Value, $10.00 Each

Send us your order for Antegnolte today it may be to late tomorrow

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other non-combustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

Eastwood; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. Wood; Secretary, Mrs. W. D. Scott; Treasurer, Foreign, Mrs. Stenton; Home, Miss Aldridge; Collectors Medical, Mrs. White; Indian, Mrs. Scott; Pianist, Mrs. Wray. Collectors Mrs. H. Montgomery, Miss Nicholls, Miss Matthews, Miss Branch.

Upon An Unusual Charge.

A case that cannot be described, and would not appeal to the curiosity of the most inquisitive man, so revolting was it in detail, was heard in the police court yesterday morning. Joseph Cross was charged with an unnatural offence. Cross is supposed to have come from Port Arthur, and the only pity is that he did not give Peterborough the "double cross." This brute, if the charge be substantiated, was remanded for a week on request of Crown Attorney R. E. Wood. If the charge is proven Cross may spend the rest of his days in Kingston.

Peterborough Man Succeeds.

Mr. Albert Talbut, an old Peterborough boy, but now proprietor of the Hotel Talbut in Rochester, N.Y., was in the city yesterday on business. Mr. Talbut, who went to the Flower City a few years ago, succeeded in obtaining a nine years lease of his present premises. He is now making an expenditure of over $8000 on his premises. He has a taxicab service of his own to the New York Central Depot. Mr. Talbut a few days ago refused an offer of twenty-six thousand dollars for his lease and license. He left for home last night.

Peterborough Tobacco Proved (to be) Whisky.

Inspector Lithgow, of the district including that village celebrated for its black bass, Bobcaygeon, in some way got a tip that whisky was being shipped into that place. Bobcaygeon, it might be said, is under local option. A few days ago a suspicious looking consignment labelled "tobacco," from a "Cigar Co." of the city of Peterborough, at the Bobcaygeon station last Saturday morning. Mr. Lithgow examined the three cases which were shipped to a South Verulam farmer, and found that instead of tobacco they contained whiskey. The extract de corn is now in the Inspector's office. Evidently several Verulam farmers had to postpone the picnic they had arranged for Easter.

Maskinonge Choked by a Catfish.

The latest story in natural history comes from Bobcaygeon. It seems that some boys found a magnificent maskinonge, weighing 30 pounds, floating down the river from Sturgeon Lake to the dam at Bobcaygeon. They pointed out the big fish to a couple of men who jumped into a canoe and secured it. The maskinonge had evidently been dead for several days. It had caught a catfish, or "mud-pout," and tried to swallow it tail first. The catfish evidently not liking to play the part of Jonah in the whale, had vitality enough left, before disappearing into the department of the interior, of that lunge, to stiffen its horns or whiskers, or whatever those things are at the gills. These sharp pointed horns had caught in the maskinonge's throat and choked it to death. This was a sad end for so splendid a game fish.

WHAT POWER DOES AT NIAGARA

There are a few people who are down upon the motion picture shows. In view of some picture that used to be exhibited, they are, in some instances justified. However, now, no picture can be shown in Ontario unless it bears the seal and endorsation of the Ontario Board of Censors. At the Princess yesterday was shown a series of moving pictures of Niagara Falls. When one looked at those pictures, one could see the spray rising, the rushing, roaring falls and rapids, almost as naturally as though standing on the suspension Bridge. This picture showed clearly how the taking of water, for power purposes, has affected the great Canadian wonder, "The Falls." The other pictures at the Princess were wonderfully clear and life like. In the dramas, the actors really looked as though playing their respective parts in person, on the stage, before those seated in front of the pictures. Mr. King, the proprietor, is to be congratulated on presenting pictures that can't be beaten anywhere in the world.

BEFORE TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers relates his experience: "I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, but received little benefit. I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the NEW METHOD TREATMENT and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and continue to do so.

CHILDREN AFFECTED

By Mother's Food and Drink.

Many babies have been launched into life with constitutions weakened by disease taken in with their mothers' milk. Mothers cannot be too careful as to the food they use while nursing their babes.

The experience of a Kansas City mother is a case in point:

"I was a great coffee drinker from a child, and thought I could not do without it. But I found, at last, it was doing me harm. (Tea is equally harmful because it contains caffeine—the same drug found in coffee.) "For years I had been troubled with dizziness, spots before my eyes and pain in my heart, to which was added, two years later, a chronic sour stomach.

"The baby was born seven months ago, and almost from the beginning, she, too, suffered from sour stomach. She was taking it from me!

"In my distress I consulted a friend of more experience and she told me to quit coffee; that coffee did not make good milk. I have since ascertained that it really dries up the milk.

"So I quit coffee and tried tea and at last cocoa. But they did not agree with me. Then I turned to Postum with the happiest results. It proved to be the very thing I needed. It not only agreed perfectly with baby and myself, but it increased the flow of my milk.

"My husband then quit coffee and used Postum and quickly got well of the dyspepsia with which he had been troubled. I no longer suffer from dizziness, blind spells, pain in my heart or sour stomach.

"Now we all drink Postum from my husband to my seven months' old baby. It has proved to be the best hot drink we have ever used. We would not give up Postum for the best coffee we ever drank." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

TRAGEDY ON LAKE SHORE AT MIMICO, MAN'S BODY FOUND

Toronto, April 11.—With the finding of the body of a man washed on the shore opposite stop seventeen of the Surburban Railway along Humber Bay, and whose throat was cut from ear to ear, the county police have been faced with the problem of finding out whether there is one more undiscovered murder, or if it is a case of suicide. The body was found early in the morning, when two boys, Howard and Gordon Hunter, walked along the ice under the cliffs. The county police were at once notified and the remains were removed to the Craig undertaking parlors on Queen West.

Nothing to Identify Him.

Absolutely nothing was left in the clothing by which the man might be identified. There was no money, no papers, no laundry marks, the only possessions being a penknife, and a dollar watch. Thinking that it might be a case of suicide the police searched the bank and the lake shore for the weapon, but were unable to find one. The body was shoved up, under the cliff, and as ice was all around a knife or other instrument may yet be found to indicate whether the wounds were self-inflicted.

The man is described as 5 feet 7 inches in height, of slight build, red hair, and moustache, false teeth, and was wearing a dark grey coat and waistcoat, light grey trousers, striped shirt, black shoes, and an English peaked cap.

In the Water Since Fall.

Indications were that the body had been in the water since last fall, as it was badly decomposed. The spot was particularly unfrequented between the Humber and the Mimico Creek, and the authorities are now watching for the snow to melt thinking that some trace may be left behind.

Coroner Ricker will open an inquest at the morgue to-night.

MEMBERS MIGHT AS WELL HAVE BEEN KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Toronto Telegram of last night says, if the M.P.P. for East Toronto and Minister of Education for Ontario had been Grand President of the Knights of Columbus he could not have outraged the whole Public school ideal more insolently than that ideal was outraged in the order that closed the Public school in Springer township.

And if West Toronto was represented by two Knights of Columbus instead of by Hon. Thomas Crawford, M.P.P., and W. D. McPherson, M.P.P., West Toronto could not be more abjectly silent than West Toronto has been in the presence of an outrage on principles which Mr. Crawford nobly maintained in 1896, principles on whose behalf Mr. W. D. McPherson has yet to make his first sacrifice.

MUCH TROUBLE AHEAD

The marriage statistics for Ontario for 1911 have been published, and there are some interesting and noteworthy facts. One fact is of special interest just now is the number of "mixed" marriages. There were 7,361 Roman Catholics married, and of these 1,519 married Protestants; i.e., over 20 per cent. of the Roman Catholic marriages would appear to come under the condemnation of the Roman Church. We cannot tell, however, how many of those marriages were performed by Protestant ministers, nor how many by Roman Catholic priests, as the Department has no record of this. But if every year there are 1,500 marriages in Ontario, or even half that number, in which the priest feels bound to interfere, and if possible break up the home, there is evidently trouble ahead, says the Christian Guardian.

CUSTOMS AND EXCISE ARE OUTSIDE IRISH GOVERNMENT

Ulster Will Have 59 Seats Out of 164 in the Proposed New Irish House of Representatives

London, April 11.—The cardinal principle of the present Home Rule Bill, Premier Asquith stated to-day, is the supreme authority of the Imperial Parliament, while at the same time real autonomy is conferred on Ireland in regard to Irish concerns.

The bill provides for the establishment of an Irish Parliament, consisting of a Senate and a House of Commons with power to make laws for peace, order, and good government in Ireland.

The bill provides that the matters to be excluded from the control of the Irish Parliament are the Crown, [illegible] surance acts, the Irish constabulary, the post-office savings banks and public loans, in addition to those excluded by the Home Rule Bill of 1893, which left the customs and excise under the control of the Imperial Government.

May Take Over Old Age Pensions.

The Irish Constabulary is to be automatically transferred to the Irish Government after six years, and power is given by the bill to the Irish Parliament to demand the transfer of the old age pensions and Insurance Act to its control on giving a year's notice to the Imperial Government.

The Irish Parliament is debarred from altering the Home Rule Bill or the power to appeal to the Privy Council.

Provision is made for the protection of religious equality in Ireland, and stipulating that the Irish Parliament cannot make laws, directly or indirectly, to establish or to endow any religion, or to prohibit the free exercise thereof, or to give a preference or privilege to any religion or to make any religious ceremony a condition of validity of any marriage.

The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland is to have the power to veto or suspend any bill on the instruction of the Imperial Executive. [illegible] be settled by appeal to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

Ulster to Have 59 Seats.

The Irish Senate is to consist of 40 members, and the House of Representatives of 164, of which Ulster is to have 59 and the Universities two.

The Senate is to be composed of nominated members. In the first instance the Imperial Executive is to control the nominations with a view to assuring the representation of the minority. The nominations are to be for a fixed term, and as the members retire by rotation the vacancies will be filled by the Irish Executive. IN CASE OF DISAGREEMENT THE TWO HOUSES ARE TO SIT IN JOINT SESSION.

BI-LINGUAL SCHOOLS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—A few days ago, I saw a little Chinese boy, school bag over his shoulder, coming from one of our local schools. For curiosity's sake, I stopped the boy and asked him a question. He answered in perfectly intelligible English. Now if a boy from a laundry, surrounded in all but school hours by Chinamen speaking only their guttural jaw-breaking lingo, can learn to speak English, what need is there for French is our schools?

CANADA'S NAVY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I occasionally get the Calgary Eyeopener. This sheet whilst brightly edited, and containing many witty paragraphs, keeps up a constant railing at Canada's navy. The Eye-opener has a cut or electrotype, supposed to represent the fleet of our Dominion. Every issue of that paper has one or more of these pictures, always the same, and always making fun of our navy. Now, suppose Canada has only two ships, and one of them did run aground, why show our naval weakness to the world? The editor of so bright a paper might surely make his paper witty enough, without doing it at the expense of Canada's ships.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I would like respectfully to make a suggestion to the Public Library Board. I have no fault to find with the library or its management, still there is always room for improvement everywhere. Almost every evening, but particularly on Saturday evenings, you will see from three to a dozen or more people, mostly ladies in behind the counter picking [illegible] a list of all the books. Such catalogues could be sold at twenty or twenty-five cents each. Then, if any one is in a hurry for any particular book, and said book is out when he or she calls for it, such person could pay a deposit of five cents, which would ensure that book being retained as soon as returned. Such a catalogue, with all books under their respective authors' names, would save a lot of confusion at the library and a lot of time for local readers.

PREVIOUS HOME RULE BILLS

Mr. Gladstone, Prime Minister, introduced his first Home Rule Bill, providing for the establishment of a legislative body to sit in Dublin, to consist of two orders, each with a veto: (1) 28 representative peers, and 75 members elected for 10 years. (2) 206 members, two for each of the present 103 Irish constituencies. The new body was empowered to enact laws, and to impose and collect taxes—except the customs—but not to interfere with the army and navy, or foreign and colonial affairs, and not to enact any religious endowment; present legal and police arrangements to remain temporarily subject to the Crown; no Irish members to sit at Westminster. Bill was rejected by the Commons on second reading, June 8, 1886, by 343 to 313. The rejection of the bill was followed by riots at Belfast, where 11 people were killed and many wounded in conflicts between mob and military.

Mr. Gladstone introduced his second Home Rule Bill, which differed chiefly from the previous one in the retention of the Irish members, it being provided that 80 Irish members should sit and vote in the Imperial Parliament at Westminster, but should not speak and vote on purely British questions. The new Legislature was to consist of an assembly of 103 members, and a Council of 48, the latter elected on a £20 franchise. The retention of Irish members as regards voting on British questions only was abandoned during the committee stage. The bill passed its first reading by 301 to 267. It was rejected by the Lords on second reading, September 9, the vote being 419 to 41.

REDMOND SAYS IRELAND HAS CHANGED SINCE PARNELL'S TIME

London, April 11.—The Irish Home Rule bill, the third introduced by Liberal Governments of the United Kingdom in a quarter of a century, to settle the quarrel between Great Britain and Ireland, was introduced in the House of Commons this afternoon by Premier Asquith.

The official title of the bill is "The Government of Ireland Bill."

Britishers have been becoming inured to political upheavals in recent years, so that the crowded chamber which Mr. Asquith faced when he nailed up the Home Rule flag to-day was a special tribute to the historic importance attached to the occasion.

Cheers for the Premier.

Premier Asquith was greeted with prolonged volley of cheers from the Nationalists and Liberals, when he Rose to speak. He took up the narrative of Home Rule from the point at which the late William Edward Gladstone left off 19 years ago, pointing out that through all the political changes, and through peace and war, the insistence and persistence of the Irish demand for Home Rule had remained constant. The vote of Ireland, he said, was preponderantly in favor of Home Rule.

Home Rule All Round.

He had always presented the case of Home Rule for Ireland as the first step in a larger scheme of devolution. The separate concerns of the different parts of the United Kingdom could, he said, never be treated with equality until they had been handed over to their special representatives.

Wild uproar followed Asquith's declaration that there was no truth in the statement made by the Conservative leader, Bonar Law, in Belfast, that the Government had sold the Empire for the Irish vote. Bonar Law leaped to his feet, and facing [illegible] chamber broke forth with shouts of derision and cries of "muzzle him, muzzle him."

When the excitement subsided Asquith finished his speech without further interruption.

Mr. Redmond thought the bill would be adequate to carry out the objects of its promoters. He unhesitatingly advised the forthcoming Nationalist convention to accept the bill.

When the police who have charge of the Houses of Parliament opened the door of the members' entrance to the House of Commons at exactly eight o'clock this morning no fewer than twenty members were waiting on the threshhold in order to secure seats for the opening of the debate on the Irish Home Rule bill this afternoon. Half an hour later 50 seats in the House had been taken, and by half past ten every seat on the Opposition side had either a hat or a card on it to indicate that it had been appropriated.

Donald McMaster, who is a Canadian, and sits as Unionist member from the County of Surrey, had the honor of being the first arrival. He was closely followed by three Nationalist members, and then came a steady stream of men representing all sides of politics.

Redmond Made Sure.

Although the seats of the leaders of the various parties are generally respected by the other members, John Redmond the leader of the Nationalists, accompanied by his brother William H. K. Redmond, and by John Dillon, drove up during the morning to make assurance doubly sure.

The capacity of the House is so limited that even with members standing at the bar and grouped around the Speaker's chair there is not room for all.

The treasury benches will not accommodate all the members of the Cabinet, and those arriving late have to find places on the steps of the [illegible]

GOTHAM WOMEN IN ECONOMY CRUSADE

New York, April 11.—The women of New York to-day began an assault on their hated enemy, the middleman by inaugurating a campaign of purchasing supplies direct from the public markets.

A band concert and gala decoration greeted the hundreds of members of the Housewives League, which has 160,000 members, who invaded Washington market in limousines and taxies, trolley cars and on foot.

During the afternoon Mayor Gaynor appeared. He spent more than an hour in the market talking with members of the league and the marketmen. The Mayor marvelled at asparagus from California at 5 cents a bunch. Then he met Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the league and heard something of the spread of that organization in a few months all over New York, New Jersey and west to Wisconsin.

"Why isn't your wife here," demanded one of the league officers.

"You go and get her," said the Mayor. "I wish you would." Then he bowed himself away and was followed by a cheer.

FIND RADIUM IN CANCER GERM ITSELF

London, April 11.—Considerable interest has been aroused by the news that when the Queen visited Middlesex Hospital last week, Dr. Lazarus Barlow demonstrated to her Majesty a discovery which he had made in his research work in connection with cancer.

This new fact is that radium has been found in cancer itself. When the first observations were taken a few months ago considerable doubt was thrown on their accuracy, as the quantity found was exceedingly small. The latest results have been placed before the Queen.

SOME MORE BOQUETS

Handed Out by The Catholic Register—A Slap at Dr. Grenfell—The Editor's Opinion of the Orange Order—Dr. Graham, of Toronto, Referred to as a "Plague" in Connection With the Park Street Baptist Church.

This Dr. Grenfell seems to be a very able advertiser, and talks a good deal like a minister out of a job.

• • •

"Billy" Sunday, taking up a collection of over $17,000 at one revival meeting, goes to show that there is a good deal of the religious idea in the people yet. It is, however, sad to see them the dupes of strolling cranks and fakirs, but such is the logical result of the disintegration of Protestantism.

• • •

The far-famed democracy of Protestantism is well illustrated by the Rev. George Dewey, a minister, who speaking in London, Ont., said that a girl entering domestic service was looked on as such an outcast that she could not even be admitted to a Protestant church choir! What was it that Christ said about the poor and the True Church?

• • •

The practical good sense of England's Premier is proof against all the threats of Ulster fanatics. When asked in the House of Commons if he were aware that Orangemen were drilling around Belfast to fight Home Rule, he answered jocularly that the Government was perfectly aware of the drilling, but knew that it was for the purpose of a political demonstration around Easter, and not for bloody war. Alas, nobody will take the Orange gasconade seriously!

• • •

The London, Ont., press has made queer ministerial announcements. Its Park street Baptist church has one by the name of Riddiford for pastor, and he discusses "How to Become a Priest," and imports the celebrated sensationalist "Dr." W. T. Graham, of Toronto, to discourse on the "Jesuits and Their Teachings," from information derived from Johnston's "Liturgicum Manual." London certainly is badly enough afflicted with its Riddiford without our Graham plague.

(In regard to the above paragraph, the Register probably refers to Rev. W. C. Riddiford, of Peterborough—not London.—Ed. Times.)

IMPERIAL SCENE AT DELHI DURBAR

That Which Will Greet King Geoge and Queen Mary Is Without Parallel

"The vast encampment lies below me as I write, visible almost in its entirety. All the more important the Emperor's camp, which is placed immediately below the Flagstaff Tower and lies at the west of Ridge, with only a roadway between it and the famous red sandstone outcrop, which has seen the building of so many Delhis and the rise and fall of so many dynasties.

"In the centre of the King's camp is the Circuit House, built by Lord Curzon for the 1903 Durbar. This is a building of some size and importance, and has not been altered, or enlarged for the Imperial visit, as both the Emperor and Empress prefer to live in tents.

"Its rooms however have been thoroughly overhauled, decorated, and furnished, in order that it may serve as a comfortable resort in the event of bad weather during the Durbar. Lady Hardinge has devoted much time and attention to this work, and upholsterers and plasterers are hard at work—a rather anomalous sight in this canvas metropolis, for there are no other solidly-built structures in the whole extent of the encampment, except the telegraph and post offices. [illegible] the occasion, the Emperor's and Empress's own tents have been pitched. Externally, except for their greater size they are not markedly different from the others in the vicinity. But Lady Hardinge is sparing no effort to furnish them throughout with every comfort. Carpet and rugs have been specially woven for the entire suite, and many valuable hangings, pictures and ornaments have been lent for their adornment. Besides the private Imperial tents are great canvas halls, to be used for official receptions and dinners. In front is the huge Shamiana, behind a long-closed-in tent, which, when required, can be opened into the Shamiana. It may give some idea of the scale on which the preparations are being made at Delhi to mention that the space thus covered is between 24,000 and 25,000 square feet. The dome of St. Peter's at Rome covers a little more than 15,000 square feet, and that of St. Paul's less than [illegible]00.

"On the other side of the Shamiana are the Viceroy's tents, and in front of the whole is a wide lawn. It [illegible] well-filled flowerbeds. The entire extent of the Emperor's Camp is [illegible]00 square yards. It is, of course, the largest single camp here, but it takes up an infinitesimal proportion of the entire encampment, which stretches out a white wilderness to the horizon, splashed and dotted with green lawns, polo grounds, and avenues of trees, where watercourses and roads thread their way.

"The Shamiana, at which the Emperor will alight, and under which he will receive the homage of the officials and greater ruling chiefs will be supported on richly-chased gold pillars. The velvet hangings are of a peculiarly rich shade, between cardinal and crimson, heavily embroidered with gold. Here the first part of the ceremony will take place, their Majesties afterwards proceeding to the central marble pavilion, which is also magnificently draped with velvet of a similar color. It may safely be prophesied that the scene when the Emperor and Empress present themselves to the peoples of India, gathered at Delhi on Dec. 12, will surpass not only other Royal or Imperial scenes that live in English history, but will have no parallel even in the most splendid days of the mogul emperors."

WOMEN IN PARLIAMENT

In the very early times the affairs of the nation were not wholly in the hands of the sterner sex, for in the reigns of Henry III. and Edward [illegible] four abbesses at least were summoned to Parliament—namely, those of Shaftesbury, Barking, Winchester, and Milton. To one of the Parliaments of Edward III. there were summoned by writ ten ladies of noble birth, seven of them countesses. Gurdon, in his "Antiquities of Parliament," goes back still further than this, for he says that "ladies of birth and quality sat in council with the [illegible] Mitas." A certain Abbess Hilda, according to the historian Bede, presided at an ecclesiastical synod. In Wighfred's great council at Beconcelde, A.D. 694, the abbesses sat and deliberated, and five of them signed decrees of that council along with the King, Bishops and nobles. King Edward's charter to the Abbey of Crowland, A.D. 962, was with the consent not only of the nobles but also of the abbesses, their names appearing among those who signed it.

evenly on the table; then hang and roller towels, next the pillow covers. Fold the bed sheets, place them over all, and then cover with the ironing sheet. Commence ironing all the underwear, tablecloths, and handkerchiefs—all except the starched clothes. Then remove ironing sheets and all the linen underneath will be as smooth as if put through the mangle. Fold same, and place on clothes-horse to air.

Blanket Washing

Take half a cupful of pure ammonia, half a cupful of turpentine, and pour into a vessel that will hold two quarts of water; then cut up a small piece of soap about the size of a walnut—not more—or else the solution will be too stiff when cold. Then pour on two quarts of boiling water. When the liquid is cool, bottle off, and keep the bottle tightly corked. Be careful when pouring on the water, as the fumes are very strong. When washing the blankets add half a cupful of this mixture to each tub of water, and you will be more than pleased at the result. The blankets will come up quite soft and fluffy, and if this is carefully carried out they will never shrink.

Hints on Renovating

Light colored velvets may be cleaned by rubbing with benzoin or paraffin oil.

Chiffon can be washed in tepid water in which has been dissolved a small piece of Castile soap.

White silk should be washed in lukewarm water, rolled in a cloth, and ironed quite damp.

Where money is an object, it is a wise plan for everyone to know as much as possible about the art of renovating.

Crepe should be wound round a bottle, and steamed over boiling water.

Ribbon should be well brushed, damped, and ironed between folds of tissue paper.

[illegible] with equal quantities of oil and talc.

White felt hats, if white, may be cleaned by rubbing with oatmeal.

For instance, velvet may be made as good as new by the following process: Place a damp cloth over a hot iron, and draw the back of the velvet over the cloth. When the creases are all out, remove the cloth, and dry by rubbing the back of the velvet over the iron.

HANDY FRUIT CORER

Extracts Centre of Apple or Pear at One Quick Stroke

A simple and effective device for extracting stones and cores from fruit has been designed by a Virginian man and will probably become a popular kitchen utensil. At first glance it resembles the top of a spade handle broken off. A single sheet of metal is rolled into a tube, tapering towards the bottom and with a pair of arms extending above, joined at their tops to a wooden handle between. The lower end of the tube has two sharp lips projecting opposite each other. To core an apple or pear the fruit is placed on the table, stem up, and the cutter thrust down through the centre. It is then pulled out again, bringing with it the centre of the fruit with the seeds and the hard substances that are so unpleasant to encounter in baked or stewed fruit. The same operation will remove stones from fruits that are [illegible] split in two, as are peac[illegible] cleaned in that way.

THE HOME LIFE OF THE WELSH

Mr. Frank Elias has a very informative article about the Welsh people in T. P.'s Magazine.

"The student of Welsh life and character who encounters almost any village in North Wales, will be able to acquire a full knowledge of his subject without travelling a mile farther. For Welsh life has a certain quality of uniformity which is not found in the other constituent peoples of the Empire.

"The centre of the Welshman's life is the Chapel. On it his hopes are set, and in its light every fact of his character illuminates itself. He spends his leisure in its service, and even his relaxations are taken within its walls. The characteristic entertainment of the Welshman is the annual Chapel 'Tea Party and Grand Concert.' The 'grandeur' of the concert is taken for granted. The table spread before the purchaser of the tea-party ticket is not, perhaps, one to charm an eclectic taste. Bread and butter and bun loaf are the chief dishes. But there is abundance, there is an effervescing spirit of friendliness, and—thought dear to the passionate musician in every Welshman—there is the prospect of the concert.

"But the significance of the Chapel to the heart of the Welsh villager rests upon surer foundations than the social: Wales is a deeply religious nation, and the history of Wales is a religious history. Through the character of the Welshman there runs a strong strain of poetry and mysticism; he feels, with a special urgency, the appeal of the unseen. From his childhood he has breathed in the religious fervor of his fathers. The magnificent services of the Welsh Sunday-school to the national life have never been properly acknowledged. Nearly all the achievements of the Principality have had their foundation in this school.

"No form is more characteristically Welsh than that of the minister. He is mainly a son of the people. Indeed, every man who has moved the mind of Wales during the past two hundred years was born poor. Moreover, with the exception of Mr. Lloyd George, nearly every Welshman who wields an influence over his people has remained poor. Any obscure Englishman of modest prosperity going daily to the City and live in a $300 house, could have bought up most of the great Welshmen of the past. They had always to keep their wants humble. From inspiring their people they had to face an empty larder. But poor, these men were not despised. Theirs were the names their country celebrated. And so it is to-day.

"They have small means to buy books—these men—yet nearly every one of them has his library—a library [illegible] comes obvious when, as they often do in their journeys, they preach in the Saxon tongue.

"But not only are these men readers; they are writers and they are poets. Indeed, the greater number of the national bards are ministers of religion.

"The Welsh minister is not, however, wholly a self-trained man. He has his denominational college and his National University. But, more than this, many Welsh preachers are Oxford men. No Nonconformist ministry, probably, has a larger number of its younger men holding Oxford degrees. Jesus College is the recognized home of Welsh culture, and it was among a notable set of Oxford men of the late eighties that the Young Wales Movement, of which Tom Ellis was leader, had its rise.

"The influence which Mr. Lloyd George wields in Wales is not, perhaps fully understood. It is true that he attracts the admiration and enthusiasm which are the due of the national leader. So, however, did Gladstone in England and Parnell in Ireland. Between the popular attitude towards Mr. Lloyd George there is this difference, that Gladstone and Parnell, loved though they were by the common people, were regarded not only with affection, but with a certain element of awe. They were felt to stand upon another plane than that of their followers. There is very little of this feeling among the men who follow Lloyd George.

"Mr. Lloyd George has an enormous moral and political influence in Wales. But he exercises, in a curious degree, an influence of quite another kind. Not only is he moulding Welsh opinion, but he is even affecting Welsh psychology. The minor note in Welsh character has been observed. But the emergence of a Welshman, in every sense typical of his countrymen, upon the platform of world-history, has quickened the Welsh pulse and widened the Welsh outlook."

HOW TO KNIT A MAN'S TIE

You will need half an ounce each of white and colored knitting silk or cotton, and four needles.

Begin at the wide end by casting on 36 stitches; arrange 12 on each needle. Knit 12 rounds in colored, take up the white silk and knit six rounds, with the colored silk knit two rounds (the silk is not broken off, but passed up inside), six rounds in white, two rounds in colored, six rounds in white; repeat five times, and decrease thus: Knit the two first stitches together and the two last together of the round in every alternate round six times, so reducing the stitches to 24; repeat the stripes nine more times—this makes the tie one and a quarter yards in length—and cast off.

Lay the tie flat, letting the ends of the rows where the silks are changed come exactly in the centre of the back. Sew the ends neatly together, place the tie between the folds of a damp cloth and press with a hot iron.

He has a taxicab service of his own to the New York Central Depot. Mr. Talbot a few days ago refused an offer of twenty-six thousand dollars for his lease and license. He left for home last night.

WILD GOOSE RAISING

Toronto Man Has Wild Ducks, too, at Farm Near the City

Farming wild animals! What with the rapid decrease in all kinds of game, and especially of the fur-bearing quadruped; it really begins to look as though this might be a sound commercial proposition. That is what the Canadian Government is doing with the last remnant of the big buffalo herds. There will be an addition of two hundred calves in the huge park at Wainwright, Sask.

Not so very long ago some enterprising gentlemen in Minnesota bred wolves. When the pups had grown to big, ugly fellows with an insatiable appetite for dead horses, they were shot and their heads [illegible] the State authorities for the [illegible] fifteen-dollar per wolf [illegible] profitable game until the [illegible] out.

Others go in for [illegible] while in an application [illegible] hand from an American, [illegible] made for a tract of rough land in Northern Ontario whereon the grantee may farm everything from bears to weasels.

When the Belgian hare craze was rife here some twelve years ago, many Torontonians had hutches in their back yards. Of course these last-named animals can hardly be termed wild, but purchasers of the rodents at $35 a pair were wild enough when they found out what an unprofitable business they had embarked in.

A well-known citizen, a great sportsman with a farm on the Credit, has had wonderful success in raising wild geese and ducks. He is a member of a duck-shooting club, with large leases on Lake Scugog, and here in the fall of the year the wild ducks bred in captivity are made useful for decoying their roving brethren.

Painted wooden imposters are usually anchored out to tempt the wild ducks within range of the blind which the hunters hide. Oftentimes the keen eyes of the birds will detect something wrong in even the best of these decoys. But when a live duck "quacks" and flaps its wings, even the most skeptical of the breed are prone to think all is right. One of these tethered black ducks is a very deadly bait, and the wild ducks very seldom fail to answer his lusty call.

Similarly the wild geese are used in the spring of the year. Just as the ice is breaking up and the warm days of April make one long for outdoors the grey Canada goose in thousands come into the feeding grounds at Lake Scugog to fill their crops with the remnants of last year's wild rice. It is then that Toronto hunters make their bags. Impossible to approach in any other way, the wary wild goose is inveigled to within gunshot of the blind by the blandishments of the tethered captives whose importunate honkings are not to be resisted.

IMPROVE JUAREZ TRACK

Racing Popular in Mexican City, and No Expense Will be Spared

[illegible] ment of Jockey Club Juarez are undertaking extensive improvements. The directors of the club are optimistic over the future of the sport in the Mexican city and have given Col. Winn carte blanche to expend any amount necessary for the improvement and embellishment of the plant. The contemplated improvements will cost approximately $50,000, and when the work is completed Col. Winn believes that the course will be one of the beauty spots of this continent. The improvements include the abandonment of the chutes at one mile and one mile and a sixteenth, and the placing of the starting posts for those distances on the main track, where the starts can be better viewed from the stand. The double railing, separating the promenade and the track proper, will give way to rows of hedges and the space between the rows will be planted in clover. [illegible] and pear trees will be planted [illegible] space north of the paddock and [illegible]. The trees have already been [illegible] for. The infield will be sown in wheat in winter and oats in the summer. For the protection of the patrons against the sharp winds that are prevalent at certain periods of the year, an adobe wall, twenty feet high, will be constructed around the track at the most effective locations. A ladies' room will be installed under the stand, where the restaurant and kitchen are at present located. The two last named will be moved close to the betting ring.

NEW RACING REGULATION

In introducing his bill to prevent the indiscrimate establishment of race-courses throughout the country, the Minister of Justice made the announcement that the charters applied for two years ago for Thorncliffe Park and the London Jockey Club had been granted, and the act would not apply to them. It provides that the protection of the Miller bill will not apply to new courses established under the easy, and practically secret, method of incorporation under the joint stock companies act. The bill is not retroactive, but it means that in future there can be no legal speculation on the courses of associations which receive their authority by act of Parliament.

REGULATING AIR TRAFFIC

According to the new regulations, all airmen in France must be provided with navigation certificates and with permits for their air-craft. Flights over cities or crowds are prohibited. No explosives, cameras, or wireless apparatus may be carried without special permission. In the near future all air-craft will be expected to carry three lights—a white one in front, a green one on the right and a red one on the left. A horn must be carried for use in foggy weather. Air-craft are expected never to pass within 450 feet of each other.

RURAL ONTARIO IS NOT DECAYING

Statistics Show That Farmers Are Producing More Than Ten Years Ago

Since the results of the Dominion census have been published, many people have received the erroneous impression that rural Ontario is in a very decadent condition. An examination of a few facts taken from provincial reports prove, that the banner province of the Dominion is far from being in a state of decay.

Fewer Farmers but Greater Wealth.

Though smaller in numbers than in the year 19[illegible], the farmers of Ontario are producing a more valuable output than ever before in the history of the province, and the assessed value of their lands was never as great as at the present time. The popular estimate places the number of farms in Ontario at 175,000, and the annual output from the fields of those farms is generally valued at $250,000,000. These figures hardly account for the entire agricultural worth of the province. In the first place, it is questionable if there are any more than 150,000 farms in Ontario. The past ten years have been a period of mergers in the farming world as well as in that of other industries, and the form of one hundred acres has rapidly passed out of sight. Fewer people hold more land than at the beginning of the century, and the farm of two hundred and three hundred acres has become the unit. Such is the condition at the present census taking, but there are signs even now that point to the resumption of the smaller areas before the next decade has passed. At the present moment, however, the number of real farms in this province would be more nearly 150,000 than 175,000, but their value is considerably greater than when the number did amount to 175,000.

The Farmer's Increased Income.

Two hundred and fifty million dollars has been given as the annual value of Ontario's field production, but there is every reason to believe that this amount falls short of the mark. Even Mr. C. C. James, the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who first quoted those figures, admits that the estimate is too low. The field crops when turned into beef, butter, cheese and eggs are greatly enchanced in value, and would be worth in a normal year at least half a million dollars. But, for the sake of comparison Mr. James' conservative estimate of $250,000,000 shall stand, and thus, we have every farm in Ontario earning a yearly in[illegible] put was placed at 40 millions, and ten years ago it was not more than a hundred millions. The number of farms to share in that one hundred millions was larger than now, so that the average income to each farm was considerably less than $1,666. In fact, the average income in 1901 was about $600, according to calculations made from statistics published by the Department of Agriculture. This means that the Ontario farm of to-day is giving to its owner, returns that are at least 160 per cent. greater than they were in 1901.

Land Values Higher.

The growing value of the output of the farms has only resulted in one thing, and that is the increased value of the land. Thus, the latest records of the assessment of the rural areas show that the farm lands of Ontario are worth over $106,000,000 more than in the first years of the last decade. To make the comparison still more striking, the assessed rural land of Ontario is worth $10 an acre more than in 1901, and another significant fact is that the area of these lands has extended in the last ten years fully 1,500,000 acres, showing that farming is actually becoming a more widely followed pursuit in Ontario. This seems almost impossible when the Dominion census shows such a great decrease between the years 1901 and 1911, but it only proves that even with less labor certain kinds of farming can be developed in Ontario and found exceedingly profitable.

An Exploded Fallacy.

Just one more proof of the fallacy contained in the charge that rural Ontario is in a state of decay. The land, buildings, implements and live-stock owned by the Ontario farmers at the present time are worth in round numbers about $1,225,000,000, as compared with $950,000,000 ten years ago. In other words, the average value of the Ontario farm to-day is $8,000 as against $5,000 in 1901. It is true that prices of farm products have advanced nearly 60 per cent. in the past ten years, but the marked increase in the total values of the annual outputs and of actual property during that time can only be due to the fact the productivity of the farms has also increased. This greater yield of produce, is merely the result of improved methods and a gradual increase, during the last five years, of workers in the country.

The Stimulus to Production.

And the stimulus to all this improved agriculture with its increasing values, is the growing demand for food in Canada, as much in the Western Provinces as in the Ontario towns and cities. With the farmers in the great Western half of the Dominion producing to supply an export trade, it behooves the farmers of the other half to produce with a view to supplying the home market, and the statistics of the country's trade show that this is precisely what is being done.

W.M.S. of George St. Church Officers

The Woman's Missionary Society of George Street Methodist church have elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Jas. Kendry; 1st Vice-Pres., Mrs. S. R. Armstrong; 2nd Vice-Pres., Mrs. I. Couch; Cor. Secretary, Mrs. H. Cruikshank; Rec. Secretary, Mrs. J. B. Pentland; Treasurer, Mrs. J. D. Craig. After the officers were elected a very interesting Easter address was given by Mrs. Couch.

INCREASING THE HEIGHT

The Proper Exercise for the Would-be Slim and Tall

Fashion is doing a good thing for womanhood by dictating that the [illegible] figure must be slim and tall. [illegible] point is that Fashion here [illegible] ideal something which anyone [illegible] strive to attain, and in attaining [illegible] ideal the general health is bound to [illegible] improved. Of course, the really stocky, five-foot-nothing [illegible] hope to convert herself into a [illegible] Juno of statuesque proportions [illegible] exercises. She can, however, [illegible] has not passed the growing [illegible] is, up to twenty-five, add at least little to her stature, and a great deal to her symmetry and grace.

Walking is the best means of adding an inch or two to the stature of the young woman [illegible] fears she is going [illegible]. Remember, though, [illegible] must be done regularly and [illegible]. If your digestion will allow it, [illegible] walking before breakfast [illegible] joints are supple and [illegible] night's rest. Hold the chin [illegible], shoulders back, the chest out, [illegible] abdomen in. Walk briskly, [illegible] hips, not the knees, swing the arms as you go, and rise on the ball of the foot with each step. Try a ten-minute walk the first day, and gradually increase it up to half an hour. When you get back to breakfast that feeling of boredom and lack of interest with which one usually views the morning meal will have been replaced by a hearty appetite, which will allow you to digest and enjoy all manner of nourishing and body-building foods.

This mere difference between a very skimpy morning meal, quite unrelished, and a hearty breakfast, thoroughly enjoyed, will be the first step towards your goal, a more rapid laying down of new bone tissue.

Exercise of the joints leads to a more rapid growth. The following movement not only exercises the hip-joints, but also every single one of the little discs of bone which makes up the spinal column, and therefore it is most valuable in increasing the height.

In the morning, when you are half dressed, with only a few loose garments on, stand with feet together and the arms straight out in front of you, palms downward with the thumbs touching. Holding the head up and keeping the arms perfectly straight, slowly raise them until they are straight above the head. Then, bending from the hips alone as much as possible, slowly sweep the arms downwards until the fingers almost touch the toes. Then gradually rise up again into the first position. The movement must be slow and gradual, and the knees must be kept perfectly stiff.

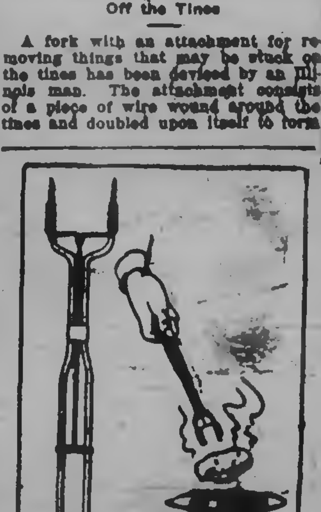
At the start, this movement, which will be found very tiring, should be done only two or three times. Later, as the back becomes more supple, increase the number and the amount of bending until you can put your palms flat on the floor without bending the knees.

A few minutes of this exercise, combined with a brisk daily walk before breakfast, will have a sufficiently stimulating effect both on the [illegible] one's rate of growth up to the highest possible maximum Nature will allow for any particular individual.

A USEFUL FORK

Has Attachment for Pushing Things Off the Tines

A fork with an attachment for removing things that may be stuck on the tines has been devised by an Illinois man. The attachment consists of a piece of wire wound around the tines and doubled upon itself to form a long shaft that runs up the handle of the fork. By pushing this device down the wires scrape off anything that may be clinging to the points of the fork. Only the cook will appreciate the usefulness of this implement, but there are many occasions in the kitchen when it will come in handy. For instance, in transferring a piece of meat from the dish to the pan, or vice versa, the clean cook does not touch the meat with her hands but lifts it with a fork. Sometimes it sticks to the fork and then the attachment here shown comes in handy, as it can be pushed off without looking around for some other implement.



Quickly-Made Soup

If you want soup in a hurry, try this plan. Put into a saucepan one pound of shin of beef, two ounces of bacon, a carrot and an onion, all cut in small pieces. Add three tablespoonfuls of water, put the lid on the saucepan, and let the meat simmer until it begins to stick to the pan, which will be in about a quarter of an hour. Then pour in a pint of boiling water, and simmer again for three-quarters of an hour. Strain through a sieve, press out the meat with a wooden spoon, boil up again, and serve with squares of toasted bread. The meat may be used again for soup.

HOUSE WRINKLES

These Hints If Followed Will Produce Many a Good Result

On dry, windy days the floor of your house often gets very dusty. To save labor, get an old stocking, put [illegible] the floor look nice and clean, and the dust does not settle so quickly.

Barley Porridge

Barley makes a delicious variety in porridge. For four or five persons, soak three ounces of pearl barley overnight, stew all the next day in rather less than a quart of water, and the next morning warm it up with two or three teaspoonfuls of lemon-juice.

Collar Hint

Starched collars often get the button hole broken before they are half worn out. To make them wear longer take a piece of tape and sew neatly across the hole, and work a new hole in the tape. If this is done before sending to the laundry they will look quite neat when they come back.

Hot Water Marks on Tables

The best way to remove marks and rings made by hot water jugs, etc., being put upon polished trays or tables, is to make a thin paste of salad oil and salt, leave it on the mark for an hour; then polish with a dry cloth, and the mark will have disappeared.

Little Gooseberry Pies

Stew some gooseberries till soft, but not broken. Line some patty pans with short paste, fill them with gooseberries, add sufficient sugar, and cover with paste as for mince-pies. Bake in a good oven. Before sending to table sift castor sugar over the pies.

Rhubarb Tarts

A rhubarb tart can be greatly improved by putting a small cupful of raw tapioca in the dish with the rhubarb, etc. When the tart is cooked the juice will be found to be of a thick jelly-like substance, but the tapioca cannot be seen. The tapioca also keeps the juice from bubbling over the oven.

When Ironing Sheets

Instead of spreading out the sheet to iron, fold it in half, then quarter, and lay it on the ironing-board. Iron the rest of the clothes on top of the sheet, turn it occasionally, so as to reach every part, then fold it and begin on another sheet. In this way these sheets are ironed with very little trouble.

When Potatoes Boil Black

When potatoes are inclined to go black after boiling, the following is a good plan to improve the color and make them floury: Peel them an hour before cooking, and put into cold water to cover, and place in fresh cold water with a little salt, and a tablespoonful of milk. Let them come to a boil, then simmer for the rest of the time till cooked.

Remedy for Heavy Pastry

Housewives who have a heavy hand for pastry should try beating their lard with a fork and bringing it to a cream, and then adding their flour and stirring a little in gradually. This also is a good way of mixing cakes, instead of creaming the butter and adding the sugar required with the lard. You will find that you will require only one-third of the lard generally used, and a lighter crust will be the result.

PSALMS BUT NO HIMS

Miss Oldum, suspecting her latest servant of regaling her beau upon cold beef from the pantry, called Betty, and inquired whether she did not hear someone downstairs.

"Oh, no, madam," replied the girl, readily, "it was only me singing a psalm to amuse myself."

"You may amuse yourself, Betty," replied the maiden lady, "with psalms; but let's have no hims, Betty, to mind you! I have a great objection to hims."

Betty curtsied, and withdrew, [illegible]

VOTING BY A MACHINE.

Chicago is having the same trouble with voting machines that has been experienced in other cities where the apparatus has been tried. In addition to the protests of the voters that they are unable to understand exactly which lever to pull and how to manipulate the closing rods, the length of the ballot is causing trouble.

Six hundred and thirty different spaces are provided by the machines for candidates' names, yet in several Chicago districts the total number of candidates has reached six hundred and thirty-five. What to do with the extra five names is a puzzle that the election commissioners are now trying to solve.

The names of these candidates, it appears, can not be denoted by the lever, and there is no authority for voting them on a supplementary paper ballot. The situation, therefore, furnishes an argument to those who are opposed to mechanical voting because it shows that the long ballot and the voting machine can not work well together.

It would be interesting to know what New York would have done if that State had used such machines in the recent primary, where it required fourteen feet of paper to carry all the names upon which a voter was supposed to pass on the two minutes allowed him in the polling booth.

GREEK OR LATIN PLAYS ?

The controversy between the classicists and the non-classicists over the question of whether Greek and Latin are, or are not, necessary in education, has continued so long that the task of settling it might well be added to the Herculean labors. Whatever may be the merits of the case, however, and evidently they are more or less possessed by each side, it would seem that one would desire, at least, some knowledge of Greek and Latin literature.

This is by way of introductory to a comment upon the presentation at the Greenwall of the Odyssey in motion pictures, by Dr. Edwin Boone Craighead, president of Tulane University. In a recently published letter, President Craighead, decried the tendency of modern education to forego Greek, and indorsed the Homeric pictures at the Greenwall as a presentation of the story of Ulysses that should be seen not only by students but by all who "have the slightest interest in the literature of the world. I wish it were possible for every boy and girl in our city schools to see these pictures."

In another place in his letter, President Craighead said that "it would be a sorry day when Greek finds no place in our colleges," and again that "it is a shame for a boy to pass out of high school without having read the Iliad and the Odyssey."

Whether President Craighead is correct or not, may be left to the classicists and their opponents, but it would seem at any rate that there is good ground for his plea that the school boy and the school girl should at least know the stories that are told in the Homeric epics. The pictures of the Odyssey are to be shown again Easter week. Priests and others in charge of the education of the children of the city, have arranged to have their pupils witness some of the performances.

* * *

A loyal Conservative who manufactures whisky sent a telegram to the Tariff Reform League of England saying that he would contribute to the cause (that is to the members of the league) 2,000 bottles of whisky yearly for five years if Bonar Law were elected party leader. The telegram was somewhat confused when it was received, and it was understood amid great rejoicing that the contribution was 2,000 pounds. When the offer was correctly interpreted it was not refused.

A Government Engineer from Ottawa, has taken measurements, etc. for a bridge, proposed to be built across Scugog Lake. This is in response to a petition signed by ratepayers of the township of Mariposa, Ope, Manvers and Cartwright. The bridge would be 1360 yards, or about three quarters of a mile.

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

WOMEN'S AILMENTS CAUSED BY NEGLECT

ARE QUICKLY CURED AND ROBUST, SOUND HEALTH RESTORED BY DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is they put off measures of relief too long. At the beginning, constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted—the nerves suffer, and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of their mildness of action as a system regulator, because of their undoubted power to remove constipation, irregularities, no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. The kidneys quickly respond to the remedial action of Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect, pain in the back and side, shortness of breath, and bad color disappear—the functions of the body then operate naturally, congestion and pain are prevented and perfect health returns.

Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest complexion renewer, the most certain regulating medicine known. All dealers in 25c. boxes, or the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

THE BRITISH COAL STRIKE.

England's coal strike has been called off, and the men are returning to work. We cannot see what they have gained through precipitating this disastrous conflict with the mine-owners. The latter have not lost anything as they [illegible] lost a month's wages and have pauperized millions of their fellow-workingmen. Back of this momentous struggle stand the Socialist agitators who have gotten, they believe, a step nearer to the realization of their mad dream of government. England and several other European countries may ultimately be forced to proceed against the Socialists and to treat them as enemies of and conspirators against the public weal. The duped and deluded workers of the world will wake up some day and discover that Socialism is their own worst enemy.

U. S. EXPRESS COMPANIES AND CONTROL.

For many years the late Thomas C. Platt of New York sat in the United States Senate, apparently for the sole purpose of preventing legislation to bring the express companies in which he was interested under public regulation. He contended that to place these companies under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission would take from owners of property the right to manage it, and, therefore, such action would be an industrial crime. One day, however, the vigilant Platt happened to be absent from the Senate, and regulation of the express companies was slipped into the law. The results of the recent investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which extended over several months, have made it clear to the public why the express companies were averse to regulation, for the fact has been established that they have been guilty of extortion, cheating and overcharging. Inspectors have gone over the books and discovered that constantly the "mistake" was made of collecting for a package from both consignor and consignee, and that one company committed as many as 2,988 overcharging "errors" in one day. It was a safe form of graft when carried on with discretion. From all accounts the officers of the companies never knew of any of these things, but, strange to say, they failed to provide even the most ordinary precautions for the protection of their patrons. An interesting fact developed by the investigation is that the chief demand for the regulation of the express companies did not come from the country, but from the cities; not from the West, but from the East. The members of the Merchants' Association of New York have been the most active Populists in the matter of making complaints and insisting on lower rates.

W. T. STEAD ON HOME RULE.

Judging by articles written by Mr. W. T. Stead, in the leading magazines it would seem that Home Rule for Ireland is not yet quite so near being an accomplished fact as some enthusiasts would have us believe. A bill to provide for this is not expected to pass the British House of Commons before next autumn. Even if the bill passes the Commons at that time only one step will then have been taken. The measure will undoubtedly be rejected by the Lords. If the Commons is suf- [illegible] passed by that [illegible] lowing year only to be once more rejected by the Lords. At the end of 1913 or beginning of 1914 it may be passed for a third time by the Commons, and then, under the Veto Act of last session, it will become operative despite the opposition of the hereditary chamber.

But, between now and 1914, much may happen. Another general election may take place in Britain, and the Tories, who are against Home Rule altogether, may secure control of the Commons. Aside from this, the forces making for Home Rule have lost some of the strength which they possessed in the time of Parnell. There is no longer in England the commanding personality and driving force of a Gladstone behind the measure, while in Ireland influences in support of the scheme have been weakened by a change in industrial conditions. Ireland is steadily growing in prosperity and consequently in contentment. In twenty years deposits in joint stock banks have increased by 65 per cent., while deposits in postoffice savings banks have grown in the same time by 230 per cent. Most important of all, 300,000 out of 550,000 former tenants now own their land; and it was the cry of the landless for possession that gave to Parnell his political power. On the other hand Mr. Stead points out the essential weakness of Ulster opposition to the proposed change. While Munster, Connaught and Leinster are overwhelmingly Catholic, and consequently for Home Rule, even Ulster itself sends about as many Home Rulers as it does of anti-Home Rulers to the British Parliament. It is only in Belfast, the county of Antrim, and portions of Down and Armagh that the anti-Home Rule element predominates. But, while the Protestant portion of Ulster is standing alone, powerless to avert the proposed revolution, the changing conditions in the rest of Ireland, and political contingencies in the other portions of the United Kingdom may for many years to come prevent the establishment of an Irish Parliament on College Green.

Editorial Notes

The word "vitrifagists" has been coined by an English journalist to denote the window-smashing suffragettes the word meaning "breakers of glass."

It may be difficult to make legislation for the abolition of the bar effective. It would be vastly more difficult to abolish the treating system by the same means.

Even Russia, perhaps the most drunken country in Europe, has joined in the movement for temperance. The National Parliament has adopted a law absolutely prohibiting the sale of all alcoholic beverages during 150 days of each year.

The crusade against tuberculosis is proving effective. Between 1901 and 1909 the number of deaths from this [illegible] was reduced by 33 per [illegible] .4 per cent. Ten years hence, as a result of improved sanitary conditions to be brought about under the Insurance Act, the Westminster Gazette expects, consumption will be as completely under control in Great Britain as typhoid and diphtheria are now.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is half gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

Do not wait—act now—this very minute.

TOO MUCH STARCH

A Food Problem.

An Asheville man tells how right food did that which medicines had failed to accomplish:

"For more than 15 years," he says, "I was afflicted with stomach trouble and intestinal indigestion, gas forming in stomach and bowels and giving me great distress. These conditions were undoubtedly due to the starchy food I ate, white bread, potatoes, etc., and didn't digest. I grew worse with time, till, 2 years ago, I had an attack which the doctor diagnosed as appendicitis. When the surgeon operated on me, however, it was found that my trouble was ulcer of the pancreas, instead of appendicitis.

"Since that time I have had several such attacks, suffering greatly. The last attack was about 3 months ago, and I endured untold agonies.

"The doctor then said that I would have to eat less starchy stuff, so I began the use of Grape-Nuts food for I knew it to be pre-digested, and have continued same with most gratifying results. It has built me up wonderfully. I gained 10 pounds in the first 8 weeks that I used Grape-Nuts; my general health is better than ever before, my brain is clearer and my nerves stronger.

"For breakfast and dinner, each, I take 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with cream, a small slice of dry toast, an egg soft boiled and a cup of Postum; and I make the evening meal on Grape-Nuts and cream alone—this gives me a good night's rest. I am well again." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

ing of votes to women. Personally, I have often thought that the women of our Dominion, if allowed to vote on public affairs, would have a restraining influence on politicians, who go into the game for graft, and would have a refining influence on politics generally. Still, when one reads of the rowdy conduct, in England, of educated women, who should, and do, know better, I cannot but think that these very champions of the cause, have put it back for another generation. When these women, in cold blood, go out carrying handcuffs, to attach themselves to fences, or seats of parliament, they make themselves a big laugh. Then when they deliberately sally forth armed with bricks to destroy property, and property, in most cases, not belonging to admitted opponents of their cause, these women destroy all sympathy they might have had, and enter the rowdy class. Let Mrs. Pankhurst and her disciples behave as ladies and women of sense, and time may see the ripening of their desire.

AEROPLANES IN WAR THEIR POSSIBILITIES

Colonel Capper Gives an Interesting Estimate Regarding Bomb Dropping by an Aeroplane Fleet

Colonel J. E. Capper, a military aviation expert in England, has given a very interesting interview regarding the possibilities of the aeroplane in warfare.

"Fifty machines," he said, "making two trips each per day, within a radius of a hundred miles, could drop each day 15,000 pounds, or about six and a half tons of bombs, on an selected area." Colonel Capper, however, does not think much damage could be done by single machines, but remarks that several flying squadrons of ten or a dozen machines would prove of the highest importance during a campaign.

The question naturally arises What about the cost of such fleets If numbers were ordered, the average price for a military machine would be about $2,000. The cost of a fleet of a hundred flying machines would, therefore, be about $200,000. Portable sheds, workshops, etc., could be provided and fitted up for about $100,000, and, allowing a similar amount for expenditure on flying grounds, motor-cars, etc., an initial expenditure of $500,000 would suffice for the provision of a fleet of a hundred flying machines. The upkeep would be about $200,000 per annum, and providing for: say, forty new machines annually would cost $120,000.

Repairs and upkeep of those in use, fuel, etc., would be liberally provided for at $80,000, so that an original outlay of $500,000 and an annual grant of $500,000 would suffice for the provision in peace of a fleet of a hundred flying machines, including the renewal of the whole fleet every two and a half years.

It has been suggested that it would be an easy matter to destroy a squadron of flying machines with artillery or infantry fire. As a matter of fact it would be extremely difficult to do so if the machines were flying at any fair height. It must be remembered that the flying machine travels from fifty to seventy miles an hour, and it is obvious that a hit in such circumstances would be very difficult to secure, even by the best artillery in the world.

Moreover, quick-firing guns have but a small angle of elevation, and even a field howitzer could hardly hope that its shells would reach a height of 3,000 feet, so that at a very considerable height a flying machine would be absolutely immune.

"But what about meeting the attacks of other flying machines?" some reader may ask. For this purpose, says Colonel Capper, every military flying machine must be armed with a quick-firing small-bore gun or rifle, and the aeronaut must be trained to aim it whilst in rapid flight. In addition, a few small deadly explosive bombs should be carried for the destruction of hostile airships.

Airships will be of little use in warfare when it comes to fighting flying machines. They are slow in speed, and are not calculated to manoeuvre at heights much over 6,000 feet, and even by sacrifice of all fuel and ballast can hardly reach 10,000 feet, a height which flying machines can speedily attain. No airship will be able to engage in war without a small squadron of flying machines to guard her, and in a fight between flying machines the victory will go to that which can fly and rise fastest, manoeuvre easiest, and shoot the straightest.

CAT IN DANGER

The schoolmaster said:—"You are very slow, Georgie. Now if you don't answer the next question in ten minutes I'll give you a taste of this cane. If you put forty eggs into an incubator, and nine-tenths of them hatched, what would you get?"

The master had only counted four, when Georgie said:—

"Well, first thing, with all them chickens about, I'd get a brick and a string and drown our cat."

HORRORS OF WAR.

Andrew Carnegie was talking about the horrors of war. "Once, at the height of the American Civil War," he said, "two men at a railway station saw a cartload of wooden legs depart for a military hospital.

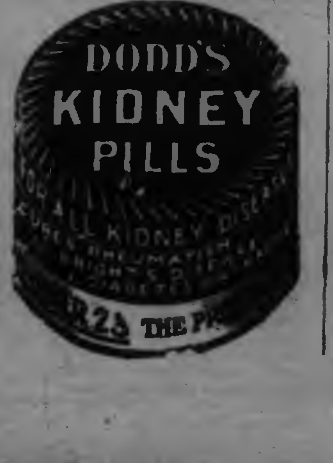
"'Those wooden legs,' said the first man, 'are a rather eloquent protest against war, aren't they?'

"'Yes,' agreed the other; 'they are what you might call stump speeches.'"

DISCHARGE EXPLAINED

"What made that prima donna demand your discharge?"

"I wrote an article," replied the reporter, "saying that she sings like an angel. She said she saw no reason for complimentary reference to anybody's singing except her own."



WOMEN TO BECOME CIVIL ENGINEERS

Two Girls Have Made Application for Entrance to the Famous Parisian School

Two girls at the Lycee Buffon, Paris are preparing for the entrance examination to the famous school, the Polytechnique, which is the "alma mater" of the leading civil and military engineers. If they are admitted it will be one more triumph for Feminism and a considerable source of embarrassment to the school itself. Obviously the easier way would be to refuse the ladies on some technical pretext; this, however, would not be what is termed "an elegant solution." It would smack of masculine prejudice and egotism. The founders of the school which played its part in Revolutionary times and was always flattered by Napoleon who was a little afraid of its independent spirit, of the bread-and-butter mise to its courtyards and class-rooms. This is obvious from the gay military uniform worn by the students and from the circumstance that military discipline rules in the school itself. The young men turn out of bed to a roll of drums; a bugle summons them to meals or precedes an important announcement by the general in command.

If the young ladies succeed in becoming "Polytechniciennes," something like a revolution in the habits and customs of this centre will result. The school songs, which are not always intended for delicate ears, and have a bluff and martial tone, will have to be suppressed and others, innocuous in character, put in their place. Again, the female applicants cannot obviously, be called upon to perform military service and in consequence, the regulations must be changed to meet the case.

Just as the admission of women to the Prix de Rome caused perturbation amongst the students in the Eternal City, so this proposal to give the highest technical training to women mathematicians is accompanied by fear for old traditions and of complications with the particularly masculine environment of the school

One does not forget, in this connection, that students from the Polytechnique fought in the trenches in the siege of Paris, and when officers were shot down they led the citizens in resistance. Yet their history has had the democratic touch that renders the institution particularly popular to the Parisian crowd. For, notwithstanding the roll of drums and other Napoleonic signs of militarism, the school heart has beaten with the people rather than with their governors, and, in the various changes of regime, during the past hundred years, it has shown a tendency towards street adventure and the barricade. To-day almost every engineer of mark comes from this school, and the excessively theoretical character of its teaching is reproached for [illegible] clare that the Liberte [illegible] and other disasters of the sort are due to the impracticable formulae adopted by Polytechnicians.

BIRTH RATE IN GERMANY

Remarkable Decrease in the Past Three Years.

A declining birth-rate, so long a anxiety in France, is becoming a cause of concern in Germany also. The estimates just completed by the German Statistical Office and published in the "Imperial Gazette" fully bear out previous statements as to the reality of this menace.

The total number of births in the Empire has fallen from 2,076,000 in 1908 to 2,038,357 in 1909 and to 1,982,836 in 1910. For the first time in twenty-four years the number of births has again dropped below the 2,000,000 mark, while in proportion to total population it is lower than it has been at any time in sixty years.

With a declining death-rate, there is still an annual increase of about 880,000 in the population, but, if conditions continue as they are, this rate of growth obviously cannot be much longer maintained.

TALE OF A HORSE

How the Duke of Marlborough Was Deceived by an Employe.

An amusing narrative of how a peer bought a horse is told in the law courts. The action was by the Duke of Marlborough, and the defendant was W. Martindale, on whose behalf a signed judgement was handed in. Martindale was employed by the duke to buy a horse, which was to be a very fine hack, of a class to afford a fair prospect of competing with success at the Horse Show. Mr. Martindale established relations with a Mr. Martroye, a well-known Belgian horse-dealer, and the duke, relying entirely upon Mr. Martindale's integrity, agreed to pay, without seeing the horse $1,775 for it.

The horse was delivered, and Mr. Martroye taking advantage of the fact that the duke had not seen the horse at all, supplied an animal 13 years old, which was ewe-necked, pigeon-toed and had the off-hind fetlock joint damaged from an old blow. Whenever it was taken out for the mildest exercise it came home lame.

The duke brought the action for negligence on the part of Mr. Martindale, who had consented to judgment for the duke for $1,250 on the claim, the duke keeping the horse.

SOMETHING WORTH SEEING

Smith and Johnson were out strolling when a football team, having just finished their match, came in sight.

"Whatever have these chaps been doing?" said Smith. "Here's one with a black eye, four of them are limping, and two have got their heads bandaged."

"I expect it has been a rather rough game," said Johnson. Then he turned to one of the passing players. "Have you won to-day?" he asked.

"Yes," was the reply. "Four goals to none."

"Come on," said Smith, catching his friend by the arm, "let's hurry up. I wouldn't half like to have a look at the losers!"

COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

The Feminist Movement is Making Great Strides in Germany.

An important event in the growth of the feminist movement in Germany, which in the last few years has made great strides, was the opening in Leipsig of the first University College for Women in Germany.

The new college will not confine its students to the ordinary curriculum, but has as its chief object the education of women in the performance of their duties as the mothers of the nation. At the same time, the school is by no means to be considered as a cooking and sewing class, but will train its students in all the ordinary university branches of learning.

The school owes its foundation entirely to the efforts of Frau Henrietta Goldschmidt, the widow of a Jewish Rabbi, and one of the most remarkable figures at the head of the German feminist movement. Frau Goldschmidt is now 86 years of age, and has worked nearly all her life for the advancement of her sex. The Women's University College has been one of her cherished aspirations, and for the last forty years she has worked unceasingly towards the realisation of her scheme. The institution is promised a great future, for over 500 students have registered themselves for the first year's courses.

THE KAISER'S DECORATIONS

Emperor William is the Most Decorated Person in the World.

The German Emperor is the most decorated personage in the world, and if he were to display all the orders and stars to which he is entitled, his entire person would be hidden. As King of Prussia, he is head of every Prussian Companionship, including the Black Eagle (the highest of all), the Red eagle, The Knights of Jerusalem, the Orders of the Crown and Pour le Marine, and the Order of the House of Hohenzollern.

Besides imperial and Prussian decorations he can if he so wishes wear those of almost all foreign orders of distinction. Among these are the English Order of the Garter, the Russian Order of St. Andreas, the Italian Order of the Annunciation, the Danish Order of the Elephant, the Swedish Order of the Sepharine, the Norwegian Order of the Lion, and the Spanish Order of the Golden Fleece.

Foreign Orders are only worn by the Kaiser in honor of a foreign guest, or when he is in the country of the Order. One of the decorations he most constantly displays is that known as the "Generals' Order," instituted in remembrance of the veterans who formed the staff of old Emperor William. Haridy less a favorite with him is the medallion commemorating his silver wedding, with its "XXV" set in a silver wreath.

HARD ON THE BLONDS

A Correspondent Says Dark Women are the Stronger Type.

A fair-haired woman correspondent of the Eclaireur de Nice has made an energetic protest against the dictum recently laid down by a French savant on the intellectual and physical superiority of brunettes. The scientist in question assert that two generations hence fair women will be extinct and that the blonde woman is a degenerate type. Dark women, he adds, are usually more robust and stronger physically and intellectually than their fair sisters. The correspondent challenges these statements and says that a true French blonde is a "gem." The letter is signed "A fair woman who rides horses, climbs trees, and receives doctors only at her dinner table."

CUNNING JAPANSESE

Disguised as Women to Smuggle Cigars and Tobacco.

When an express from Germany reached the frontier station two Japanese, one attired in feminine garments, were searched by the Customs House Officers. The supposed women proved to be a man and the clothes worn by the individual had been adapted to conceal a quantity of cigars and cigarettes. The smuggler was not released until a fine of $40 had been paid.

Ideal Protection Against Inroads of Catarrh

BY BREATHING THE RICH, BALSAMIC VAPOR OF CATARRHOZONE YOU PREVENT AND CURE ALL HEAD, NOSE AND THROAT DISEASE.

Remember this: You don't take drugs when using Catarrhozone; you simply inhale a healing vapor that cures every type of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma, throat and nose soreness

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles, as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums, all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."

Victim of Chronic Catarrh Cured.

I contracted a severe cold while following my occupation of furniture travelling, and eventually it developed into Catarrh. The desultory mode of life I was following gave me very little chance to attend to the Catarrh condition, and at last I became a victim of Chronic Catarrh. I bought a large package of Catarrhozone, used it as per directions, and have never been bothered since. I will be only too glad to give any information I possess to any person suffering from the disease that was the bane of my life two years.

MONEY IN MANNERS

The Remarkable Cash and Success Value of "Personality."

Brains count for a good deal in this world, but appearance, bearing, and voice count for more. A good personality can double your income. A bad one can halve it.

I am myself a fairly intelligent man, says a writer in Answers, though I candidly admit that, if I had to rely upon my brains alone, I should never have been able to keep up my 500-a-year house and three servants. My intelligence told me, while I was still at school, that it needed something additional to bolster it up, and by keeping my eyes well open, I soon found out what that particular something was.

In a word, it was manner—or personality, which is the same thing. For a whole year, I devoted myself mainly to steadying and deepening my voice, improving my outward appearance, and learning to look people straight in the face. They would do well, in many cases, to copy my methods, however, for I count that year as the most important in my life.

I shall never forget my instantaneous success. My first job, as a traveller, brought me up against a [illegible] was enough to [illegible] out of his shop. The goods I was showing, moreover, were really quite poor, and I could think of very few arguments in their favour. But I went into that shop with such a confident air, and addressed its owner in such a deep and pleasant voice, that I had his order neatly and clearly transcribed in my book within three minutes.

I can't say who was the more surprised on thinking the matter over afterwards—he or I!

One man, who confessed to me that he was very familiar with the dunce's cap when a scholar, said that he owed his entire success to the way he could ward off the single word "No."

"I make it difficult for those I am with to say 'No.'" he told me. "That is my one burning object. They realise that I don't expect them to say 'No,' and that they'll have to go into reasons if they do. In personal interviews, commissions and favours go thickest to those whom it is most unpleasant to refuse. Make it unpleasant and exceedingly difficult to refuse you—and the game's yours."

In order to do all these things, it is necessary to make the most of your appearance. Not only does this create a good impression at the outset, but it actually lends confidence to your subsequent voice and manner. Many people, in various branches of life, work best when they are best clad, while in slovenly attire their brains move slowly and sluggishly. This is a matter, indeed, that is often neglected.

The general effect of personality is seen in the simple daily occurrences around us. The man with "the firm manner" is served respectfully by the paper-boy, who has just checked a more wavering customer. He is also the first to be served in the crowded restaurant he visits, or in the shop. His orders are carried out as though they were favours, while in street rows or drawing-room disputes the majority blindly take his side, as though he were a leader. He gets the best and the most of everything.

Mr. John McCrea held the record for Lindsay waters during the past season, capturing a maskinonge forty-one inches long and weighing fourteen pounds.

SEPARATE SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned will be received until 4.00 p.m., Tuesday, April 30th, 1912, for the supply of hardware, brushes, manilla rope, packing, paint and paint oil, hose, wire rope, oils and greases, steam pipe, chain and steam fittings for the departmental dredging plant.

To Sir James Whitney:

"I thank you for your reference to my beloved mother, the late Queen, and my dear brother, King Edward VII., and I know well that the same feeling of affection towards this great Dominion which was held by Queen Victoria and King Edward, is most warmly shared by his present Majesty, who has had the advantage of visiting Canada on several occasions. You have referred in generous terms to the work it has been my privilege to perform for the State. I can assure you that my family are ever ready to give their services to promote the happiness and welfare of any part of the British Empire, and I rejoice at the King having appointed me to the high and important position of Governor-General of this great and prosperous Dominion."

To the United Empire Loyalists:

"The members of the United Empire Loyalists Association may, indeed, be proud of their ancestors, who, as they said, braved the hardships in the wilderness of Canada. Could those courageous pioneers but see that wilderness now, they would assuredly feel that their trials and tribulations had been more than repaid by the glorious heritage which they secured to their grateful descendants."

A REAL NEWSPAPER

Mayor Gaynor, of New York, Gives His Ideas.

To a series of questions propounded to him on the subject, Mayor Gaynor, New York, issued an extended statement, outlining his idea of an ideal newspaper. Frequently in his speeches the Mayor has criticised the press.

His Honor thinks that: A newspaper should show that there is a gentleman in control of it.

A newspaper should be true—its [illegible] fair.

If the facts are not known an editorial should not be written.

He would confine expressions of opinion to the editorial columns.

Headlines should be accurate and introductions stripped of verbiage.

It would be a good thing if all articles were signed.

The news columns should give all political news without regard to party.

Readers do not want all the testimony in divorce trials and sensational criminal cases.

A decent, well-bred official should not be cartooned as a ruffian and a robber.

No influence from advertisers should control news or editorial columns.

A ROUSING STRUGGLE

A Hard Game Between England and Scotland in Soccer Final

From the cabled reports it must have been a most exciting contest between Scotland and England for the International Soccer Championship, which resulted in a draw, the two countries, therefore holding the championship jointly for 1911 and 1912. The attendance was 150,000. There seems not to have been a dull moment and the huge crowd was kept in continuous excitement by the stirring efforts of the respective sides to gain the mastery. England appears to have been superior forward and this is what was expected owing to the five's knowledge of each other's play and individually all were stars. Scotland's attack was too much mixed up and individual instead of cohesive effort would be a feature of their play. It is worthy of note that Bobby Walker is mentioned as being the hero. This was the tenth time he had played for his country against England. The Scottish defence is credited with the draw and from this we may conclude that Brownlee, and Co., had more to do than Williamson, Crompton and Co.

The following shows the winners of the International championship since 1884, which was the first year all the countries played each other.

DERBY DAY IN BERMUDA

Racing, a Much Cherished Institution in the Island

Derby day is the big day in Bermuda, and furthermore it is a legal holiday. The Bermuda Derby is run in March, in connection with a half dozen other races, under the auspices of the Bermuda Hunt Club. Everybody goes to the Derby and it is considered the gala day of the season. The Maiden Stakes is run off promptly at [illegible] o'clock. This is for horses that have never won a race in Bermuda, but as most of the entries are from North America this is not a serious restriction. At 12.30 o'clock a five-furlong pony race is scheduled, which is merely a prelude to the great event of the day. Between 1 and 2 o'clock the paddocks, lawns and boxes are turned into picture grounds. The distance for this race is one mile and the horses make their getaway directly in front of the grandstand. The horses are ridden by members of the Bermuda Hunt Club or by jockeys licensed by the Club.

Bookmaking is allowed, but the popular form of betting is through the Pari-mutuel, which is run by the club. After the Derby comes a race called the Shaft Stakes, which gives the old reliables a chance to show what they can do. Next comes a Galloway stake for horses 15 hands and under, and then the visitors' cup. There is nothing commercial in the atmosphere and the scene resembles a country fair or a big picnic more than anything else.

PREFERS THE AMATEUR

There is no question but that lovers of athletics prefer to enthuse over and support amateur sport, in its purity, as against professionalism, writes M. J. Shea in The Winnipeg Free Press. There is something in the atmosphere that surrounds the amateur that makes his efforts more strongly appeal to the enthusiast than the more finished article that the paid player is supposed to advance.

WHAT HE EXPECTED

The other day, while a [illegible] walking down the street, his [illegible] was attracted to a boy who [illegible] anxiously eyeing one of the large melons which were in a fruiterer's window. It seemed a good opportunity to sow some good seed in the lad's mind, so, motioning the boy to him, he said:

"My lad, wouldn't you like to steal one of those melons and run off?"

"Yes, sir!" was the prompt reply.

"I am sorry to hear that," said the good man.

The boy scratched his head, and then said:

"Well, I'spect the thing 'ud be green all the way [illegible] I couldn't [illegible]

POWER OF DREAMS

An Irishman and a Scotsman once went travelling through a Western prairie. It happened that one afternoon they shot a single quail, which would do for breakfast for one of them on the following morning. Knowing that the bird was not enough for the two, they agreed to have it eaten by the one who should have the best dream during the night.

When they woke early in the morning the Irishman said to the Scotsman, "An' phwat did ye dr-ream, Sandy?"

"Well," answered the Scot, "I dreamed I saw a beautiful basket descend from Heaven, and then I got into it and was borne up to Paradise."

"And I dr-reamed," said the Irishman, "that I saw you going up, an' thought you wouldn't come back, an' so I got up and ate the quail."

A THRILLING SHOT

Old Joe was talking, as usual, for the edification of the company at the Swinging Sign, and football experiences became the theme.

"I shall never forget one final," said he. "We was drawn—one all—with about a minute to go, when I got the ball. Off I went, passing man after man, till I got within range, and then I paused. I can hear the crowd roaring now. 'Shoot, man! Shoot!' Drawing one foot well back, I let fly, and the yell that went up—oh!"—with a sigh of pain.

"Well, Joe, did you score?" asked one impatient listener.

"Score! It took the missus ten minutes to get the bed rail from between my toes!"

TIRED OF IT

"I propose to have a lot of company to dinner on Christmas Day."

"For sociability's sake?"

"Partly that, but mainly to see if we can't get rid of the turkey to the last shred."

IN AN AEROPLANE

The aviator's wife was taking her first trip with her husband in his airship.

"Wait a minute, Silas," she said; "I'm afraid we will have to go down again."

"What's wrong?" asked the husband.

"I believe I have dropped one of the pearl buttons off my jacket. I think I can see it glistening on the ground."

"Keep your seat, my dear," said the aviator; "that's Lake Windermere."

A FOREIGNER

A young man just returned from college was out cycling one day when suddenly he came to a steep gradient. While he was descending he lost control of his machine and was thrown. Two men came and found him lying on the ground. When asked how it happened, he replied:—

"Well, I came down that decline with the greatest velocity, and lost my central gravity and was precipitated on the hard macadamized road."

"Away, lad; let him alone," replied one of the men. "He's a foreigner."

THE DIFFERENCE.

The young woman had spent a busy day. She had browbeaten fourteen sales-people, bullyragged a shopwalker, argued victoriously with a milliner, laid down the law to a modiste, nipped in the bud a taxi chauffeur's attempt to overcharge her, made a street-car conductor stop the car in the middle of a non-stop run for her, discharged her maid and engaged another, and otherwise refused to allow herself to be imposed upon. Yet she did not smile that evening when a young man begged:—

"Let me be your protector through life!"

OSTRICH TAIL

They say that when an ostrich is surprised he hides his head in the sand.

"I wish to thunder he'd everlastingly hide his tail there," observed the man who had just settled a heavy millinery bill.

KIDDIES OF TO-DAY

Ella:—"I'm going to hang up my stocking on Christmas."

Stella:—"What for?"

Ella:—"By special request of papa and mamma. You know they believe in Santa Claus."

ON OTHER WORLDS

Lick Observatory Astronomer Doubts If any of the Planets Could Sustain Intelligent Life.

Under the heading "Life in Other Worlds" Prof. Robert Grant Aitken of the Lick Observatory discusses in the current Journal of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, the probability as to the habitation of the planets. He summarizes all of the latest researches

His conclusions are as follows:

The Moon—It may be that low forms of vegetable life are sustained by water vapor exuding through crevices from the moon's interior. But even if this proves true the moon must still be regarded as practically a dead world.

Jupiter, the largest of the planets—It is a semi-sun, probably gaseous throughout, with matter distributed as on the sun. Jupiter has no well defined surface or crust. The conditions there are chaotic. Obviously, in such a world there can be no question of life.

Saturn, the outermost planet known to the ancients—It resembles Jupiter, but is probably not so far advanced and is even less fitted than its larger neighbor to be the abode of life.

Uranus and Neptune—because of their great distance they are only minute disks in the largest telescopes. They present vague markings and they are so far from the sun that is its heat and light can hardly be effective in protecting life upon those two planets even should life in any way originate there.

Satellites of Jupiter and Saturn—It is possible some of them may have water and an atmosphere dense enough for life. This is mere conjectural and not probable.

Mercury—It apparently always keeps the same face toward the sun, it gets seven times as much heat as the earth and neither its eternal nor its everlasting roasting day is suitable for any form of life. It seems to have no atmosphere.

Venus—In size, mass, density and surface bravity it greatly resembles the earth. It has a dense, cloud-filled atmosphere. The whole question as to life on Venus turns on the problem as to the length of Venus's day. If its day equals its year that planet must be utterly desolate. The question is still an open one, though the evidence favors the belief that the day and the year on Venus are of equal length.

Mars—There undoubtedly are strong markings on Mars, but astronomers are not agreed as to whether the markings are natural or artificial, canals or mere earthquake cracks. The Martian atmosphere is rare and there are no permanent bodies of water on the planet. There is not enough water on the whole of Mars to fill one of the Great Lakes on the earth. The so-called polar ice caps and "frost" on Mars may be deposits of carbon-dioxide. The best that can be said is that while the temeprature on Mars is very low, there may be on that planet, to a limited extent, the conditions essential to life—probably only vegetable and animal life, but no beings of intelligence.

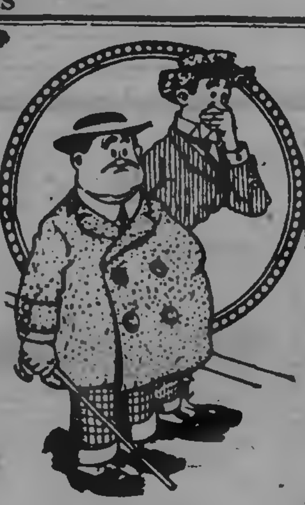
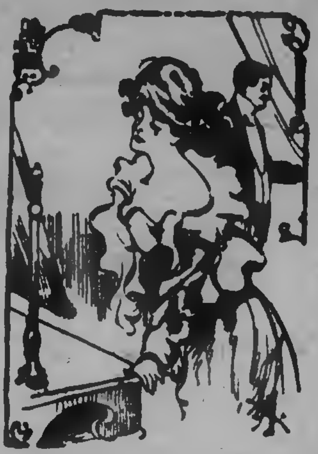
Sir William Ramsay Says 175 Years Will End It

Sir William Ramsay gave a surprise to the members of the British Association, in a grave warning to England that the present rate of consumption of her coal supply she will be a bankrupt nation 175 years hence. "It may be said that 175 years is a long time," said Sir William. "In the life of a nation it is a mere span." Sir William urged Governmental afforestation and general economy in the use of coal, in order that "our life as a nation may be prolonged." Both in industrial life and in the home there was, he said, room for economy. He advocated the appointment of a permanent commission, whose object should be to keep abreast with the diminution of the stores of natural energy, and to take steps to lessen its rate.



TOO LATE.

Bloom—I'm glad I met your wife. She seemed to take a fancy to me.
Gloom—Did she? I wish you'd met her sooner.

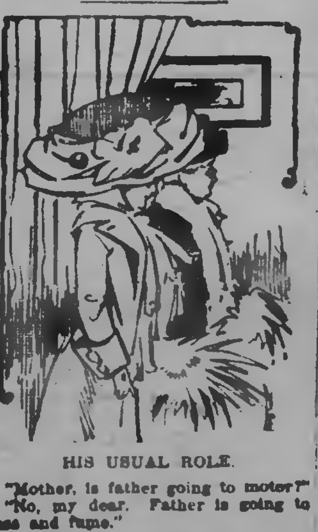


EXTREMELY BENEFICIAL.

Wife—So you really imagine smoking benefits you.
Husband—I know it does. Your mother leaves the room every time I light my pipe.

QUITE A DIFFERENCE.

Ada: "Men are slow! It took him nearly two hours to propose to me last night."
Rose: "And how long did it take you to accept him, dear?"
Ada: "Just two seconds."

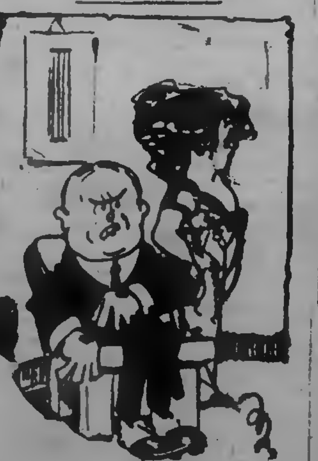


HIS USUAL ROLE.

"Mother, is father going to motor?"
"No, my dear. Father is going to fuss and fume."

COULDN'T PRONOUNCE IT.

Bridget: "An' did th' docther say yer had pronounced dis'ase?"
Pat: "Shure an' he did, but, begorrah, Oi couldn't pronounce it!"



STUNG.

Husband—You're always making bargains. Was there ever a time when you didn't?
Wife—Yes, sir, on my wedding day.

NEWSBOY TO OPERA SINGER

Plenty of romance has been crowded into the twenty-seven years of the life of Mr. B. Nevada Landino, who ten years ago was a New York newsboy, and is now a grand opera tenor singer. Mr. Landino has said that at Cleveland he filled up his spare time by shoe-blacking, while later on he worked side by side at cigarette-making with Rosa Pastor, of Whitechapel, who afterwards married a millionaire. To be slapped on the back by Mascagni, who said "Bravo!" is another incident that the tenor recalls with pride. Landino speaks four languages—German, French and Italian, in addition to English; he has a repertoire of five hundred songs, and knows twenty operas, twelve of which he can sing without rehearsing.

"DERBYSHIRE'S GRAND OLD MAN"

Known by many as "Derbyshire's Grand Old Man," Mr. Edward Mason Wrench, of Baslow, celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday recently. Not only in medicine and surgery has Mr. Wrench made a name for himself, but he also had a distinguished career as a soldier during the stirring times of the Crimean War and Indian Mutiny. In the former he did duty in the trenches, and was present at the three assaults—one on the Quarries and the others at the Redan—and on the last occasion that the assault party went down to the trenches only half returned to the camp uninjured.

HOME HINTS

Information Which is Useful in the Household

Paraffin to moisten blacking makes boots and shoes very black.

When Polishing the Stove add a little sugar or syrup to the polish, and it will not burn off so quickly.

To Remove Stains on spoons caused by using them with boiled eggs, take a little common salt, moistened, between the thumb and finger, and briskly rub the stain, which will soon disappear.

When Soot Falls upon the carpet it may be removed by sprinkling on plenty of finely-powdered salt, and sweeping off in the direction of the fireplace. Repeat till the marks are all gone.

Put a Pinch of Borax in the water in which lettuces are washed, let them soak for half an hour, then shake them free from water, and you will be delighted with the crispness. Salted water softens them, but borax cleans and freshens them.

Milk Jugs, especially if too narrow to be washed and wiped dry inside, should have hot water and some salt put into them every day and allowed to stand for five minutes. They should then be thoroughly rinsed in cold water and turned upside down to drain as dry as possible.

After Doing Dirty Work, do not at once wash the hands in water, first rub a little grease well into the skin, more especially the dirty parts. Mutton fat is excellent. Then wash in the usual way. The grease loosens the dirt, and hands treated in this way will never become ingrained with dirt.

Keep Onions, celery, and strong-tasting vegetables apart from other vegetables or food. Herrings should also be kept where they cannot taint the household provisions, and fruit of all sorts should be laid separately on a shelf, if possible, as one piece coming in touch with another will quickly become spoiled.

Children who do not like castor-oil should have it prepared in the Paris fashion; the quantity of the oil prescribed is placed in a pan over a fire, and an egg is broken into and stirred up. When cooked, a little salt, or sugar, or currant jelly should be added. The youngsters cannot possibly detect the medicine, and will most likely cry for some more of the mixture.

Try Cleaning your cretonne chair covers in the following way: Put some clean bran into the oven and leave it until it is quite hot. Then take some on the palm of the hand, and rub it into the cretonne with a circular movement. Keep using fresh bran until the whole chair has been thoroughly gone over, and you will be delighted with the result.

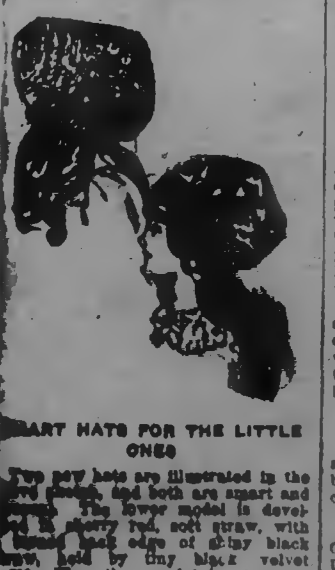
A Home-Made Strainer for the kitchen sink may be obtained by punching holes in the lower part of the sides of a preserved fruit can by means of a hammer and awl. Such a strainer, used as a temporary holder of waste matter like tea-leaves, coffee grounds, potato parings, etc., will help to keep the sink clean and the waste pipe clear, and may be easily emptied and cleaned.

The Burners in a gas stove and oven often get caked up with grease, etc. To remedy this, remove all the burners and place in the copper full of suds (after washing is done), and add a good handful of common salt. Allow to boil an hour or so, then dry thoroughly and replace in stove. This process should be repeated every few weeks so as to keep the stove in good condition, and will save both gas and time when cooking.

If the following Method for cleaning and renewing dirty wallpaper was followed every spring less paperhanging would be needed. Buy a packet of common whitening, and take a piece of rough blanket or flannel and thoroughly rub the paper by dipping the cloth in the whitening dry. After all the walls have been rubbed, take a clean piece of cloth and dust down, and the result will be a clean paper for a little cost.

Lemon Pie

Take one lemon, one cup of sugar and one of water, a tablespoonful of cornflour, two eggs, and enough short paste to line a soup-plate. Grate the lemon-rind and place it with the strained juice, yolks of eggs, and other ingredients in a bowl. Stand the bowl in a saucepan of boiling water and stir until the mixture thickens, stirring frequently. Line the plate with the paste, and bake until a very light brown. Pour in the mixture, beat the whites of the eggs as stiffly as possible, sweeten them slightly, and pile on the top. Put the pie back in the oven with the door open, and leave for a few minutes.



SMART HATS FOR THE LITTLE ONES

Two new hats are illustrated in the two sketches, and both are smart and pretty. The lower model is developed in cherry red, soft straw, with turned back edge of shiny black straw, held by tiny black velvet bows. The other model is of cream straw, lined with pink crepe, and trimmed with a band and bow of black velvet and wreaths of small pink roses.

Old Well in Prison

"Penal servitude must be a healthy state of things," remarked the Recorder of Birmingham to a prisoner, "or you would not look so well on it after thirty-six years of it." The man was ordered to be imprisoned for one day.

He Was Jilted

A man of 75, who sued a woman of 63 at Swaffham, Norfolk, for the return of $25 and some furniture, said that after he had entrusted the money and things to her, with the idea of getting married, she jilted him and married another.

QUEBEC'S WONDERFUL INDUSTRIAL RESOURCES

This Province Has the Greatest Water Power on the Continent of North America

The Eastern portion of Canada is equipped as no other portion of the Dominion, on the continent [illegible] for the industrial race. It is not generally known, for instance, that Quebec has at its back a single waterfall of far vaster power than [illegible]. The minimum at Niagara Falls is [illegible] horse power. At the Grand Falls on the Hamilton River, the [illegible] available is 9,000,000 horse power. These falls have been visited by Mr. A. P. Low, in his capacity of Director of the Geological Survey of the Dominion, and he has effectually confirmed the estimate of the almost inconceivable force of nine million horse power, declaring that there can be little doubt that these Falls will some day supply the greater part of the Province of Quebec with power. The Falls have a sheer drop of 312 feet, and a total drop of over 760 feet, compared to a drop of 160 feet at Niagara.

The position that Quebec is bound to take, as the premier manufacturing region, of the whole continent is best illustrated by the following comparison of her water powers with those of the other parts of the Dominion, taken from a report by Mr. J. B. Challies, C. E., of the Department of the Interior, on water powers in Canada:

Location	Min. Flow Dev.	Present Dev.
Yukon	470,000	......
British Columbia	2,065,500	72,000
Alberta	1,144,000	1,330
Saskatchewan	500,000	1,230
Manitoba	504,000	18,000
North-West Territ's	600,000	......
Ontario	3,129,168	331,167
Quebec	17,075,939	60,000
New Brunswick	100,000	......
Nova Scotia	54,300	13,200
Total	25,692,907	486,887

Is it any wonder that capital is pouring into Quebec for the establishment of every conceivable kind of manufactory? Is it any wonder that since Mr. Challies made the above computation a year or two ago, the development of water power in Quebec has more than quadrupled?

To-day along one single piece of car track on the island of Montreal, the track running from Montreal to the Lachine Rapids—there are no fewer than $80,000,000 of American money invested in industrial establishments. This is only an example of what is going on all over the East. Besides water powers the Province of Quebec has more forest wealth than any other region on the continent, and already employs in the lumber industry no fewer than 40,000 men, all of whom, like those in the factories, must be numbered among the industrial and therefore consuming classes. Many huge pulp and paper mills are now either under construction or in operation, besides water power in the outlying districts of the Province. this industrial activity is attracting people from all over the English speaking world, the consequence being that the population of Quebec is not made up, as many suppose, of French-Canadian farmers, but of a bi-lingual, cosmopolitan people who are rapidly building up huge industries.

WHAT WILL THE CENSUS SHOW

There are Indications of Great Development in the Maritime Provinces

It will probably take the best part of the next twelve months to classify the census taken this year of manufactories, but it may be taken for granted that a huge total shown in the census for the year 1906 will be far exceeded, in view of the tremendous strides which have been made during the past five years in industrial development. In the Maritime Provinces alone, one sees New Brunswick becoming more and more industrial, while Nova Scotia is affording remarkable illustration of the industrial awakening of the East. From the great basic enterprises such as the iron and steel works at Sydney, through all the ramifications of industrial enterprise, its towns and cities are rapidly forging to the front. It is true that the water powers of Nova Scotia are trifling compared with those of Quebec, but look at its coal fields. These comprise no fewer than 725 square miles, and the Dominion Coal Company alone, have to its certain knowledge enough coal in its holdings at Glace Bay to provide for an output of three and a half million tons per year for 1,000 years.

At the census of manufactories in 1905 it was shown that Quebec had $251,730,182 invested in industrial enterprises, with 110,748 employes, producing products for the year to the value of $219,879,496. Nova Scotia had $74,599,[illegible] invested, with an output of the value of $81,987,449. New Brunswick had $36,792,600 invested, with an output value of $32,133,961.

These are big figures. They show a total production as far back as 1905 of $279,599,596, enough to buy up the whole of the 1911 wheat crop in Western Canada and still leave one millions of dollars on hand.

WORLD'S BANK ACCOUNTS

The following table shows the amount on deposit in the savings banks of Great Britain and other countries:

Country	Year	Total Deps.	Ave. to Each Dep.
U. King.	1907	$1,048,268,264	$34
Belgium	1906	155,739,160	63
France	1906-7	974,272,850	79
Italy	1906	616,188,030	92
Neth'l'ds	1906	92,551,665	56
Canada	1911	606,936,033	97.75

Glory, ambition, [illegible], thrones, crowns, playthings of grown children.—Victor Hugo.

A brilliant phrase is like the head of a comet and the millions of thoughts it creates the tail.—G. O. Maynard.

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other noncombustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building inpregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realise that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

The speaker of the evening, Mr. Harold Robertson, of the Methodist College, Chentu, China, who gave an address on the present condition there. $120 was collected for missions.

Campbellford Plaintiff Won.

The result of the dispute between Messrs. Stephens and Irwin, at the Spring Assizes, resulted in a verdict of $50 damages for the plaintiff, who, as before noted in these columns, sued for $5000. Mr. E. G. Porter, K.C., Belleville, and Mr. A. B. Colville, Campbellford, represented Jas. Irwin, the plaintiff. Mr. D. J. Lynch of Campbellford, and Mr. D. O'Connell of Peterborough, acted on behalf of Mr. Stephens, the defendant. It is said that the costs of the case will be in the neighborhood of $780.

Mr. Rumble's Death Accidental.

The Belleville Coroner's jury, investigating the death of George William Rumble, decided that his death was accidental. He came to his death by either falling or jumping from No. 11 westbound passenger train on the line of the G.T.R., and in their opinion no blame can be attached to any G.T.R. employee in regard to the accident. In their opinion a little more courtesy by certain G.T.R. officials when information in reference to accidents is asked for, and especially by relatives of victims of accidents. Mr. Rumble was well known in this city.

Three Fires Here Yesterday.

Our brave fire laddies seem to be earning their money these days. At five o'clock in the morning, they were aroused from their beauty sleep to attend a nasty blaze at Mason's greenhouses, described elsewhere in this issue. Then before dinner they were called out to a chimney fire on Charlotte street. In the afternoon, shortly after four o'clock, they had a hot gallop to Concession street, East City. Another chimney. No damage in either of the chimney scares, but they responded as promptly as though the biggest factory or mercantile establishment in the city was in flames.

Heavy Suit Against the City.

The city, it seems has a law suit on its hands for the sum of $23,384.99, brought against the corporation in Osgoode Hall, Toronto, by the Bishop Construction Co. The plaintiffs claim this amount due for work done on a contract for the Water Commissioners of the city. The writ was filed without the knowledge of the local Water Commissioners, whose first intimation of the step taken by the company was from the Toronto papers of yesterday. The claim arises from work performed by the Bishop Construction Co. at the Water Works dam, in 1909. The Commissioners were under the impression that the amount which the company would press for was in the neighborhood of $12,000.00.

Daughters of Empire Meet.

Yesterday afternoon, at 3.30 the 57th Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire, held a meeting. We might once more explain that this most commendable organization has, in fewest words, the inculcation of patriotism, and looking after the soldiers, and their families, belonging to the 57th Regiment. At yesterday's meeting, Mrs. (Col.) Clegg filled the chair. Rev. Canon Davidson, Rector of St. John's Church, and Chaplain of the Regiment gave a very interesting and instructive address upon the flag, our national emblem, and its significance. A vote of thanks was passed to the Reverend speaker.

Mr. Goodwill Is Re-Elected.

The splendid organization, the [illegible] Society of Ontario, [illegible] more as treasurer, at the annual conference held in Toronto. Mr. Goodwill presented a paper on some needed changes in truancy legislation in the rural districts. The conference was held in the new Speaker's Chambers at the Legislative buildings and was presided over by Mr. W. L. Scott, K.C., of the Railway Board, who was elected president. Reports were presented from all parts of Ontario and one result was that the various representatives of the Societies came away with a new interest in the Children's Aid work.

A Greenhouse Fire.

At about five o'clock yesterday morning the fire brigade had a call to the corner of Water and Brock streets. In some way a fire had started in the cellar of Mr. Frank Mason's greenhouse, near the furnace, on the Water street side. As there was a quantity of boards in the cellar, used for making shelves for plants, the flames rapidly increased in volume. Water was quickly played on the fire, and by intelligent handling the blaze was confined to the cellar. Although even the flooring of the ground floor was saved, the heat and smoke wrought much damage. It was a most inopportune time for a greenhouse fire. Thousands of little plants just potted, or ready to be potted, were destroyed. About 5000 plants are damaged by heat, and 300 or 400 larger plants may, or may not, be destroyed. It will take a few days to determine this. There were about 175 panes of glass smashed by heat. The loss will be, on the building, about $300 to $400, and $500 to $800 on the plants. The man in care of the building says that when he left about 9 p.m. Wednesday, the furnace seemed in good shape. A feature of the fire was that at 5 o'clock in the morning the ubiquitous small boy was on hand in large numbers. It is thought the whole loss will be covered by insurance, but that does not cover the loss of business in the spring planting season.

A Hall of Peace.

President Butler, of Columbia University, has made a very good suggestion regarding the Exposition which is to be held at San Francisco to commemorate the opening of the Panama Canal. He proposed that it shall be a Hall of Peace. In this hall, he says, international congresses should be held [illegible] better understanding between nations, showing how such relations can be raised to a higher plane; and discussing plans for the reduction of the present crushing burden of armaments to a police basis.

The time for such conference is, as President Butler points out, opportune. The year in which it is proposed to hold the Exposition, 1915, not only marks the conclusion of a century of peace between Great Britain and the United States, but it will be as well the centennial anniversary of Waterloo that titanic struggle which ended the really great wars, if the Franco-German conflict be excluded, with which Europe had been almost continuously convulsed during the time over which history runs.

The proposal is a most commendable one, and the carrying of it out would mark one more long step in advance in the movement towards universal peace.

LOCAL OPTION MEN BREAK UP SESSION

Annapolis, April 11.—A scene unprecedented in the history of the Maryland House of Delegates took place when local option advocates who filled the galleries broke up the session of the lawmakers by their jeers and hisses. It was during the consideration of the state-wide local option offered at the instance of the Anti-Saloon League Speaker Trippe spoke to a question of personal privilege, during which he passed the lie to Delegate Clift, who introduced the bill. Applause by Clift's friends, which had greeted his name at first, quickly turned to jeers and hisses. A motion to clear the galleries was followed by one to take a recess for 10 minutes. When this time had expired there still was such disorder that a further recess was taken.

FINE NEW DRILL HALL TO BE ERECTED IN NORWOOD VILLAGE

The Times had it, last night, on semi-official authority that the Department of Militia and Defence has decided to erect a drill hall in Norwood, Ont., to cost approximately $15,000. The hall will be built on property owned by the village, adjoining the Collegiate Institute, and will be used by the local military company for militia purposes and the cadets, of which latter, there is a strong corps in the village.

A satisfactory feature in connection with the above, is that the hall, which will be erected, will serve three purposes: a drill hall for the local company, the cadets and the Agricultural Society and other local purposes. The building will be on the Agricultural Show grounds. Much credit is due to Mr. J. A. Sexsmith, M.P., through whose efforts the appropriation has been secured. This action also indicates that Hon. Col. Sam. Hughes is taking deep interest in the requirements of the rural centres. Norwood is to be congratulated on getting so fine and badly needed drill hall.

CEMENT WALKS WILL BE LAID ACROSS CENTRAL PARK

CITY'S BOARD OF WORKS MET LAST NIGHT.

Present Council's Public Works Committee Will Not Allow Owners of Vacant Lots to Bar Residential Property Owners from Modern Conveniences — Improvement in Condition of Locks Bridge Road to Downer's Corners in Sight—Contract for Sewer Pipe Awarded to R. Hicks & Co.—Supply of Iron Castings for Walks and Man holes to be Divided Amongst City Founders.

The City Board of Works met last night.

There were present Mayor Bradburn, chairman Ald. Buller, Aldermen Gillespie, Anderson, Johnston, Graham, Brown, Duffus and Duncan.

Much Needed Improvement.

Messrs. Peter Campbell and H. P. Cowan, on behalf of the Horticultural Society, waited upon the board and requested that a concrete sidewalk, at least eight feet wide be constructed across the Central Park, from the corner of George and Murray streets to McDonnel street. Also another section of walk running from the foregoing proposed sidewalk westward midway between the Collegiate Institute and the Armouries. Mr. Campbell thought the Government would bear a portion of the cost of the latter section of walk.

The Board acquiesced in Messrs. Campbell and Cowan's request, and this sidewalk will be amongst the first constructed this year.

Improvement in Sight.

Ald. Buller submitted that Otonabee township would be pleased to assume the maintenance of the city's portion of road from the Lock Bridge to Downer's Corners were proprietorship of same vested in the township.

Ald. Johnston jumped at the suggestion. This road, he said, is in a disgraceful condition, and Otonabee's proposition should be accepted in the interests of traffic in general.

The Committee, however, were not quite sure as to the wisdom of assigning over to Otonabee the city's right-of-way at this point, and

Ald. Graham moved, seconded by Ald. Duffus.—That the Street Commissioner examine this road and report as to what repairs are necessary and the exact terms of the township of Otonabee's proposition. —Carried.

Princess Street Sidewalk.

Mr. Fife addressed the Board and pressed for the construction of a sidewalk on Princess street to either

IRELAND MIGHT GET HOME RULE

Thought That the Bill Will Not Pass the Commons

A BACKWARD MOVEMENT

ly Pacific on Eve of Asquith's Home Rule Legislation—Parliamentary Leaders Insist on Prudence—Freeman's Journal Makes Some Warm Comments on Mr. Bonar Law's Speech.

(Special to The Times)

Dublin, April 13.

THAT Ireland will get home rule is very doubtful, as it would appear that the Asquith Government is not likely to be able to carry the measure when it comes to a vote. The Uniouists are unalterably opposed to the Bill, and will resort to almost any means in order to secure its defeat.

The Prevailing Sentiment.

The sentiment prevailing in the south of Ireland to-day is partly militant and partly pacific. What is most remarkable, however, is the way in which forces that are usually so bellicose are being drilled to refrain from violence in speech. Parliamentary leaders at Westminster insist upon the exercise of prudence both in word and action as the crisis approaches, yet there are occasional outbursts showing the true feeling that exists.

The Roman Catholic Majority.

The feeling of the great Irish-Catholic majority in Dublin and clear through the South of Ireland is reflected in the Freeman's Journal of Dublin and in the Cork Examiner. The views expressed by the Freeman's Journal can be summarized as follows:

"Bonar Law's speech unmasks the Unionist game. England is to be bluffed into protection by threats of Orange violence. Bonar Law thinks that the natural destiny of the Irish of Ireland is to be subject to the ascendancy of Protestantism with Bonar Law as the Protestant headpiece. Bonar Law's plan means the prostitution of the name and form of religion as part of a base campaign for taxing the food of the people. Loyalty, Loyalty, talk of Loyalty! Loyalty is the offspring of freedom and the loyalty of not one single loyal colony would be worth an hour's purchase if its freedom were tampered with. Freedom made Canada loyal. Freedom made

A CLEVER AERIAL ACT

Cable Boxes on Big Telephone Pole Moved to Next Pole Without Interfering With a Single Subscriber.

The Bell Telephone Co. yesterday had a large gang of men at work changing a big cable pole, in front of R. Gibb's livery stable. The old pole is about sixty feet in length, and in addition to some single wires carries two large cable boxes. These contain the connecting wires from two, 100 hundred wire cables, and one 25 foreign wire cable. To make this change, necessitated by the old pole having rotted, without upsetting the service of one of the two hundred and fifty subscribers, let alone the whole service of the city, was a skilful and hard job. It was accomplished. Just to the north of the old cable pole, a 56-foot new pole was placed in the ground. The cable pole was jacked and roped up. Then it was sawn off at the level of the ground, the butt being swung into the pavement and guyed there. Next the big cable boxes were shifted to the adjacent pole, and presto! those hundreds of wires were changed to the new pole, and possibly not a single subscriber was aware of the change, outside those who happened to see the clever bit of aerial work.

A GOOD SENTIMENT POORLY SUSTAINED

The following quotation from a recent speech by Hon. Senator Coffee is worth reading. He says: "We are all Canadians. Would that a kindlier spirit were abroad. Would that there were fewer rancour-mongers plying their unlovely trade in our midst. Would that we had amongst us more really great Canadians whose noble purpose is to build up a united Canada, united in heart and soul, dealing out measure for measure of kindly consideration, each for each, irrespective of race, or class, or creed. With such men Canada will become truly great. Such men are a benediction amongst us. May they be multiplied over and over again, until it may come to pass that we are as one people, under one and the same flag, loving our country with a great love and our neighbour as ourselves."

The Times has been repeatedly accused of hostility to Roman Catholics, a charge which we emphatically deny. We believe in the sentiments expressed by Senator Coffee. It is the spirit which should animate all true Canadians, and our Roman Catholic friend should learn, if he does not already know, that Protestants believe just as he does in this matter. It is for this reason that we deprecate priestly interference in the homes where mixed marriages take place as well as priestly interference in the state to secure special privileges for Roman Catholics. If the Church will call off the infamous ne temere decree and require its clergy to devote attention to religious instruction instead of political activities, there would be no occasion for discord.

LYNCH NEGRO IN COLD BLOOD

Bullet-Riddled Body is Hanging Where Left by Avengers

Shreveport, La., April 13.—Because he was suspected of sending a letter to a young lady clerk in a Texas-street department store, Tom Miles, a negro poolroom keeper, was last night hanged to a tree in the outskirts of the city, by a party of men unknown to the police, and a second negro, Sandy McIntire, a porter in the store in which the young lady is employed, who is implicated, is missing, and it is thought that he is to be found hanging at some place.

Miles' body was found hanging on a tree this morning by a negro boy, who informed C. J. McElroy, living near by who telephoned the police. Miles and McIntire were arrested some days ago on the charge of writing letters and delivering them to the young lady; but as there was no direct evidence, and to shield the name of the girl, the negroes were released from jail, one to meet a certain death, and the other possibly dead in the same way.

Miles claimed that a white man gave him the note to the girl. When released last night violence was feared, and the negroes were warned to leave town but it seems they did not heed the warning. The mob was so quiet in its work that it is thought that there were only a few men who aided in the lynching.

REVIVE THE TURF CLUB.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,- I seen in the paper a few days ago that the Peterborough Turf Club has started again. This is a good thing for the town and for the country. Can anything get farmers better prices for their well-bred horses than speed, and speed is found out by horse racing. If the right men run the Turf Club, and run it honest, as I think the kind of men interested will, the people will back them up.

WIFE CHARGED WITH MURDER

Editor Dead in Bath Tub With Four Wounds Near His Heart

New York, April 13.—An inquest into the death of Walter J. Snyder, editor of Sports of the Times, who died Sunday from stab wounds inflicted by scissors in the hands of his wife, was planned by the coroner Monday. Mrs. Snyder was arraigned before the coroner, and was sent to the Tombs to be held without bail pending the inquest, which was set for April 18th.

Snyder was found dead in the bath tub of his apartments on St. Nicholas avenue Sunday with four stab wounds near his heart. His wife, Mrs. Mary S. Snyder, was arrested and charged with homicide.

According to the police Mrs. Snyder said she was holding a pair of seven-inch scissors in her hand when her husband attempted to embrace her and the scissors accidentally penetrated his body.

When Snyder's body was found it was unclothed and the police discovered hanging on a clothes line in the kitchen a union suit having three holes in it. The suit had been washed.

Mrs. Snyder's explanation to the police was that Snyder was annoying her by sprinkling water on her while she was manicuring her nails and suddenly seized her. The blades of the scissors opened, she said, and pressed into his body.

Coroner Hellenstein after questioning the woman said Mrs. Snyder had made several conflicting statements in regard to the circumstances surrounding the editor's death as well as about her own antecendents. According to Assistant District Attorney Strong in a statement made to him, Mrs. Snyder said her husband had grasped her hand when she had the scissors in it, and stabbed himself.

"Stay away from me. I am angry with you," she said she told him just before Snyder seized her. After the stabbing she said Snyder had walked into the bathroom, where she subsequently found his body.

Mrs. Snyder told the police her maiden name was Mary Karns and that she eloped with Snyder from Morristown, N.J., six years ago and married him. They had separated, she said, and had become reconciled only two weeks ago. She denied that she was Helen Caulfield, with whom Snyder eloped from Hartford three years ago, or that she was formerly a Bertha Edna Young, whom Snyder is said to have married ten years ago, and divorced in Detroit.

N. MONAGHAN OBJECTS TO PROPOSED REFUSE GROUND

DEPUTATION WAITED UPON CITY FATHERS LAST NIGHT.

A Conference With North Monaghan's Board of Health to be Held Early Next Week—No Shacks are Wanted in West City—Ald. Duffus Will Fight a Proposition of Certain Jews to Erect What is Reported would be Fire Traps in an Exclusive District—The Building By-law May be Amended and the Fire Limits Extended.

The Committee of the Whole City Council met last night, when a deputation from North Monaghan waited upon the City Fathers and objected to the proposition that the city acquire by purchase the Jackson ten acre lot this side of Crawford's Grove for the purpose of a refuse ground. The deputation urged the inadvisability of creating a dumping ground in this locality which is rapidly developing into a residential district. The surrounding property is being sought after for building lots, and a refuse ground in its neighborhood would materially depreciate the value of such property for residential purposes. Reeve Howden suggested that North Monaghan's Board of Health would be pleased to meet a committee of the City Council on the question of selecting a site in North Monaghan to be used as a refuse ground for Peterborough. In this way a lot might be obtained that would not conflict with other interests in North Monaghan.

The Council fell in line with this suggestion, and a conference between North Monaghan's Board of Health and this city's representatives will be called for a date early in next week.

The North Monaghan deputation consisted of Reeve W. G. Howden, Messrs. Alfred and Ernest Saunders, John Holmes, John Little and a number of other ratepayers.

Time For Action.

Ald. Duffus drew attention to the rumour that some Jews are contemplating the erection of a number of tenament shacks north of Warne's store, between Park and Reid streets If rumour is correct in this respect, Alderman Duffus contended that it would be very undesirable that inferior buildings be erected in such a select residential locality as that in question. He suggested that the fire limits be extended to cover the locality under discussion, in which event the building by-law would prohibit the erection of anything but substantial dwellings in the west end.

This question involving the amendment of the existing building by-law, was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee for consideration.

Uniform Cap.

Ald. Duncan asked for authority for the purchase of some distinguishing uniform for the Sanitary Inspector.

Moved by Ald. Duncan, seconded by Ald. Johnston,—That the chairman of the Property Committee be authorized to purchase a uniform cap for the Sanitary Inspector.—Carried.

To Construct Crossing.

Moved by Ald. Gillespie, seconded by Ald. Duffus,—That the Eaglebourne crossing be constructed as soon as possible this spring.—Carried.

Must Have Another Bridge.

Moved by Ald. Buller, seconded by Ald. Anderson.—That the Mayor interview the Superintendent of the C.P.R. Co. with a view to arranging for a foot-way across the C.P.R. bridge for pedestrian traffic between East and West City.—Carried.

In seconding this resolution Ald. Anderson remarked that something had to be done in this connection. Many men were threatened to throw up their positions with the Dickson Lumber Mills across the river unless a right-of-way over the Otonabee is provided.

Ald. Buller agreed with Ald. Anderson and enlarged upon the crying need for a bridge in south city. The C.P.R. people are, in their own protection, prosecuting for trespass on their bridge, and this action affects hundreds of citizens whose business demands crossing the river at a southern point. He understands that many citizens in East City will have to throw up their positions with the C.G.E. unless the crying need for another bridge is met.

The Mayor was optimistic of a new bridge being thrown across the river this year in the neighborhood of Sherbrooke street.

Moved by Ald. Gordon, seconded by Ald. Duncan,—That the Legal Committee take up the question of the Peterborough Cereal Co's rights to the Government reserve alongside the river, and their keeping open this reserve, as their rights-of-way.—Carried.

WAITER OF ALBANY CLUB GIVES TIP FOR THE ARREST

Chicago, Ill., April 12.—Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, former Toronto banker alleged to have wrecked the Farmers Bank was arrested here this morning on a warrant issued by United States Commissioner Foote. Warrant is for detention of Nesbitt on charges in a Toronto warrant charging forgery. This will serve to hold him until extradition proceedings at Washington are begun. It is understood that the papers have already been forwarded to Washington and speedy action is expected. The warrant was issued on the application of officers Aldrich and Wallace of Toronto, who were here to help in affecting Nesbitt's arrest last night. He was held in seclusion until after Foote's warrant was issued to-day, when he was served and was then allowed to see Attorney Horace D. Nugent, the British Consul Chicago. W. K. Pattison has been retained as counsel for Nesbitt, who will endeavor to secure his release by Habeas Corpus proceedings.

Watched for Weeks.

Detectives had been watching Nesbitt's house for weeks. The man was living on Sixty-Third street, near Cottage Grove avenue, where he went under the name of Coleman, and got much mail under the name of Mrs. Coleman. Was reputed to be a chemist and made many experiments in a small laboratory in his apartments.

Detectives from city force, with Wallace and Aldrich went to Sixty-Third street in an automobile last night. They waited outside the house until they saw Nesbitt come from a restaurant across the street and entered the first floor apartment. The officers followed and gained admission. "We want you, on a warrant from Toronto," one told him. He asked who made a charge, and then told the officers they had made a mistake as he was Coleman, not Nesbitt. He then excused himself and went to the bathroom, whither officers, being suspicious followed and found him trying to flush papers down the drain. They were taken out and proved to be clippings of the Canadian bank case.

Joseph Sadeca, a waiter in a restaurant on East Sixty-Third street, it is ascertained, is the man who is responsibile for Nesbitt's arrest. Frequently Nesbitt talked with him, as Nesbitt is particular as to how he wished Scotch and soda mixed. Sadeca said he notified the Toronto policeman here. Sadeca was formerly a waiter in the Albany Club in Toronto, where he used to mix Scotch and soda daily for Nesbitt. Nesbitt was taken in an auto to Central Detail Station.

Who Revealed His Identity?

The police refused to deny or affirm a report that the fact that Nesbitt was hiding in Chicago was revealed by a Toronto school teacher who recognized him on the street and reported the matter to the authorities.

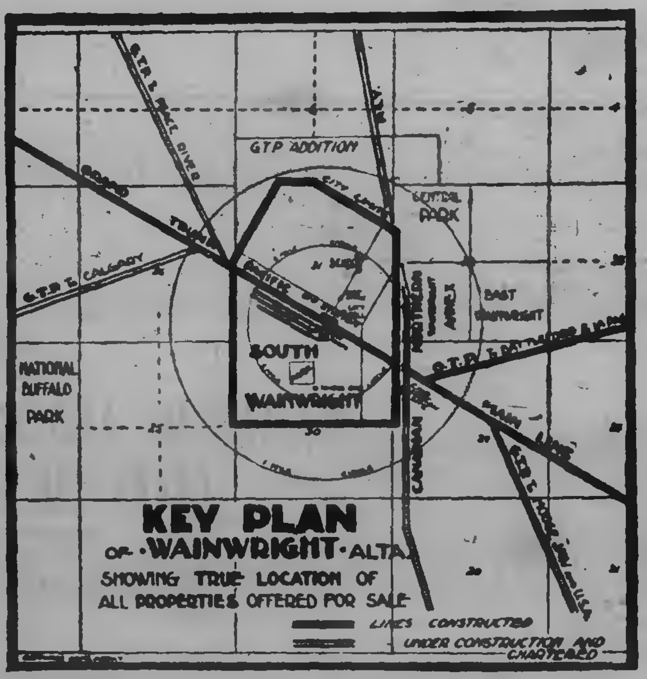
Business Lots in South WAINWRIGHT

The Most Promising New City in Western Canada

Every Purchaser is Protected By Our Iron-Clad Guarantee

We Buy Your Lots Back-- With Interest if You are Dissatisfied



We hold a large block of inside business property and picked residential locations at South Wainwright immediately south of the Grand Trunk Pacific yards, station and shops. Remember, Wainwright is the most important divisional point on the G.T.P. line between Winnipeg and Edmonton — and within the HALF MILE CIRCLE that embraces the present town. These lots are situated for to-morrow, and will, we predict, become the most valuable properties in Wainwright when this city begins to get its growth These lots are from one-half to one mile closer in than other subdivision property now on the market at Wainwright.

Wainwright is only three years old. The railway development here has only begun. The next two years will see thousands of new residents at Wainwright.

Wainwright, Alberta, is the central divisional point on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway in Alberta. It is an important junction point also. It is the trading centre of one of the richest agricultural districts of the west. It is to-day the second largest point of original live stock shipments in the Province, exceeded only by Calgary.

Wainwright is famous as the home of Canada's National Buffalo Herd, the largest herd of buffalo in the world, maintained in the National Buffalo Park by the Canadian Government. The presence of this park and its herd of buffalo will make Wainwright one of the meccas of Canada's annual tourist traffic, and will contribute to the prosperity of Wainwright.

We give notice that on April 15th, the prices of all unsold property in South Wainwright will be advanced 25 to 50 per cent. Until April 15th, prices are: $75, $100, $125, $150 and $175 per lot, depending upon location. Business and trackage lots are $125 to $175, residential lots $75 and $100. Cash payment one-quarter; balance $7.50 monthly.

OUR GUARANTEE—We agree to deliver Torrens Title upon completion of payments. We agree to carry interest and pay taxes upon all property until title is delivered. We further agree to buy back, upon demand, after two years, any lot purchased from us in South Wainwright, refunding the full purchase price, with interest added at the rate of 6 per cent.

CHANGED ITS COLOR

Peculiar Phenomenon Observed After a Horse's Illness

Sometimes a horse, after an illness, turns a different color. A lady in France, who possessed a splendid sorrel horse, found, on its recovery from typhoid fever, that its sparse hair grew an intense black. A young black horse trained for the race-course in England, was taken ill, put out to pasture, and doctored for some time. It ultimately recovered and was as well as ever, but its shining black coat had become an unusually sparkling red. A young lady in this country at sixteen possessed a chestnut horse, went away to boarding-school, and, on her return, found that the color of her horse was changing, as she called it, "like a regular checker-board," with no definite illness to account for it.

Veterinary surgeons give all sorts of explanations for the changes of color observed in the hair of the horse. One, at the Pasteur Institute in Paris, has announced his opinion that the coloring-matter is affected by little changes in some minute and mysterious organs in the abdomen, answering to the suprarenal capsules. When these are affected, the horse undergoes some developmental change the nature of which is not yet precisely understood.

The same thing, to some extent, is noticed in the skin of man. Cobalt mines seem to affect workers, to tint their complexions and to change the color of their hair, and this also happens in factories where dyestuffs are handled, the hair of such men and women often taking on a distinct bluish tint. Braziers and copper-smelters now and then find their beards and moustaches turning green.

BASEBALL TRAINING

Drinking Booze Bane of the Player—Other Habits to be Corrected

How to become a big league ball player?

Well, the less you remember about the game the better off you'll be. What we want to teach you when you try for the Giants is the game and how to play it says Muggsy McGraw.

If you have speed in your legs, in your arms; if you are physically strong, know human nature, don't drink or keep late hours, don't use tobacco, you'll make ball player.

When I send my scouts to look for material the last thing I say to them is: "Get the men with the physical qualifications and I'll make the players out of them."

Some of the best ball-playing material is found in the small towns. By this I do not mean brilliance, but ability. I would rather have a steady player than one who takes spurts and plays to the grandstand. A player recruited from a college or high school usually thinks he knows enough about the game already and needs no further tutoring. The country boy, as a rule, wants to learn and is willing to be taught. However, college men often make good players.

Drink is the bane of baseball. It has ruined some of the best players—Bugs Raymond, for instance. There is the best man that ever donned a suit. Drink ruined him. When I heard Bugs was drinking I put a detective on his trail. He made daily reports. His first report was that Bugs drank twenty-four glasses of beer before dinner. fined Bugs $100. The next day Bugs drank twenty-six glasses of beer. I fined him another $100.

Then Bugs came to me and said: "I'm getting so much in debt to you that it won't pay me to play ball." He quit. And so on down the line of other players who have drank themselves to ruin. However, sometimes when a player is getting "stale" I give a little ale after his meals. Smoking is also bad for the wind.

Another trouble we have with players is drinking water on the field. This is what we call the "water hag-it." Drinking water while playing makes a man bulky and may result in cramps. If a player gargles his mouth while playing it really does him as much good, if not more, than to swallow it.

I advise my players to eat only two meals a day, and never to eat lunch. I have not eaten lunch in ten years, even during the winter months. If one must eat, it should be a sandwich, or light lunch before playing; a hearty dinner might result in cramps the same as drinking water.

I ma not in favor of this winter training. The less training a player does in winter the better off he will be for the season's work. I'm not in favor of indoor training of any kind. This is where the country boy has the advantage. He works in the open air and can stand harder work than the city boy. If one must have winter exercise, play handball for the wind. However, if possible, running should be practiced on the roads.

YOUNG WOMAN WITH A TEMPER

If She Can Control It She Will Be Able to Control Her Husband

If you collect a dozen pretty, charming, well-dressed, and witty girls in a room and accuse some of them of possessing a temper, you will probably get a loud chorus of indignant denials.

"I have not got a temper," says one.

"I never lose my temper," cries another.

"I've no respect for the woman who loses her temper," says a third.

Yet let not these denials satisfy you, but doggedly persist in your accusations. Another indignant chorus of denials will be the result.

Still persist, and you will get denials much more indignant than formerly, and, if you go on persisting, you will probably finish up by making all those girls lose their tempers. Then you can smile and point out how easy it was to prove your case.

Probably you will then hear some remarks which are strictly [illegible] and which may not be palatable to you. Some of the remarks may even hurt, for women have a way of inflicting much pain by the use of their tongues. But [illegible] others see [illegible] women will [illegible] laugh on you, and it will be a case of the biter being bitten.

This experiment seldom fails, and as a rule, it opens the eyes of the mere man who [illegible] are [illegible] what many [illegible] all women [illegible] were [illegible] would [illegible] the average [illegible], for he would [illegible] will be [illegible] to live up to the high standard [illegible] years and never have a cross [illegible] with the [illegible] In fact [illegible] each of the [illegible] the other to [illegible] without a [illegible].

When they finally [illegible] it comes as a terrible surprise [illegible] a temper is lost in the home. It is as though the end of the world were come. But although a lost temper creates a little disturbance in the home world, yet it does not end the world by any means. Of course, it is wise in such cases to recover the lost temper as soon as possible.

Most human beings have a bit of a temper. Some will confess it, others will not, and, generally speaking, you are likely to get on better with those who do not mind admitting it than with those who sedulously hide their temper and deny its existence. In the former case it is likely to blow over very quickly; in the latter case, when the temper is once aroused it is likely to hang about for days.

It is no crime to possess a temper, but it is a sign of weakness to let your temper get the better of you. For a girl to have a temper it shows that she also has some force of character; for her to subdue her temper denotes that she has still more force of character.

When you are sailing the seas, there is no danger of you going aground if you know the whereabouts of the rocks and shoals. It is when the rocks are uncharted and the shoals shift that you come to grief. So it is in matrimony. If you recognize the dangers, you can avoid them; if they remain hidden, you will run up against trouble.

Temper is responsible for much misery in the home.

Keep your temper, and you will keep your friends.

The woman who can control her temper will control her husband.

Don't lose your temper!

And he generally gets it.—The Family Journal.

WHY THE TRAIN STOPPED

Harry Lauder, the well-known Scottish comedian, tells this story of his touring days. Lauder was in an out-of-the-way hamlet in [illegible]. He wanted to get on the main line. The "local express" took the better part of two hours to cover the twelve or fifteen miles.

"At last," he writes, "I asked a fellow-traveller if the train in which we were seated was booked to catch the connection I wanted.

"'Oh, aye,' he replied, in the broad northern Doric, solemnly removing his clay pipe before speaking, 'she's bookit richt enouch, but she verra seldom does't!'

"By and by the train stopped with a sort of sleepy jerk less than a mile from the junction. I got up and opened the window. The signals were down and there was no sign of any block ahead. I opened the carriage door, jumped on to the line, and walked forward to the engine. The driver and the fireman were seated on the footboard, one enjoying a smoke. They expressed no surprise at my appearance; indeed, the engine-driver was polite enough to remark to me that it was 'a braw mornin'.'

"'Yes,' replied I, 'the morning's all very fine, but what about this express train? What has she stopped for?'

"'Oh, no much, sir; no much!' responded the driver. 'The fact is,' he added seriously, 'the engine's gane aff the line!'"

U. S. EXPRESS COMPANIES AND CONTROL.

For many years the late Thomas C. Platt of New York, sat in the United States Senate, apparently for the sole purpose of preventing legislation to bring the express companies in which he was interested under public regulation. He contended that to place these companies under the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission would take from owners of property the right to manage it, and, therefore, such action would be an industrial crime. One day, however, the vigilant Platt happened to be absent from the Senate, and regulation of the express companies was slipped into the law. The results of the recent investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission, which extended over several months, have made it clear to the public why the express companies were averse to regulation, for the fact has been established that they have been guilty of extortion, cheating and overcharging. Inspectors have gone over the books and discovered that constantly the "mistake" was made of collecting for a package from both consignor and consignee, and that one company committed as many as 2,900 overcharging "errors" in one day. It was a safe form of graft when carried on with discretion. From all accounts the officers of the companies never knew of any of these things, but, strange to say, they failed to provide even the most ordinary precautions for the protection of their patrons. An interesting fact developed by the investigation is that the chief demand for the regulation of the express companies did not come from the country, but from the cities; not from the West, but from the East. The members of the Merchants' Association of New York have been the most active Populists in the matter of making complaints and insisting on lower rates.

Even Russia, perhaps the most drunken country in Europe, has joined in the movement for temperance. The National Parliament has adopted a law absolutely prohibiting the sale of all alcoholic beverages during 150 days of each year.

THE BRITISH COAL STRIKE.

England's coal strike has been called off, and the men are returning to work We cannot see what they have gained through precipitating this disastrous conflict with the mine-owners. The latter have not lost anything as they have secured high prices for the stock on hand. The men themselves have lost a month's wages and have pauperized millions of their fellow-workingmen. Back of this momentous struggle stand the Socialist agitators who have gotten, they believe, a step nearer to the realization of their mad dream of government. England and several other European countries may ultimately be forced to proceed against the Socialists and to treat them as enemies of and conspirators against the public weal. The duped and deluded workers of the world will wake up some day and discover that Socialism is their own worst enemy.

Greene Co. Branching Out.

Mr. R. C. Braund, president of the Greene Music Co., of this city, was in Lindsay on Tuesday. Mr. Braund and his colleagues, have found that their present premises in that town are inadequate to handle their rapidly growing business. They have secured a lease of part of the old Y.M.C.A. building, on the corner of Kent and Lindsay Streets, and will fit them up in modern style. Work will be started at an early date.

FRENCH CANADIAN PLAYER

Fournier May be First Baseman for Chicago Sox

Jacques Fournier, a French-Canadian, is a possibility as first baseman of the Chicago White Sox. He was born in a lumber camp twenty-one years ago, is a six-footer, and weighs 190 pounds. Fournier has been pounding the leather with surprising skill, and Manager Callahan thinks he is a real find. In 1909 Fournier played in Portland, Ore. Then he went to Sacremento, and last year he started with the Moose Jaw team in the Western Canadian League. Ted Sullivan, the veteran scout, saw him in a game at Calgary last summer and recommended him to the Boston Red Sox. Comiskey took him from Boston last winter by the waiver route, and is now congratulating himself.

OLD RACING DAYS

An English Horseman's Reminiscences of Good Old Times

Of all the innovations that have taken place of recent years on the turf, writes an English horseman in Baily's Magazine, not one strikes an old stager like myself so much as the style of riding now adopted by the jockeys.

Not only is the crouching seat most unpleasing to the eye—one celebrated amateur horseman goes so far as to characterise it as positively indecent—but very few of the jockeys seem to have mastered its difficulties, with the natural consequence that swerving and boring, not to mention accidents are of far more frequent occurrence than formerly.

Fordham, John Osborne, Wells, Tom French, Fred Webb, Castance, Tom Challoner and Charles Wood were all names to conjure with in the past, but for elegance of style and perfection of seat and hands commend me to Tom Cannon; while for dash and nerve in getting out of a difficulty Fred Archer had no superior.

Few, for instance, who witnessed it, will ever forget his riding of Jannette in the Ledger of 1878, when apparently hopelessly shut in, he took advantage of a momentary opening, to dash through and win. Fred Webb, who was Archer's great rival latterly, always declared that the latter not only wanted to be first but second as well.

The only time I ever saw a horse fairly get the upper hand of Archer was in a selling race at Newmarket once, when a two-year-old belonging to the Duke of Beaufort fairly bolted with him and ran to the top of the town before he could be pulled up. So easily did he win that there was a rare competition for him when he put up for auction, but strange to say, the colt never did any good afterward.

Newmarket after all is the place to see racing at its best, and enjoyable as it always is on a fine day it was never more so, in the view of the old turfmen, than in its more primitive state before modern improvements set in, when a hack was a necessity, and if one wanted a glass of sherry you were dependent on a friend with a drag or a dog cart, as the case may be.

At that period there were many more picturesque figures on the turf than at the present time, when everybody dresses more or less alike, and nowhere did one see them to greater perfection than at Newmarket. The massive figure in dust colored frock coat and high jack boots, with an antiquated drab colored hat on his head, who jogs past in animated converse with his old friend, Peter Price, is easily recognizable as Edmund Tattersall.

Lady Astley, perfectly habited as usual, comes along just in time to pick up her "mate" as he mounts the old gray horse, his faithful comrade of the Crimea, who is in waiting for him outside the rooms.

On his old favorite's decease at an advanced age what more appropriate than that his epitaph should be written by his sorrowing master? Accordingly the following lines, which, though perhaps not quite up to the standard expected from a poet laureate, had the merit of emanating direct from the heart, were duly inscribed on the headstone:

Under this here sod
Lies my poor old quod.
He was very fond of me,
And so was I of he, you see.

Ungava Exploration Company
Off For The New Gold Fields

The purpose of this organization is to explore the practically unknown mineral resources of Ungava. The Company is in possession of information as to the location of rich placer diggings in that country, and is equipping an expedition to reach the gold fields about the middle of June. The Company is purchasing a schooner of about one hundred tons. The vessel will be outfitted with all necessary machinery for placer mining, and provisioned for one year. The complement of men will be ten in number, comprising experienced placer miners, who have had long association with placer operations in Alaska. The leader of the party is a man of wide knowledge of this kind of mining, having spent seven years in the Yukon and Nome. Each man of the expedition will have an equal interest in the results of the findings. No wages will be paid and they will sign up for one year, agreeing to turn all discoveries into the Company. Hence, it will be seen the confidence these men have in the outcome of their voyage into this rich, but unexplored country of Ungava. One of the parties is a man who was employed by one of the big trading companies of the North for nine years, during which time he made some startling placer discoveries, and it is to these fields the expedition will go first.

To those who are at all familiar with the vast wealth that has been, and is being, taken from the Alaska gold fields, the possibilities of this Company will make a strong appeal.

Placer diggings, unlike any other kind of mining, means almost immediate return, and it is not at all unlikely that this Company will produce big returns before the end of the present year. The man who will pilot the expedition, and who spent nine years in Ungava and Labrador, positively states that he got pannings as high as 80 cents to the pan, besides discovering big gold-bearing quartz ledges and immense deposits of iron ore. Thus it will be seen that the possibilities of the Company are practically unlimited.

The Company is working under a Dominion charter, which is very broad and comprehensive in its scope. It does not limit the activities of the Company to mining, but permits its embarking in almost all branches of commercial industry that might grow out of its explorations in Ungava and Labrador.

This may, indeed, be the nucleus of a great and wealthy concern, whose assets in a few years may represent sums which to mention at this present writing would sound like madness. However, this vast North Country is now coming into its own, and undoubtedly large fortunes will be the reward of those intrepid pioneers who commercialize its teeming natural resources: Gold, silver, copper, iron, coal—all the cardinal elements of commerce.

SUMMARY

FIRST. It has been known for years that Ungava contains great areas of rich mineral deposits.

SECOND. We believe we will be the first expedition to reach the Eldorado, although there are some fourteen private expeditions going in this spring.

THIRD. Our men are experienced prospectors and placer miners, and their only hope of remuneration is their interest in what they find.

FOURTH. There is no guesswork about going directly to the right place, as one of the parties spent nine years in the country and knows just where to go.

THE MORNING TIMES

SATURDAY, APRIL 13, 1912.

DEMANDS POLITICAL POWER.

The Catholic Register thinks that it is necessary for the welfare of the Roman Church to have temporal power restored to the Pope. It says: "A free Church in a free State, and even the American solution, under which the Church is neither persecuted nor favored, will not solve the Roman Question. The exercise of the supreme magisterium in matters of faith calls for complete political independence—in other words, for temporal power; and the Roman Question will never be settled so long as he who sits in the Chair of Peter is exposed to the vicissitudes of Italian politics."

If The Times were asked its opinion on the above, it would say that the Roman Question will remain a long time unsettled if it is compelled to wait for the restoration of the Roman Kingdom. The nations of Europe have undergone a change since the time when the Pope reigned over an empire. They would not again tolerate a continental meddler, who claims the right to "make and unmake Kings."

ELECTRICITY FOR CHILDREN.

Were it not for the prestige of the discoverer and the well-known application of the same principle to the growth of plants even a high-geared imagination might balk at the statement of Professor Svante Arrhenius of Stockholm who announces that an almost miraculous impetus can be given to the mental and physical development of children by the use of high frequency, alternating currents of electricity.

Professor Arrhenius is the noted Swedish physicist who in 1904 was awarded the Nobel prize for his work in chemistry. His schoolroom experiments have been carefully conducted and there is no reason to believe that the remarkable results obtained have not been brought about by electrical influences.

Two similar groups of children were placed in rooms identical in every respect, except that unknown to pupils and teachers, one of the rooms was subjected constantly to alternating At the end of six months the children who had received the electrical current electrical currents of high frequency. showed in bodily growth and mental activity nearly twice the development of those who had not.

If the vigor of mind and body can be thus easily fostered, if tendencies toward disease can be so readily eradicated, if the constructive forces within us can be permitted to work unhampered, the superman may be the product of the next few generations instead of the mythical offspring of a distant millenium.

IRISH METHODISM AND HOME RULE.

What the Christian Advocate, of Belfast, calls "the greatest Methodist demonstration in points of size, influence importance and enthusiasm ever held in this country," was held in Belfast, Ireland, on March 14th, when representative Methodists from Cork, Dublin, Donegal, Fermanagh, and all parts of Ireland, gathered to voice their protest against Home Rule. The editor declares that the demonstration was not held in any spirit of defiance or intolerance, but was simply intended "to protest against a change of government which Methodism considers would be prejudicial to its best interests as a Church and most injurious to the welfare of the country." In commenting on the above the Christian Guardian says that there are about 62,000 Methodists in Ireland, and it was claimed by the speakers that the Methodist Home Rulers in Ireland could all be accommodated in an ordinary tramcar. Of course, this is speaking somewhat loosely, but Major F. H. Crawford declared that more than 95 per cent. of the Irish Methodists are opposed to Home Rule. It was pointed out that to-day, of the six men who stand at the head of the Irish Judiciary, no less than five are of the Roman Catholic faith, and that the influence of the priesthood was everywhere apparent. The monster demonstration seemed of one mind in regard to Home Rule, viz., that it meant Roman Catholic clerical domination. Are these Irish Methodists right or wrong? It is noteworthy that a monster Presbyterian demonstration has been held already and it voiced the same views, and the Church of Ireland is also to hold another great Anti-Home Rule demonstration. The movement seems to us to be too widespread and spontaneous to be wholly political, and it seems to express the deep-rooted Protestant distrust, not peculiar to Ireland, of the political activity of the Roman hierarchy. The fact that this distrust is found in every land where the hierarchy is working is significant of much. Rome ever aims to rule.

Editorial Notes

A hopeful Toronto lady says that the feminine garment, aided by the law of necessity, will evolve before many years into some sort of trousers, because, she innocently adds, it will be so much easier to get around and far more comfortable. That comfort and convenience have anything to do with feminine garments is a new and startling idea.

The Hebrews of Perth Amboy, N.J., are agitating to exclude the "Merchant of Venice" from the public school curriculum, on the ground that the character of Shylock is an evil reflection upon their race. How about such publications as Don Quixote, Othello, Macbeth, Pickwick Papers, Martin Chuzzlewitt, and hundreds of other works. Will they have to be expurgated to save the sensibilities of different nationalities. Pshaw! The idea is absurd!

Notwithstanding the tremendous inrush of people to the Western Provinces, according to Dun's Bulletin, there were no insolvencies reported in either Newfoundland or Manitoba during the first quarter of 1911, but this year there were 8 suspensions in the former Province for $130,540 and 19 in Manitoba, involving $119,056; the record is also affected by the addition to the list of Saskatchewan, where 19 failures occurred that supplied $110,490 of liabilities.

A Boy's Reason for Total Abstinence.—I abstain from alcoholic drinks because if I would excel as a golfer, Gray says abstain; as a walker, Weston says, abstain; as an oarsman, Hanlan says, abstain; as a swimmer, Webb says, abstain; as an orator, Bright says, abstain; as a missionary, Livingstone says, abstain; as a doctor, Richardson says, abstain; as a preacher, Farrar says, abstain; asylums, prisons and warehouses repeat the cry, abstain.

The Ontario Legislature, with commendable zeal, looking, not only after present conditions, but to coming generations of sturdy Canadians, has decided to retain rights in public lands. The following is an extract from a bill to be considered: "The Lieutenant-Governor in Council is hereby authorized to raise by way of loan a sum of money not exceeding five hundred thousand dollars ($500,000) for the purpose of purchasing the rights of licensees of timber limits in any lands heretofore or hereafter set apart as a Provincial Park or Forest Reserve, and for other purposes necessarily incidental thereto." The money to be borrowed for this purpose, will be on the basis of a forty years' loan at 4 per cent.

During the first quarter of the present year the failures in the Dominion 630 and supplied $8,120,015 of defaulted indebtedness, against 367 suspensions for $3,576,766 in the previous year, 486 for $4,081,084 in 1910, 485 for $4,814,687 in 1909 and 593 in 1908, when the amount was $5,636,963. In manufacturing lines 94 embarrassments were reported, as compared with 60 in each of the two years immediately preceding, while the $900,449 of liabilities was about $126,000 greater than 1911, although showing a decrease of nearly $947,000 from 1910. The losses in this class three years ago were 100 in number and in 1908 there were 133 similar reverses, the sums involved being $1,077,991 and $2,196,463, respectively.

The Dominion Analyist has recently had the adulteration of sweet spirits of nitre brought to his attention. The English law requires that such spirits contain 2½ per cent., by weight, of ethyl nitrite; the U. S. government requires 4 per cent. The Dominion Analyist in 1908 found 63 per cent. of samples adulterated, 3 samples containing no ethyl nitrite. His present collection shows 43 per cent. adulterated with 5 samples containing no ethyl nitrite. It is clear that the retail dealer is to be held responsible for the character of the drug in this case. He may be able to throw back responsibility upon the manufacturer if he holds a warranty under section 33 of the Act; but in this case he would naturally be required to prove that the article had not deteriorated while in his possession.

This Company has been formed to market a new invention by which wood can be made fireproof. This invention consists of a chemical compound called "Antignol," in which the wood is either immersed for about 24 hours, or—and that applies especially to houses already built—which may be applied to the wood twice or three times with a brush. The solution penetrates deep into the substance of the wood, and after the evaporation of the liquid parts leaves a deposit, which cannot be removed or washed out by rain or moisture of any kind.

Wood impregnated with Antignol will resist fire. Even in a fierce blaze, fed by great quantities of highly inflammable contents of a house or other building, the woodwork would be charred to a small depth, as even bricks or other non-combustible material would, but it would not develop flames itself, therefore not maintain nor conduct the fire. The latter would die out as soon as the source of it was removed or had exhausted itself.

To illustrate this on an every-day occurrence let us take the case of a lamp being overturned, or a burning match or cigar dropped on a carpet or other material easily ignited. The contents of a room, curtains, furniture, etc., would in an instant be aflame, and the whole building would be ablaze and destroyed—with the adjoining buildings included in the destruction—in spite of all efforts to fight the conflagration. In a building impregnated with Antignol that would not be the case. The accident would be confined to the room in which it occurred. The contents of the same would, of course, burn out as well (though at some future time when impregnation will be more general and extended to curtains, furniture, etc., this might be prevented too), but the structure would resist the fire long enough to give people a chance to extinguish it or to allow the fire to die down after the contents of the room had been consumed. ...

As even the most disastrous conflagrations necessarily originate from such small beginnings, which it has not been possible to check in time, and as we have shown, that these initial stages of every fire of the ordinary kind can by means of our impregnations be kept under control or rendered comparatively harmless, the majority of fires in frame buildings may be prevented.

This Is a Bold Statement But It is True

It is not only verified by leading experts of official standing, but we have made arrangements to demonstrate the efficacy of our impregnation to anyone calling at our offices.

Besides fireproofing the wood Antignol has all the properties of the other wood-preserving impregnation fluids, namely, protecting the wood against decay, germs of decomposition, fungi, etc. It is, therefore, applicable to railway sleepers, telegraph poles, ships, boats, etc.

In a country where disastrous fires occur with an awe-inspiring frequency, where the annual fire-waste is $2.50 per capita, as compared with 30 cents per capita in the old countries, where 25 per cent. of all new buildings simply replace those destroyed by fire—it is well nigh impossible to over-estimate the general and commercial importance of our enterprise.

The Directors of the Company are all experienced business men, and with a market that for a long time to come will be far ahead of our manufacturing capacity, everyone must realize that the shares of this Company offer quite exceptional opportunities for profits.

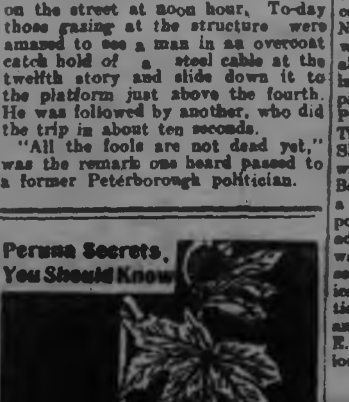
SLID DOWN CABLE FROM SKYSCRAPER

Toronto, April 10.—There is always something doing on the C.P.R. cloud scratcher to interest the crowd on the street at noon hour. To-day those gazing at the structure were amazed to see a man in an overcoat catch hold of a steel cable at the twelfth story and slide down it to the platform just above the fourth. He was followed by another, who did the trip in about ten seconds.

"All the fools are not dead yet," was the remark one heard passed to a former Peterborough politician.

Peruna Secrets, You Should Know



Golden Seal Seed.

Golden Seal, the root of the above plant, is a very useful medicine. Many people gather it in our rich woodlands during the summer. Few people know how valuable it is in dyspepsia, catarrh, and as a general tonic.

Many thousand pounds of this root are used each year in the famous catarrh remedy, Peruna. This fact explains why everybody uses Peruna for catarrh.

WIFE OF THE P. M. TALKS TO WOMEN

TELLS WHAT DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS DID FOR HER.

She Suffered for Two Years and Found a Cure for all Her Troubles in a Single Box.

Lower Caraquet, Gloucester, N. B., April 12—(Special)—Mrs. Joe. O. Chiasson, wife of the police magistrate here, who for two years has been practically an invalid, is again in the best of health, and she is telling her friends how quick and complete was her cure when she took Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"My illness," Mrs. Chiasson says, "was caused by a strain, and for two years I was a sufferer. My back ached, I was always tired and nervous, there were dark circles under my eyes and after sleeping I had a bitter taste in my mouth.

"I had a pressure and sharp pain on the top of my head, I was always thirsty and my skin had a harsh, dry feeling. I was often dizzy, I perspired easily and my perspiratian had an unpleasant odor.

"Almost from the first dose Dodd's Kidney Pills helped me and by the time I had finished the first box I was a well woman."

Mrs. Chiasson's symptoms showed that the trouble was her kidneys. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her so quickly.

BOY INSTANTLY KILLED BY AN ELECTRIC CAR

New Orleans, La., April 11—Running directly in front of a fast-moving Coliseum car on its way up in Magazine, between Napoleon avenue and Jena, Lawrence Stenberg, aged 6, who lived with his parents at 4728 Constance, was run over and instantly killed at 1.10 p.m. Wednesday. The boy's body was mangled almost beyond recognition.

It appears that young Stenberg was hanging behind a wagon, as boys are wont to do, in order to get a ride. He fell off [illegible] struck the child with great force, hurling him before it, and then, before the motorman could realize what had happened, the little body was being ground beneath the wheels. When the car finally came to a stop, and was backed down by the motorman, the mangled form of the child lay in an unrecognizable mass on the track. The crew of the car surrendered to the police after making their trip to Carrollton, and were later paroled to be arraigned in the First City Criminal Court on a charge of manslaughter.

IRELAND AND HOME RULE

Victoria loyal. Freedom has healed the bleeding wounds of inveterate hates of South Africa. Pitt's union of Ireland with England was not only a crime and a blunder; it was also a scamped job. If anyone wants to know how Irishmen demean themselves as citizens under conditions of liberty, let him read the noble tribute paid to the Irishmen of America by the President of the United States. Bonar Law wants to know what Nationalist Ireland will gain from Home Rule. It will gain all that is implied in the escape from periodical government by the assassins of its reputation and good name."

The Irish Language.

There is a movement throughout the South of Ireland practically to abolish the English language and substitute Gaelic in its stead.

Regarding the Belfast meeting, the Cork Examiner says:—

"Drilling and marching, drumming and resolution are over to-day. Asquith and Redmond will now lead Ireland out of the Wilderness."

The Dublin Independent says:—"Let Unionists remember that Ireland does not seek separation. Let them only realize that a good measure of self-government will mean loyalty to the Empire from a United Ireland. That will surely be a boon for Great Britain."

am not a temperance crank, as many men far from being cranks are called I believe that when the Lord put into man's possession the secrets of distilling and fermentation, he had a purpose in so doing. With all due deference to those who advocate total prohibition, I cannot agree with them. I think, from past experience in handling the liquor trade, that some men, many men, will get liquor by hook or by crook, by law or illegally. The inherited tastes and customs of many generations, cannot be obliterated in a day by any system of legislation. At present, the liquor traffic seems to be fairly well under control. There is abuse of liquor, no doubt—no sane man can deny it. Again, to instil a less strong craving for alcohol, and to ensure coming generations of Canadians being temperate, I say, stop the treating system. This would enable a man used to his glass to adhere to a custom and taste cultivated for years, and at the same time keep men sober. How many men would go into a bar and deliberately, as is too often done, under present conditions, take, in treats, or giving treats, three, four or ten glasses, where they only wanted one? Without the treating system, thousands of younger men would never acquire an appetite for alcohol. Without treating there would be that false bon camaraderie, and hollow hilarity that characterizes the treating system. It would be hard, at first, to break up an old custom; still it's possible and, I think, worth trying.

LOCAL WOODMEN HOLD A PROGRESSIVE EUCHRE

Last night over 100 of the local Woodmen of the World gathered in their fine new hall on George street, next to Nugent's drug store. The Woodmen, who now number over 600 in the city, have got splendid apartments on the third floor. The walls have been prettily decorated, and down the length of the hall are handsome electric pendants, hung from the ceiling by chains. Kitchen and retiring rooms are provided. Messrs. A. Comstock & Sons have an order for a fine carpet and mission furniture that will soon be placed. They also have a good toned Mason & Risch piano. Mr. A. Graham, organizer for the Order, has added 245 members, since November 1st, last.

Last night 25 tables were filled with members of both sexes, who played for prizes offered by the ladies. The evening's enjoyment was enhanced by selections rendered by the Woodmen's orchestra under the management of Mr. Chas. Parker. After the prizes had been adjudged, the Terpsychorean act was enjoyed, until the dainty supper provided by the ladies was passed around.

The Woodmen in Peterborough now have a membership of about six hundred.

DANGERS OF FAT

How Fat Affects the Liver

Next to the heart there is no organ of the body more susceptible to an abnormal increase of fatty tissue than the liver. When the liver becomes too fat, its action is impeded, allowing the fat-making foods to make more fat than is needed for normal symmetry. The liver, clogged with excess fat, becomes inactive and, from disease, the nature of the organ undergoes a change. Constipation, headaches, biliousness and similar local disturbances of the system are not the least of the fat man or woman's troubles, for the rolls and layers of fat on all portions of the body increase, clogging other organs, paving the way to obesity. All this can be avoided, if the proper remedy is resorted to at once. Nothing ever discovered for the removal of fat is so effective as the famous Marmola Prescription. However, from the same high authority came Marmola Prescription Tablets, containing all the elements of this cure, harmless Prescription and offering a more convenient means for reducing to normal weight at the rate of 10 to 16 oz. a day, without dieting, exercise or resulting wrinkles and flabbiness. Marmola Prescription Tablets are sold by all druggists or the Marmola Co., 1198 Farmer Bldg. Detroit Mich., at 75c. the case.

CANADA'S MORTALITY

Over Half the People Die Before 25 Years of Age.

Sir Richard Scott declared, in the Senate, that it should be the highest duty of every government to see that laws were made and enforced for the preservation of public health. The government of Canada had not lived up to their duty on the question. The Dominion placed the duty of caring for public health on the provinces and the provinces passed it back to the Dominion. The census figures showed that 81,000 persons were born in Canada in 1901, and of these 81,000 persons, 21,828 died before becoming a year old, and 10,019 died within the next four years. The record was a shocking one, but the census figures showed that while 81,000 persons had been born in that year, there had in the previous 25 years been 43,595 deaths of persons who did not reach the age of 25. It was a tragic thing to think that over half the people born in a single year in Canada should die before they had passed their 25th year. Most of the children who died under the age of three were murdered through the ignorant administration of deadly soothing lotions of various kinds.

THE FATTEST WOMAN

Had to Tear Down Doors to Admit a Fat Woman to a Theatre.

Mrs. Flossie Oullette, weighing 686 pounds, the biggest fat lady who ever went to Boston, and a native and long-time resident of Montreal, tipped over a hack and caused much other excitement in trying to get into a museum where she was to be exhibited. Mrs. Oullette is so wide that there was not an entrance to the museum big enough for her to enter, and several doors had to be taken down. Even taking down the doors was not enough, for the workmen had to chop away part of the entrance before she could get in.

Once inside the museum, Flossie got wedged in the stairs, the banisters broke and Flossie and staircase fell on top of the stage scenery, all falling in a heap.

Mrs. Oullette, after leaving Canada, went to Lowell, Mass., where she married and now has twelve children, all of normal size. She is said to be the fattest woman in the world.

Delhi

Delhi, which by Royal proclamation, becomes the capital of India, instead of Calcutta, was formerly the capital of the Patan and Mogul empires, and was then the largest city in Hindustan, covering an area of 20 square miles, and having a population of 2,000,000. Its circumference is now 7 miles. The ancient metropolis of the Mogul empire is now only indicated by a vast track covered with ruins. The present city is built on two rocky eminences, and is surrounded by walls of red sandstone 30 feet high, with a moat 20 feet broad. There are seven colossal arched gates, defended by round bulwarks. The most interesting building in Delhi, and the most magnificent structure of the kind in India, is the palace of the Great Mogul, built by Shah Jehan, commenced in 1631, and finished in 10 years. The great mosque of Delhi is considered by the Mahommedans to be the wonder of the world. It is built of white marble and red sandstone and has two minarets each 150 feet high.

The change is made because of the sedition in Calcutta, and because Delhi is held in such reverence by many Mahommedans.

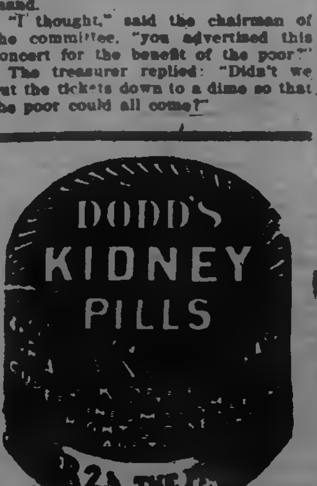
BENEFITING THE POOR

A lot of minstrels went to a country town and advertised to give a performance for "the benefit of the poor, tickets being reduced to a dime." The hall was crammed full.

The next morning a committee for the poor called upon the treasurer of the concern for the amount the said benefit had netted. The treasurer expressed great astonishment at the demand.

"I thought," said the chairman of the committee, "you advertised this concert for the benefit of the poor?"

The treasurer replied: "Didn't we put the tickets down to a dime so that the poor could all come?"



Colds

Don't trifle with a cold; no one can tell what the end may be. Pneumonia, catarrh, chronic bronchitis and consumption invariably result from neglected colds. Nothing can be compared with

as a quick cure for colds and grip, and by its use the more serious diseases may be avoided.

PRESCRIPTIONS IN LATIN

The following ludicrously illustrates the necessity of a reform in medical nomenclature.

Dr. Doane was very much confounded, a few years since, by a remark of one of his patients. The day previous the doctor had prescribed that safe and palatable remedy, syrup of buckthorn, and left his prescription duly written in the usual cabalistic characters—"Syr. Rham. Cath." On inquiring if the patient had taken the medicine, a thundercloud darkened her face, lightning darted from her eye, and she roared out:—

"No! I can read your doctor-writing. And I ain't a-going to take Syrup of Ram Cats for anybody."

'CATARRHOZONE" A BOON TO MANY THOUSANDS.

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughing—those terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with Catarrhozone. You simply breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhozone, and instantly its rich balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the tiniest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct breathable medicine, full of soothing antiseptic pine essences that reaches every sore, congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—nothing to harm or sicken the stomach, because Catarrhozone is the purest, safest cough, catarrh and cold remedy ever devised.

"For many years," writes Richard McCallum, Stirling, Ont., "I have suffered from Catarrh, and continually hawked and coughed, so that my throat was always in an inflamed, irritable condition.

"Doctors' medicine did not help me in the least, and all other remedies I used were quite useless. In one case it was time wasted in snuffing powder up the nose; in another using a greasy ointment, and so on. Not one of them was the least bit of good.

"I heard Catarrhozone favorably spoken of, and tried it. Really it benefited me more in a few hours than years of treatment with doctors' and other so-called remedies.

"Receiving such immense benefit, I continued using Catarrhozone, and in a few weeks I was completely cured of Catarrh and throat trouble."

Get Catarrhozone to-day. Large size costs $1.00, and lasts two months. Smaller sizes 25c and 50c. All dealers, or The Catarrhozone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Ont.

A WAGER STRANGELY LOST.

In the year 1765, one Carr, waterman, having laid a wager that he and his dog would both leap from the centre arch of Westminster Bridge, and land at Lambeth within a minute of each other, he jumped off first, and the dog immediately followed; but not being in the secret and fearing his master should be drowned, the dog laid hold of him by the neck and dragged him on shore, to the no small diversion of the spectators.

PRECISE.

"Fancy old Bill, of all people, going into the gunpowder shed with a lighted candle!" remarked the proprietor of an explosive factory to his foreman. "I should have thought that would be the last thing he'd do."

"Which, properly speakin', it were, sir!" responded the foreman.

A N. Y. STATESMAN HERE

Mr. Pendry, a Former Peterborough Man, Who Has Risen to High Esteem in New York City.

Ald. W. H. Pendry, of New York City, spent yesterday in the city, with Mr. E. Courtney, on Concession street. Mr. Pendry was a former resident of Peterborough, and at one time very efficiently filled the chair of Editor of The Times. He moved to New York about 30 years ago, and took up the study of veterinary science, graduating as a veterinary surgeon in due course. In this profession he developed a large and lucrative practice. He was associated in business with his son, Mr. Bryar Pendry. Both father and son subsequently took up the study of law and soon mastered its intracacies. To-day, the firm of Pendry & Pendry have a very extensive practice, employing a number of stenographers and clerks. Some years ago Mr. Pendry, Sr., was elected a member of the State Legislature, serving two terms at Albany. His record there was marked with very great success, he being recognized as an earnest and faithful servant of his constituents, and the State at large. He felt the need of a rest and took an extended trip abroad, visiting the principal Capitals of Europe, returning with renewed health and vigor. He has many friends in Peterborough who will be pleased to learn of his success, as he is now regarded as one of the coming men of New York City. Mr. Pendry has a love for the old town (Peterborough) where he spent a few of the best years of his life. Some few years ago Mrs. Pendry passed away and is buried in the Little Lake cemetery.

Mr. Pendry returns to New York this morning and has promised to try and spend a short time here in the summer and visit our northern lakes.

VARICOSE VEINS CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got The New Method Treatment. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

SAVE 17c A DAY

That's not much to save each day, but we will show you what it will do for you.

If you knew that 17 cents a day were going to make money for you would you not save it? Of course you would, and never miss it. You can save twice as much, and still never miss it.

We told you in this paper of the wonderful progress and advancement that is taking place in the Peace River Country. You were told of the great land rush that is now on. You were told that so great was the importance of this district, with Grouard as the commercial centre, that the Government of the Province of Alberta, had guaranteed bonds for railroad construction for over $25,000,000, the most of which is for the Canadian Northern, and the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railways, to build into the Peace River country and to Grouard. Would they do this if this was not going to be the greatest farming district in Canada? Would these Roads go to Grouard, the gateway and commercial centre of that district, if it were not an important point?

Why is Grouard so important? Because it is where rail and water meet, the place that will be built up by the revenue of 40,000,000 acres of rich farm lands behind it, the place where three railroads are heading for.

This property has been on the market but two weeks, and is hal gone now; sold to railroad contractors who are building the roads. They know, from experience, the big raise in values when the steel gets to an important place; sold to employees of the contractors who are right on the ground and know; sold to farmers going into the Peace River country, because they help to build up the city; sold to people of Alberta who know the district and the great progress it is making; sold to business men for the establishment of stores and business places.

Are you going to let this opportunity slip by when 17 cents a day will allow you to share in this prosperity, when you can buy property in a great city in the making, one picked by all interests as the gateway, commercial centre, and valuable point of the Great Peace River Country?

You are dealing with a clean-cut proposition. Ask the Board of Trade at Grouard, or the managers of the Royal Bank or Bank of Commerce at Grouard.

Buy lots in Grouard and you will make money. Cut out one of the coupons below, and send to us today. Send your first payment. Your money promptly returned if you find, on investigation, this investment is not one of merit. Many of those who bought from us the first week and investigated, have bought more property.

Do not wait—act now—this very minute.

A Hall of Peace.

President Butler, of Columbia University, has made a very good suggestion regarding the Exposition which is to be held at San Francisco to commemorate the opening of the Panama Canal. He proposed that it shall be a Hall of Peace. In this hall, he says, international congresses should be held for the purposes of bringing about a better understanding between nations; showing how such relations can be raised to a higher plane; and discussing plans for the reduction of the present crushing burden of armaments to a police basis.

The time for such conference is, as President Butler points out, opportune. The year in which it is proposed to hold the Exposition, 1915, not only marks the conclusion of a century of peace between Great Britain and the United States, but it will be as well the centennial anniversary of Waterloo that titanic struggle which ended the really great wars, if the Franco-German conflict be excluded, with which Europe had been almost continuously convulsed during the time over which history runs.

The proposal is a most commendable one, and the carrying of it out would mark one more long step in advance in the movement towards universal peace.

The pupils of the Warsaw school held a concert in the school-room on the afternoon of the last day of school, Thursday, April 4th, at 2 p.m.

In 1885 there were 27 commitments to jail for drunkenness. In 1911 there were 40. Not a bad average, seeing that the population has nearly trebled in the interim.

During 1911 Peterborough got one cent a head of the Provincial Government. The total amount collected for liquor licenses was $7,954.70, of which the city got $3,347.15, and the Province $3,347.14. A special committee will now probably be appointed to go to Toronto or Montreal, on the strength of that cent.

SOME MORE BOQUETS

Handed Out by The Catholic Register—A Slap at Dr. Grenfell—The Editor's Opinion of the Orange Order—Dr. Graham, of Toronto, Referred to as a "Plague" in Connection With the Park Street Baptist Church.

This Dr. Grenfell seems to be a very able advertiser, and talks a good deal like a minister out of a job.

• • •

"Billy" Sunday, taking up a collection of over $17,000 at one revival meeting, goes to show that there is a good deal of the religious idea in the people yet. It is, however, sad to see them the dupes of strolling cranks and fakirs, but such is the logical result of the disintegration of Protestantism.

• • •

The far-famed democracy of Protestantism is well illustrated by the Rev. George Dewey, a minister, who speaking in London, Ont., said that a girl entering domestic service was looked on as such an outcast that she could not even be admitted to a Protestant church choir! What was it that Christ said about the poor and the True Church?

• • •

The practical good sense of England's Premier is proof against all the threats of Ulster fanatics. When asked in the House of Commons if he were aware that Orangemen were drilling around Belfast to fight Home Rule, he answered jocularly that the Government was perfectly aware of the drilling, but knew that it was for the purpose of a political demonstration around Easter, and not for bloody war. Alas, nobody will take the Orange gasconade seriously!

• • •

The London, Ont., press has made queer ministerial announcements. Its Park street Baptist church has one by the name of Riddiford for pastor, and he discusses "How to Become a Priest," and imports the celebrated sensationalist "Dr." W. T. Graham, of Toronto, to discourse on the "Jesuits and Their Teachings," from information derived from Johnston's supposed "Liturgicum Manuel." London certainly is badly enough afflicted with its Riddiford without our Graham plague.

(In regard to the above paragraph, the Register probably refers to Rev. W. C. Riddiford, of Peterborough—not London.—Ed. Times.)

TOO MUCH STARCH

A Food Problem.

An Asheville man tells how right food did that which medicines had failed to accomplish:

"For more than 15 years," he says, "I was afflicted with stomach trouble and intestinal indigestion, gas forming in stomach and bowels and giving me great distress. These conditions were undoubtedly due to the starchy food I ate, white bread, potatoes, etc., and didn't digest. I grew worse with time, till, 2 years ago, I had an attack which the doctor diagnosed as appendicitis. When the surgeon operated on me, however, it was found that my trouble was ulcer of the pancreas, instead of appendicitis.

"Since that time I have had several such attacks, suffering greatly. The last attack was about 3 months ago, and I endured untold agonies.

"The doctor then said that I would have to eat less starchy stuff, so I began the use of Grape-Nuts food for I knew it to be pre-digested, and have continued same with most gratifying results. It has built me up wonderfully. I gained 10 pounds in the first 8 weeks that I used Grape-Nuts; my general health is better than ever before, my brain is clearer and my nerves stronger.

"For breakfast and dinner, each, I take 4 teaspoonfuls of Grape-Nuts with cream, a small slice of dry toast, an egg soft boiled and a cup of Postum; and I make the evening meal on Grape Nuts and cream alone—this gives me a good night's rest. I am well again." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a reason." Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Y.M.C.A. Boys Entertained.

One of the most pleasing features of the boys' department of the Y.M.C.A., is the annual camp at Sandy Point. The junior camp re-union was held at the "Y" and was a great success. The boys, for practice, erected two large tents in their game room. The summer season was symbolized in miniature, when the boys took a swim in the plunge bath supposed to represent Clear Lake.

Heavy Suit Against the City.

The city, it seems has a law suit on its hands for the sum of $23,384.99, brought against the corporation in Osgoode Hall, Toronto, by the Bishop Construction Co. The plaintiffs claim this amount due for work done on a contract for the Water Commissioners of the city. The writ was filed without the knowledge of the local Water Commissioners, whose first intimation of the step taken by the company was from the Toronto papers of yesterday. The claim arises from work performed by the Bishop Construction Co. at the Water Works dam, in 1909. The Commissioners were under the impression that the amount which the company would press for was in the neighborhood of $12,000.00.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES.

DREAMING IN THE MOUNTAIN HEIGHTS

Another report that Jim Jeffries is planning to come back is current in Cleveland. The big fellow's system devised by himself, is different from that ever tried by any pugilist or other athlete who ever tried to regain his past laurels. Jeffries is preparing to begin at the beginning and build himself up a reputation for himself by fighting his way from the bottom to the top. He has been making preparations in secret up in the mountains of California.

"I am going to fight my way through the white hopes and earn the right to challenge Jack Johnson for the world's championship," Jeffries told Kilbane.

"I shall first challenge Carl Morris and Jim Stewart. When I have beaten them I intend to go after Al. Palzer, whom I consider a harder proposition than either Morris or Stewart. With him out of the way, I shall be entitled to send a defy to the winner of the Jack Johnson-Jim Flynn fight, if it is held. I certainly think they will give me the right to challenge Jack Johnson for the championship. I know I can come back, but I want to satisfy the people that I am entitled to another shot at big Jack by beating all the other aspirants."

KEARNS SHOWING CLASS

Little Difficulty in Winning Nearly Every Bout He is In

Is Soldier Kearns, who knocked out Jim Cogey in less than a round in New York recently, another John L. Sullivan? For six months Kearns has been attracting attention at the smaller boxing clubs here by stopping almost every antagonist as easily as he settled Coffey. The right hand punch which has won more than a dozen battles for Kearns is a duplicate of the great wallop that made Sullivan famous as the conqueror of Paddy Ryan, Jake Kilrain, and other fighters more than twenty years ago. Kearns has a good left hand, which has power and speed behind it, but the right is a pippin, in the language of ring followers.

Kearns is a young giant in physique. He stands 6 feet 10½ inches tall, and weighs 205 pounds in fighting trim. He is built like a battleship. In fact he is a ringer for Sullivan when John was known as the Boston Strong Boy. Kearns spent three years in the regular army, and it was in his barracks that he first took up boxing. He whipped all comers, and when his enlistment ended he decided to go into pugilism. Having no reputation as a fighter, and practically no funds, Kearns had to begin at the bottom and literally fight his way to a place in the limelight. As he toppled one man after another at obscure clubs he gradually attracted attention. Several enterprising managers after looking him over, made overtures, but they learned that Kearns was under contract to a man who had gone out of his way to secure matches for him.

FRENCH BOXING

New Rules to Put in Force by the Authorities to Govern the Sport

A new set of rules governing boxing in France has been drafted by the French Federation de Boxe, at the request of the Paris chief of police. The principal item in the rules is the regulation requiring floors of boxing rings to be thickly padded and that no boxer under 21 years old, be allowed to engage in a contest without the written consent of his parents. Beyond this there are no drastic changes, but it is worth noting that the kidney punch is ruled illegal. Bandages are permitted and the weight of gloves must not be below four ounces. Contests to a finish are strictly prohibited. Nor may any bout exceed twenty rounds duration. All boxers are required to be medically examined before they enter the ring and matches between women are punishable by a term of imprisonment for all concerned.

The queerest regulation of the lot and the only one open to objection is the ninth article which prohibits fighting at the ropes. There is trouble ahead for the French referee who puts too strict an interpretation on the rule. There is a referee in the north of England who absolutely refuses to let a boxer deal out punishment when he has an opponent backed on the ropes. According to that, a boxer in trouble has only to keep retreating to the ropes to make certain of avoiding a knockout, a proceeding which would certainly kill public interest in boxing if the practice became general.

NOT THINKING OF COIN

The managers and the fans don't care about the financial returns of a training trip. The manager wants his team in good fighting trim when the opening gun of the season is fired, and the fans share his desire.

PROTECTING BIRDS

Plumage, skins, or eggs of native birds of Australia and New Guinea can no longer be exported, this having been prohibited by the Australian Commonwealth Government.

EXPORTS TO GERMANY

Britain exported to Germany last year produce to the value of nearly $185,000,000, while Australia took goods to the value of $138,000,000 from this country.

A HUGE PLANT

Perhaps the largest plant in the world is a species of seaweed found near the South Sea Islands, which frequently attains the length of three hundred feet.

After being an inmate of the workhouse seventy-four years, a man who died recently at Steyning at the age of seventy-six had cost the guardians $5,000.

Good Collection for Missions.

Rev. I. Couch, pastor of George street Methodist church, presided at the annual thanksgiving meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of that church, held Wednesday night. There was a good attendance. Miss E. Kempt favored the audience with a musical number. The speaker of the evening, Mr. Harold Robertson, of the Methodist College, Chentu, China, who gave an address on the present conditions there. $120 was collected for missions.

A CLOCKERS' CLUB

They Want to See Only Genuine Records in the Annals

Track and field sport for the next season promises to be enlivened by the advent of a new clockers' club, the plans of which have been discussed by the men really interested in the welfare of athletics and who like to see only genuine records admitted on the athletic annals. The Junior Timers' Club is the title under which the organization will float its banner, and if the report is to be believed a man will have to possess certain qualifications before he is eligible for membership, and all will have to undergo the most searching investigation. No man will be considered except one who has served a lengthy term in connection with active athletics in the capacity of clerk of the course, judge at the finish, scorer, inspector, or some one of the other duties wherein men acquire some knowledge of competition and its vital points.

It is understood that men with good eyesight only need apply for membership and those wearing glasses must satisfy by a test that their vision is good to discern the smoke of a pistol at 100 yards away or more. It is said that the watches to be sanctioned by the new club will be on the plan of those used for timing greyhound and whippet races, with the stop on the wheel. This is claimed to be the only class of watch which can render correct time for sprint races. Those behind the new move have it that the old style of watch with the stop and start worked from a lever was more or less of a toy and got up for amateur horsemen and others of that ilk who liked to see themselves around watch in hand, and be pointed out as official timers. In clocking a sprint of 100 yards these watches made the time a fifth of a second faster or perhaps two-fifths when in the hands of a beginner, and it will ever remain a mystery why this style of watch has been given the least credit in the timing of amateur sprint races.

THE COMING OLYMPIAD

Stadium in Sweden Much Smaller than the London Structure

The seating capacity in the new Stadium at the Sweden Olympiad is only 23,000, about a quarter of the extent of the arena used for the London games in 1908, but it must be borne in mind that the Swedish structure is to be permanently used for athletic displays, whereas the London arena has been used only once since 1908. Of the season tickets, about 3,500 are reserved for foreign sale, in the countries competing in the games. The seats reserved for the world's press reach the gigantic total of 500, of which Great Britain will be allotted 40. The stadium is easily accessible from all parts of Stockholm, the tram journey from the center of the city occupying only fifteen minutes. The officials have taken the hotelkeepers in hand and with a view to making things as comfortable for foreign visitors as possible, they have prepared a list of rooms available in the city besides those of the principal hotels. No person on their list is permitted to charge more than $3 a day, but, of course, the majority are letting at rates much lower than this.

The Swedes are taking the games very seriously, and if they do not annex a large share of the prizes it will not be through lack of training.

FASTEST FLOWING RIVER

The fastest flowing river in the world is the Sutlej, in India, which rises 15,200 feet above the sea, and falls 12,000 feet in 180 miles.

A Great Jump.

George Horine of the class of 1913 of Stanford University broke the world's running high jump record in a meet with the University of Southern California clearing the bar at 6 feet 6⅛ inches. The previous record of 6 feet 5⅝ inches was made by M. F. Sweeney of New York, September 21, 1895.

Mr. Rumble's Death Accidental.

The Belleville Coroner's jury, investigating the death of George William Rumble, decided that his death was accidental. He came to his death by either falling or jumping from No. 11 westbound passenger train on the line of the G.T.R., and in their opinion no blame can be attached to any G.T.R. employee in regard to the accident. In their opinion a little more courtesy by certain G.T.R. officials when information in reference to accidents is asked for, and especially by relatives of victims of accidents. Mr. Rumble was well known in this city.

ENGLISH ANXIOUS TO SEE WOLGAST BOX

Matt Wells' Manager Says American Champion Would Get $40,000 House

"If Wolgast would fight Matt Wells in England we could draw $40,000," says George McDonald, the English champion's manager. "They are crazy to see a world's championship bout on the other side. But of course Wolgast will not cross the Atlantic. Tommy Murphy wants to meet Wells at a local club, and as the bout will draw, we will accommodate him in time." Wells is negotiating with Packey McFarland for a battle at Kenosha, Wis., or South Bend, Ind., for which a big purse may be hung up. If there's a hitch they will meet at one of the local clubs. Wells also intends to box K. O. Brown, Cross and Hogan.

PLAN A MOTORDROME

May be Erected on Site of the Old Aqueduct Race Tracks

Motorcyclists are planning a motordrome in New York, and are considering Dreamland and the old Aqueduct race track as available sites. With this object in view it has been decided to effect a strong motorcycle organization in that city. This will be the first step toward fostering that which pertains to the sport of motorcycling and the erection of a suitable motordrome.

Newark will soon have a motordrome. It is well under way in the neighborhood of the old Vailsburg bicycle track now called the Velodrome, and is expected to be ready for use some time this summer. Tracks are supported in Los Angeles, Oakland, Chicago, Salt Lake City, and two in Denver, while it is probable that Baltimore will soon be in line. At the majority of these motordromes racing is a weekly feature. In Denver the events are held twice a week, and in Chicago two sets of races are held weekly, on Wednesday and Sunday nights.

RAPID GROWTH IN USE OF CARS IN FRANCE

The recent revenue returns in France are indicative of the increased use of the motor bicycle. The latest returns show that 64,209 motor vehicles were taxed last year. In 1899 there were 1,672 cars in France. These had risen to 12,954 in 1903, in 1905 reached 21,523 cars, in 1907 31,286, in 1909 44,769, and in 1911 64,209. In average horse power those vehicles have increased with their numbers, for whereas in 1901 the average was 6 horse power, in 1911 it had risen to 13 horse power.

In England the growth has been equally rapid, if not greater in proportion, considering that there were fewer car and factories and the motor-cycle is making greater headway than in France. The better-class workman is taking to this form of motoring, and discarding the push cycle. In France a distinction is made between the taxation of motor cars that are fitted as "two-seaters" and those that carry more passengers. Consequently, one is able to discover that out of 14,092 were small "two-seaters," and those carrying more than two occupants totaled over 50,000.

As neither motorcycles, taxicabs, commercial motor vehicles, nor makers' test cars are included in this total of cars taxed by the French Government, the sum of $1,225,000, which was paid into the Treasury, represents what the pleasure side of motoring produces for the general benefit of the State.

YACHT TO RACE CANADA

Chicago Club Building a Craft to Race the Canadian Patricia

A syndicate of the Chicago Yacht Club is having a 32-rater built at Wood's yard at City Island, to race against the Canadian 31-rater Patricia, for the new challenge trophy which has been offered to take the place of the Canada cup. This new yacht has been designed by William Gardner and her model has been much admired by all racing yachtsmen who have seen it. It was suggested that as the new yacht is to be tried out here before being shipped to Chicago it might be a good thing for yachting and a good way to try out the yacht, if it should be entered in the races for the Manhasset challenge cup. That has been done, and the new racer will be sailed in that series of races by Harry Johnston and James D. Sparkman.

It is probable that this entry will stimulate other yatchsmen to take part in the races, and there is some talk of another 31-rater being built to try to capture the Manhasset cup.

THE GRAND NATIONAL

History of the Great Old Liverpool Race

The Grand National steeplechase was first known to the turf world as the Liverpool race when it was instituted at Liverpool. It was not until 1843 that the word national appeared in connection with the race, when it was called "The Liverpool and National steeplechase." In 1863 it was formally named the Liverpool Grand National, and as such has become the blue ribbon event of the world for the jumpers and has been run without a break from year to year since it came into public favor. Many notable horses have taken part and the distance of four miles, 850 yards, and the 30 jumps give a hard test to the steeplechasers.

Mr. Gibbs is Laid Up.

We regret to say that Mr. Gibbs, the Water street real estate agent is confined to bed with an attack of rheumatism. Mr. Gibbs, was at his office a few days ago, but seems to have caught another cold. His many friends will hope for a quick recovery.

No. 4 Company Celebrate.

After the rifle practice Thursday night, the members of No. 4 Company, with Col. Sergeant Waterson in the chair, held a supper in the recreation room at the Armouries. Messrs. Burgoyne and McNeeley gave a good song and dance, with Sergt. Wilt. Metherel at the ivory keys.

Drunks Fined $2 Each.

At yesterday's session of the Police court, a Polack, who evidently did not understand the potency of Canadian whiskey, or the utter folly of following spiritus frumenti with beer, and got full, paid $2 for his indiscretion. Two other men also paid in $2 each to the city treasury for dallying with the "hard stuff."

Broke Into Banks But No Burglar.

Last night, Chief Howard, whilst not committing burglary, broke into several banks. The young missionary workers of Murray street Baptist church held a rally. An interesting feature of the evening's entertainment was the opening of the missionary collection banks. This duty fell to the sturdy head of the local fire brigade.

Judge Barron's Daughter to Wed.

His Honor Judge Barron, of Stratford, who is well known here, and who is a brother-in-law of Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., announces the marriage of his youngest daughter, Mary Alice Augusta, to Mr. S. Ex-Constable Returns Tax Money.

Ex-Constable Fred Bennett, of Havelock, as noted in a former issue was charged with appropriating $162.94 of the village taxes, which he is alleged to have collected. The ex-officer, tried before Magistrate Edmison was allowed to pay his shortage into court. County Crown Attorney Wood appeared for the prosecution.

Messrs. Beal and Henderson Home.

Messrs. H. L. Beal and W. G. Henderson have returned from a trip to the Eastern States, where they spent two weeks in the interests of the gas department of the Peterborough Light and Power Co. They visited most of the gas stove and commercial gas appliance manufacturers in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, where they obtained a great deal of valuable information.

Will Moulders Get Nine Hours?

The moulding shops in the city have been approached by representatives of the International Moulders' Union with a view to having a nine hour a day system in the iron foundries, commencing May 1st. It is understood that the Peterborough Lock Co. is the only shop in the city operating on the nine hour basis at present. No definite action has yet been taken.

Important Real Estate Deal.

The Times was informed last night that Dr. Buchanan, of 646 George street, has purchased the property on the southwest corner of Water and Murray streets, owned by Miss Maggie O'Brien. The price, we understand was in the neighborhood of $3000. We are told that Dr. Buchanan will tear the present house down completely, and erect a handsome modern structure.

A Lecture on France.

Last night Mr. Keyes of the Normal School staff gave a most instructive and interesting address on France, in the Sunday school hall of St. Paul's church. The lecture was given under the auspices of the Fraser Mission Band of that Church. There was a good attendance. Mr. Keyes handled his subject in a masterly manner and gave a good description of the vicissitudes through which "La Belle France" has passed.

Killed in Port Hope Wreck.

A bad wreck occurred early yesterday morning at Port Hope, when an eastbound double-header freight from Toronto, crashed into another freight train on a siding. The wreckage was piled up as high as the telegraph wires. Fireman Shaw, of Mimico, was instantly killed and Engineer Hooper of Toronto, fireman McNamara, of Belleville, and a man named Reed, who was not employed by the railway, were badly injured. One of these men is reported to have since died in the hospital at Cobourg where they were taken. The wreck occurred just a short distance from the station.

Norwood Against Church Union.

Norwood Register: The Presbyterian Committee on Church Union, at a sitting held last week, adopted a resolution declaring that while vote for organic union demands some definite action looking towards greater unity, the strong minority in opposition shows that organic union is not feasible at present. It recommends that the Union Committee be appointed to continue such negotiations as the General Assembly may order relating to unity of action with the Methodist and Congregational Churches in the hope that organix union may yet be consummated.

Metropolitan Life Staff Dined.

Among the guests invited to the banquet at the Oriental, in honor of the district staff of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., were Messrs. Rev. Canon Davidson, Rev. J. R. Webb, Rev. I. Couch, Mr. F. H. Dobbin, Dr. Scott, Mr. John Crane, Mr. E. L. Goodwill, Mr. J. H. Burnham, M.P., Mr. H. H. Gray, Superintendent, Berlin, and others. Mr. F. O. Ayres Fourth Vice-President of the company presided; Mr. J. E. Kavanaugh Superintendent of Agencies, Mr. John Rothwell, the local superintendent and the agent of the district were present. In all over fifty sat down to the appetizing spread provided by mine host Graham.

Deep Snow in the North.

Mr. Isaac Lean, who resides near Apsley, was in the city yesterday and paid The Times a visit. Mr. Lean is one of the substantial farmers of the district in which he lives. He informed us that the deep snow and the intense cold of last winter, retarded lumbering operations to a considerable extent. There is still much snow in the woods, a quantity far above the average of former years. He therefore anticipated very high waters in the lakes and rivers to the north. Mr. Lean says a railroad to Apsley is badly needed, as several of the best citizens have gone to the west, where they will not be handicapped by lack of shipping facilities.

"When the City Was Young."

Last night a meeting was held under the auspices of the Woman's Art Association in the Assembly room of the Public Library. Mr. F. H. Dobbin, editor of the Review, gave a most interesting lecture entitled, "When the City Was Young." Mr. Dobbin traced the history of Peterborough from the days when Sir Peter Robinson and the late Captain Rubidge R.N. brought a lot of Irish immigrants to the then hamlet of Peterborough. He described the difficulties the settlers had in having to take their flour and other supplies through the woods on their backs. He then carried the audience through the city's history as it grew to its present important places among the cities of Canada.

Won Places in Hexathlon Contest.

At the junior Canadian Hexathlon contest run off at the local Y.M.C.A. the following entries won places on the team for 1912, as follows, with their respective places given:

160 yard potato race—H. Hill, K. Routley, Smith.

Running high jump—H. Hill and K. Routley, tied; Cavanah.

Standing broad jump—Hill, Cavanah, Huycke.

Putting 8 lb. shot—Hill, Huycke, Cavanah.

English Must be the Language of Instruction in Bilingual Schools After the First Form

BILINGUAL POLICY NOW IS DEFINITELY SETTLED

French is to be the Language in Ontario Schools, for Instruction in First Form Only

Toronto, April 13.—The appointment of additional inspectors and of supervising inspectors to test the progress made and enforce the carrying out of the regulations.

Also, where necessary to give not only additional financial aid, but to make state aid conditional upon the employment of teachers capable of giving instruction in English.

Thus did the prime minister at the closing session of the legislature on Saturday morning declare the government's intentions to deal with the English-French schools of the province, in view of Dr. Merchant's report.

The premier, on rising, stated that the attitude of the government remained the same as that outlined last session, which was then expressed in the following resolution passed unanimously:

> That the English language shall be the language of instruction and of all communications with the pupils in the public and separate schools, of the province, except where, in the opinion of the Department, it is impracticable by reason of pupils not understanding English.

Stands By It.

"Let me say that this is the present position of the government and I mean to stand by it," declared the premier.

"Before the close of the last session we announced that when Dr. Merchant's report came, if we found that any of the alleged abuses have occurred, this government pledges itself to abolish any such abuses if they are found. That was our attitude then and it is our attitude now."

Sir James announced that having ascertained the present conditions from the commissioner's report, the government proposed to take the course which he had indicated.

"There is nothing else for us to do, but to carry out the pledges we made last session," continued Sir James. "That is why there is no legislation necessary on the part of the government."

D. Racine, French-Canadian member for Russell, asked how long a child would attend school before the use of French as a means of instruction would be discontinued.

"Two years only will be required to learn the English language," answered Sir James.

"Do you mean by that that the English language will be used exclusively at the end of that period?" asked Mr. Racine.

"No, I did not say English alone," was the reply, "but by that the studies would be undertaken by means of the English language alone."

Mr. Rowell's Comment.

The leader of the Opposition replying to Sir James, declared that the report of Dr. Merchant showed a serious condition, and that the English-French schools are, as a whole, lacking in efficiency.

"No child in Canada, whether English or French, is properly equipped unless he has a good working knowledge of the English language."

NEW YOR KCITY FINDS CIRCUS IS A BIG WHITE ELEPHANT

New York, April 13.—New York City is officially in possession to-day of the entire menagerie of Barnam & Bailey's Circus. An attachment upon all the animals, from monkeys to elephants, was served by Sheriff Harburger to-day in a suit for $25,000 damages brought by a woman bareback rider, who claims to have sustained a broken arm in Cleveland through carelessness of the circus management.

A score of deputies accompanied the sheriff to Madison Square Garden When the sheriff found that it would cost the city $3500 a day to feed and care for the animals, he agreed to permit the circus managers to exhibit the animals if the city be relieved of this cost. In the meantime the circus managers set out to procure a bondsman for $50,000 to insure their attendance at the trial of the suit.

PASSENGERS IN DIRIGIBLE IN DANGER OF THEIR LIVES

Schwetizengen, Germany, April 13.—The fourteen passengers carried by the Schuette Lanz dirigible balloon, on its first flight this year had a narrow escape from death this morning near here. When the dirigible ascended, with the inventor, Prof. Schuette, acting as pilot, she reached an altitude of a few hundred feet, when the vertical steering gear jammed and the airship plunged at full speed to the earth, where it buried its bows and the forward gondola in the ground.

The six inmates of this gondola, together with Prof. Schuette and a mechanic, were thrown out with great violence, but nobody except the mechanic, who had his breast crushed in, suffered any serious injury.

The dirigible with the remaining passengers then rose again rapidly into the air, but the water ballast container had been smashed and the airship was blown helplessly to the other side of the Rhine, where a descent was eventually effected without further mishap.

The dirigible is of unique construction, its frame being a rigid one of wood, while its dimensions are about the same as those of the Zeppelin airships.

TRAIN HITS MAN NEAR ROSEDALE

Toronto, April 13.—Lying between the rails of the C.N.O. at Mileage 44 a middle-aged man was run over by the northbound Parry Sound train shortly after six p.m. on Saturday evening.

Engineer Grainger stopped the train at once and with others of the crew went back and picked the man up. He was carried to Rosedale station, where the police ambulance was called for.

The ambulance reached St. Michael's hospital at 8 p.m. The man was still unconscious. The trainmen believed he had a broken arm and said he was badly battered. They had not yet examined him. The identity of the man is not known.

TWO ARE MAIMED BY STREET CARS

Toronto, April 13.—Two street car accidents and two other kinds befell Toronto citizens Saturday. Thomas Robertson, aged 40 years, 18 Montague place, was knocked down by a southbound College car at the corner of Elm and Yonge streets, at 2.30 p.m. He was picked up unconscious and rushed to St. Michael's hospital, where he was found to be suffering from bad scalp wounds, which may turn out to be a fracture. He is a painter by trade and employed by John Stewart.

Walter Cope, aged 61 years, fell off the front steps of a moving King car at the corner of Sackville street at 1.30 p.m. He rolled beneath the wheels his right leg was cut off just below the knee. He was removed to St. Michael's hospital in the police ambulance. His condition is serious on account of his advanced age.

NOT THE MAN WHO COMMITTED SUICIDE

Toronto, April 13.—The man who deliberately committed suicide by throwing himself in front of a G.T.R. train at the Union station early Saturday afternoon was afterwards identified as William Carree, but this has since turned out to be a case of mistaken identity. Carree, the man who the police at first thought the suicide was, lies safely in Toronto jail, where he was committed for sixty days, about two weeks ago, for the theft of an auto robe. The dead man resembled him somewhat in appearance, but is of heavier build.

When found he was wearing a navy blue American cut suit and a heavy grey Irish freize overcoat. On him was found a pair of gold-rimmed eyeglasses and a cheap nickel watch with a leather fob and an empty purse. He had no money in his possession.

Coroner McCollum opened an inquest at the morgue on Saturday night.

VALUE OF ONTARIO'S WATER

The Province of Ontario is up against a serious proposition in the matter of coal, or rather the lack of it. In the Maritime Province and in the great Canadian West, there are almost limitless beds of bituminous or soft coal. Whilst this coal is a magnificent heritage of Canada the cost of railway transportation, as compared with the uses such coal can be put to, makes it practically unavailable for Ontario. As regards domestic fuel, the supply of hardwood in this Province has been almost exhausted by careless and extravagant methods. We have an immense amount of pulp wood; this, however, cannot be considered in the reckoning of fuel supply. The re-forestration of the older portion of Ontario would be too slow a process to be of use to the present generation. Consequently, as fuel is an essential of human life, one's thoughts wander abroad seeking something to replace or supplement the hard coal Ontario must, of necessity, bring from the mines in Pennsylvania. Again, one must consider that the anthracite mines are owned, almost exclusively by the railroads over which it is conveyed. This fact leads to two serious difficulties: the possibility of strikes, when the supply of such coal is eliminated absolutely; next, the undeniable fact that existing conditions necessarily make freight rates, and consequently prices for coal high. What shall the Province do in the circumstances? There is, first, the application of scientific methods to our virgin forests and the re-forestration of cleared land, unsuited for agricultural purposes. Unfortunately, even under scientific treatment, only a small proportion of the standing timber of Ontario is suitable for fuel purposes. A second solution is the exploitation of the immense peat beds within Ontario's boundaries. Then there is the nationalization and development of the water powers. The Hydro-Electric Commission has already done good work in this respect. A conservative estimate of the water power of Ontario, gives the Niagara River 3,000,000 h.p., Central Ontario 2,201,600 h.p., making a total of 7,231,787 h.p. Taking such figures as above correct, let us suppose we can definitely depend upon 3,000,000 h.p. This, as compared with its equivalent in coal, taking 20 tons to produce one horse power for twenty-four hours, a low estimate, means that the water power of Ontario is as valuable as coal mines that produce 60,000,000 tons per annum, or coal that would cost the Province, at $3 a ton, $180,000,000 each year. Another point of importance is, that whilst coal mines, sooner or later must be exhausted or dug out, the water flows on perennially.

NEW SCHOOL REGULATIONS

To provide additional inspection so that every school shall be visited by a supervising inspector to observe and test the progress made and enforce the carrying out of the regulations.

To make state aid conditional upon the employment of teachers capable of giving instruction in English, and where necessary to give further financial aid towards the payment of such teachers.

To ensure that no text books be used in any school other than those authorized by the Department of Education.

That instruction in English shall commence at once upon a child entering school; the use of French as the language of instruction and communication to vary according to local conditions upon the report of the supervising inspector, but in no case to continue beyond the end of the first form.

NESBITT TELLS THE NEWS THAT HE IS INNOCENT

Chicago, Ill., April 13.—Dr. Nesbitt gave the News Reporter a hearty welcome in Cook County jail this morning and said he did not wish to return to Toronto although his connection with the Farmers Bank would show a clean sheet, for he had knowingly done nothing wrong. He, however, expressed strong determination to fight extradition.

"Why," he was asked.

"There are a number of reasons," he replied.

The doctor is confined in a large cell on the top story of the jail with a number of other prisoners, with whom he was conversing with some of his old time jollity when The News man was permitted to see him. He expressed as much pleasure at the meeting as the circumstances would permit, but said he could give no account of his movements since leaving Toronto at present.

"You see it's like this, old man," he explained, "I have a large number of friends who did wish to be drawn into this thing at all, and it is not fair that I should bring them in."

Did Not Know Police Were Coming.

"It is said that you have been introduced freely under your own name in Chicago for the past year?"

"Yes," for over a year," he said.

The story of his flight from Island F. was he said all wrong. He had no wind of the officers coming for him when he left the island.

Dr. Nesbitt said he was as much entitled to be cleared of his connection with the Farmers Bank as was his successor, Col. Munro.

He says he signed only what was presented to him by the bank manager and believed the documents to be true.

JESUIT PROPERTY IN MONTREAL

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—I noticed in the Montreal Star of April 12th, that the Board of Control of that city has been negotiating with the Jesuit Fathers there. The bone of contention is removal of steps that pretrude on the public pavement for a long distance, in front of the Church of Gesu, on Bleury street. A settlement was made, whereby the Fathers agree to remove the steps, provided they are paid $20,000 "for removal of the EXTERIOR stairway, and $12 a foot for the land thus occupied, OR," if the city rebuilds the entrance to the church ACCORDING TO ACCEPTED PLANS, the Jesuit Fathers will settle on that basis. That is the church has used public property presumably without paying a cent of taxes, and now the city has to pay for use of their streets. Conditions here, in church tax exemption are bad enough, but let us be glad that the churches here do not buy property to hold for speculative purposes, because exempt from taxation, to the extent that such is seen so scandalously prevalent in Montreal.

THE CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS.

Editor Morning Times.

Sir,—In an editorial appearing in your columns of April 10th instant, referring to the fact a Christian Scientist in New York City had been fined for practicing medicine without a license (which seems to have met with your approval), you take occasion to make wholesale condemnation of Christian Scientists in your city and elsewhere, and make mention of a case of a young man in your city, whom you say was neglected by a practitioner for paltry "dollars." You also may recall that the evidence allowed that this same "practitioners did everything possible for the young man," and it was even shown under oath that medical men could not say that they could have done anything more than was done for him.

You may also recall the very prejudiced attitude of the late coroner at that time who in his eagerness to convict the Christian Scientists, made desperate and unmanly attacks upon him and upon Christian Science and Christian Scientists in general, and positively refused to allow him to give his testimony in full. Although he had then, and now has the proof, that such a charge as "Grabbing the money and effects," had no truth in it whatever, and that he had been acting under the instructions of the undertaker, who requested him to look after deceased's effects. This he did to the entire satisfaction of the relatives of the young man, who know the honourable way in which everything had been conducted.

In the case of the young child mentioned, the parents were satisfied that Christian Science had done more for the child than Materia Medica could do, and show their approval of it by continuing to depend upon this mode of treatment, in the hour of need, in preference to any material method. Several cases in this same family having been healed by Christian Science since then, through this same practitioner, and the family are convinced that it is the very best system of healing known.

The world has had ample proof of the strength of character of Christian Scientists everywhere, as among its most ardent supporters and followers are to be found men of eminence in all walks of life, both in America and Europe such as Supreme Court Judges, U.S. Senators, and Governors of States, Authors, Journalists, Educationalists, Doctors, Lawyers, Clergymen and others, whom the world recognizes as thinkers.

Yours truly,
—W. H. Parker.

SCIENCE TO ABOLISH ALL COAL MINERS BY THE USE OF GAS

Sir William Ramsay, Noted British Chemist Suggests Making the World a Vast Coal Retort

London, April 13.—The brightest minds in the scientific world are at work seeking for something to substitute coal as a means of energy for the industrial world.

In Canada, the larger cities are not, and in the near future, the rural districts east of the great lakes will not be solely dependent upon the coal supply in the production of light, heat and power. The harnessing of the Niagara Falls, has gone a long way in demonstrating that the conservation of the water energy will eliminate the possibility of a famine, in the matter of energy, should the coal strike be prolonged.

Great Britain is not so fortunately situated, and the recent shortage of coal on account of the strike, has caused considerable chaos, which if prolonged would have brought on famine, and the country relegated back to ages out of which the present civilization has lifted her.
